NAZI-BRITISH WAR ON IN IRAQ

F. D. R. BELIEVED PREPARING FOR WAR IN AFRICA

Army Tests Focus Attention on Dakar.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 17.—The road to war for America may lie thru Dakar, in French West Africa.

Representative Shafer [Top] and Senator Reynolds.

Conclusion of the Franco-German collaboration agreement has focused attention on the African port, which has a well equipped harbor and dockyard and is strongly fortified.

For some time the administration is said to have had Dakar in mind as a possible avenue for an expeditionary force. It was learned today that the army is about to test army clothing and equipment under simulated desert conditions.

Predicts Nazi Initiative.

After a White House conference with the President, Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], the administration's war mouthpiece in the senate, predicted that Germany will attempt to obtain Dakar by force or by collaboration with the French. He said he has not modified, in the slightest, his conviction that the United States should seize Dakar and other vantage points under a policy of "getting tough". to defend the western hemisphere against the danger of Nazi aggression.

On Capitol Hill, Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], head of the senate military affairs committee, warned that if the United States attempts to take over French possessions outside the western hemisphere, such as Dakar, "we would be fighting our way to war."

Favors War Debt Deal.

Reynolds suggested that if it is deemed necessary that this country take over French possessions in the new world, such as Martinique, Guadeloupe, French Guiana, Clipperton Island, St. Pierre, and Miquelon, their purchase might be negotiated as part payment of the war debts.

In the house Representative Paul W. Shafer [R., Mich.] demanded to know whether the administration is planning to send American soldiers to die on the hot sands of Africa. He said the American people have a right to know whether the administration is considering sending an expeditionary force to Dakar.

The warning of Senator Reynolds and the demand of Representative Shafer were inspired in part by reports that President Roosevelt pointed to Dakar on a map in his office recently and told a visitor "that is where we're going to fight next."

When the visitor questioned the Presidential use of "we," Mr. Roosevelt hastily explained that by "we" he meant "our side—the British."

Use Treadmill for Tests.

The army tests of uniforms and equipment under desert conditions are to be conducted in a laboratory at Harvard university. Thirty soldiers will march on a treadmill under full packs at the regulation army pace for a long trek, with ten minutes of rest for each hour of marching.

The room in which the test is to be made will be kept extremely dry and the treadmill is to be heated to 160 degrees to simulate the heat of desert sand. The test will enable the army to determine whether its uniforms and equipment will stand up under desert heat.

According to the army, the tests are being made to subject army equipment to conditions which "approximate those found during summer months in the western desert region of the United States."

Shafer Assails Deception.

"This whole proceeding smacks of deception and covering up; of a dissembling that is serious, that is dangerous and that is dishonest and deceptive, so far as the American people are concerned," Representative Shafer said.

"Most members of this congress will agree that if anybody is entitled to be told what is being done about this nation getting into war, it is the men

GERMANS BOMB AIRDROME; OWN BASE ATTACKED

English Navy Planes Join in Battle.

Strafe Syrian Arabs

ANKARA, Turkey, May 17.—British aircraft today flew low across the Syrian-Iraq frontier at Abu Kumal to strafe and dive bomb French lorries loaded with Arab volunteers moving from Syria to Iraq to join the Iraqi army. The lorry convoys, each carrying about two or three hundred men, are understood to be moving toward Iraq day and night.

German experts are said to have superceded the Italian armistice commission in Syria and are reconditioning the unused material there. French armored cars are being rushed into shape. More than 200 warplanes, including American Martin bombers, are known to have been retained in Syria since the French armistice.

Several trainloads of munitions and military materials have been shipped from Syria to Iraq in the last 48 hours.

Four axis ships thought to be carrying war materials entered the Aegean sea from the Black sea Wednesday—one German, one Italian, and two Rumanian.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 17 (AP).—The war which the Iraqi government has been waging against Britain since May 2 burst forth furiously today as German warplanes—fighters as well as bombers—raced over Iraq and attacked British positions. The bombardments were the first announced German military operations in oil rich Iraq.

The British struck back, calling again on the fleet air arm to bolster the RAF bombardments of German-Italian-Iraqi concentrations.

The RAF middle east command announced that its air station at Habbaniyah, 60 miles west of Bagdad, was raided by a formation of Heinkels, supported by the new German Messerschmitt 110 fighters. Damage was slight, but a few casualties were caused.

Machine Gun Nazi Planes.

Pouring on all speed in an effort to keep the Nazi air force from gaining a more solid foothold in Iraq, the RAF machine gunned a number of German planes on the ground at Mosul, in the heart of the oil fields.

The fleet air arm also joined the conflict, sending its planes more than 160 miles from the Persian gulf up the Tigris river valley to bomb Amara. Gasoline and oil tanks were attacked.

Iraq Claims Successes.

BEIRUT, Syria, May 17 (AP).— German and Italian bombers attacked the British positions in Iraq today in a stern resurgence of the war in that oil wealthy kingdom.

The proaxis Iraqi government said the attacks set afire the British air base at Habbaniyah. On land, Iraqi forces were locked in battle with the

ROOSEVELT IS URGED TO MEDIATE IRAQ'S WAR FOR 'FREEDOM'

ANKARA, Turkey, May 17.—The war between Iraq and Great Britain is likely to assume serious proportions, military and diplomatic observers said today. Moslem diplomats predicted that if peace does not come soon a holy war will flare up involving all of Islam.

Seyz Mohammed, for 10 years foreign minister of Afghanistan and now ambassador to Turkey, appealed to President Roosevelt to mediate the Iraqi-British quarrel.

"We are always hearing the promises of President Roosevelt about freedom of nations," he said. "The cause of this war is the Iraqi claim for independence.

"Since this is a struggle for freedom, the United States government should mediate. If there is any reality in President Roosevelt's promises of independence and freedom, he should mediate now. I am sure Iraq has no claims except for full independence."

Rescuer Saves Dog, 2 Days in 288 Ft. Chasm

Two days ago a German shepherd dog fell, no one knows why or how, into the pool at the bottom of a quarry at 27th and Halsted streets.

Quarry workmen tried but couldn't reach him. He swam in the 100 foot deep pool, then clung precariously to small stone ledges.

Yesterday the Anti-Cruelty society was notified. They sent Agents Bill Hane and Scotty Colia. The dog could be seen at the water's edge. Workmen said he had long since quit barking. About the only sign of life was the occasional wagging of a bedraggled tail.

A 288 Foot Drop.

The rescuers found the physical aspects of the job forbidding. From street level to the quarry pool was 288 feet. About 150 feet above the dog was a narrow ledge. Hane and Colia cautiously made their way down to this shelf.

Crumbling limestone walls—almost perpendicular—gave scant promise of support. Overhead heavy boulders protruded. Hane and Colia tied themselves together with a rope and Colia went down to the edge of the pool.

There he looped a chain around the dog's neck. With the animal struggling in fright Colia started the 150 foot climb back to the ledge where Hane was waiting.

Dog Wedges Self.

After 15 feet Colia stopped to rest and the dog squeezed into a small cavern between rocks. He wedged in so tightly that Colia couldn't pull him out.

At that time quarry workmen signaled that blasting was to begin and ordered that the pit be cleared. Colia left the dog and with Hane climbed to the top. When the blasting was finished, he and Hane returned to the ledge.

While Hane steadied the lifeline, Colia took a small pickax and chipped around the mouth of the crevice. He and his partner got hold of the dog's tail and dragged him out.

From there on, the dog did his part to help his rescuers. Three hours after the expedition had begun, the ordeal was over. The dog, a handsome specimen, appeared none the worse except that his fur had been scuffed off in patches when he squeezed into the cave.

"He's a swell dog," Colia said as they reached the ledge. "If he'd had a square meal, he could probably have pulled both of us to the top. All he needed was a little help."

The dog will be fed, allowed to sleep, and then an attempt will be made to find his owner, Hane said.

THREE DIE AS TRAIN DEMOLISHES CAR AT LOMBARD CROSSING

Three men were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an eastbound passenger train of the North Western railroad on the Finley road crossing in Lombard.

The victims were Leonard S. Stroade, 36 years old, 1914 Railroad avenue, Maywood, the driver; William Schrader, 40, of 310 South 25th avenue, Bellwood, and Harold Payne, 36, of 224 West 4th street, Hinsdale.

So great was the speed of the train that the car, with the bodies of the three men in it, was carried nearly two blocks before it slipped from the front of the locomotive.

Lombard police said the car was going south and that there was excellent vision both ways for the driver. They said the wig-wag electric signals were working at the crossing, which has no gates.

UNIONIST QUIZZED IN HVID MURDER FACES GOON CASE

William Bibby, accused of a labor goon attack upon a garage worker, will be arraigned in Felony court tomorrow on a charge of assault. Bibby, who lives at 149 North Le Claire avenue, is business agent for the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers and Garage Helpers' union.

He is accused of beating Furlin Thomas, 4919 Ravenswood avenue, in a garage where Thomas works at 1240 Morse avenue because Thomas objected to paying union dues unless the union would tell him what it was doing with the money.

Bibby was one of those questioned in the goon murder of Marinus Hvid, a garage owner, 18 months ago. The business agent was in charge of the pickets at Hvid's garage at the time of the slaying. In June of 1935, Bibby was found guilty of slugging Gus Poulos, a florist who refused to join a floral shop drivers' union. Bibby was fined $100 for the slugging.

Bakery's Fight Bares Illinois' 1874 Blue Law

An Illinois blue law, dating from 1874, which in sweeping fashion prohibits the disturbing of the peace on Sunday by unnecessary labor, or by amusement or diversion, was brought to light yesterday.

Under this state law, if enforced, you probably couldn't drive your car on Sundays, mow your lawn, or play ball on the street, if by so doing you annoyed your neighbors. In fact, according to one legal interpreter, there's virtually no limit to what you couldn't do on Sunday—if it tended to disturb the peace.

Barrett Admits It Exists.

Attorney General George F. Barrett in Springfield admitted that the law is on the statute books. "But I'll have to assign a few assistants to see just how many activities it bars," he said.

The blue law is contained in chapter 38, section 549 of the criminal code. It reads in part: "Whoever disturbs the peace and good order of society by labor [works of necessity and charity excepted], or by any amusement or diversion on Sunday, shall be fined not exceeding $25."

The fight started when the Schlosser chain bakery at 1145 Lake street, Oak Park, obtained an injunction nullifying an Oak Park ordinance which would require the bakery to remain closed on Sunday. The village retaliated last Sunday by charging the bakery with selling short weight on bread.

Bakery Fined $10 and Costs.

On that charge yesterday, Mrs. Mary Jack, 503 South Trumbull avenue, assistant manager, was fined $10 and $5 costs by Justice of the Peace Joseph E. O'Connell. The bakery announced it would appeal.

Then the village retaliated by resurrecting the state blue law. John F. Tyrrell, acting corporation counsel, had Mrs. Jack served with a warrant charging violation of the 1874 measure in keeping the bakery open last Sunday.

Officials said their action did not conflict with the injunction because they had invoked a state law and not the village ordinance. In fact, they're so sure of the blue law, they said, that if the bakery attempts to open today—Sunday—Oak Park police will promptly close it.

Family of Five Found Slain in Farm Mystery

Aurora, Ind., May 17 [Special].—A mysterious killer, so careful to destroy evidence of his crime that he picked up the empty shells with which he shot his victims, was hunted tonight as the slayer of five persons at a Laughery valley farm seven miles west of here. Four of the victims had been shot in the back, the fifth in the chest.

The dead were Johnson Agrue, 60 years old, a tenant farmer; his wife, Nina, 60; their sons, William, 33, and Leo, 21; and a granddaughter, Mary Breaden, 12.

The five were slain shortly before supper time yesterday. The table had been set for six persons—evidence that the killer was on such terms with the Agrues that he had been invited to eat with them.

State police late tonight were questioning Oakey Breaden, who lives in nearby Lawrenceburg, and is the father of the slain Mary Breaden.

Cows Attract Neighbors.

William Sellers and his son, William Jr., neighboring farmers, were passing the Agrue place, half a mile off a county road and three miles from a state road, at 9 o'clock this morning when they noticed cows loose in the yard. They started up a path leading to the house and came upon the body of the elder Agrue. He had been shot twice in the back with a shotgun.

Agrue was employed at the new government armament proving grounds near Madison, Ind., and apparently had been killed when he returned home from work. His lunch box was lying near by.

Moving toward the house the Sellerses found the body of Mary Breaden near the barn. She also had been shot in the back.

Fearing the killer might still be lurking on the premises, the Sellerses hastened back to their home and called the office of Sheriff William Winegard in Lawrenceburg, the Dearborn county seat.

Woman's Body in Kitchen.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Voit sped to the Agrue farm. After tossing a few tear gas grenades into the house he entered and found the body of Mrs. Agrue on the kitchen floor, beside the table still set for six. She had been shot in the chest.

Other neighbors had seen William and Leo Agrue working about their father's place yesterday, so a searching party was organized to hunt for them. Five hours later the searchers found Leo's body a quarter mile from the house. He was clad only in trousers and shoes. Like his father, Leo had been shot in the back.

After another hour the searchers came upon the body of William, 300 yards from where Leo was found. One shotgun charge had entered his back.

Neighbor Hears Shots.

Joseph Schmidt, who lives on an adjoining farm—but out of sight of the Agrue place—heard several shots late yesterday. He fixed the time at 5:30 p. m., but did not attach any importance to the matter at the time.

William Agrue's widow and daughter, who live in Hardentown, a few miles away, could not supply any clew to the mass killing. They said William and Leo went to their father's farm yesterday morning to do some work for him, and that William planned to return home last night.

Mrs. Bessie Wiant of 902 Oakdale avenue, Chicago, mother of the slain girl, from whom Breaden was divorced, was on her way from Chicago to Aurora. She was accompanied by her present husband, Marshall Wiant.

MIAMIANS HAIL LA FOLLETTE IN ANTI-WAR RALLY

Raps Fear Campaign by Cabinet Aids.

Miami, Fla., May 17 [Special].—An enthusiastic crowd of more than 8,000 persons turned out tonight in this bailiwick of Senator Claude Pepper, New Deal war spokesman, to hear a stay-out-of-war speech delivered by Philip La Follette at an America First committee rally.

The large attendance was considered a rebuke to city officials and others who attracted unfavorable national attention to this resort city by their unsuccessful efforts to prevent the rally being held in public Bay Front park.

A parade of automobiles thru the downtown district preceded the mass meeting at the big city owned park. The crowd began assembling early and soon filled a large part of the open air auditorium.

The principal speaker was La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, whose threat to deliver his address in a cow pasture preceded the city commission's withdrawal of its refusal to let him speak in the park unless he submitted his speech to the commission's censorship.

Warns Against Cabinet Aids.

La Follette warned the crowd that "the two Republican jokers running wild in the New Deal—Colonels Stimson and Knox—are pushing the nation to the brink of war.'"

"Recent utterances by the secretary of war and the secretary of navy," he said, "are designed to frighten and terrorize the American people into waging a war they do not want.

"For sheer hopelessness, for downright defeatism, there is nothing to match the cringing speech of Secretary Stimson last week. Nowhere was there faith in America; nowhere was there confidence in our ability to meet our own destiny as a great and free people.

"Instead, there was pathetic admission of failure; there was weeping and wailing that America is so weak and exhausted—yes, and afraid—that we must hide behind the British fleet and hope it will save our skins for us.

Counsel of Despair.

"This is not the spirit of the American people. This is the counsel of despair of tired and wornout politicians and jingoistic editors and columnists whose war service is confined to urging others to fight and die."

La Follette said President Roosevelt "should at once eliminate from his cabinet those gentlemen who are publicly urging him to break his pledges to our people."

"He should at once make clear to our own people and to Britain," La Follette declared, "that he intends to keep our aid 'short of war.' He should bring our ships back to our side of the Atlantic and thus abandon this attempt to take us into war."

Denounces Buying Time Talk.

La Follette denounced the contention of interventionists that "America is buying time" by aiding Britain. "We are not," he said. "We are buying enemies. What do you suppose a British pilot thinks of America when he comes home and finds his family blown to bits and an American official saying, 'We are buying time'?"

The idea of Hitler invading America thru Dakar, Africa, and Brazil and thru the trackless South American jungle was assailed by La Follette as ridiculous.

"There is no scintilla of evidence of any plan to invade the United States, for no power, no combination of powers, can invade this country," he said.

Lindbergh Is Praised.

La Follette expressed appreciation for Col. Lindbergh's fight to keep America out of war and added: "His father was in congress when my father was in the senate. They both voted against war. Lindbergh's father went to his grave with the charges of 'traitor' against him, yet he loved America. And I say to you Lindbergh, coming from that blood, is a loyal American. I've never met him and I disagree with some of his ideas, yet I respect him for his honesty of thought and his high purpose."

The former Wisconsin governor urged every one who is opposed to America entering the war to wire or write President Roosevelt to keep his preëlection pledges that American boys will not be sent to fight in Europe or Asia.

QUICKER, BETTER PHOTOS! TRIBUNE ENLARGES STUDIO

Camera Staff Is Provided with Improved Facilities.

In line with its established policy of seeking the latest in modern equipment to care for its expanding circulation, THE TRIBUNE has completed the remodeling and enlargement of its news photographic studio at a cost of more than $20,000.

The new studio is laid out to promote the greatest speed and efficiency in developing and printing news pictures. Better pictures in shorter time than ever before in THE TRIBUNE'S 94 year history are now possible with the new arrangement and equipment.

Floor Space Doubled.

Floor space of the studio is double that of the old. It extends beyond the city room along the south wall on the fourth floor of Tribune Tower. There are twice as many rooms as before, including a separate chemical room and an auxiliary developing [dark] room of double proportions for emergency use.

There is also a new filtration plant to insure water free from grit and other impurities which might ruin the delicate negatives during the developing and printing processes.

Modern plumbing and electrical fixtures and new steel cabinets have been installed in all the dark rooms to which the cameramen bring their plates for the first step in producing a news picture. Camera facilities in the printing rooms, where the pictures are transferred from negative to paper, are new or completely rebuilt. The new studio is fully air conditioned. Construction, including all new partitions, began last October.

Saving in Time Effected.

In the case of pictures, as in all other phases of newspaper work, the paramount object is the best possible product in the least possible time. The old studio, it was found, did not provide enough working space for the cameramen. Because of the overcrowded conditions, precious moments were being lost by photographers hurrying into the office near a deadline with pictures of an auto accident, a fire, a murder, or any one of a variety of spot news events.

Almost 18 minutes were required in the old studio to develop and print a picture. It will now be possible to halve this time in an emergency.

Two photographers are assigned to each of the darkrooms. Their names are stamped on brass plates on the doors. The rooms, once the sliding doors have been closed, cannot be opened from the outside, a feature which eliminates the danger of spoiling a negative or print before the work on it has been completed.

In the old studio the rooms belonged to the men who got in them first, and a heavy curtain kept out the light.

Fluorescent Lighting Used.

Now a light over the door of each room warns outsiders that the darkroom is in use. The rooms are lighted by special fluorescent lamps embodying the newest principles of artificial illumination. The film drying room and entrance to the studio are in the center of the tier of rooms instead of at one end as formerly.

The studio successfully passed its first real test during the recent Lilac day campaign. This year, for the first time, photographers assigned to this event were able to complete their work by 2 p. m., leaving the equipment free for completion of the regular run of news pictures before the 4:40 p. m. deadline for the first edition. In previous years the mass of pictures of the Lilac day distribution tied up the studio for a large part of the day.

The old studio which has been replaced was adequate and in most newspaper plants would have been considered sufficiently modern to meet all ordinary requirements. Out of it came the collection of 300 news pictures which for several weeks has been competing for attention with the old masters in Blackstone hall in the Art institute.

FINDS WIFE DEAD; KILLS DOG, PENS NOTE, ENDS LIFE

Monterey, Cal., May 17 (AP).—William Otis Raiguel, 66 year old architect, took his dog for a walk last night. Returning to his home in an exclusive residential section, he found his wife had shot and killed herself because of ill health.

Raiguel shot the dog, sat at a desk and wrote several hours on his autobiography. Then he penned a note on the night's occurrences and turned the gun on himself.

Fireman Injured When Hit by Falling Roofing

Fireman Francis Caldwell, 37 years old, of 3529 Lowell avenue, was injured last night when struck by a piece of slate roofing which fell off the three story building at 70 East Bellevue place. He was with hook and ladder company No. 9, which had been called to the building to extinguish a chimney fire. The fire caused no damage. Caldwell was taken to Henrotin hospital.

ASCAP'S SALUTE TO MUTUAL GOES ON AIR TONIGHT

W-G-N Offers 90 Minutes of Music Notables.

The return to W-G-N and the Mutual network of the music of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers will be celebrated in a gala 90 minute broadcast tonight. The program will bring stage and screen stars, radio personalities and famous composers to microphones in New York, Chicago, and Hollywood.

The broadcast titled "Ascap's Salute to Mutual" will be from 9 o'clock to 10:30. The middle portion, from 9:30 to 10, will originate in the main audience studio of W-G-N. Studio doors will be open at 8:30 and the New York and Hollywood parts of the program will be made available to the studio crowd. The ticket supply melted away yesterday.

Dennis Morgan to Sing.

A galaxy of celebrities will take part in the W-G-N end of the program. Among them will be Dennis Morgan, singing star of the current Warner Brothers picture, "Affectionately Yours." [See Graphic Little Theater in today's Graphic section.] Morgan will sing "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," by Irving Berlin.

Other stars will be Ted Fio Rito, composer and conductor now at the Blackhawk restaurant; Eddy Duchin, noted pianist and orchestra leader appearing at the Chicago theater; Gertrude Niesen, exotic singer of torch ballads who has just closed an engagement at the Chez Paree, and George Jessel, famous comedian from the Theater café.

Jessel will be master of ceremonies and will sing one of his own ASCAP numbers, "Roses in December." Miss Niesen will sing two Cole Porter selections, "Night and Day" and "Begin the Beguine."

Gershwin Music Again.

Duchin will pay George Gershwin's "The Man I Love" and Hoagy Carmichael's "Star Dust." Fio Rito will conduct a 30 piece orchestra on the studio stage. William A. Bacher is producer of the show.

Irving Berlin, George M. Cohan, and Russell Bennett's orchestra will head the New York [WOR] third of the salute from 9 to 9:30. Edward Mathews, ballad singer, and Joe Howard, comedian, also will be on this program.

From KHJ, Hollywood station of the Don Lee-Mutual network, at 10 to 10:30 will be heard Judy Garland, Tony Martin, John Charles Thomas, Dave Rose's orchestra, and three noted ASCAP composers—Jerome Kern, Rudolph Friml, and Sigmund Romberg.

An agreement between ASCAP and the Mutual Broadcasting system, permitting the return of more than 1,250,000 compositions to the air after a layoff since Jan. 1, was concluded last Sunday. Mutual is the only one of the major networks to reach such an agreement.

Motor Transport Job to Use Third of Army, Says Chief

Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, chief of the United States army transport, who spent his boyhood in Chicago's northwest side, disclosed last night the rôle played by motor transport in shaping the army along modern lines. He spoke before 2,000 guests at a banquet in his honor in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House given by Motor Transport Industries.

Gen. J. E. Barzynski.

Gen. Barzynski said that by the end of winter more than a third of the 1,400,000 soldiers in the expanding army will be engaged in various types of motor transport work, as mechanics, fuel supply men, or drivers of vehicles—trucks, tanks, passenger cars, and motorcycles.

"This brings to mind the big picture of our new army, differing greatly from former armies," he said. "The new picture is surprising even to us in the army. We see a substantial fraction of the total army engaged exclusively in the work of providing rapid motor transportation for the bulk of the remainder. This is the modern way."

European Campaign Cited.

Gen. Barzynski said the successful campaigns in Europe and Africa have been the result of swift troop and supply movements by motor.

"That, I believe, is the basis of the new technique wherein the aviation and armored forces tear and rupture the enemy's resistance and thereby prepare the way for the rest of the army to sweep forward in motor trucks," he said.

Referring to the task of the transport division in moving troops and supplies rapidly as "the lifeline of the army," Gen. Barzynski outlined highlights in the expansion program which, he said, will cost approximately half a billion dollars. These are:

1. All-wheel driven vehicles for tactical army units. "This insures greater cross-country maneuverability, for with this type of drive vehicles are able to plough thru mud or sand faster," he said.

Three Parallel Lines.

2. Standardization and interchangeability of parts. "Our efforts at standardization have been along three parallel lines—restriction of chassis sizes to five, restriction of army vehicles to smallest possible number of makes and designs, and getting manufacturers of motor vehicles to adopt interchangeable parts in common," said Gen. Barzynski.

Gen. Barzynski, noting the fundamental changes which have occurred in the tactics of warfare, emphasized that the purpose of the defense program is "not to promote war but to defend America."

"America cannot be caught in the position of being forced to conduct a military operation that is anything but best planned and executed," he said. "It is for these reasons that we are building our army quickly, but carefully, with the best equipment money can buy."

COL. M'CORMICK TELLS NATION'S NEED OF TANKS

Asks Army to Give Up Its 'Vested Rights.'

The development of tanks and wartime defenses against them were described last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, in an address over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. The address was made during the Chicagoland hour.

Col. McCormick told of the use of tanks in the world war and described how the British under Gen. Haig failed to exploit their success in the battle of Cambrai. Tanks were accepted in military circles after that success, he said, but they were not used properly. Gen. Charles P. Summerall subsequently urged mechanization of the army, Col. McCormick said, and unsuccessfully asked the ordnance department for tanks similar to the first modern one—the Christie tank. As a consequence of this failure, he said, the army fell behind in tank design.

Need of Suitable Guns Told.

Col. McCormick described the necessity of superiority in all forms of offense and defense. "When the bombers come over we should give them everything we have," he said. "When infantry and artillery appear they should be taken under fire, and when the tanks charge we should concentrate cn them, but before we do this we will have to design our guns so that they are suitable for all of these missions, and none of them is at the present time! . . .

"So I call upon the army to give up all its vested rights, the vested right of the ordnance, the vested right of the infantry, the vested right of the cavalry, the new vested right of aviation, the vested right of obesity, of hardening arteries, of ripe old age, and rank obtained thru politics.

"The country is risking bankruptcy to equip the army. Let not this great sacrifice be made in vain."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

"This time last week I was at the 22d reunion of the surviving officers of the 1st division. It was the first division to leave for France and the last to return from Germany. We numbered 35,000 officers and men at the beginning; more than 100,000 passed thru its muster rolls. Thirty-five thousand came home in the division—the others were killed, wounded, broken down by hardship, or promoted to command in other divisions. Many of the broken ones have since died, but there are still some thousands in our hospitals, so you see that a reunion of the 1st division makes an experienced consultation for the study of war.

"Returned from a discussion with men of all ranks from second lieutenant to chief of staff of the army and of all possible experiences, I believe I can give you a clear picture of the tank problem and the problem of anti-tank defense.

First Used in Armored Trains.

"Academic thoughts on the subject go far back into history, but the first practical use of the principle was that of armored trains in our civil war. Soon after automobiles were invented armored cars were manufactured. It is not surprising, therefore, that such brilliant soldiers as Swinton, whose work, "The Defense of Duffers Drift," is a classic on tactics, and Fuller, subsequently the historian of the work, 'Tanks in the Great War,' could have seen the advantage of putting the armored car body on a caterpillar tread for cross-country performance; nor that the experienced soldier, Winston Churchill, then at the head of the British navy, could appreciate the value of armor on land.

"Long before their appearance in action I heard of tanks being built from a friend, William Holbrook of the Union Drop Forge company of Chicago, which was making enormous crankshafts to be put in them by the Holt Tractor company of Peoria, so when I arrived in France in 1917 I sought the first opportunity to visit the tank headquarters of the British army, which was located at general headquarters.

German Defenses Broken.

"While I was there the Battle of Cambrai was fought and I learned of it as fast as information came from the front. Now get this: The attack was led by bombing planes and broke clear thru the German defenses! This sounds like an extraordinary statement, doesn't it? The first time they did it they did it right, and then they went away from it. Unfortunately, Gen. Haig had so little belief in tanks that he had made no provision to exploit the success. The Germans, on the other hand, were so gravely alarmed that they rushed large reënforcements to the scene, broke the British line in turn, and captured an English general who had so little interest in the tank operation that he was found in his bathtub.

"The Battle of Cambrai was, I believe, the only occasion in that war upon which tanks were correctly employed. After that success they had to be accepted in military circles, but jealousy, that bane of army efficiency, prevented their proper use.

"They were taken away from their creators and given to more traditional soldiers. By them they were subordinated to the dogma, I quote: 'Infantry is the queen of the battlefield, the principal arm, that it is the duty of all other arms to aid to advance.' I do not know why this nonsense has persisted thru the ages unless it is to encourage infantry to endure the heavy sacrifices required of it.

"At all events, tanks were kept down to the foot pace and merely used to make holes in the wire for the infantry to pass thru, and to destroy machine guns that the infantry could not successfully attack.

"As to using tanks to exploit a break thru the line, that would have been invading the function of the cavalry—a function that cavalry has been utterly unable to perform for many years.

"After the war some efforts were made to learn its lessons, but a majority of the combat officers had passed into private life and the tendency was strong in those who had not gotten overseas or who had not been in battle to insist that the war had taught them nothing—that their preconceived theories were correct. It is true that war had taught them nothing, but their preconceived theories were all wrong.

Gen. Summerall an Exception.

"An exception was Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who, beginning as the commander of the First Artillery brigade, was promoted to command the 1st division and then the 5th army corps. He was present in and commanded at more battles—certainly more successful battles—than any other general. Gen. Summerall early urged mechanization of the army.

"When I returned from the war newspapers were delivered almost entirely by horse drawn wagons. The drivers were averse to change of occupation which they feared might cause them to lose employment. The executives had mastered the intricacies of getting the papers to their destinations in units of one horse wagons and disliked to disarrange their carefully perfected routes and schedules.

"But progress was not to be stayed. In a few years, wagons, horses, and harness were all sold and auto trucks were delivering the papers. Tractors came to the farm. Tractors and auto trucks were displacing horses and even boat transportation in our forests.

Consults on Mechanization.

"I kept up my army friendships and consulted with Gen. Summerall and Brig. Gen. Drum, formerly chief of staff of the 1st army and later assistant chief of staff in Washington, on the progress of mechanization in civilian and military use.

"An American citizen named Christie had conceived and designed the first modern tank—a tank which could travel over the country at a high rate of speed. Gen. Summerall urged that the ordnance department accept this or design tanks of that type. Real progress was made, but there were those who understood horses and like our newspaper men were loath to face the uncertainties of change. The ordnance department insisted upon its monopoly in designing materiel.

"The infantry strove to make the tank subordinate to the foot soldier—the cavalry to keep its horses. The artillery was the least backward of the services. It had its horse diehards, of course, but Gen. Summerall had allowed Col. Maxwell Murray to attach the trucks of the ammunition train to the guns of the Fifth Field artillery after his horses had played out at Soissons, and the trucks had been able to do this double duty. Our field artillery is well mechanized if poorly armed.

A Question of Weapons.

"The story of our army is the story of the armies that fell before the Germans. The victors had preferred to attribute their world war successes to their generalship rather than to the possession of a new weapon. The Germans, who had been at the wrong end of that weapon, gave it its full value.

"They did not give up infantry. Far from that. But instead of using artillery and tanks to aid the infantry advance, they used the infantry and artillery to aid the tanks to advance! Artillery and infantry attacked defensive positions and weakened them; sometimes the engineers led the assault and aviation was sent into the battle, not on distant bombing sprees as was the allied aviation at that time. The allied flyers, fighting so bravely over England today, might be in Flanders now if they had fought with the ground forces last year.

"When the defenses had been beaten down as far as possible by artillery fire, infantry action, bombing, and parachute troops, the old principle of attacking in waves was resorted to—but not waves of infantry marching at three miles an hour, but wave upon wave of tanks, sometimes at 30 miles an hour. Some of the tanks, perhaps many of them, were destroyed, but the rest broke thru the line.

Undefended Units Attacked.

"Once thru, they reorganized and operated in an undefended countryside against undefended munition dumps, undefended supply depots, undefended headquarters, undefended radio stations.

"They cut the lines of communications or used them for their own purposes. Mechanized armies followed the tanks thru the hole and attacked the rear of their opponents, with the extraordinary consequences that we have seen.

"Is there a defense against tanks? Of course there is. Every army or any part of an army not marching or attacking should occupy a defensive position. Positions strong against old methods of attack are not necessarily anti-tank positions. In resisting their assault, positions behind rivers, canals, railroad cuts or railroad embankments, abrupt slopes or swamps should be sought. Positions cannot be fortified against tanks by hand tools, but all of our mechanical transportation may be equipped with shovels for the rapid excavation of deep trenches and the piling up of high embankments.

Positions Must Be Held.

"Nor must it be thought that these positions will defend themselves. They must be held with grim tenacity and they must be the jumping off places for counterattacks. Certainly men should not be allowed to row rubber boats across rivers and build pontoon bridges for tanks to cross.

"If the enemy's forces break thru our defense line, we should have a mechanized force in reserve so that we can assail him with tanks and with our air force when he is short of ammunition, tired from fighting, and with every defensible position in the rear area, every river, every town denied him by our defense against tank preparations.

"For precedents of a mobile defense, we have not to look beyond our own history. I am not an admirer of Gen. Meade, nor of his battle of Gettysburg, but I will say that his use of his cavalry for defense purposes was entirely successful in that battle.

Support of Charge Crippled.

"Longstreet's support of Pickett's charge was crippled by Farnsworth's cavalry attack on his rear. Stuart's attack on Meade's rear was stopped and thrown back by Gregg's cavalry.

"As to anti-tank weapons, the tank is armed for obtaining superior fire power at point blank range. It is therefore vulnerable to a faster moving machine carrying long range guns. Such a weapon is an anti-aircraft cannon mounted on a caterpillar tread.

"We have seen that our army rejected the Christie tank and fell behind in tank design. The Germans experimented with tanks in Spain and in Poland and brought very superior equipment to play in Flanders and in France.

Factors to Be Considered.

"I have no doubt the tanks we are building have been designed with as much care as the inexperience of our engineers has permitted. They are undoubtedly very faulty and can only be improved by experiment, trial, and error.

"In building tanks the properties of speed, defensive armor, fuel, and ammunition capacity must all be considered, and in addition riding qualities. The crew will fight longest in the tank that gives the easiest ride. Victory will come to the tank that furnishes the best gun platform. Above all, we must not continue to use guns as tank weapons and anti-tank weapons because they have been discarded for every other use.

"Anti-tank defenses will not be successful if the branches of the service continue to operate in the air tight compartments. We have field artillery to shoot at infantry and other field artillery, anti-aircraft artillery to shoot at airplanes, and anti-tank artillery to shoot at tanks. If only one element of the enemy is in action, are the other two elements of our artillery to sit around and play cards?

Reënforcing Mission Required.

"In 1918 we devised the principle of the primary mission and the secondary mission for our guns. Each of the types of weapons I have mentioned should have a primary mission, of course, but it should have a reënforcing mission also.

"When the bombers come over we should give them everything we have. When infantry and artillery appear they should be taken under fire, and when the tanks charge we should concentrate on them, but before we do this we will have to design our guns so that they are suitable for all of these missions, and none of them is at the present time!

"If I have spoken severely, it is because severe language is better than defeat. If I was of use to Gen. Summerall 23 years ago, it was in making plain to the citizen officers the necessity for his stern, uncompromising calls upon them. Many resented him then, but every year for 22 years they have reunited to praise him and thank him.

"So I call upon the army to give up all its vested rights, the vested right of the ordnance, the vested right of the infantry, the vested right of the cavalry, the new vested right of aviation, the vested right of obesity, of hardening arteries, of ripe old age, and rank obtained thru politics.

"The country is risking bankruptcy to equip the army. Let not this great sacrifice be made in vain."

CHICAGOLAND HOUR

Music absent from the air since Jan. 1 was among selections presented during the musical portion of the program. The tunes, available to listeners of W-G-N and the Mutual system thru arrangement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, included hits from Victor Herbert, Emmerich Kalman, Sigmund Romberg, and Rudolph Friml.

Marion Claire and Attilio Baggiore were the vocal soloists and Raphael Spiro of the W-G-N Symphony orchestra played Kreisler's "Liebesleud" as a violin solo. Miss Claire sang "L'Amour, Toujours L'Amour," by Friml, and "Song of the Gypsy," from "Countess Maritza," by Kalman. Baggiore sang "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and joined Miss Claire, the orchestra, and the W-G-N chorus in "Sweetheart" from Herbert's "Maytime." Miss Claire also joined the orchestra and chorus in "Lover, Come Back to Me," from Romberg's "The New Moon," and she and Baggiore sang "One Alone" with the chorus and the orchestra.

The orchestra and the chorus presented "Land of Hope and Glory" and "The Field Artillery March," and the orchestra was heard in "Pan Americana." The orchestra was directed by Henry Weber. John Weigel was the announcer. The program was produced by William A. Bacher.

MOTHER OF BELGIANS' KING STANDS IN LINE BEFORE SOUP KITCHEN

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 16, via Berlin [Delayed] (AP).—Many soup kitchens have been opened in Brussels under huge signs reading "Restaurant Leopold." Yesterday a plainly dressed woman stood in line for half an hour before an attendant spied her, bowed, and exclaimed, "Your majesty." She was Queen Elizabeth, mother of King Leopold III., now a German prisoner of war. The queen said she had come to inspect the free restaurant and felt she should wait in line with the customers.

4 GERMAN SHIPS QUIT CHILE; MAY RUN BLOCKADE

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 17 (AP).—Four of five German ships in Chilean waters sailed tonight in an apparent attempt to run the British blockade. The 8,000 ton Rhakotis and the 6,000 ton Frankfurt, heavily laden with cargo and fuel, left Antofagasta and Concepcion, respectively. The small cargo boats Quito and Bogota sailed from Coquimbo with ore concentrates. The freighter Erlanger, at Puerto Montt, apparently was making ready to sail.

GRAB FOR SPOILS IN JUGO-SLAVIA OFFERS PUZZLE

Writer Finds Confusion North of Belgrade.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 17.—The splitting up of conquered Jugo-Slavia is being pushed vigorously by the various claimants for a share of the spoils. To an eyewitness the situation is one of confusion and one cannot say with any certitude that what one sees today will look anything like the final picture that may result from the peace conferences.

From Skoplje north along the main road thru Nish and Kragujevac, Jugo-Slavia's main arsenal and only important arms manufacturing center, the situation as regards sovereignty is clear. This territory is held by German occupation forces, with local police aiding. The same is true in the city of Belgrade itself.

Beyond Belgrade—Doubt.

At the rivers which bound Belgrade to the north and west—the Danube and the Sava—a state of ambiguity begins. It may be said to begin at Belgrade itself, since the one bridge out of the city to the north across the Sava was built on Hungarian pontoons by Hungarian engineers. This military span takes the place of the huge suspension bridge beside it that the Serbians blew up on April 6, the day the Germans invaded the country.

The pontoon bridge is an important element of such life as is slowly coming back to Belgrade. Across it come supplies for the German garrison and a good part of the food for the civilian population. Further, one must cross it to reach the airfield, which is in the suburban town of Zimony, called Semlin by the Germans. The field lies opposite Belgrade in the angle formed by the Danube and the Sava.

Hungary Bosses the Bridge.

Altho there are no Hungarian forces in the vicinity except the engineers who built and operate the bridge and its use is primarily a German concern, the Hungarians operate the span with superb nonchalance as regards the convenience of all other peoples.

While I have been here they have been closing it from 5 to 7 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p. m. During these hours the central pontoons are drawn so that river boats may pass. The guards often decide, however, to close the bridge, at other times, for any reason or no reason at all.

High Nazis Fume, and Wait.

Yesterday I went down to the bridge at 7 o'clock. The Hungarian captain commanding the engineers had had a bad night and had left orders that he was not to be awakened before 9 o'clock.

I saw German staff cars filled with officers of the rank of colonel and higher fuming with anxiety lest they miss planes at Zimony. Their wheedling and scolding did no good; they had to wait.

Along the main highway north from Belgrade to Budapest order is being maintained, but it is by no means clear who is sovereign. This territory presumably is part of the new state of Croatia and groups of its soldiers are on duty at bridges and crossing points.

New Croatia's Limits in Doubt.

It is not certain the Croats are holding all this territory, however. Zimony seems to be under German control and I was told it is an "ancient German settlement."

How far to the north and west this new state, or kingdom, of Croatia extends, is a question. Presumably it will not include the coast of Dalmatia, which Italian forces have occupied. Today, however, a reasonably reliable report came to me from an eyewitness to the effect that the Italians are evacuating the Adriatic coast from Dubrovnik [Ragusa] north about 135 miles to Sebenico. This might give Croatia an outlet to the sea.

Speed Splitup

This map locates districts and most of the cities mentioned in Alex Small's dispatch describing the confusion that has followed conquest of Jugo-Slavia by Germany and Italy.

One fact is clear in regard to Croatia. It will not include the northwesternmost strip of Jugo-Slavia along the German border. This region, which includes the city of Maribor—the land of the Slovenes—already has been "re-incorporated" into Germany.

New State May Have Woes.

It is doubtful if the Croats will have a tranquil time with their new state. Along the road north from Belgrade to Novisad I passed thru many villages obviously German in character, representing settlements made by the Germans in the 18th century.

It is noteworthy that Germans in Belgrade insisted that the 2,000 or more Germans in the Croatian part of the Banat want to be "put under German protection."

The Croats have heard of this, and it hardly makes them feel easy, despite their present enthusiastic words about their German "liberators." To complicate matters further, there are pure Serbian settlements in this region, like the little town of Sremski Karlovi, seat of a Serbian patriarch.

Hungarians Take Over.

At the village of Petrovaradin [Petervarad] I saw the last Croatian post. A Hungarian ferry takes the place of a Danube bridge that has been blown up. On the left bank of the river the city of Novisad is entirely under Hungarian control, and its name has been changed to Ujvidek. All signs in the Serbian and Croat languages, and even German, have been effaced.

From Novisad up to the "former boundary" of Hungary near Szeged everything indicates the Hungarians intend to occupy this region indefinitely. The names of villages have been changed.

Even traffic, which in Jugo-Slavia went to the right, has been changed to the Hungarian style of going to the left.

This new Hungarian acquisition appears to be bordered by the Danube on the west, and to extend as far east as the border of Rumania.

One question remains in regard to former Jugo-Slavia—how about Belgrade? Germans in well informed circles say it is likely to be put under "German protection."

S O S Reports Ship Afire; Call for Aid Canceled Later

Boston, Mass., May 17 (AP).—The coast guard reported that the 6,136 ton Canadian freighter Chomedy sent out an SOS today reporting she was afire off the Virginia capes, but three hours later withdrew the call advising that the blaze was under control.

EGYPTIANS HUNT EX-ARMY CHIEF; CHARGE TREASON

CAIRO, Egypt, May 17 (AP).—The Egyptian government tonight offered a £1,000 reward [about $5,000] for information leading to the arrest of Gen. Aziz el Masri Pasha, ex-chief of staff of the Egyptian army, who was accused of committing a crime "calculated to injure the security and safety of the kingdom." An official statement said the general attempted to leave Egypt in a plane which made a forced landing near Cairo.

The CBS correspondent in Cairo reported that the former army head left Cairo in an Egyptian air force plane at 1 a. m. Friday, but that the ship struck a high tension wire just out of the city and made a forced landing.

Aziz el Masri and two Egyptian air force pilots in the plane were said to have escaped injury and gone into hiding in Cairo. Arrest of the pilots was ordered. Where they had started and the nature of the alleged crime was not made public.

Two Americans Ordered to Leave Florence, Italy

ROME, May 17 (AP).—Two American residents of Florence, whose names were withheld, informed United States authorities today that police had asked them to move into a nearby mountain town by Monday. No reason was given for the request.

GERMAN SPREADS FOREIGN RADIO NEWS; EXECUTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 17.—German "radio criminals," persons who listen to foreign radio stations and spread the news they hear among their fellow citizens, can now reckon with the penalty of death if they are caught.

The special court of Nuremburg-Fuerth sentenced a 49 year old German hailing from that city to death for tuning in on foreign stations regularly since the beginning of the war and spreading their "propaganda stories in vicious pamphlets." This latest "radio criminal" was executed last Saturday.

F. D. R. BELIEVED PREPARING FOR WAR IN AFRICA

Army Equipment Tested for Desert Heat.

who must do the fighting and the dying in a war, and their fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, wives, and children.

"If there is anybody who has a right to know what master minds are sitting behind the bulwarks of a great political burocracy, planning to send American boys to die on the hot sands of some foreign country, it is the boys themselves and their loved ones.

Recalls Roosevelt Pledges.

"Mr. Speaker, what has become of all the solemn pledges that were made by the President of the United States that our boys were not to be sent to fight anywhere except in case of attack?

"It is high time the American people were told more of the truth of what is going on, of what is being planned, and where our American boys are to be sent to fight and die.

"The American people are entitled to this information. They ought to have it. This congress ought to see that they get it. Fairness to every one demands definite information now."

In suggesting that the United States negotiate for the purchase of French new world possessions against the French war debt, Senator Reynolds said that if France should refuse to negotiate with the United States, then this country could consider seizure of these possessions.

Survey of Possessions.

Martinique, area, 385 square miles; population, 260,000. In the fringe of islands which shield the Panama canal. Fort de France, one of the finest harbors in the Caribbean, now shelters the aircraft carrier Bearn and several French merchant ships. Ashore are 100 American made warplanes and a portion of France's gold hoard, variously estimated at from 50 million to 250 million dollars.

Guadaloupe, area, 688 square miles; population, 320,000. Also possesses a good port, Porte-a-Pitre, where the French cruiser, Jean d'Arc, has been anchored since the Franco-German armistice.

French Guiana, area, 65,000 square miles; population, 40,000. Adjoins British and Dutch Guiana on the South American mainland, with forests of valuable timber and deposits of gold, manganese, mercury, iron, mica, and other metals.

Ice Free Ports in Winter.

St. Pierre and Miquelon, area, 93 square miles; population, 4,200. Small fishing islands off the Newfoundland coast which have ice free ports in winter and might provide air bases.

Clipperton island, area, 3 square miles; uninhabited. In the Pacific ocean, off the Mexican coast; might be developed into a small seaplane base for aerial patrols of the sea lanes between Australia, Hawaii, and Panama.

All of these French colonies are cut off from France by the British blockade, and are dependent economically on the United States or other American nations. All have remained loyal to Marshal Petain and the Vichy government.

FRENCH ART SHOW EXTENDED.

The exhibition of masterpieces of French art at the Art institute, which was scheduled to close Tuesday, has been extended to 5 p. m. Wednesday.

America May Enter War at West African Port

Conclusion of the French-German collaboration agreement has focused attention on Dakar, French port on the west African coast, which the Roosevelt administration is said to have had in mind as a starting place for a drive by a possible American expeditionary force. The distance from New York to Dakar is indicated on the map. Also shown are French possessions in the western hemisphere (stars) which Senator Robert R. Reynolds said might be bought as part payment of world war debt.

83,612 BRITONS KILLED OR HURT, BY NAZI BOMBS

Death Toll Since June Is 35,756.

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Nazi bombs have caused 83,612 civilian casualties in Britain—35,756 killed and 47,856 injured—from the time heavy air raids began last June thru last month, the British announced today.

The home security ministry's figures for April showed a rise over the casualties for March, when the pace of aerial warfare accelerated after the winter's lull. But the April figures still were short of the casualties for last September and October when Nazi raids were at a peak.

Casualties by Months.

From last June 18, when the luftwaffe began attacking Britain, until July 6, the total casualties were 115. The official report did not break that figure into killed and wounded, and there was a slight overlap into July, when the monthly totals were started.

As announced officially, the monthly totals from July thru last month follow:

| Month. | Killed. | Injured. |
|---|---|---|
| July, 1940 | 258 | 321 |
| August | 1,075 | 1,000 |
| September | 6,954 | 10,615 |
| October | 6,334 | 8,695 |
| November | 4,588 | 6,202 |
| December | 3,793 | 5,044 |
| January, 1941 | 1,502 | 2,012 |
| February | 789 | 1,068 |
| March | 4,259 | 5,557 |
| April | 6,065 | 6,926 |

Besides the 6,065 reported killed last month, the ministry said, 61 persons still were missing and were believed to be dead. Among the deaths were those of 2,912 men, 2,418 women and 680 children. Fifty-five were "unclassified."

Air fights occurred today above the clouds along Dover strait, but Britain was bombless after a heavy overnight Nazi attack.

British Pound Bases.

There was considerable damage and a number of casualties at a Midlands industrial city [the Germans identified the place as Birmingham] which bore the severest raid.

Tonight, wave after wave of RAF bombers attacked Cologne, Germany, and German bases on the French coast in their third consecutive nocturnal assault. The shudder of their bombs shook buildings on Britain's Kent coast.

Nazi long range guns in the vicinity of Cap Gris Nez and Calais appeared to be the principal RAF targets.

BERLIN ABSOLVES HESS' 'MANNISH' WIFE IN MYSTERY

Retiring Mate of Fugitive Clears Out His Office.

BERLIN, May 17 (AP).—Frau Ilse Hess, the brunette, mannishly-dressed wife of Rudolf Hess, does not figure in any way in the investigation of her husband's sensational flight to Scotland, authorized sources said today.

She has been observed in the last two days at her husband's Berlin office in the Wilhelmstrasse apparently removing personal things from the headquarters of Adolf Hitler's erstwhile shadow.

Frau Hess is in almost every respect the very antithesis of Emmy Goering, wife of the No. 2 Nazi leader, or Magda Goebbel's, wife of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels.

Frau Goering, extremely womanly, is devoted to the theater and arts, and Frau Goebbels dresses in chic clothes and has a flair for social life.

Shuns Society, Publicity.

Frau Hess wears her dark hair closely cropped and parted, masculine fashion. She usually wears riding boots. Her dresses are severely tailored. She shuns society, abhors evening dress, and avoids publicity.

Thruout these eight years of Nazi rule only one occasion is recalled when her picture appeared in a newsreel. That was March 9, 1934, when she congratulated her husband on having surprisingly won an air race in a Messerschmitt 33.

While other Nazi leaders' wives quickly adapted themselves to their new rôles of acting as the third reich's hostesses, Frau Hess stuck to her modest Munich villa and never went in for society.

Her love now centers upon her only child, Ruediger Hess, who was born on Armistice day, 1937, and christened according to Germanic rites, with Hitler as godfather.

We'll Keep Hess, Says Britain.

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Herbert Morrison, home security minister, today said that regardless of the reasons for the flight of Rudolf Hess "this gangster is now in our hands" and "he is going to stay in our hands."

A suggestion that a proposed purge has included the Nazis' famed fighting plane designer, Willi Messerschmitt, were topics broadcast by the British to Germany today.

The government radio said there were rumors that Messerschmitt might have aided Hess' flight. Messerschmitt has a private airfield near Augsburg, from where Hess started his strange journey to Scotland a week ago today.

Further, it was reported, the machine Hess used "was one of the latest reconnaissance planes, one not yet in service with the luftwaffe." It was not a Messerschmitt 110, as previously reported, it was said. In connection with this claim, the press considered it significant that plans to exhibit the plane on Trafalgar Square were suddenly abandoned.

DIES TO EXPOSE COMMUNISTS IN KEY U. S. POSTS

Calls Stalin's Tools Hitler's Aids.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Representative Dies.

Washington, D. C., May 17.—Hundreds of communists continue to occupy key positions in government departments, it was disclosed today by Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee on un-American activities. He demanded a showdown from the Roosevelt administration on this "fifth column operating under the very shadow of the nation's capitol."

Dies said his committee had completed a three year study of the infiltration of communists into the federal government. The evidence collected will be placed before the public at open hearings beginning next Wednesday.

Serve Hitler and Stalin.

"The extent to which communists and communist sympathizers have been able to obtain employment in the government has created a shocking situation," Dies declared. "There no longer is any doubt that Stalin's fifth column is Hitler's fifth column. The communist party's 'line' and the Nazi party's 'line' have become identical in every important respect touching the major problems of our national emergency.

"Whoever serves Stalin in this emergency serves Hitler. The most immediate benefits of communist sabotage and agitation in this country are those which accrue to Hitler.

"The time has come when we must have a final showdown on the question of our federal government's employés participating in the activities of communist front organizations. I propose to have that showdown now."

All Groups Intermingled.

The committee, Dies revealed, has obtained the full membership lists of five communist front organizations and partial membership lists of a dozen others. From these lists, he said, the committee has drawn the following conclusions:

1. The membership of the American League for Peace and Democracy, disbanded after the Dies committee had exposed its Moscow connections, has gone over en masse to other communist front organizations. The league had 563 members who were federal government employés.

2. There is a complete interlocking of personnel, both among the directorates and the rank and file membership, in these numerous communist front organizations.

3. The programs, policies, and tactics of these communist front groups parallel the programs, policies, and tactics of the communist party itself.

Fire Destroys Swedish Port Areas, Berlin Reports

New York, May 17 (AP).—The German radio said a giant fire destroyed two districts of the Swedish port of Goteborg yesterday. The report said firemen had to lay hoselines almost 14 miles long to fight the fire.

2 BROADCASTS ON FAMILY OF HESS ADD TO MYSTERY

New York, May 17 (AP).—Two broadcasts picked up tonight by NBC from a German station identified as DZD in Berlin served only to add to the Rudolf Hess puzzle.

Early in the evening NBC announced, the Berlin station, in a broadcast in Spanish directed to South America, said Hess' wife and son, whom he left in Germany when he flew to Scotland, would be treated "in accordance with Hess' behavior and utterances in England." Later the same station, according to NBC, in its German language broadcast to the United States, denied this and said such reports were being put out by "British propaganda."

HONGKONG, May 17 (AP).—Clarence A. Gauss, new United States ambassador to China, arrived today aboard the liner President Garfield. Accompanied by Consul Richard Butrick, he will fly next week to the Chinese capital at Chungking. Ambassador Gauss was greeted by his predecessor, Nelson T. Johnson, who is taking over the post of minister to Australia.

Egypt Appoints Military Chief for Suez Canal Zone

FRENCH TENSION OVER RELATIONS WITH U. S. EASED

America Not Affected by Nazi Deal, Says Vichy.

VICHY, France, May 17 (AP). — French-American relations, which reached the point of tension yesterday after statements by President Roosevelt and the French chief of state, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, seemed tonight to have relaxed, at least from the French standpoint, as the result of a series of semi-official French explanations.

In Vichy the situation now appears to be this:

1. France is negotiating with Germany the details of extended collaboration in what the Nazis call a new European order.

2. The United States, thru Mr. Roosevelt's statement of Thursday evening, has advised France as a friend that the French situation as a result of the armistice is understood, but that if the French position is modified by the present German negotiations in such a way as to direct French coöperation eventually against the United States, the American government will have to reconsider its position.

3. The French insist that negotiations up to the present relate only to affairs concerning France and Germany and in no way affect relations between France and any other foreign government, particularly the United States.

Alarming Rumors Calmed.

These French explanations appear to have gone far toward calming rumors current in Vichy for the last 24 hours that the United States was ready to break off diplomatic relations, that all Americans had been warned to be ready to leave France on short notice, and that the United States ambassador, Admiral William D. Leahy, would be called back to Washington quickly for consultation and a "vacation."

The French official news agency, declaring there was talk of a British-American federation under United States leadership, said:

A government statement said France would defend Dakar, French West Africa, "against any aggression," and that the question of German occupation of that base or of French West Africa was not raised in talks the vice premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, had with Hitler.

American circles in Vichy are frankly waiting to learn what France is to concede to Germany, while accepting Petain's word that he will do nothing to violate French honor.

British Bombings Protested.

It is declared here that the French have taken no military action against the British for attacks on Syrian airdromes, where German planes landed.

Dispatches from Beirut said Gen. Henri Dentz, high commissioner to Syria, had protested to the British consul general against the bombings, but it was said here that France had added these attacks to the things which she still refuses to consider aggression.

F. D. R. Uniting Europe, say Nazis.

BERLIN, May 17 (AP).—"Let President Roosevelt continue meddling in European affairs," authorized sources said today, "and we will succeed in uniting all Europe against him."

This was their comment on Mr. Roosevelt's statement decrying collaboration of the Vichy government of France with Berlin.

U. S. CANNOT BE INVADED, FORMER FLEET HEAD SAYS

There's no chance of a physical invasion of the United States, Admiral Richard H. Leigh, retired, former commander in chief of the United States fleet, said yesterday as he passed thru Chicago on his way to Washington, D. C., for a reunion with naval academy classmates of 1891.

Admiral Leigh.

However, the admiral said he was for "all out" aid to England. "The quicker we help, the quicker it will be over. An expeditionary force? There's no need of one now and no need to discuss it."

Admiral Leigh, who retired in 1933, was in charge of the navy's anti-submarine division during the world war. Asked if he thought the navy would prove to be the decisive factor in the present war, he answered cryptically: "I'm very interested in an air fleet."

Admiral Leigh was accompanied by his wife.

Germans Bomb British in Iraq

Captions on the map tell of principal developments of yesterday in the warfare in Asia and Africa.

GERMANS STRIKE IN IRAQ; BRITISH AIR BASE RAIDED

English Attack Planes on Mosul Field.

Fails to Mention Axis.

The Iraqi communique, received here from Bagdad, did not mention the axis in any way, but its announcement of air war was the first since the British last week announced virtual annihilation of the small Iraqi air force, and it was acknowledged here that axis planes already had gone to Iraq. [Rome dispatches said Italian planes had reached Iraq.]

Gen. Henri Dentz, high commissioner from Vichy to the French mandated state of Syria, said the axis planes which stopped off at airdromes in Syria en route to Iraq had all departed, and he thus hoped there would be no repetition of the Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday attacks on Syrian airdromes by the British.

[Other dispatches from Ankara said the British had raided the airdromes of Rayak and Mezze in Syria Saturday.]

Planes "Forced Down."

Commissioner Dentz said the axis planes which landed in Syria—he mentioned 15 of them—were forced down while in transit to Iraq. He has protested to the British consul general of Damascus.

[The Beirut radio was quoted by Reuters, British news agency, as saying three British bombers flew over the region of Damascus, Syrian capital, yesterday and were chased away by French fighters. Reuters also reported in a Vichy to London dispatch a French denial that German troops already have occupied Dakar, but British sources said it would "certainly be no surprise" if in the future Vichy yielded that West African base just as she seems to have yielded Syria to the Nazis.]

Planes of the pro-British "Free French" forces continued to scatter pamphlets thruout Syria, calling on Frenchmen and natives to join them against the axis.

The Iraqi communique said one of three British bombers was shot down while attacking a southern Iraqi town, and that another was downed by anti-aircraft fire on the Mosul front. British planes bombed Bagdad, doing slight damage.

Hear Nazis Go Thru Bosporus.

New York, May 17 (AP).—The British radio reported this afternoon a Rumanian broadcast to the effect that Germany had begun to transport infantry troops thru the Bosporus, bound presumably for Syria and Iraq. The troops are leaving Rumanian Black sea ports under a Col. Scholz, the broadcast said. The colonel was quoted as making a ceremonious farewell to Rumania Dictator Ion Antonescu.

TORCH BLAST KILLS WORKER.

William Truco, 29 years old, 1228 Newport avenue, died in the Ravenswood hospital yesterday of burns incurred when the gasoline blow torch he was operating exploded in the basement of a vacuum cleaning company at 2048 Lawrence avenue.

U. S. TAKES OVER 2 FRENCH SHIPS IN CANAL ZONE

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, May 17 (AP).—The French freighters Indiana and Nemours, here in refuge since France's capitulation last June, were taken under an army and navy guard on instructions of United States authorities today. The crews of both vessels remained aboard. Both ships were under United States marshal's attachment as the result of the filing of a libel by the Royal Exchange Assurance of London.

Norse Ship Torpedoed; 35 Survivors Reach Land

New York, May 17 (AP).—The torpedoing of the Norwegian motor freighter Fernlane on May 11 was reported in maritime circles today. Word of the loss of the 4,310 ton ship was received from Bissau, Portuguese Guiana, where 35 survivors of the ship were landed.

BRITISH CAPTURE 500 GERMANS IN CAPUZZO BATTLE

Nazis Claim Their Troops Regain Sollum.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 17 (AP).—British and axis armored detachments, slashing across dunes and valleys of the Egyptian-Libyan border region in swift attack and counterattack, were tangled today in a battle in which both sides claimed the advantage.

British forces hounded the defenders of Fort Capuzzo, battered fortress just inside the Libyan frontier, and inflicted losses with a limited offensive from the heavily fortified port of Tobruk, in the rear of the German and Italian lines.

But the British had nothing to say of Sollum, seaside Egyptian frontier village which they took Thursday, and the Germans claimed to have recaptured yesterday.

500 Germans Captured.

More than 500 German prisoners have been captured and many armored cars smashed in the bitter fighting at Capuzzo, now baked by the desert heat. Sixty men were captured and a tank and guns were destroyed by a successful British sortie at Tobruk, which has been holding out now for a month.

British forces have occupied the important post of Dante in northeastern Italian Somaliland, marching in when the Italians capitulated on their approach.

Warplanes Support Nazis.

BERLIN, May 17 (AP).—Axis desert forces in an audacious counterattack against the British in Sollum have recaptured that frontier outpost in Egypt after it had been in British hands for a day, the German high command said today.

The axis ground forces, supported by warplanes, drove the British eastward from Sollum, and "all positions previously held again are in the Africa corps' hands," including Fort Capuzzo, the Germans said.

The Germans also claimed a triumph over British sea power in the North African fighting, DNB, official German news agency, reporting that Nazi planes drove off British warships approaching the axis held Libyan port of Bengazi. Several transports at the British held port of Tobruk were damaged in an axis air attack.

Admit Deep Penetration.

ROME, May 17 (AP).—Italian dispatches admitted today that a spearhead of Britain's army of the Nile drove yesterday to Sidi Azeiz, 11 miles inside Libya, to capture several positions on the dominating hillside, and was chased back only by violent German and Italian counterattacks.

Two heavy British tanks were destroyed at Tobruk when the British dashed out to intercept axis patrols, and 25 officers and men were captured. Several blockhouses were captured in the Tobruk area.

TRADE IS WORTH A FIGHT—F. D. R.; 'NO! SAYS TAFT

Their Statements Amount to Impromptu Debate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 17.—President Roosevelt and Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] engaged in an impromptu and unscheduled debate tonight over preservation of foreign trade as a reason for American entry into the world war.

In a statement issued at the White House in connection with National Foreign Trade week President Roosevelt warned that trade in a world dominated by dictatorships will be just another weapon of aggression. Altho he cautiously refrained from mention of war, Mr. Roosevelt said this country must be ready to defend the principles on which foreign trade is based.

A half hour after the White House statement was issued Senator Taft went on the air to deliver a studied speech against America's entry into the war. In the speech the senator, in effect, answered the President by stating that the United States should not go to war over foreign trade because it will lose more in one year than it can expect to gain in 20.

The President's Argument.

In his statement the President said that international commerce in a world dominated by Naziism would not be carried on for the benefit of all, but would be ruthlessly controled for the advantage of the conqueror nations as a further weapon of subjugation.

"Therefore, it is idle for us to talk of future foreign trade unless we are ready, now, to defend the principles upon which it is and must be based," Mr. Roosevelt said. "That defense calls most urgently on every American for his immediate and utmost effort. Otherwise there can be no foreign trade of the future on fair terms under democratic principles.

"During the last seven years the United States has made real progress toward the rebuilding of world commerce on the principles of mutual benefit, fair dealing, and friendly coöperation among nations. Despite the economic and spiritual blackout of certain countries we are continuing to make progress toward this objective in coöperation with our good neighbors to the south and elsewhere.

"Rebuilding of World."

"Both now, and after the emergency shall have passed, the United States must continue its leadership in the preservation and promotion of liberal economic policies. Only thru that leadership can this country fulfill its responsibility in the rebuilding of a world economy from the chaos into which it has been plunged by destructive trade restrictions."

"I assert as vehemently as possible that no nation should go to war over a question of foreign trade," Senator Taft said in his address. "The tremendous destruction of war is far greater in one year than the benefits to be derived in 20 years of foreign trade.

"The whole idea of making war on a country that has not attacked us because some day that country may be a successful competitor for foreign trade is so far from the point of view of the American people that I can hardly see how it can be seriously urged even by those searching for a cause of war."

Senator Taft said that undoubtedly American foreign trade will be reduced when the war ends, regardless of who is victorious, because the impoverished people of Europe will work for starvation wages and be able to undersell the United States.

However, he said, a considerable part of American foreign trade will continue no matter who wins the war. He pointed to trade in coffee with Brazil, rubber with the East Indies, and silk with Japan as examples, saying that there is no other market in the world for such products.

"Undoubtedly governments will have more to do with foreign trade in the event of German victory, but I am afraid this is true no matter who wins," Taft continued. "Only recently Secretary of State Hull made a treaty putting the whole coffee trade of the world on a quota system and incidentally raising the annual cost of coffee to consumers of this country by 25 million dollars.

"We can keep a free enterprise system and competition if we wish to. Why not? The whole trade argument is a bogey man dangled before us as a cause for war simply because the average man does not have the figures or information about it."

CHURCHILL HAILS NORSE ON THEIR NATIONAL DAY

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the Norwegian prime minister in a letter on Norway's Constitution day today that Norwegians "share with us and the people of the United States of America the resolve that law, freedom, and self-government shall not perish from the earth."

"Altho for your countrymen in Norway, suffering under wicked Nazi domination, their national day must this year be one of sorrow rather than rejoicing, their spirit, I know, is unbroken. . . . I look forward to happier days to come when Norwegians and other peoples now under German oppression will celebrate such days in peace and prosperity."

Today is the 127th anniversary of the Norwegian constitution.

A FREE NORWAY LIVES AGAIN IN 20,000 HEARTS

Chicagoans Celebrate Its Birth in 1814.

Twenty thousand Norwegian Americans assembled in Humboldt park yesterday to commemorate the signing of the Norwegian constitution in 1814. The ceremony was sponsored by the Norwegian National league of which Eugene Jacobsen is president.

Hundreds of children in Norwegian national costumes and others in the uniforms of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, all carrying American and Norwegian flags, paraded from Artesian and North avenues to the park's refectory building.

Former Governor Speaks.

J. A. O. Preus, former governor of Minnesota who now lives in Chicago, addressed the throng in English. Major Ole Reistad, head of the Norwegian air force in training at Toronto, Canada, spoke in Norwegian.

A children's chorus of 100 voices sang American and Norwegian songs as did the chorus of the Norwegian Ladies Singers' league. The audience joined in singing both the American and the Norwegian national anthems.

Picnic Follows Ball Game.

Following the park ceremony, a baseball game was played in Kolze's Electric park between two teams of the Sons of Norway baseball league. A picnic was held there after the game.

The festival closed with mass dancing in Kolze's park. Hundreds of children and adults performed Norwegian folk dances to the tune of native songs.

Observe Norse Day

SORROW IN NORWAY.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 17.—The Norwegian people celebrated their independence day today in silent sorrow and grim determination, reports here stated. There were no demonstrations.

The German and Norwegian Nazi authorities forbade all manifestations, reports said. It was forbidden to halfstaff flags, wear black arm bands, or play the national anthem in public.

FRANCE AN OPEN ACCOMPLICE OF AXIS, SAY BRITISH

Showdown Is Near; Paris Bombing Threatened.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18 [Sunday].—The whole British policy in relation to France is undergoing a drastic change because Vichy allowed the Germans to occupy military and air bases in Syria, diplomatic circles said early today.

Hitherto Britain, according to diplomats, has refrained for sentimental reasons from taking any action against its former ally, preferring to give Vichy the benefit of the doubt in the belief that Chief of State Petain could still exercise some restraining influence upon the pro-Nazi elements in France. What the British call the latest sellout, however, means that France, despite the feelings of the majority of her people, has come out into the open as an accomplice of the axis powers, according to the British view.

No Longer a Neutral.

Military developments in Iraq and Syria indicate that Britain no longer regards France as a neutral. In fact, the next few days, or possibly hours, may bring the inevitable showdown between Britain and France, which only Britain's preoccupation with the African and Balkan campaigns deferred so long.

"Vichy has dropped its mask and Britain is taking off its gloves," said the Sunday Times diplomatic writer, adding, "One result may be RAF bombing of armament works near Paris, which are known to be manufacturing tanks for Germany on an increasing scale."

End to "Wet Nursing."

"There must be an end at once to this wet nursing of Vichy and the traitors it has spawned," the Pictorial urged. "If our blockade of Germany requires the sinking of French ships and the starving of the French people, we must sink and we must starve them. If French workshops are being used to build tanks and airplanes for Hitler they must be bombed. If Syria is invaded and Frenchmen cross the path of our guns as we block the path to the Nazis, then Frenchmen must die like their conquerors who hold them in chains.

"There will be a tomorrow for France, but only if the traitors who lead it today are treated as ruthlessly as the criminals in Berlin."

American reaction to the Vichy-Berlin deal is being followed with the keenest interest. Satisfaction was widely expressed at President Roosevelt's prompt countermoves. Under the streamer headline, "Mr. Roosevelt Has Begun Undeclared War," the Evening Standard printed a column of relevant extracts from American newspapers.

Catholics Honor All-Americans

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil presented trophies to Jane Brown and John Tierney as the All-American Catholic boy and girl at a ball in the International amphitheater last night.

Win Over 35 Others

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil last night crowned Jane Brown, 17 years old, 4941 West End avenue, and John Tierney, 17, of 727 Park boulevard, Glen Ellyn, as the All-American Catholic girl and boy. The ceremony took place in the International amphitheater at the Youth benefit ball sponsored by the Catholic Youth Senate.

Miss Brown is a student at Provident high school, and Tierney attends Fenwick high school, Oak Park. They won their titles in competition with 35 other students from Catholic high schools in Chicago and suburbs, scoring the highest marks in recent examinations on educational and religious knowledge.

The 10,000 persons who attended the benefit dance were entertained by prominent stars of the stage, screen and radio. Don Ameche was master of ceremonies.

DRAFT OFFICIALS PUT UP BAIL IN BRIBERY CHARGES

Attorney Joseph W. Nosek, chairman of draft board 110, and Dr. J. P. Gardzielewski, examining physician for the board, posted bonds of $5,000 each yesterday. They were indicted Friday by a federal grand jury—Nosek on charges of accepting a bribe and Gardzielewsik on charges of aiding Nosek in obtaining a bribe.

They are accused of accepting $35 from a draft registrant in return for deferring his induction. The case is the first of its kind in this judicial district.

Fire Destroys Historic Collection of Periodicals

Hampden-Sydney, Va., May 17 (AP).—Fire today swept thru the 125 year old library building at Hampden-Sydney college, destroying 20,000 volumes and one of the few complete collections of all United States government periodicals printed since 1776. The loss, estimated at $50,000, included a number of volumes autographed by James Madison and Patrick Henry.

ORDER DENTISTS, STUDENTS LEFT OUT OF DRAFT

Washington, D. C., May 17 [Special].—Because there are only enough qualified dentists to serve 22 per cent of the civilian population, dentists and dental students should be deferred from training under the selective service act, Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director, recommended today in a circular to state directors.

The circular also said that because the nation's armed forces require 5,320 dentists, the shortage for the civilian population will become increasingly acute if dental students are not permitted to complete their study and training.

A shortage of about 750 dentists is indicated for this year. Under the draft act, dentists and dental students cannot be exempted as a class, but each case will have to be considered individually.

Senator R. R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee, said today there is a strong sentiment in congress for reducing the draft age range to 21 to 30 years.

BRITAIN GETTING NEW SHIPS; U. S. KEEPS OLD ONES

Point Out America Needs Modern Vessels.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 17.—With the tremendous total of 5,096,530 gross tons of merchant shipbuilding on the ways and contracted for, shipping men in New York are growing fearful the government is making the same mistakes as during the world war.

They are especially fearful that Great Britain will wind up with a brand new merchant fleet built in the United States while the American merchant marine will be left holding the somewhat ancient tubs, which make up the majority of the vessels under our flag, along with the most inferior type of the new ones being built.

Begin Asking Questions.

They are asking:

If there is a crisis in British shipping, then why doesn't the United States purchase some of the 20 year old freighters now plying in the coastwise and intercoastal trade and turn them over for use on the empire "life lines"? These ships today, it is pointed out, are worth more than shiny new ones which won't hit the water for another year or two.

Replacement of the domestic fleets by new C-2 and C-3 cargo vessels now under construction under the supervision of the maritime commission would replenish the American merchant marine gradually with much needed modern tonnage, according to this line of reasoning.

Recent actions in Washington, however, are only adding to the concern felt in the maritime industry.

Four Go to British.

For example, in one recent week alone seven new vessels planned for the country's overseas commerce were taken over by the government, three for naval auxiliary duty and four for immediate transfer to Great Britain. These ships cost 15 million dollars and have a combined carrying capacity of 70,000 tons.

It was a rude awakening for ship operators who had been led to believe older bottoms would be turned over under the lease-lend program as they could be replaced in the home fleets by new tonnage.

American shipyards are being taxed to the utmost to carry on the building program laid down by the government. According to the American bureau of shipping, 800 vessels of 5,096,530 gross tons were under construction or contracted for on May 1, compared with 606 ships of 3,473,225 tons on April 1.

By gross tonnage is meant the entire internal capacity of a vessel, including machinery spaces, etc., measured in units of 100 cubic feet.

Sixty cargo ships of 6,800 gross tons each are being built for the British, but most of the new shipping is for the account of the maritime commission. The commission is represented by a total of 582 vessels of 4,519,168 gross tons and there are more to be ordered.

New ships for the maritime agency include: 312 "emergency" cargo or "ugly duckling" vessels of 2,246,400 tons; 198 vessels of 1,509,568 tons for its long range replacement program, and 72 tankers of 763,200 tons.

Some of the "ugly ducklings" will be turned over to Great Britain but many are expected to waddle into American lines. These ships are box shaped and sharp at the ends, of the simplest type of construction, with reciprocating engines, and a minimum of forgings, castings, and electrical equipment.

Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, told a senate subcommittee in January that the "ducklings" probably would find their way into the coastal and intercoastal merchant trade after the war. Lines in this trade operate along the coast of the United States or from one coast to the other via the Panama canal. The ships are from 19 to 25 years old.

At the time of the hearing the admiral admitted the "ducklings" were inferior in design and called them "5 year old ships because I do not like them."

A Tight Squeeze for New Cruiser

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Launching Tuesday

A 40 foot express cabin cruiser, similar to the navy's new high speed torpedo boats except that it carries no armament, was towed beneath the railroad viaduct in Stony Island avenue east of 95th street yesterday—with exactly one-eighth inch clearance.

The boat, purchased by Robert O'Hara, 8008 South Wood street, for $12,000, was towed to Chicago from Algonac, Mich., where it was built by the Rodi Towing service, 2424 Cottage Grove avenue. It was taken to the Rodi boat storage house at 24th street and the river, near Ashland avenue.

The clearance beneath the viaduct is 13 feet 6 inches. The cabin cruiser on a 6 wheel tandem trailer stood 13 feet 5⅞ inches high. It came thru without a scratch after 30 minutes of work. The boat will be launched Tuesday.

RUSSIA SHIFTS FAR EAST ARMY CHIEFS TO WEST

MOSCOW, May 6 [Delayed] (AP).—Soviet Russia is shifting some of her most able military commanders from the far east to western frontiers. The most notable shift is that of Gen. Grigori M. Stern, veteran Asiatic campaigner, who has been commander in chief in the far east.

Gen. G. M. Stern.

[This dispatch was written two days before the official news agency, Tass, reported that one division had been shifted from the far eastern frontier of Manchukuo to central Asia, but denied that any large scale troop movement westward was in progress.]

He was succeeded as commander in chief in the far east by Col. Gen. J. P. Apanasenko, former commander of the central Asiatic military district.

Lieut. Gen. M. M. Popov, former chief of staff of the first far eastern army under Gen. Stern, recently was appointed commander of the Leningrad military district, replacing Col. Gen. M. P. Kirponos, who took the vital southwestern post at Kiev. Gen. Kirponos succeeded Gen. G. K. Zhukov, new chief of the general staff.

Rear Admiral A. G. Golovko, who formerly was commander of the Amur river flotilla along the Siberian-Manchukuo border, also came west to become commander of another fleet in the Barents and White seas off the coast of Finland.

ARMS PROGRAM FAILS TO BENEFIT NEGRO RELIEFERS

They Make Up 41 Pct. on CRA Rolls.

The national armament program, which has started a slight shrinkage of state-federal relief rolls in Chicago, has failed thus far to help the Negro.

The Negro's importance in the relief problem is indicated by the fact that of 173,700 persons on the Chicago Relief administration rolls, about 71,000, or 41 per cent, are Negroes. Of the 123,944 persons who make up the 37,444 cases of the Work Projects administration, about 27,000, or 22 per cent, are colored.

Yet Chicago's quarter of a million Negroes make up only about 7 per cent of the 3,384,556 total population. The proportion of colored persons in the relief population has appeared to have increased during the last year because whites are getting into private employment and the Negroes are not.

They Charge Discrimination.

Discrimination against them is responsible for this, according to leaders of the race. Employers, especially those engaged in defense work, have countered that the colored man is not sufficiently skilled.

However that may be, it has resulted in a new relief problem for Chicago.

Employment surveys have shown that the economic future of the Negro male in Chicago is much more precarious than that of the female.

"Domestic work is open to the woman," said Ald. Paul Douglas [5th], who also is professor of economics at the University of Chicago. "In many cases she is preferred to one of another race.

"The men, however, are largely unskilled. And the Negro laborer is usually the last to be given a job if men of other races are available. There are, of course, exceptions. The packing industry and International Harvester have employed thousands of colored people. And many of those employed by Harvester are skilled workmen.

Fear Problem Will Continue.

"There are other skilled Negroes, both women and men. But so long as industry discriminates, the race will continue to be one of Chicago's greatest single relief problems."

Howard D. Gould, industrial relations director of the Chicago Urban league, agreed with this view. He has been in charge of the league campaign which, in the last six months, has placed Negroes in 34 Chicago concerns that never before had employed colored people.

The league is seeking better housing and higher living standards for the Negro and thru an educational campaign is working to dissipate occupational discrimination against him. On its industrial committee are a number of white business men who stand ready to outline to other white employers the advantages of hiring Negroes.

The principal aim of the league now is to penetrate the companies holding large defense contracts. So far only the smaller of these have opened their pay rolls to Negroes and again it is the women who have benefited chiefly.

Success in Garment Trade.

"We are attaining some success in the garment field," Gould said. "These concerns are getting contracts for tents, uniforms, and gas masks. Women are employed as power machine operators. One of the largest of the concerns, however, has declined to employ Negroes, choosing the slower and more expensive method of training sewing machine operators.

"The others have taken many women directly from the WPA sewing projects here in Chicago. The government is urging speed and these trained women make it possible.

"It is true that the Negro is finding it almost impossible to get off relief. Almost no Negroes have come to Chicago in the last year, however. There are defense projects opening up near Louisville, Memphis, and Birmingham and these contractors are employing Negroes by the thousands at excellent wages."

During the summer of 1938 THE TRIBUNE conducted a survey that showed southern Negroes had been enticed to Chicago for political reasons and had been placed on WPA projects. It was found further that this accelerated the normal migration of colored people who believed they would find high pay and freedom from race discrimination here.

Hopes Are Disappointed.

Sociologists have suggested that teaching colored people to become craftsmen and educating them to the professions—projects which are getting under way on a larger scale—will offer an eventual solution. But they agree the goal is distant.

However, even if all employable Negroes on the Chicago relief rolls should find jobs, the problem would be less than one-fifth solved. A survey conducted 18 months ago by the IERC showed that at that time, because of physical disability and age, only 18.7 per cent of the Negro relief population was employable.

It will be remembered that Negroes make up 41 per cent of the whole and it has been shown that their relief status has changed only a little.

This and a similar phase of the relief picture will be viewed in relation to the whole in another article.

Officer Takes Bride

Lieut. and Mrs. Wallace S. Wakem after ceremony.

Lieut. Wallace S. Wakem and Miss Lucia Dixon were married yesterday in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church. A tea followed in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dixon, and then Lieut. Wakem and his bride left for Camp Forrest, Tenn., where he is stationed. Miss Dixon is a daughter of the Homer L. Dixons. Her younger sister, Joan, was the maid of honor. George Dewey was best man for Lieut. Wakem, who is the son of Mrs. Charles J. Haines and the late Wallace Seldon Wakem.

Ten U. S. Youths Seek Posts as Pilots in Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., May 17 (AP).—Ten young Americans have applied for enlistment as staff pilots at schools of the British commonwealth air training plan. The men are J. W. Mackin, C. M. Hagest, and W. L. Lewis of Fullerton, Cal.; F. Spence, J. M. Meyers, and J. P. Collier of Long Beach, Cal.; J. A. Baraw and R. E. McClanahan of Los Angeles, J. D. Little of Pico, Cal., and A. H. Parrish of Wichita Falls, Tex.

I'M AN AMERICAN! CITY TO SHOUT IT AT RALLY TODAY

Free Soldiers' Field Fete to Start at 2 P. M.

"I Am An American Day" will be celebrated this afternoon by Chicagoans at a rally in Soldiers' field. An elaborate program, beginning at 2 p. m. has been arranged as the city's expression of national pride. Admission is free.

In anticipation of a large crowd, public transportation companies are providing extra facilities. Motorists will have access to five free parking areas conveniently adjacent to all gates.

William Knudsen on Program.

Headlining the serious portion of the program will be William S. Knudsen, co-director of the national defense superagency, Office of Production Management. His speech at 3 p. m. will be broadcast exclusively by Mutual stations; it will be heard by means of a recording over W-G-N at 7 p. m.

The celebration is intended to honor and to awaken to their responsibilities persons who have attained voting age or been naturalized during the past year. Similar celebrations will be held thruout the country.

Governor, Mayor to Talk.

Other speakers include Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, Dr. Howard A. Vernon, president of the Chicago Federation of Churches; the Rev. Martin J. Nealis, representing the Roman Catholic church, and Dr. Louis A. Binstock, rabbi of Temple Sholem.

Helen Hayes, star of "Twelfth Night," will read "Ode to an American" by William Saroyan.

Others from the entertainment world who are scheduled to appear include Pat O'Brien, Don Ameche, and Dennis Morgan of the movies; Jan Kiepura, opera and concert singer; Ethel Waters, and Gertrude Niesen. John Boles and the Sixteen Commanders will do choral numbers.

Paul Whiteman Band to Play.

Paul Whiteman's band will be one of three on the program. Music also will be furnished by the championship Board of Trade post band and an orchestra from the Chicago Federation of Musicians. Scores of drum and bugle corps and drill teams will perform. Foreign language groups in native costumes will participate in mass singing and pageantry.

The choirs will include the Bohemian singing society "Lyra," the Ukranian combined choirs of 100 voices, the Lithuanian Pirmyn chorus of 100, and the 50 voices of the Chicago Urban league's "Sharps and Flats." There will be 800 Negro voices in a single group.

Pilot Saves Plane in Sea Landing

CRASH LANDING

Single seater navy fighting plane striking the water in San Diego, Cal., harbor, after Ensign H. E. Tennes of Chicago, set it down there to avoid landing on the aircraft carrier Saratoga with a damaged landing gear.

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Circles for Hour

San Diego, Cal., May 17.—Ensign H. E. Tennes, 28 years old, brought his navy plane down in San Diego bay yesterday after the single seater fighting craft developed landing gear trouble on a routine formation flight.

A navy crash boat picked up the pilot, who circled over the naval air station more than an hour before landing. The plane, attached to the aircraft carrier Saratoga, was recovered.

Tennes' home is 2430 Lake View avenue, Chicago. He is the son of M. J. Tennes, a real estate dealer. He was not injured.

LETTER, NUMBER ON PLANE TELL ARMY FUNCTION

U. S. Air Corps Omits Dramatic Names.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 17.—The type and model of army planes are readily identifiable by the letters and figures prominently displayed on all planes.

The jumble of letters and figures is not a cabalistic maze, designed to confuse the public, but constitutes the army's method of ready identification.

The army does not employ dramatically descriptive names, except for the flying fortresses and the Airacobra, as do the British. Instead of Spitfire and Hurricane the army employs a cryptic letter and number.

Symbol Tells Function.

The letter symbolizes the function of the plane. The types of planes and their functional symbols are as follows:

| Type. | Functional symbol. |
|---|---|
| ATTACK | A |
| AUTOGIRO | G |
| BOMBARDMENT | B |
| CARGO [TRANSPORT] | C |
| FIGHTER [MULTIPLACE] | FM |
| OBSERVATION | O |
| PHOTOGRAPHIC | F |
| PURSUIT | P |
| PURSUIT [BIPLACE] | PB |
| ROTARY WING | R |
| TRAINING, PRIMARY | PT |
| TRAINING, BASIC | BT |
| TRAINING, ADVANCE | AT |

The number after the letter is the model number. If a letter follows the number it indicates minor improvements but no radical change in design, succeeding improvements indicated by alphabetical sequence.

X and Y Show Development.

An X before the model designation shows the plane to be an experimental type, Y shows it to be a service test model, and a Z shows it to be an obsolete model, one no longer purchased.

Thus for instance, thru the stages of its development a new pursuit ship would bear the following designations:

|---|---|
| XP-1 | The Experimental Model. |
| YP-1 | Service Test Models. |
| P-1 | Standard Models. |
| P-1A | P-1, with minor improvements. |
| P-1B | P-1A, with minor improvements. |
| ZP-1 | P-1, classed as obsolete. |

United States army aircraft can be distinguished from civilian airplanes readily because the latter all bear the letters N or NC preceding the license number and also do not have the army's familiar white star in a red circle on a blue circular background, or the two foot U. S. on the underside of the right wing and army on the under surface of the left wing.

When Poisons Slow KIDNEYS and Irritate Bladder

Flush Them Out for 35 Cents—Must Satisfy or Money Refunded

Go to your druggist today and get this harmless diuretic and stimulant—ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and start at once to flush kidneys of waste matter saturated with acids and poisons.

That's a prompt and effective way to help bring about more healthful kidney activity and relieve that bladder irritation with its scanty passage with smarting and burning as well as restless nights.

Remember the kidneys often need flushing as well as the bowels, and some symptoms of kidney weakness may be: getting up often during the night—puffy eyes—backache.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—the price is small (35 cents). If your expectations aren't fulfilled—your money back. Don't accept a substitute.

GREEN ADDRESSES I'M AN AMERICAN MEETING TODAY

Springfield, Ill., May 17 [Special].—Gov. Dwight Green drove to Chicago today after reviewing a parade of more than 30 high school bands from this section of the state. Tomorrow he is to address the "I Am an American" rally in Soldiers' field prior to taking the train for Tennessee to visit the federalized troops of the 33d division, formerly the Illinois National Guard.

The governor and a party of leaders, headed by Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the house and Majority Leader Arnold P. Benson of the senate, will spend Monday and Tuesday at the camp, touring the various regimental areas and firing ranges, dining with and addressing the officers, and reviewing the division. Green is expected to fly back to Springfield Tuesday night, and the legislators will arrive here by train Wednesday morning.

7 ARMY FLYERS DIE IN 2 OHIO PLANE CRASHES

Nelsonville, O., May 17 (AP).—Five occupants of a twin-motored army plane who were killed when the ship crashed in the hills eight miles north of here in a violent storm were identified today as members of a squadron from Barksdale Field, La., on a routine navigation flight to Cleveland.

The ship smashed into a hillside last night when cyclonic winds and torrential rains swept Ohio—and 15 minutes later, 100 miles west of here, another army plane plunged to earth near Wilmington, killing Capts. R. A. Von Derau, of Dayton and John C. Stanley, of Ashland, Ky.

Victims of the storm-torn navigation flight were Second Lieutenants William J. Wiandt of Akron, James Criswell of Pittsburgh, Robert L. Brown of Salt Lake City and Denver, and Robert Sonenfield of Lakewood, O., and Sergt. John H. Davis of Shreveport, La. Davis' body was found at noon today amidst wreckage scattered over the countryside.

A survey of wreckage and accounts of persons near the scenes of both crashes indicated the pilots were attempting to make forced landings when their ships went out of control.

15,000 MEMBERS JOIN AMERICA FIRST IN A WEEK

More than 15,000 new members joined the Illinois America First committee last week, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, reported yesterday. This brings to 218,000 the total state enrollment of 72 downstate and 21 Chicago chapters.

Committee officials announced several meetings for the week. A. Eustace Haydon, professor of comparative religion at the University of Chicago, will address an anti-war rally at 4 p. m. today in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue. His topic will be "The Real Defense of America."

Tomorrow evening, Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago physiologist, will speak at a meeting in the Arlington Heights high school sponsored by the Arlington Heights chapter. Other meetings and speakers of the evening: J. Kentner Elliott, attorney, Glen Ellyn chapter, Acacia hall; Charles P. Chapin, busiman, Loyola-Edgewater rally, 6519 Sheridan road; John W. Maselter, student of propaganda, 736 Lake street, Oak Park. Maselter also will speak Tuesday night for the Rogers Park chapter at 1554 Devon avenue. His topic at the meetings will be "Is This Our War?"

UNION PURGES 16 SCALISE LEECHES, FIRES SECRETARY

Housecleaning Pushed, Says New Leader.

Sixteen international representatives of the Building Service Employés International union, and Paul David, secretary-treasurer, have been dropped from the union pay roll, it was disclosed yesterday. The representatives had been appointed by George Scalise, former president of the union who is now serving a sentence of 10 to 20 years in Sing Sing prison for stealing union funds.

David, who disappeared when affairs of the union were being investigated by Chicago and New York authorities, was allowed to resign, effective last May 1. William Cooper of Milwaukee, Wis., an international vice president, has been elected to fill the office of secretary-treasurer.

Housecleaning Pushed.

William L. McFetridge, who replaced Scalise as president of the union, reported that the union housecleaning is nearly complete. He said the recommendations of an impartial committee appointed by the American Federation of Labor, of which the union is an affiliate, have been carried out. The committee was named to examine into the affairs of the union, which has a membership of more than 70,000.

McFetridge said a cmmittee is completing its examination of the affairs of local 32-B of the union in New York City, following the confession of its president, James J. Bambrick, that he had stolen $10,000. Bambrick is awaiting sentence by the New York courts. The local has 23,000 members.

Officer Groups Suspended.

The latest action taken at the committee's suggestion was the suspension of the officers of local 32-E, which has for its membership elevator operators and other building service workers in the Bronx. James Early, a union representative, has been appointed to supervise the reorganization of the local.

David disappeared while he was being sought to testify as a witness against Scalise last autumn. He later surrendered to State's Attorney Courtney and said that he had been in hiding because he feared for his life if he appeared against Scalise, who previously had been convicted of pandering in Brooklyn.

David is reported to have told the grand jury that Scalise, in less than three years, took approximately $310,000 from the treasury. After his revelations a purge of the gangsters and hoodlums from the union was ordered by the AFL officials.

CHARGE 4 WITH SLUGGING 2 MEN AT STRIKE PLANT

Racine avenue police yesterday arrested four men identified by Charles Begos, 52 years old, an employé of the Midwest Glove company at 1474 Milwaukee avenue, as the men who beat him and his son, Woodrow, 28, earlier in the day. Begos and his son, both of whom live at 1923 North Winchester avenue, were attacked as they attempted to enter the plant, where a CIO strike has been in progress for 10 days.

Begos was treated at the county hospital for head injuries received when he was struck with an undetermined instrument. The men arrested were charged with assault with a deadly weapon. They were Edward Dembrowski, 26, of 1514 North Ashland avenue; his brother, Henry, 28, of 1433 North Ashland avenue; Isidore Reiter, 25, of 5404½ Kenmore avenue, and Stanley Zembrowski, 23, of 1542 Wabansia avenue. They are to appear tomorrow in Racine avenue court.

Printing Design Exhibition to Open Thursday Night

The 15th annual Chicago exhibition of design in printing will open Thursday night in the Newberry library under auspices of the Society of Typographic Arts. A dinner will be held at 800 North Tower court preceding the opening. Awards will be presented for exceptional designs.

DIES IN CITY HALL OFFICE.

Jackson, Mich., May 17 [Special].—George A. Maloney, 62, city plumbing and sanitary inspector for several years, died in his office in the City hall here late yesterday.

If Back Aches or Ankles Swell, Flush Your Kidneys

If you're feeling out o' sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles.

Worry, Colds, working too hard, or overeating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Money Back Guarantee

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess Acids, poisons and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying Kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. A printed guarantee with each package of Cystex insures an immediate refund of all your money unless you are completely satisfied. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, under this positive money back guarantee. Don't take chances on any Kidney medicine that isn't guaranteed. Get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c. The guarantee protects you.

A BLIND STUDENT SEES THRU LIFE: IT CAN BE LICKED

John Pine Takes Joys and Problems in Stride.

John Pine of River Forest, vice president of the senior class at the Oak Park-River Forest Township High school, is like many other student leaders thruout Chicagoland. He is above average scholastically, excels in athletics, and participates in as many school activities as time will allow. But he is unlike other leaders in one respect. He is blind.

John began life as a normal youngster, but when he was about 7 years old, a misthrown stick put out one eye. Undisturbed by a glass eye, he went to school and played with the neighborhood children as usual. As a freshman in high school, his good natured temperament was put to the supreme test. An accident occurred in the school forging shop, and John lost his other eye.

But he wanted to return to school, so the principal put it up to the student body. Everyone was eager to help, even to the extent of agreeing not to pay any attention to Bozo, John's Seeing Eye dog. The pair are accepted as any other student, and are expected to do as much.

John's record and his hearty, good fellow attitude toward life speak for the success of the experiment. Were the adjustments difficult?

"I haven't even tried," said John naturally. "I just breeze along."

Referring to his studies, John said chemistry, physics and math, his favorite subjects, are easy, "but Spanish is getting me down.

"If you have x and y in a problem, you can get z," he explained, "but if you have two words in Spanish, you can't figure out the third. You have to know it, or it's too bad."

Barring the unexpected, however, he will be graduated on June 12. He hopes to enter Dartmouth college next fall and "get a good liberal education" in order to become a teacher. He chose Dartmouth because it's a boys' school, but that doesn't mean he dislikes girls.

Admits They're His Weakness.

"I know my weakness," he confessed. "I've been spending a lot of time on social activities lately and it wouldn't hurt me to knuckle down to some hard work."

Naturally he's social minded, for he rates dancing as his "favorite sport." And he doesn't lack for dates. He "plays the field." John also debates, wrestles, plays football, is assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 63 and spends several hours each day studying with three college students.

Last year he was president of his class, and his close friend, William Scott, was vice president. This year they exchanged jobs. John wants to be quoted on two subjects: "I'm a radical White Sox fan and I'm strictly non-interventionist. Lindbergh's got the right idea on this war situation."

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR 1941

PLATFORM FOR AMERICA

1. Adopt an American Foreign Policy.
2. Adopt an American Domestic Policy.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY AND AMERICAN DESTINY.

The discovery of gold in the western hemisphere irresistibly brought Europe into the orbit of America. The discovery of gold in South Africa brought America back into the orbit of Europe. It is not quite that simple, but the hookup of events and consequences is there.

Until Jan. 3, 1896, British foreign policy had been ready made for use. It was continuous. Party governments rose and fell, but they were all in substantial agreement on one point: Britain extended its empire by playing against whatever European power threatened to acquire a military hegemony with a possibility of challenging also on the seas.

Germany had been England's aid in many of these encounters. The understanding with Bismarck was an almost perfect justification of the British continental system. Bismarck supported Britain when it stopped Russia's advance on Constantinople and the Dardanelles. Britain supported Bismarck in his war with Napoleon III., "that bad man" of his time. Bismarck later was dropped as pilot. A man with a withered arm and an unbalanced egotism, Wilhelm II., took over and he, altho a grandson of Queen Victoria, was anti-English.

On Jan. 3, 1896, the Berlin Imperial Gazette published a telegram from the kaiser to President Kruger of the Boer republic. It read:

"I express to you my sincere congratulations that without appealing to the help of friendly powers, you and your people have succeeded in repelling with your own forces the armed bands which had broken into your country and in maintaining the independence of your country against foreign aggression."

The Rand gold output had attracted attention in 1887. The Jameson raid into the territory to which the Boers had withdrawn on the long trek to escape contact with the British, Cape Colony, followed in less than 10 years. It would be hard to divorce the two events.

British foreign policy started an about face upon the publication of the Kruger telegram. There were other incidents to account for the change. In 1898 the French Maj. Marchand raised the Tricolor at Fashoda and later was forced to surrender to Kitchener, the recent conqueror at Omdurman. Britain's European scheme was falling apart.

Russia was crowding down on China and was thought to be a threat to India. In this country Cleveland and Olney were defiant in support of Venezuela. France talked of war after Fashoda. Great Britain, mobilizing its fleet against France and the United States, found itself in an unusual and undesirable position. It then took a new view of its relations with America and, while undertaking to better its status in Europe, wrote some insurance here. It was entirely successful in Washington. The new era of friendship began.

The veering is first reflected in the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary dispute with British Guiana. In that controversy President Cleveland and his secretary of state made what may be regarded as the last great public utterances of the United States of America in line with its traditional policy of independence and avoidance of the problems and controversies of Europe. Mr. Olney declared that the word of this country is the fiat of the western world.

A British historian records that Lord Salisbury refrained from replying to Mr. Cleveland's threats and, by his "calm and dignified attitude, maintained the peace which had been so wantonly imperiled." Gold in the Rand, Jameson's raid, and the kaiser's outburst had much to do with Salisbury's calm. Until this time the relations of the United States and Great Britain had been on the cool side. Two wars, serious boundary disputes, British governmental sympathy for the confederacy, the part that the British government took in the destruction of American commerce, its preliminary participation in the French invasion of Mexico, and the chill deportment which had marked its diplomatic intercourse with this country from the time of its first minister, Mr. Merry, didn't make for cordiality.

The British government now adopted a new policy and the response in this country was gratifying to London but costly to American independence. When the British diplomats, for reasons which were apparent all over Europe, Asia, and Africa, began to change their rôle a sickness overcame the American state department.

The United States became involved in the war with Spain over Cuba at the precise moment when that would fit to perfection into the British change of intention and practice. It not only enabled the friendly tone to be accompanied by a friendly attitude, but it threw America into unexpected participation in the fate of the far east. With Dewey's naval victory the American republic hopped the Pacific from Hawaii to the Philippines, and did so at the precise moment when it seemed that Great Britain must lose its predominance in the east because of the encroachments of Germany and Russia.

A British customs officer in China conceived a way of utilizing this advent of America into the power politics of the far east. He formulated the open door policy and the United States was prevailed upon to put it forth as its own thru the voice of the secretary of state, John Hay. Not only was the partition of China avoided but the British retained their position as the controling influence. Our dollar diplomacy was widely hailed in a consciously expansionist era of this country, but it was in matter of fact a diplomacy of pounds, shillings, and pence.

The new friendliness found another response in Washington when the Hay-Pauncefote Panama treaty was offered to the senate. It is true that certain treaty claims and difficulties arising in the middle of the 19th century, in which Great Britain held an advantage, had to be liquidated. In 1880 President Hayes had declared, regardless of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, that a canal across Panama must be regarded as an extension of the American shoreline. The senate refused to accept John Hay's concessions to Great Britain and forced thru the readjustments which give this country the canal as its own possession to fortify and defend.

It is only of late, under the second Roosevelt, that the United States senate has itself fallen under the spell of the state department and the White House. It couldn't be captured and confined by Mr. Wilson and it was an independent body in foreign affairs under the Republican Presidents who succeeded him. The second Roosevelt has more than brought its independence into doubt. The first Roosevelt, different as he was from the second, made excursions into world politics, from which he derived great satisfaction without, it happened, doing his country any great injury other than that of establishing some precedents. One incident was when he sent Henry White, then ambassador to Italy, to sit in at the Algeciras conference when Great Britain and France came to the breaking point with Germany in Morocco in 1906, foreshadowing the war of 1914.

When the Algeciras convention came before the United States senate, the senators embodied in their resolution of consent a reservation that the only participation the United States had was for the purpose of preserving its commerce and protecting the life and property of citizens in Morocco. Under this reservation President Taft was able to keep out of the subsequent Agadir affair, another Moroccan crisis in which the United States had no interest and which in 1911 was on the very doorstep of the world war.

The greatest consequences of the British diplomatic victory in America following the switch from unfriendliness to friendliness were found, of course, in the military aid which the United States gave in the other war. Following the war came the acceptance of the British demand that the then building American fleet be reduced to England's conception of what American sea power should be, to the guaranteeing of the status quo in China and the far east, the campaign here to cancel the war debts with the final outcome of default, the London naval conference in which the British endeavored to reduce the cruiser power of the American fleet. Now we have the persistent drag upon America to involve itself in another war just as it did in 1917.

Great Britain has lost every other alliance and ally which it had, but the reversal of policy which began in 1896 has proved the astuteness of British diplomacy in balancing a loss with a gain. It has succeeded in pulling the United States back into the orbit of the foreign world and ever since then our statesmanship has yielded to a law of gravitation which draws it to London as the center of the universe.

A STEEL FANTASY.

During the world war the American steel companies accomplished a remarkable feat. Down to that time 31 million tons of steel was their record for any single year. In 1917 they turned out 45 million tons. This achievement affected the outcome of the war. Marshal von Hindenburg said the performance of the steel and other industries during the war was the wonder of the world. "America's brilliant, if pitiless, war industries had entered the service of patriotism and had not failed it."

After the war there was an industrial boom, but the war record for steel output was not equaled until 1925. An expansion of steel making facilities then was undertaken and by 1929 it had been found possible to turn out 56 million tons. Then came the depression, during which the steel companies invested huge sums in new plants. And in 1940 they were able to produce 67 million tons. That was 50 per cent more than the amount which had been effective in turning the tide of battle in 1918 and nearly 20 per cent more than in the boom year of 1929.

This great industry which has met every demand that has been made upon it has set for itself a goal of more than 80 million tons in 1941 and 92 million tons next year. The latter objective was worked out after conferences with the defense commission.

But within a few weeks after setting the 92 million mark for 1942 and without consultation with the industry Washington has declared that there must be 120 million tons produced in 1942. To do this it would require an expansion in one year almost equal to the total output in the biggest world war year.

Leaders in the industry say that 120 million tons is utterly fantastic. It would mean that vast amounts of steel would have to be diverted for the structures and for the equipment of the mills. Such a diversion would reduce the amount of steel available for building ships, arms, and other ordnance.

While such a grandiose scheme was being worked on there would be enforced delays in every industry which uses steel. By the end of 1942 instead of having a substantial rearmament program fully completed we would have an undertaking several times larger only partly completed. Three completed warships will give us more protection than nine half built. The defense undertaking for the next year or two should be of practical size and not the largest that can possibly be imagined.

A CORRECTION.

There was a chronological error in the editorial of Saturday, "A People Deceived by Their Government." It dated the introduction and passage of the lease-lend bill as of 1940 instead of 1941. It threw the sequence of the Roosevelt war acts out of order but did not detract from their significance.

REWARD OF VIRTUE.

[Detroit News.]

According to Controler Donald Slutz, the indictment of three councilmen for alleged graft in letting the Herman Gardens housing contract helped Detroit's credit.

His authority is a Chicago bond expert who reported Detroit bonds increased in value in over the counter trading the day after the indictments were made public. Being interested in a city's "basic stability," the expert said, bond buyers were more reassured than otherwise by such evidence of ability to cope with a situation of the kind mentioned.

This is a sizable grain of comfort to glean from the scandals that lately have beset the city. But it is, incidentally, a sad reflection on American municipal government as viewed thru the eyes of those who deal in its securities. The bond traders apparently expect and discount a certain amount of municipal thievery; so that the detection and disclosure of alleged graft is for them better grounds for optimism than a pervious, apparent condition of graftlessness.

We are thankful for any improvement in Detroit's credit for whatever reason. But it still seems to us an actually graftless city government is not only preferable but, what is more, by no means unattainable.

BRITISH EDUCATE A GENERAL

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—[By Air Mail.]—The education of a general in wartime is an expensive and dramatic spectacle. I have just returned from four days among the chocolate brown moors of England's north country, sharing in the education of Gen. Sir Ronald Adam of the northern command, along with 45,000 troops and millions of dollars' worth of armored scout cars, artillery, machine gunners' bicycles, motorcycles, airplanes, mobile wireless sets, and all the paraphernalia of war.

It was a large scale practice war partly for training troops, but more particularly for testing the actual working of new equipment and tactics for the edification of the high command.

The problem given was reconnaissance, encirclement, attack, and capture of several divisions of a "German" expeditionary force which supposedly had made a successful landing with full equipment at an east coast port.

The most vital quality in a general probably is his ability to visualize how a large scale operation will develop in the face of broken bridges, wrong reports, rainstorms, broken down vehicles, and other unexpected factors that add up to victory or defeat. Therefore, it was for his own education, in a real sense, that Gen. Adam staged the war game and arbitrarily declared certain bridges broken or roads blocked in order to observe how quickly his forces could overcome the difficulties.

Of course, the guns fired only blank shells and cartridges and the airplanes dropped only make believe bombs [here several words were deleted by the censor] but hundreds of umpires scurried about declaring the toll of action.

I saw one Scottish umpire at a crucial stage of the battle rushing toward a surrounded company of "German" soldiers on a ridge to declare them casualties. He had a burr you could brush your teeth with.

The most valuable part of the war game was the earlier stages, reconnaissance, followed by a rapid advance toward the enemy, overcoming obstacles, and diverting attacks.

* *

We war correspondents drove about in army cars observing the motorized units, including various types of scout cars. Some of these are armored and known as "dingos." [Here the censor deleted a sentence.] Machine gun carriers on their tank treads were numerous. All these scouting and armored vehicles are used to clear the way for the infantry in the manner Nazi motorcycles and armored vehicles demonstrated so convincingly on the continent a year ago.

The engineers appeared to do well with the problem of assembling bridges previously prepared in sections. Narrow rivers are covered with a single span box girder bridge, while the wider rivers require a pontoon bridge with spans of about 60 feet between the pontoons. These take two or three hours to put together, depending on the time required to build up the approaches. Tanks and all armored equipment rumble over them easily. Where no bridges could be erected quickly, the army moved around the obstruction, adapting communications to the new condition.

The men laying telephone wires alongside the road from a moving truck behaved as if they knew their stuff. There were many other signal men, trucks with wireless, men afoot carrying portable wireless sets on their backs, and even men on bicycles with carrier pigeons.

Approaching the enemy, the infantry left their lorries [trucks] while 40 miles from the scene of action because of the fear of congestion and heavy casualties if the loaded lorries were exposed to bombardment. They marched the rest of the way afoot and it was noticeable that this modern British army contains many specialized troops. Trudging more than 30 miles in a day under full packs, the men normally carried rifles, steel helmets with camouflage nets, gas masks, gas capes which also are raincoats, trench knives, water bottles, and blankets. Some had special tools, such as shovels, first aid equipment, or wireless sets replacing the usual loads.

At dawn and dusk rolling kitchens overtook the men to serve hot food, like bacon, beans, porridge, and soup, but a cold meal was allowed at midday. The nights were spent wrapped in blankets and ground sheets at any convenient spot.

* *

The advance was delayed slightly, if at all, by imaginary gas attacks from enemy planes, for the men proved well trained in the quick use of their masks and capes.

The dropping of parachute troops behind the lines was effective only when large numbers of troops descended—as in an instance in which an airfield was captured preparatory to the landing of troop transport planes. This diversion caused a brigade to be sent several miles out of the way and hours passed before the danger was removed.

I saw parachute troops leap from planes on three occasions, once while flying above them in a troop carrying plane. Like the Nazis, the British use an automatic opening device so that the men need be in the air a minimum time. They wear high lace boots, sweaters, and knitted mufflers, and gloves. [Here several words were censored.] After landing the chutists moved somewhat carelessly across the fields. [Here several sentences were censored.]

Perhaps the best defense against a parachute attack would be an air patrol. Parachute troops, with their great silken bags, show up clearly on the ground during the minutes before they can fold up and hide their chutes.

At a flying field I noticed a large armored truck used for carrying troops and was told that it was a Bison, designed for field defense against enemy landings. No great reliance was placed on it, the British said.

* *

It was exciting to view the wide moor country from a huge plane, with scarcely any sign of the approaching "battle" visible. Moving trucks and artillery were easily seen from the air and vehicles parked near the road were silhouetted against the lighter colors of the road, but soldiers in uniform were virtually invisible when motionless. Their khaki melted beautifully into the brownish greens of the vegetation.

Air fields were easy to spot. Even when hangars and buildings are camouflaged, tracks across the field are a giveaway to the aerial observer.

The flight over the battle area was made more thrilling by the possibility that real Nazi raiders would arrive. Alarms were sounded during the "battle" and the gunners on the ground had real ammunition ready.

* *

Part of the purpose of the war game was to experiment with coöperation between the royal air force and the army and between the bomber and fighter commands of the RAF. Close liaison was necessary in order to get the RAF hurriedly to take a photograph of an enemy strong point that was holding up the advance or to report quickly details of how much the weekly market in a town was retarding the column of traffic advancing to the attack. Many such details are most readily obtained thru aerial reconnaissance. There was already [word censored] an "army coöperation command." [Here several words were deleted by censor.]

Gen. Adam called off the "battle" as soon as the two sides came to close grips because the principal reconnaissance, transport, and organization problems had been solved.

"The battle actually developed faster than I expected," Gen. Adam said. "The men are fit and hard and one could do anything with them."

RELIEVING PAIN AND SPEEDING RECOVERY.

PAIN defeats cure. The one who is in constant distress just cannot summon enough energy to rebuild broken or wasted tissues. This explains why physicians devote themselves to the relief of suffering as one of the prime considerations essential to recovery.

We have all observed patients whose faces reflected discomfort—even agony. In such circumstances we are asking the impossible when we demand that convalescence shall proceed normally. The only way to restore order to a nervous system racked with lightninglike stabs, or to a heart that is beating like the fluttering wings of a wounded bird, is to alleviate every semblance of anguish.

When we apply this principle to inflammatory conditions within the muscles [fibrositis] or to swollen bursae [which protect tendons], the use of a local anesthetic plays an important rôle. In lumbago, for example, if the painful points within the structures of the back can be reached with a solution of this character, a victim who is otherwise well, may get up, walk about, and bend his back with perfect ease. This procedure may even bring healing. Movements will carry more circulation to the locality and help remove the toxin responsible.

Not long ago the treatment was given to a young man of 24. His symptoms included extreme soreness on the left side of the back—low down. The slightest movement was unendurable. Heat and massage were of some benefit but, since the employment of an anesthetic, he has not been bothered.

The plan calls for flooding the tender areas with an adequate quantity of a preparation such as novocaine, procaine, etc. A 2 per cent concentration in normal salt solution is recommended. Two teaspoonfuls or more may be given safely, after the patient has been tested for a possible reaction.

Why is this regimen helpful? As every medical man knows, a sore spot in a muscle is accompanied by swelling and congestion. In a few cases, capillaries are actually broken so that drainage is blocked. If symptoms can be allayed so that the parts can be moved, we can frequently forestall the ensuing edema and destruction of cells thru pressure caused by the outpouring of fluid.

According to many reports, prompt disappearance of all signs of sciatica has been noted subsequent to the treatment. Naturally, we must rule out bone disease or organic lesions of the nerves, as desensitization is not effective in these ailments. Difficulties which centered in the neck region and have remained for months have subsided following a single injection.

This suggestion is not new, as it is similar to one much older in which alcohol was injected to deaden certain nerves in neuralgia. Many an individual with tic douloureux [facial neuralgia] has had his pain eased for months with 15 to 20 drops of alcohol applied via a hypodermic syringe to the neighborhood of the affected nerve trunk.

The chief objective is to catch the trouble before it becomes chronic. We know only too well how crippling many of these disorders may become. Placing the parts at rest, which is one of the accepted methods of management, occasionally accomplishes just what we do not wish. It may allow adhesions to form, binding muscle bundles, perhaps into unnatural positions. If use can be facilitated, if the victim can go about his daily routine with freedom, many of these poisoned sites will return to their natural states.

EXERCISE AFTER ULCER.

I. S. writes: Would strenuous work or exercise be advised for a person who had a hemorrhage from a stomach ulcer?

REPLY.

Not until your physician pronounces the lesion completely healed. Thereafter one may carry on as usual. We should recall, however, that recurrence is possible.

CEMENT FLOORS.

C. R. writes: Are cement floors in the living quarters harmful to health?

REPLY.

They will impart a sense of chill if you walk around barefooted; the constant use of rubber heels will be required and your bill for rugs and carpets may be higher.

STOP—LOOK—LISTEN.

Joliet, Ill., May 15.—The time has arrived when the American people must speak for themselves. We must stick together. We must not let Hitler's philosophy work in America. A house divided against itself may not fall, but it can come so near to falling as to require generations to overcome the results of our failure.

I despise the New Deal and the congress that backed it up, but we must not overlook the fact that our American policies are that the majority shall rule, even tho majorities are not always right.

We are enjoying America because our forefathers fought for it. It is now being hazarded altho some folks may not think so.

If the axis succeeds in its madness, we may be surrounded and isolated in the future. I am for going over to Europe as soon as we get ready and knocking the h—— out of that gang. Millions of Europeans will help as soon as they can get a chance. Those people are our relatives, whether German, English, Italian, or what-not. Those madmen shall not rule the world and when that gang are licked, we must see for sure this time that fairness prevails, even tho we may have to lick England in the end to see that the umpires play fair.

It's just too bad that we have to do it again, but it seems the only way to bring about a harmonious world.

MORE ABOUT SOLDIERS' FEET.

Chicago, May 12. — I notice letters in your column regarding "soldiers' feet." Having been in the military service for somewhat over 18 years I know what it is to suffer with the ailing feet of an infantryman.

The remedy I found was simple, prescribed by country doctors who served in a country regiment of which I was a member in the Puerto Rican campaign during the war with Spain. There were times when excess perspiration in hot weather caused terrible suffering, when the skin was rubbed off by rough stockings.

We were told to turn our socks inside out, take a piece of ordinary laundry soap [not toilet soap] and rub the soap slightly on the inside of the foot of the sock, then turn the sock back so that this covered surface was against the skin of the foot, and then proceed to walk. This helped more than anything we received in the form of remedies. Doctors will probably say that the alkali in the soap hardened the skin and the grease in the soap smoothed the surface of the sock. The application of the soap was light so that not too much would accumulate on the sock.

"O. K." IS A CHOCTAW WORD.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 9.—I noticed recently in The Tribune, and also in Newsweek, there was considerable discussion about the origin of "O. K."

The Choctaw Indian tribe is now in Oklahoma, which is Mrs. Blackley's home state. She is familiar with the Indians, their customs, and even their language, and she advises me that "O. K." came from the Choctaw Indian language. It is spelled "Oke." It means all right or satisfactory, and is pronounced like "O. K."

W. J. Blackley.

PAY TO SEE ART HERE.

New York, May 14.—In passing thru Chicago three weeks ago I went to the Art Institute to view once again the splendid French collection which was exhibited in New York earlier this year. Altho the Metropolitan Museum of Art is free to visitors at all times, which includes its special events, I paid an entrance fee at the Art Institute. I then found I had to pay an additional fee of 25 cents to see the French collection and another 25 cent fee to see Mrs. Thorne's miniature rooms.

Seventy-five cents may be rather onerous on some people and it would seem to prevent a number of Chicago citizens from seeing art placed in a municipal museum for all to enjoy. A comparison of attendance between the Chicago and New York museum visitors might prove interesting.

At the Field museum I found I not only paid an entrance fee but was even obliged to pay to check my coat and another fee to check an umbrella. I've traveled far and wide and never encountered this.

My reason for sending this letter is my amazement at a city with its many wealthy citizens and cultural institutions to make it so burdensome for its citizens and visitors to view its collection, and especially to charge to see the French pictures which, I believe, is a LOAN exhibit.

INDIAN CHIEF'S HEIRS.

Chicago, May 13.—I have read an interesting account in The Tribune of the attempted eviction of the Pottawatomie descendants of Chief Alexander Robinson from their homes by the forest preserve board.

Some years ago the Indian Council Fire was instrumental in having the cemetery, where the old chief is buried, restored and protected. The forest preserve board was most coöperative in this project to preserve this spot as a historic state shrine.

This land was given to Chief Alexander Robinson by a grateful government in recognition of his services to the settlers at the time of the Fort Dearborn massacre. The grant was made in the treaty of 1829 and later reconfirmed by President Tyler—the land was for "him, his children, and their heirs."

Surely the small tract of land, where the two granddaughters of the old chief now live, cannot be so valuable to the forest preserve board that it would be willing to evict two elderly women. Is this to be another broken treaty?

A fine memorial will be the protection of those living descendants of this man to whom some of the earliest Chicago families owed their lives.

R. Whirling Thunder,
President Indian Council Fire.

OUR MODERN DON QUIXOTES.

Chicago, May 11.—When the great Spanish writer, Cervantes, wrote "Don Quixote," he unwittingly prophesied the actions of our present-day interventionists.

Don Quixote, a well meaning, unsophisticated person, unduly ambitious to right all the world's wrongs, especially those perpetrated on womanhood, was dubiously dubbed a knight, and poorly armed with an old sword and shield, riding on an old nag, and accompanied by a pudgy valet, sallied forth to fight with every one he thought guilty of wrongdoing. Superiority in force and numbers meant nothing to him, for he tackled one and all, regardless of consequences. He was even bold enough to attack windmills, supposing them to be giants.

We see Don Quixote's antitype in the war mongers who, altho absolutely unprepared, are anxious to police the whole world and patrol the seven seas, convoy ships laden with contraband and, in very deed, "fight windmills."

I suggest that these intermeddlers take time out to read Cervantes' book so that they may learn from the futility of Don Quixote's efforts to set the world right that their attempts will also end disastrously, not merely involving two persons, but millions of American citizens.

A GAS FOR RODENTS.

Chicago, May 15.—An effective means of eradicating rats is carbon monoxide, easily available from the exhaust gas of any automobile. If a hose be slipped over the exhaust pipe and the other end put into a rathole, the rats will be exterminated if the motor is allowed to force the gases into the hole for several minutes. If no hose of the required size is available, then an old bicycle tire can be cut and it will provide a curved hose about seven feet long. Care must be taken not to fill the garage, basement, or house with the poison gas.

PUT "CONVOYS" TO A VOTE.

Chicago, May 15.—This "convoys to war" business can be nicely settled. Just let each registered voter go to the polls and vote on the matter. Those who fail to vote can be fined $10 or so, which can be added to the national defense fund.

I hear so much of "democracy" these days; here is the truly democratic way to settle an issue which so vitally concerns us all!

L. W. Bullard.

AMONG OTHER REASONS.

Chicago, May 14.—Two very good reasons why it would be detrimental for Uncle Sam to permit a Hitler victory are his well known opposition to all churches and organized labor and what they represent.

LEGAL AID NEEDED.

Wellington, O., May 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About three years ago my father-in-law passed away leaving two sons and two daughters. One son and one daughter were made administrators of the estate, also trustees of the other two who are either feeble-minded or unbalanced. According to the will each child received an apartment house.

He also placed $50,000 in local banks in survivorship accounts between his two daughters and himself. The old brother heard of this and came to the daughter's home and threatened to make a lot of trouble if they would not divide it equally.

1. Unable to stand the continuous threats the daughter gave him $20,000 as his share and his brother's share, $10,000 each.

2. Now this brother died and his widow demands a formal hearing in the probate court and insists that the balance must also be divided.

3. Can she insist on this division? Furthermore, she insists that strangers be appointed as guardians just to cause more trouble. Also in the will the single house or home was given to the daughter [who is considered feeble-minded]. The other daughter that is her guardian, fearing that some stranger or this daughter-in-law might get her to sign a quit-claim deed, beat them to it and made out a quit-claim deed and then gave the sister the tax appraised price for the house and deposited the money in her own name in the bank. [The feeble-minded daughter's name.] Will this be considered a fraud or just cause for removal as trustee or guardian?

S. W.

1. She should have consulted an attorney at that time.

2. Her chances of setting aside the will depend on whether it has been probated and a year has elapsed and on the proof of undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity. Also on the wording of the new agreement, if any.

3. She can "insist" on anything she pleases, but see 2. In view of the substantial amounts involved and of the difficulty of the questions of fact, we advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

YOUR FACTS NEEDED.

Chicago, May 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died 13 months before my step-mother. 1. I have deeds to two separate parcels of land, one in Michigan. My step-mother died in New York state.

2. Both deeds, the one in Illinois and Michigan, are in joint tenancy. My step-mother left a niece and three nephews who do not want the property.

3. I have gone to a lawyer who tells me I cannot probate the estate and hope to get it.

4. The judge would feel I was not a blood tie.

5. Could you give me information on this? My step-mother left no will, but did leave a gift of two shares of stock to "a home" in New York. The New York lawyers wanted to know what steps I had taken because they wanted the stock administered thru the same court.

P. M.

1. Do you mean that your father deeded the property to you during his lifetime?

2. Do you mean that you and your father were the joint tenants, or some other parties?

3. We suspect that he may have told you merely that probate is not necessary where one or two joint tenants has died, and that you may have misunderstood him.

4. Blood tie of whom?

5. We cannot advise to advantage without having your facts more clearly.

OLD WILD WEST TO LIVE AGAIN IN THRILL SHOW

Police and Firemen to Join in Spectacle July 13.

Stagecoach bandits and a sheriff's posse will shoot it out in a colorful revival of the glamorous days of the old wild west at the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show, to be held in Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon, July 13.

The stagecoach holdup and bandit chase will be one of the headliners on the program of new events in a spectacular demonstration of the daring and skill of the policemen and firemen. The show will bring out the swift police squad cars with their two-way radios and scientific equipment for fighting criminals and the thundering engines and mighty aerial trucks of the fire department.

The thrill show is sponsored by the Chicago fire and police departments and the park district, in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Old Stagecoach Found.

A stagecoach which saw service in the early days of the west has been found for the holdup. The passengers will be costumed in the fashion of the wild west days, and they will be driven by a dead shot stagecoach man who knows how to deal with bandit gangs.

Altho the stagecoach holdup will be a complete show in itself, it will be only half of the new crime drama.

The other half will be a modern crime battle, in which the police will use every one of their modern weapons—radio communication, cars that travel like the wind, tear gas, machine guns, bullet proof vests, and siege shields with portholes for gunfire.

The firemen will rumble into the field with their powerful aerial trucks, lofty water towers, pumpers, long hook and ladder trucks, and such scientific marvels as their monster smoke ejector and the floodlight trucks used to make their perilous work on smoking skyscrapers as light as day.

Building Front to Be Erected.

A six story building front will be erected in the north end of the field for their daring rescues and an actual demonstration of a fight against a devastating fire.

Plans for the show have been completed at numerous meetings of the show committee: Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy chief marshal, and James M. Gleason, engineer in charge of maintenance and equipment, representing the fire department; Commissioner James P. Allman and Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed division, representing the city police; Chief Roger Shanahan of the park police; Harry O'Rourke, committee secretary; and Philip Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE.

SECOND QUADS IN CITY HISTORY DIE IN FEW HOURS

Four baby girls, the second set of quadruplets in Chicago's history, died yesterday in Mercy hospital, less than 10 hours after their birth to Mrs. Frances Adams, 20 years old, 221 Eugenie street.

The infants were born 2½ months prematurely and each weighed less than 1½ pounds. They were named Margaret, Marie, Frances, and Charlene in the order of their arrival within a period of five minutes. The father, Edward H. Adams, 22, is a lunchroom cook.

A staff of physicians, headed by Dr. Robert A. Black, head pediatrician at the hospital, used every means at the disposal of medical science—including respirators and incubators—in the struggle to keep the infants alive. Mrs. Adams, altho distraught over the deaths, was reported to be in very good condition. Physicians said quadruplets occur three times in every 2,000,000 births.

3 of Quadruplets Born on Farm in Kansas Die

Hiawatha, Kas., May 17 (AP).—Quadruplets, two boys and two girls, were born today to Mrs. Joseph Baker on a farm near Fidelity, Kas., but three of the children died a few hours after birth.

CLUBWOMEN HAIL PADEREWSKI FOR FIGHT OF POLAND

Award Medal in Absentia to Pianist-Statesman.

Three thousand clubwomen from points thruout the middle west paid unique tribute to Poland and her people yesterday by awarding a gold medal and $500 to Ignace Jan Paderewski, famous pianist, composer, and Polish patriot, for "distinguished service to humanity." The ceremonies featured the annual May breakfast of the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairmen in the Stevens hotel.

The award, given annually by the conference to some distinguished artist or statesman, was accepted for Paderewski, whose ill health prevented attendance, by Jan Kiepura, internationally known tenor.

The spirit of Paderewski seemed to pervade the room. A portrait of the great pianist hung appropriately above a piano. A sound film of one of his concerts was shown, and the audience listened to Paderewski's recorded speech of acceptance of the award.

Poland's Soul Can't Be Bought.

"It is most significant for our dark and troublesome days, when millions of people are fighting for life and death, that we realize that the spirit is by far more important than any material values," Paderewski's recorded voice told the club women.

"More than a year and a half of the most barbarous propaganda, oppression, and terror failed to change the determination of my people to resist the invader as well as to reject offers of any apparent compromise. The soul of Poland can neither be conquered nor purchased!

"In this struggle of might against right, the greatest history has ever known, millions of women all over the world have highly accomplished their duty. I take this opportunity to offer the homage of my profound admiration to all women of Poland, Great Britain, Greece, and to women of other countries in distress. I bow with deep reverence to American women, to their patriotism, to their devotion to the cause of liberty and democracy and to their readiness to serve their country in a case of national emergency."

Chicago Third Largest Colony.

The award was presented by Mrs. Charles S. Clark, director of the conference, who spoke of the age old culture of Poland and the fact that Chicago's 750,000 citizens of Polish extraction make it the third largest Polish "colony" in America. In return, Kiepura sang four solos, among them the aria from "Halka," the Polish national opera in which he will appear tonight at the Chicago Civic Opera house. Rudolph Ganz, pianist, played compositions by Paderewski.

Among the guests were Sylvil Strakacz, minister plenipotentiary from Poland, who contended that "Poland is Paderewski and Paderewski is Poland" and Dr. Karol Ripa, Polish consul general.

Flight Saves Girl from Surgery

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

START SUDDEN ALIEN ROUNDUP IN MANY CITIES

Washington, D. C., May 17 (AP).—A nation-wide roundup of aliens known to be in this country illegally was launched suddenly tonight by the justice department. The campaign centered in eight seacoast cities and was aimed principally at axis seamen who have overstayed their leave.

Lemuel B. Schofield, special assistant attorney general in charge of the immigration division, said immigration agents and police were seeking a number of aliens shown by files to have entered the country irregularly or to have remained illegally.

A spokesman said "several hundred" immigration inspectors were assisted by police in the New York drive. At least 36 men were picked up in Manhattan, Brooklyn, and Queens. Twenty-two were arrested in Hoboken, N. J.; more than 200 were questioned in New England; seven were arrested at Tampa, Fla., and 17 were held in Miami, Fla.

HUNT ALIENS HERE.

Fred Schlotfeldt, director of immigration and naturalization for the Chicago area, which includes parts of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Iowa, said last night that 15 agents were out seeking alien seamen who have jumped ship in the United States and failed to comply with immigration and naturalization laws. The agents' activities last night were concentrated in Chicago. At least six seamen have jumped ship in the last 12 months here, Schlotfeldt said. Four deserted from a Norwegian ship, but three of them were apprehended.

Cousin Seeks Flight

Savannah, Ga., May 17 (AP).—When 6 year old Arnold Tenebaum learned an army bomber was to carry his 3 year old cousin to Atlanta for removal of a throat obstructing penny today he promptly swallowed a dime in hopes of making the flight too.

But while Cousin Barbara's coin had stopped in her throat, Arnold's slipped to his stomach and he got no ride.

SHOT RESISTING BANDIT.

Edward Brooks, 17, colored, of 5309 South Wabash avenue, was shot in the head last night when he resisted a colored bandit in front of his home. He was taken to Provident hospital.

DON'T SEND YOUR SOLDIER BOY A PIANO OR COUCH!

Army Finds It's the Small Gift That Counts.

Don't send a piano, an overstuffed chair or a studio couch to your soldier son, brother or sweetheart. While he may appreciate the gift, he'll have an awful time trying to lug it around with him.

This was the official advice yesterday by Col. Norman B. Wood, morale officer of the 6th corps area, who has just completed a survey of the gift situation in army camps, training centers and air corps fields in the corps area states of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Col. Wood interviewed hundreds of soldiers and talked with chaplains and morale officers in each of the camps in order to compile a list of ideal gifts for men in the military service.

Get the Dope for Relatives.

"Here in the 6th corps area offices we have had scores of telephone calls from relatives and friends of men now in training, all wanting to know what they should send in the way of presents," Col. Wood explained. "It was for the benefit of such persons that we made our survey."

First on the list of gifts to soldiers, according to Col. Wood, are homemade cakes, pies, and cookies. These perishables should be well boxed and sent to the training camps by the fastest method to insure freshness on arrival.

The most important thing to remember, Col. Wood said, is that gifts to soldiers should be small and easily carried. Second, when they are sent they should be well packaged and accurately addressed, with the soldier's name, his regiment and the training camp in which he is stationed.

On the list of ideal gifts are such things as midget radios, wristwatches, pen and pencil sets, smaller musical instruments, pocket knives, razors, writing sets, athletic goods, and pipes.

Smokes Always a Good Bet.

Less expensive, but just as acceptable, gifts are shaving soaps, cigarets, talcum powder, sewing kits, handkerchiefs, scrapbooks, and photograph albums, postage stamps, tennis balls, subscriptions to home newspapers.

"If you send your boy a shoe shining kit, be sure the polish is tan, not black," Col. Wood said. "All of the regulation shoes with which he has been supplied are of that color.

BICYCLE SWINDLE ROBS BOY, 15, OF EMPLOYER'S $244

The south side's "bicycle confidence man" rode again yesterday. Charles Schoustra, 15 years old, of 10714 Wallace street, was the latest victim. He was accosted in front of a meat market at 551 West 103d street, where he is employed, and surrendered $244 of his employer's money which he was bringing from a bank.

As in other recent cases this was the way the pimply faced 16 year old swindler worked it: He confronted Schoustra and said, "You look like the kid who robbed my brother." Schoustra protested his innocence but the youth told him he was going to summon the brother to identify him as the "robber." He then demanded money to guarantee that Schoustra would be waiting when he and his brother returned, and the butcher boy gave him the $244. The "confidence man," to guarantee his own return, let Schoustra keep his bicycle.

Schoustra reported the swindle when the youth failed to come back. As in the other cases, police expect to learn that the bicycle left with Schoustra was stolen.

SPEEDING PRODUCTION

TO PRESERVE "THE AMERICAN WAY"

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

THE ruthless war the world is fighting follows no precedent. Modern armies do not pit man against man but machine against machine. And only through the complete cooperation of industry and labor can armaments move from the assembly lines of our factories to the battle lines of democracy—in time!

How industry is discharging this grave responsibility is of vital interest to America. Less than a year ago, for example, Pullman-Standard was solely engaged in the manufacture of railroad cars and transit equipment. Now, it is not only building more freight cars, but, in cooperation with 296 sub-contractors and 41 suppliers of raw materials, it is devoting its added resources to producing a constantly widening array of defense materials. Prime among those resources are the facilities, human as well as mechanical, which made Pullman-Standard the world's largest builder of railroad cars of all types.

Freight cars—the primary weapon of defense

In terms of our present defense needs—particularly since the transfer of coastal ships to oceanic service placed its added burden on the railroads—freight cars hold the key to speeding up the shipment of essential raw materials, the transshipment of parts for assembly, and the delivery of finished products.

Today, Pullman-Standard is manufacturing freight cars in ever-increasing quantities, but it is also producing—or tooling up to produce—tanks, howitzer mounts, guns, shells and airplane parts on a mass production scale!

Because the Pullman-Standard organization has the experience and "know-how" derived from its 82 productive years . . . because of its expert knowledge of metals . . . because it is big enough to provide millions of man- and machine-hours . . . and, finally, because the contributions of its research and engineering staffs to the field of metal fabrication have been instrumental in bringing those sciences to their present high state, Pullman-Standard is prepared to develop new methods for overcoming the uncharted problems that mechanized war is imposing. And this is vital . . . for America's future rests on its ability to out-think, out-plan and out-manufacture the dictators.

Loyal workers make possible the defense of America

One more thing, and that the most important of all, has made Pullman-Standard's great and telling effort possible: the loyal, patriotic will on the part of each and every worker to make his an all-out effort in defense of this country! And for that spirit Pullman-Standard believes the un-uniformed, un-sung soldiers of democracy who man its machines merit the commendation of every thoughtful American.

Only in a country such as this, which gives to men the freedom of vision . . . freedom of initiative . . . freedom of voluntary interest, which are the very life-blood of so great an effort, could such progress be made. And, because our activities are typical of what is happening in all other big industries the country over, we further believe that they constitute a true reflection of the spirit which makes America great . . . able to defend itself . . . and the American way of life worth defending.

Pullman-Standard's plants and men have enlisted for the duration to produce these national defense materials

FREIGHT CARS—this company produces a finished freight car every 4½ minutes, to speed up deliveries throughout the entire defense industries, at its plants at Michigan City, Butler and Birmingham. This rate will shortly be stepped up.

LIGHTWEIGHT STREAMLINED CARS—there are 2¼ times as many cars ordered and building now than there were at this period last year. Production is on a multi-shift schedule at the Chicago and Worcester plants to handle the nationwide transportation of personnel—both armed and civilian—incident to the defense program.

SHELLS—are being turned out on a 24-hour-day schedule at the Butler plant. A second production line to double this output is nearing completion. In addition, three other shell production lines are going into operation: one for 105 mm. forgings; a second for the machining of these forgings; a third for the machining of 155 mm. shells; and a fourth line to double this production is now being installed at the Hammond plant.

GUNS—trench mortars and their mounts, and carriages for the new 105 mm. howitzers which are replacing the .75 are also being turned out at the Hammond plant.

AIRPLANE WINGS—for bombers and transport ships will shortly be produced in impressive numbers at the Pullman-Chicago plant.

DRAFT NEW BILL IMPOSING STATE TAX ON CIGARETS

Measure to Replace One Ruled Illegal.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 17. — Gov. Dwight H. Green's office let it be known today that a new cigaret tax bill is being drawn for introduction in the house of representatives Monday night or Tuesday, to replace the one Attorney General George F. Barrett found unconstitutional.

Officially the governor had nothing to say about the opinion, save to admit that he had received it, and was studying it. Since Barrett also kept silent, there was no authoritative source to say whether the opinion forbade the tax as a violation of constitutional principle, or held merely that the bill passed by the legislature was ineptly drawn.

Green Refuses Comment.

The latter had to be assumed, in view of the administration's decision to submit another measure. Green would not comment when asked for a statement on the points raised by Barrett, and he also declined to discuss the provisions of the new bill.

However, it was regarded likely that the new measure will call either for a one mill tax per cigaret, or a two cent per package impost upon packages containing 20 cigarets—the meat of the old bill.

One of the points raised by Barrett was the vagueness of the definitions made in the old bill, which he said did not make it clear whether the non-nicotine brands could be taxed under its provisions. This point is expected to be cleared up in the new draft, as well as corrections made in the section on refunds of cigaret tax stamps, and the provisions for search and seizure of unstamped cigarets.

Veto Expected Tonight.

The governor's office did not say who was drawing the new bill. The department of finance apparently will have to bear the responsibility for the one found unconstitutional, since Werner W. Schroeder, who has written most administration bills for the governor, said he saw only portions of the old bill and the legislative reference bureau did not pass upon it.

The old bill is expected to be vetoed by the governor tomorrow night when the Chicago and Alton railway train bearing him and a party of legislators from Chicago to Tullahoma, Tenn., pauses at the station here. The veto message will be presented to the house at the same time the new bill is introduced next week.

Loss of the estimated 20 million dollars in new revenue per biennium the cigaret tax would provide would cause a serious upset in the administration's fiscal program, since this sum is a major item in the replacement levies counted upon to plug the gap left by reduction of the sales tax to two cents on July 1.

New Zealand Newspapers Face New Reduction in Size

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 17.—Newspapers in New Zealand, already cut to 50 per cent of their prewar size, were said today by the Newspaper Proprietors' association to be facing a further cut because of the curtailment of newsprint shipments. The new step is designed to conserve existing paper supplies.

Two Million Blooms

Holland, Mich., May 17 [Special].—The 13th annual tulip festival opened today with a parade and the picturesque street scrubbing ceremony. The celebration, which attracts visitors from many parts of the country, will continue for eight days.

A crowd of 100,000 persons is expected to visit Holland this week-end. Special trains, buses and ships brought excursionists from numerous cities including Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Toledo. All hotel accommodations have been taken and many visitors are staying in homes.

The tulips on review, estimated at more than two million, are in excellent condition. They were nearly 100 per cent in bloom for the opening day, which seldom has been the case in previous festivals.

REPUBLIC STEEL GIVES UP PLANE TO GOVERNMENT

Cleveland, O., May 17 (AP).—The government has taken over the 14 passenger Lockheed Lodestar transport plane which has been flying Tom Girdler, chairman, and other Republic Steel corporation officials on their numerous business trips, it was learned today.

A Republic spokesman said only that the government asked for it and it was turned over at Newark, N. J., 10 days ago. Cleveland aviation circles understood that all private purchasers of the two-engined, 1,200 horse power model had been asked to turn them over to the government.

It was learned the request came from the Office of Production Management, which did not disclose to what use the transport would be put. Transports are easily converted into bombers.

PICK CHICAGOAN AS NEW HEAD OF GENEVA SCHOOL

Mrs. Mary W. Pickerill, managing officer of the Geneva State Training School for Girls at Geneva for several years, is to retire at the end of May and is to be succeeded by Mrs. William E. Lewis, it was learned last night.

Mrs. Lewis is a Chicagoan and has been active in welfare work. She is a member of the women's advisory board for the Dwight prison. A formal announcement of her appointment to the post is expected from the governor's office in a few days.

AUTO ACCIDENTS KILL 2 CHILDREN; CYCLIST IS VICTIM

Boy Falls from One Car, Hit by Another.

Carol Ann Todd, 6 years old, 6519 Minerva avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when she was struck near her home by an automobile driven by Benjamin J. Olson, 52 years old, 5343 Kenmore avenue. She died a few hours later in the Illinois Central hospital. Olson was ordered to attend an inquest tomorrow.

John Deangelo Jr., 3 year old, 6824 South Aberdeen street, was injured fatally last night in the 6400 block on West 79th street when he opened the rear door of an automobile in which he was riding, and fell into the path of a car driven by Frank Winder, 30, 7024 Michigan avenue. The boy was riding with his father, John Sr., in a car driven by Magnus Averty, 41, of 2336 Kenmore avenue.

Motor Cyclist Killed.

Alex Radloff, 22, of 237 Austin avenue, Libertyville, a machinist, was injured fatally last night when his motorcycle struck the side of a westbound North Shore line passenger train on Stewart avenue near Park avenue in Libertyville. The motorman of the train was Frank May of Mundelein. Police said an electric warning signal at the crossing was operating.

Harold Wood, 20 years old, 1251 South Kedzie avenue, a repair man, was crushed fatally at 23d street and Washtenaw avenue between his tow truck and a car he was towing. He died in St. Anthony's hospital. Wood had stopped the truck to adjust the tow rope. The motor of the car he was towing was still running. As he bent down in front of the car it moved forward, pinning him against the truck.

Killed in Car-Trolley Crash.

Eral Warzak, 22, of 1556 Levee street, was killed when his automobile collided with street car at Ashland avenue and 28th street. Firemen spent half an hour extricating the victim.

Nathaniel Stokes, 5, colored, died in county hospital of injuries suffered Friday when struck by a truck near his home at 1054 West 13th street. The driver was Joseph Puente, 1321 Newberry avenue.

Up to 2 p. m. yesterday 328 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 247 were killed in Chicago, where 8,308 were injured in traffic in the same period.

BOOK MEMORIAL TO HONOR KOCH, N. U. LIBRARIAN

A memorial consisting of a collection of rare books and manuscripts will be established at Northwestern university's Deering library in honor of Theodore Wesley Koch, who died last March after 22 years as university librarian, it was announced yesterday.

As a result of a tribute paid Koch in a speech by Dr. Franklyn B. Snyder, university president, faculty members formed committees and started a drive for funds. Librarians, scholars, and book lovers thruout the country were asked to participate.

Koch, who was librarian for the United States army during the world war, was 69 years old at the time of his death.

$206,672 in Tax Payments on Harding Estate Approved

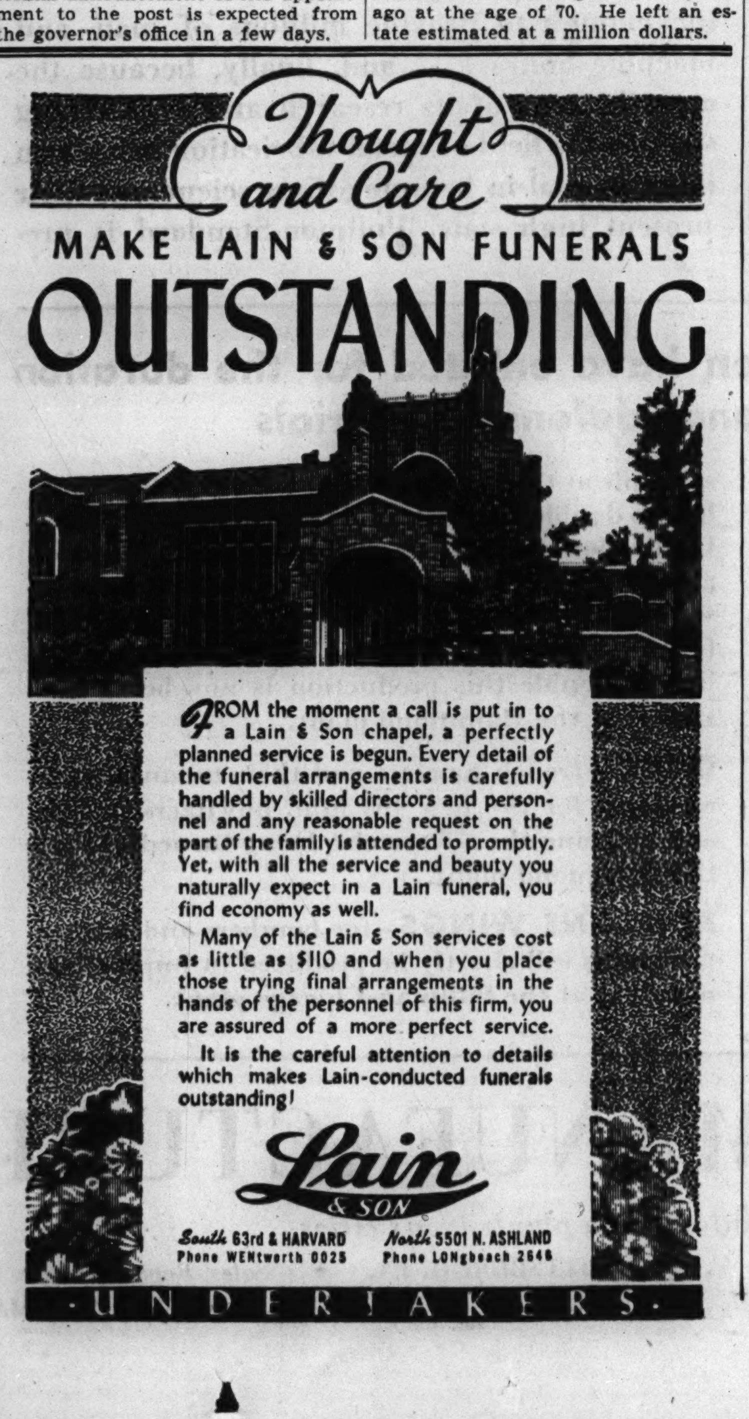
Judge John F. O'Connell in Probate court yesterday authorized payment of $206,672 in federal inheritance taxes and income tax deficiencies from the estate of George F. Harding, former Republican national committeeman. Mr. Harding died two years ago at the age of 70. He left an estate estimated at a million dollars.



Thought and Care

MAKE LAIN & SON FUNERALS

OUTSTANDING

FROM the moment a call is put in to a Lain & Son chapel, a perfectly planned service is begun. Every detail of the funeral arrangements is carefully handled by skilled directors and personnel and any reasonable request on the part of the family is attended to promptly. Yet, with all the service and beauty you naturally expect in a Lain funeral, you find economy as well.

Many of the Lain & Son services cost as little as $110 and when you place those trying final arrangements in the hands of the personnel of this firm, you are assured of a more perfect service.

SIR DAVID OWEN DIES IN CHICAGO; SHIPPING EXPERT

Sir David John Owen, celebrated British authority on ports and shipping, died in his sleep of a heart ailment yesterday in his suite in the Palmer House. He was stricken March 29 when he arrived in Chicago en route to London from Hongkong, where he had made a survey of the reorganization of port facilities for the British government.

Sir David, who was 67 years old, had seemed to be recovering. He was making plans a few hours before his death to resume his journey.

The shipping expert was in the service of the Mersey Docks and Harbor board at Liverpool in the early days of his career. In 1922 he became general manager of the Port of London authority, retaining this post until 1938. In 1939 he became chairman of the Merchant Shipping Reserve Advisory committee.

Sir David's widow, Lady Owen, is in Wales. Duncan Kennedy, his aid, arranged for the body to be cremated and the ashes taken back to England.

INSANITY GAINING FAST IN ILLINOIS, SAYS DR. READ

Dr. Charles F. Read, managing officer of the Elgin State hospital, asserted in a speech yesterday that if the mentally ill in Illinois increase at the present rate the state will have to spend $8,000,000 for new hospital construction every five years—or make some arrangements to accommodate additional patients. He spoke at a joint meeting in Elgin of the Illinois Psychiatric society and the Chicago Neurological society.

"In 50 years the population of the state doubled," said Dr. Read, "but the mentally ill in state hospitals in the same period increased eightfold. We now have 32,000 in this category and an additional 9,000 feeble minded."

His own opinion, Dr. Read said, is that regulations for admittance to state institutions should be tightened; that all but those positively psychotic should be left to home care.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE OF COOK COUNTY BOOSTS EXPENSE

But Services to Public Declines, Lund Finds.

Springfield, Ill., May 17 [Special].—That there have been increases in operating expenses in the last eight years in three divisions of Cook county government—the offices of the sheriff and the clerks of the Circuit and Superior courts—while their services to the public have been declining was a charge made yesterday by Arnold L. Lund, former Republican state representative from Riverside.

The figures on which Lund based his charge were contained in an independent survey, made by Lund, who was a leader in the economy bloc in the legislature. A copy of Lund's survey has been submitted to Gov. Green.

The Cook county board has a bill pending in the legislature to peg its annual tax levy at $10,000,000, about $2,000,000 more than its present tax revenue. Lund contends the higher levy would increase the county tax rate by about 15 cents per each $100 of assessed valuation while members of the board say the increase would be only 1½ cents as they would decrease rates on other appropriations.

The sheriff's office appropriation for 1941 is $1,982,890, an increase of $445,532 over 1933 when the expenditures were $1,537,358.

Number of Employés Grows.

The increase, apparently, has all been in salaries. The 1941 appropriation for that purpose is $1,559,297 as compared with $1,099,854 in 1933—a rise of $459,443. The number of employés has been boosted from 472 in 1933 to 734 this year, the latter figure being exclusive of 15 part time highway deputy sheriffs.

In contrast, Lund points out, the fees received by the office for serving writs—which are the measure of its public service—have dropped from $517,886 in 1933 to $210,949 in 1940—a difference of $306,937, and the estimate from this source in 1940 is $245,000.

The appropriation for the Circuit court clerk's office this year is $258,723, an increase of $99,458 over 1933 when the expenses were $159,265. The salary appropriation for 1941 is $216,747 for 95 employés as against $141,435 in 1933 for 70 employés—increases of $75,312 in funds and 25 in employés.

Despite these increases, the fees taken in by the office have diminished. The income from that source in 1933 was $401,268, which was $89,124 less than the $312,144 received in 1939, the last year for which comparable figures are available.

It Skyrockets Inversely.

The Superior court clerk's office has an appropriation of $211,923 for 1941, which is $81,946 more than the 1933 expenditures of $129,977. Again, the bulk of the increase has been in wages—the 1941 figure being $178,475, a rise of $59,227 over the 1933 pay roll of $119,248. There are now 78 employés in the office while in 1933 there were 63.

The revenue from fees, Lund says, has "skyrocketed inversely," the 1940 income being $358,079, which is $57,471 less than the 1933 receipts of $415,550.

Lund said that statute and the 1870 constitution give the judges of the Circuit court the right to determine the number of employés in the clerks' offices as well as the treasurer's, sheriff's, coroner's and recorder's office.

Costs Up; Fees Down

(Story in adjoining column.)

How appropriations for three divisions of the Cook county government have risen in recent years while fees collected for services performed have declined is shown by these graphs. The graphs are based on figures contained in a survey made by Arnold L. Lund of Riverside, former Republican state representative, and submitted to Gov. Green.

SUE TO RESTRAIN PICKETING IN ROW BETWEEN UNIONS

An injunction suit asking that the Retail Clerks International Protective association, an AFL affiliate, be restrained from picketing and intimidating customers and employés of the Personal Service Liquor store at 4225 Madison street was filed in Circuit court yesterday by the owner, Abe Nabat. The suit charges that union leaders placed the pickets at the store last Monday after Nabat refused to heed their demands that he compel his clerks to change their membership from a CIO union. Attorney Herman Weiss said he would seek the injunction tomorrow.

TOWN BILLS U. S. FOR ADDED COST OF HOUSING UNIT

Wants $150,000 for Year of Extra Service.

Audubon, N. J., May 17 (AP).—This south Jersey borough of 8,500 inhabitants today billed Uncle Sam for $150,000 for a year's potential services, claiming a 500 unit defense housing project under way here would throw its civic mechanics completely out of gear.

Furthermore, Solicitor J. Claud Simon charged in his statement to the federal works administration that its standards of construction and sanitation were below the minimum. It wouldn't be so bad, he said, if the houses were just meant to be lived in for a while then junked.

Burden on Taxpayers.

"The people of Audubon are just as patriotic as the people in any other community," declared the solicitor, "but we do not feel the powerful federal government should saddle on to a group of small American homes a burden which would almost double their present tax burden."

He complained that supplying the housing project with municipal services would necessitate a new school, more teachers, a new sewage disposal plant costing $100,000, three additional policemen, and a 20 per cent hike in the cost of garbage collection and street maintenance.

Reject Offer of $36,000.

The government offered the borough $36,000 a year in lieu of taxes for its services but this was rejected. Commissioners said the amount when divided among the 500 units would be about 40 per cent of what other residents pay for the same services. Taxes on the average home here total $150. Few of the borough's 2,300 dwellings are high priced.

Solicitor Simon said the first contention of the borough, "and what seems to be the legitimate contention of every community in the United States," was that the government "should not be permitted to go into a community which has established standards of construction, sanitation, and zoning restrictions and violate those standards which a community of citizens has passed for its protection."

MILITARY ORDER OF GUARDS TOLD IT MUST DISBAND

Adjt. Gen. Leo M. Boyle issued an order in Springfield yesterday for the disbanding of the Military Order of Guards, with headquarters in Chicago. In a letter to Frank Steward, commander of the organization, Boyle cited war department regulations which forbade voluntary and independent military organizations in the United States after Jan. 17, 1941. The Guards were first organized in 1917. Boyle complimented the good intentions and patriotism of the Military Order of Guards but asserted the wearing of uniforms by its members created problems. The war department in January rescinded the right of members of the organization to wear khaki.

RUSH AND U. OF I. MERGER SOUGHT IN COURT ACTION

A friendly suit to dissolve the ties between Rush Medical college and the University of Chicago, and to merge the college with the University of Illinois, was filed in the Circuit court yesterday.

Plaintiffs in the action are the trustees of Rush, and defendants are the University of Chicago, Presbyterian hospital, the Central Free Dispensary of West Chicago, and George F. Barrett as attorney general of Illinois. The Presbyterian hospital is involved because it now is the teaching hospital—that is, its staff members are instructors in the college.

The dispensary is involved because it is operated in coöperation with the college, and the attorney general is a party because the University of Illinois is a state institution.

It is explained that the principal reason for ending Rush's association with the University of Chicago and linking it with the University of Illinois is Rush's distance from the former and nearness to the latter.

By affiliating with the University of Illinois, Rush college will have access to the millions of dollars' worth of laboratory and other equipment of the University of Illinois college of medicine and its clinics.

Cavalry Opened to Fat Men; They Ride Trucks

Washington, D. C., May 17 (AP).—The army opened the cavalry today to fat men. The war department said it had rescinded a 1923 regulation which provided that no applicant for first enlistment would be accepted if he weighed more than 170 pounds. Many cavalry men now do most of their riding in trucks.

FRANK H. SPARKS CHOSEN FOR NEW HEAD OF WABASH

Becomes Educator After Industrial Success.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 17 [Special].—Frank Hugh Sparks, who reversed the usual procedure by first making a fortune and then going to college, today was elected president of a college. Sparks, a Baptist, became the eighth president of Wabash college founded in 1832 by nine Presbyterian ministers.

The industrialist-educator succeeds the late Dr. Louis B. Hopkins, who was head of the college from 1926 until his death last August while vacationing at Hanover, N. H. Dean George V. Kendall has been acting president.

For the last four years Sparks has been teaching in the economics department of the University of Southern California where he also has been doing postgraduate work.

Born on Indiana Farm.

He is a native of Indiana, having been born on a Grant county farm on Jan. 11, 1891. He grew up in Marshall county and was graduated from Culver Military academy in 1910.

Among various enterprises with which he was associated in Indianapolis during the following years was a school for auto mechanics which he started in 1916. In 1927 Sparks and Q. G. Noblitt founded the Noblitt-Sparks Industries, a firm with headquarters at Columbus, Ind., which manufactured automobile accessories.

The business was started in a small shop behind a drug store, where Noblitt toiled to perfect an automobile pump he had invented.

Enrolls at Arizona.

Because of his wife's failing health, Sparks went with her to Arizona in 1929. While there he enrolled for academic work in the University of Arizona, beginning the realization of a lifelong ambition to obtain a college education and become an educator.

When his business partnership had been built into a prosperous company Sparks sold his interest in it and retired from commercial life to devote all of his time obtaining an education. He completed his college work at Butler university, where he also served as an economics instructor.

2 MORE DESCRIBE FATAL WHIPPING AT ST. CHARLES

Two more inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys testified yesterday in Kane county Circuit court at Geneva that they saw Robert Adams and William Laird, former school guards, fatally beat James Williams, 16 years old, colored, an inmate, in the institution on Feb. 13. Adams is on trial before Judge William J. Fulton on a charge of murder. Laird has been granted a separate trial on the same charge. The witnesses yesterday were Palmer Richards, 17, and Richard Platke, 16.

Plan for concealed telephone wires in your new home

TELEPHONE wiring in your new home can be just as modern and inconspicuous as the plumbing and electrical work, if provision for it is included while the house is being built.

CONDUIT, or pipe, can then be placed inside the walls to carry telephone wires from the basement to outlets on the first and second floors. This way, you provide a clear path through building materials that are difficult to pierce after the house is completed. Conduit avoids exposed wiring and assures that your lovely walls and woodwork will not have to be marred later.

PLANNED telephone outlets also add much to the living comfort and convenience of your home. They're neat little wall-plates, connected to the conduit. You can use them now — or years from now — whenever you feel the need for additional telephones.

NATURALLY, a well-planned telephone service increases the value of your home. And it costs little if built in during construction.

YOUR telephone company will be glad to consult with you — without cost or obligation — and make recommendations for built-in telephone conduit. In Chicago, call OFFicial 9300, Extension 3722. Outside Chicago, call the Business Office.

• Architects and builders are invited to call upon us for assistance in planning telephone conduit.

MAIL

"Dear John:

You've asked me just how easy is it to own an Opportunity Farm by means of our special tenant purchase plan.

Well, you'd be surprised! For example if you can make a 20% down payment, 6% annually on the balance takes care of both principal and interest payments. As for the length of the contract, that can be arranged to suit you—up to twenty-five or twenty-six years if you like.

Of course, you may feel that 20% down is more than you can swing without selling off more of your livestock than you would like. In that case, smaller down payments can be arranged for fellows who are good reliable farmers, and I think you are that kind of chap.

Let me tell you more about them—because I feel certain you will be surprised at the deal you can actually work out.

Sincerely, Sam."

Half Million Dollar Residential Development Started in Winnetka

LAMSON ESTATE TO BE CUT UP INTO HOMESITES

Wreckers Start Tomorrow Razing Big House.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Following the recent trend of cutting up big north shore estates into medium sized homesites, one of Winnetka's largest and best known residential estates, the seven acre Warren Lamson property at the northwest corner of Sheridan and Tower roads, will be subdivided and construction of 12 modern homes is planned. The total investment will be in the neighborhood of a half million dollars, it is understood.

The Lamson property, which adjoins the Winnetka six acre estate of Harold Ickes [at present unoccupied] on the east, was recently sold by Mrs. Marguerite P. Lamson to C. A. Hemphill and associates of Evanston, for an undisclosed price. The property recently was offered for $90,000. Miss Lucy-Jane Hedberg, of Baumann-Cook, Winnetka realty firm, was the only broker.

Start Wrecking Tomorrow.

Yesterday Hemphill signed a contract with the Globe Wrecking company to raze the big residence, for many years the home of the Lamsons. It has 12 rooms, 5 baths, and a 4 car garage with two 5 room apartments. Wrecking will be started tomorrow with completion set for two months later.

Location of seven acre Lamson estate just east of Harold Ickes six acre property in Winnetka, to be cut up into 12 homesites by C. A. Hemphill and associates.

Hemphill has outlined a building program which calls for the erection of two homes, work on which will be started within two months. Raymond E. Houlihan will be architect. They will each cost $35,000 for land and building.

The remainder of the homesites, all to be one half acre or more in size, will be improved later. The home building program calls for completion of all homes by the end of next year.

Avoid Highway Frontages.

Altho the Lamson property fronts 835 feet on Sheridan road and 705 feet on Tower road, none of the 12 residences will front on either thorofare. Three will face north on Private road, the north boundary of the property; eight will front on a new dead end lane to extend west from Sheridan road [four of these eight will have their back yards on Tower road]; and the twelfth home will occupy a triangular site at the Sheridan-Tower intersection but probably will face northwest, away from the two roads.

The Hemphill organization some time ago purchased the big James A. Patton estate on Ridge avenue, Evanston, razed the huge stone mansion, and cut the property up into smaller homesites. Four modern homes have been built, sold, and occupied.

Mrs. Lamson, who sold her residence to Hemphill, is the widow of Warren Lamson, of Lamson Brothers & Co., Board of Trade commission house. She recently purchased the large residence at 79 Locust road, Winnetka, from A. Clark Moore, where she now is living.

Federal Life Modernizes Its Chicago Offices

The Federal Life Insurance company, which occupies seven entire floors of the 12 story building bearing its name at 168 North Michigan avenue, has partially completed a modernization of its home offices. The new private office of President L. D. Cavanaugh has walls of walnut, with one entirely of glass brick, laid with stainless steel strips instead of mortar. Several other offices have been rebuilt and several departments shifted to give greater efficiency.

Weathered Women's Shop Will Continue in Drake

Martha Weathered's women's shop will continue in the Drake hotel. It was reported recently that it would be moved across Michigan avenue and combined with the Weathered's miss' shop in the Rockefeller building. This plan has been abandoned and a new lease was signed with the Drake hotel to continue there.

In the Beverly Hills Area

Row of houses in Beverly Ridge in the Beverly Hills area, nearing completion by C. Henning Vagtborg and associates. All designed by Lind & Luckman. These are on the west side of Washtenaw avenue, between 108th and 109th streets. A feature of the project is the New England style sidewalk—close to the curb—giving a deeper lawn.

Half Century Old Landmark in Englewood Being Modernized

Modernization of one of the oldest and best known buildings in the Englewood district, the six story and basement Yale apartments, at the northeast corner of Yale avenue and West 66th street, is nearing completion. Built in 1893 the year of the first Chicago world's fair it then had a rent roll of $21,000 annually.

After a number of successful years the building gradually depreciated until for three years it stood vacant. Carl Fox, owner of several buildings on the south side, bought it in January, 1938, from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Despite the assertions of real estate operators that the building should be wrecked, Fox began a three years' program of modernization.

He paid $55,000 for land and building, and will spend $112,000 in rebuilding the interior, or $2,000 for each modernized apartment. With a rent schedule of from $42.50 to $57.50 his gross annual rental, he estimates, will be $31,600—over ten thousand dollars more than the rent roll when the building was new in 1893. On May 1 all but one of the 14 leases expiring were renewed.

Made Into Smaller Units.

The old building had 42 apartments of from three to seven rooms. They are being remodeled into smaller units. Forty-four suites of from three to five rooms are completed and occupied. Twelve more are in process of modernization.

The modernization program calls for completion by February, 1942. Adjoining the Yale apartments on the north is a large lot with a frame house which was part of the Yale property in the original purchase. Fox plans razing this old home and using the ground for a private garden for Yale tenants. It will be encircled by a high brick wall, and will be landscaped with a fountain, flowers and shrubbery and have an entrance directly into the Yale apartment building.

Recalls Well Known Tenants.

Dr. R. E. Thexton, a dentist, 6705 Yale avenue, one of the original tenants of the Yale, yesterday recalled some of the other occupants of the building's earlier years.

Old Timer Rebuilt

The world's fair apartment building at Yale and 66th is being modernized. To date $40,000 is said to have been expended in rejuvenating this nearly half century old structure.

Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of schools, Dr. Cornelia De Bay, of the board of education; the mother and sister of the late Senator Deneen, State Representative Chester Church, and State Representative Frank P. Sadler, were among a long list of well known people of that period, who lived at the Yale.

The building was built by E. M. Condit who willed it to the missionary organization.

Brick Deliveries Break Records for Last Decade

Deliveries during April by the Illinois Brick company were larger than any other month in the last 10 years, William F. Schlake, president, reported. They were 53 per cent higher than March, and 22 per cent above April of last year.

OBTAIN PERMITS ON 26 HOMES IN BEVERLY RIDGE

Big Building Program Is Under Way.

Permits have been taken out by C. Henning Vagtborg and associates for 26 new homes in their Beverly Ridge residential community covering four square city blocks bounded by West 107th and 109th streets, and South California and Washtenaw avenues, in the western part of the Beverly Hills area.

Construction already is under way on seven of these new homes, with four of them sold and one occupied, all on the west side of Washtenaw, between 108th and 109th. Work will start tomorrow on four more, one of which is sold.

Builds New Type of Row House.

The Vagtborg organization broke ground in February, 1940, for a new type of row houses in Blue Island, designed by Lind & Luckman, Chicago architects. Since then it has built and sold 18 of these residential units.

These row houses have the appearance from the street of separate units, being open on all sides as in single homes, but each two houses have basements extending to a party wall. Each pair of homes is separated by a service court nine feet wide, covered with concrete under which the basements extend.

On the other side of each house is a garden court 23 feet wide, extending to the next unit. All have large recreation rooms in the basement.

Success Attracts Trustees.

Attracted by the success of the Blue Island row houses the trustees of Mount Greenwood Cemetery association last August signed an option with the Vagtborg organization which calls for the erection of 140 somewhat similar homes in Chicago during a two year period.

The association owns a partially wooded tract of four square blocks southeast of the Ridge Country club.

According to Vagtborg the southwest of the four blocks will be improved with 26 new homes as soon as the 26 in the block to the east are finished.

REALTORS OFFER PROTEST SERVICE FOR TAXPAYERS

The Chicago Real Estate board again is making tax protest services available to property owners in Chicago at the board headquarters, 132 West Randolph street, and at the offices of member realtors thruout the city, according to Leonard Downie, business manager of the board.

The tax rate has been increased from $9.11 per $100 assessed valuation to $9.52, an all time high for Cook county. Real estate owners, it has been estimated, will pay approximately 69.5 per cent of the total Cook county tax bill.

As the June 1 penalty deadline for the first half of 1940 real estate tax bills draws near, collections already are above what they were in 1940, officials in the county treasurer's office reported. Yesterday 103,473 real estate tax bills had been paid, amounting to $6,550,000. The number of bills protested this year is expected to approximate the 500,000 figure reached last year, Downie said. The protest procedure is the same as last year—a notice of "paid under protest" is stamped on the tax bills and signed by the taxpayers before the bill is paid.

TRIBUNE'S MAP OF CHICAGOLAND FOR 1941 READY

The Chicago Tribune's Chicagoland map for 1941 is now available at The Tribune's Advertising and Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. As in years past the revised edition contains all changes in highway markings and road improvements made during the last year. All surfaced, improved and unimproved roads are shown in the 125 mile area about Chicago. It also indicates the locations of all airports, beaches, cemeteries, churches, forest preserves, golf courses, hospitals, lakes, radio transmitters, schools, swimming pools, and many other points of interest.

M'CORMICK HOME ON WABASH SOLD TO UNDERTAKERS

The former residence of Robert Hall McCormick at the southwest corner of North Wabash avenue [formerly Cass street] and Erie street, was sold yesterday to Eugene J. and John J. Carroll of John Carroll Sons, undertakers, for $43,000. It will be remodeled and used by the buyer as a funeral home to replace the present undertaking establishment at 1158 North Clark street. It was said that $30,000 will be spent rebuilding the old residence from plans by Albert A. Schwartz, architect. Daniel Murphy was broker in the purchase.

Remember Me? Here I am Again . . .

Last State St. Day I "made the front page"! Remember my enthusiasm over the values? My insistence that you shop at our State St. Store? My assurance that you would be overjoyed at the remarkable values? And wasn't I right? Of course I was! So right that I asked for another chance to tell you about this State St. Day, too! Those of you who came last time are certain to do it again! Those who didn't, will realize, by now, what you missed. You will want to take advantage of this opportunity to share in truly extraordinary values! So take a tip from me, and do as thousands have done in the past, and will continue to do . . . let State St. Day be your guide to real money-saving! So take my advice and be here bright and early Monday.

RIGNEY CHOKES OFF RALLY IN NINTH INNING

Surrenders Only Five Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

John Rigney.

New York, May 17.—John Rigney stood up before the stuttering but still dangerous Yankees today and fire-balled them into submission. Only five hits rattled off the bats of the ex-champions while the White Sox ace was making his third start of the season. Meanwhile his mates divided their efforts against Spud Chandler between scoring runs and leaving men on base. But they scored enough to win the rubber game of the series, 3 to 2.

What Rigney needed to make his effort a success was supplied by Myril Hoag, who spent another pleasant afternoon dispatching his compliments to his old boss, Joe McCarthy. The latest of Manager James Dykes' pickups singled to drive home the first tally. He singled again in the sixth, driving across the run that restored the Chicagoans to the lead just after the Yanks had created a tie. His third single went to waste in the eighth, but other fellows took over the work in the ninth when the decisive run was produced.

It Was No Breeze.

Altho his hit allowance was low, Rigney experienced plenty of pressure, most of it after he had been touched for only two hits and a run in five innings. He encountered two hits in the sixth, but got out of it by fanning Tom Henrich and disposing of Joe DiMaggio. In the seventh he gave two intentional passes, after surrendering one unintentionally. He got out of that unscathed. He had to handle, and did, DiMaggio and Charley Keller after walking two more in the eighth. And in the ninth after a pass and single had put Yanks on third and first with none out, he met the challenge again, altho half his two run lead was whittled away.

If the middle portion of the Sox batting order had not suffered a bad case of feebleness, the Sox might have blown themselves to a scoring spree. There was only one inning, the first, in which they didn't have from one to three men on base. The most painful of these sessions was the sixth when, despite two walks, a double and a single, they scored only once. Two more were stranded in both the seventh and eighth, but their misfortune in this respect changed in the ninth when one hit, Luke Appling's single after an error by Joe Gordon, brewed the winning margin.

Yanks Trail, Then Tie.

Altho Chandler was sufficiently talented to hold the Sox to one hit for three innings, the hit proved good for a run. Taft Wright tapped out to open the second and Chandler teetered long enough to walk Dario Lodigiani, who moved up a notch while Mike Kreevich was being thrown out. Hoag then started doing his stuff. He whacked a single thru short, Lodigiani scoring. After the throw to the plate, Hoag got his former pals a bit upset by threatening to go to second. In the confusion Gordon heaved the ball into the dugout, enabling Hoag to reach third, but Mike Tresh fanned.

Rigney's first four innings were so pleasant that only one Yank reached

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The New York Giants yesterday made it three victories in three tries in the Wrigley field series with the Cubs and five out of five in the season endeavor. The beating yesterday was more severe than most, the score being 9 to 0.

Cliff Melton was the winning pitcher. It was the long lefty's third success of the season and his second over the Cubs. They got to Cliff for five hits and guess who made three of them. Why, Lou Novikoff.

Novikoff was supposed to be on the bench again, but Hank Leiber discovered he had a busted thumb. So Phil Cavarretta moved from center field to first base and Dom Dallessandro, who replaced Novikoff in left in the middle of Friday's game, and was to have started there yesterday, switched to center field.

Stringer Finally Gets One.

This made it possible for Novikoff to get his pants off the pine boards, and he responded by socking singles his first three times at bat. And that wasn't the only item for Los Angeles papers to please copy. One of the other two Chicago hits was a single by Lou Stringer, his first in 14 times at bat. The remaining hit was a double by Dallessandro.

The Cubs employed four pitchers and one of them was good. Vern Olsen, Jake Mooty, and Tot Pressnell were the three who didn't do much. Paul Erickson retired all the batsmen who faced him in the last two innings, and in the ninth he struck out Joe Orengo, who previously had walked once and hit safely three times. He also whiffed Johnny Rucker, who was a pain in the neck to the Cubs in three games of the series.

Rucker Starts Trouble.

Rucker, first up in the ball game, scored the run which would have been enough to win. He walked, advanced on Burgess Whitehead's infield out, and scored on Bill Jurges' single. Babe Young followed with a single, but Harry Danning hit into a double play launched by Bob Sturgeon.

Olsen escaped in the second, third, and fourth innings, but disappeared in the fifth. In this session Whitehead pushed off with a triple. Sturgeon failed to come up with Jurges' grounder, Young singled, Danning sacrificed, and Mel Ott knocked the first of two doubles to run the total for the inning to four runs. When Olsen walked Morrie Arnovich he was excused and Mooty was called in. Jake walked Orengo, loading the bases, then Melton and Rucker were retired.

The Giants came back for four more runs in the sixth at the expense of Mooty and Pressnell. Traffic was cut down in this romp when Dallessandro, threw out Arnovich going into third base and Novikoff threw out Orengo as he tried to slide home.

Home Park Is a Jinx.

Yesterday's defeat was the eighth suffered by the Cubs in 10 home games this season. There was no accounting for yesterday's hitting collapse because there were no white shirts in the center field bleachers and the white clad hawkers flashed across the background mostly while the Giants were at bat.

While the setback yesterday, fourth in five engagements in the Cubs' present stand against eastern invaders, was depressing to some, the lads vowed to brace today when they open a three game series against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who think they are pretty cute.

Lake Forest college lost its first baseball game of the season to Bradley Tech, 7 to 3, in 12 innings yesterday in Lake Forest. June Borgenson pitched all the way for Lake Forest. Swen Allin was the winning pitcher. Chuck Becker made three of Lake Forest's hits.

ROSE SETS PACE IN TIME TRIALS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Mays Second; Wind Hampers Drivers.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 17.—Mauri Rose of Indianapolis this afternoon won the pole position for the annual 500 mile automobile race at the Speedway here on Memorial day. Eleven others, including Wilbur Shaw, three time champion of the motor contest, also won positions in the starting line-up on this first day of qualification sprints.

Rose, a 35 year old mechanic in the Allison airplane engine plant here, pushed an Italian Maserati around the two and a half mile track at an average of 128.691 miles an hour for the clocked 10 miles. This was faster than last year's 127.850 which gave the pole to Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., but below the track's record of 130.138 set by Jimmy Snyder in 1939, a few months before he was killed in a midget auto race.

Wind Hampers Drivers.

Gusty winds retarded the day's runs, buffeting the cars on the paved oval's sharp turns, altho the breeze was not unpleasant to 40,000 spectators enjoying bright sunshine.

Mays clinched No. 2 position for the May 30 event by doing 128.301 miles an hour. He will be in the middle of the first row when the 33 starters in a column of threes make a pace lap before the starter's bomb on Memorial day.

Shaw, who took the major share of the $100,000 in prizes in 1937, 1939, and 1940, will be on the outside of the first row as a result of his 127.886 average this afternoon. His alcohol-burning Maserati is one of three entries owned by Mike Boyle, Chicago electrical union boss.

How They'll Line Up.

Following these three, listed with their qualification averages in miles per hour, will be:

THIRD ROW—7. Cliff Bergere, Hollywood, Cal., 123.890; 8. Billy DeVore, Indianapolis, 121.770; 9. Chet Miller, Detroit, 121.540.

The remaining 21 positions will be filled at future time trials. They will go to the fastest of 30 drivers still to be clocked officially. The track will be open for qualification runs tomorrow afternoon.

The duplication to one-hundredth of a second—4 minutes and 50.58 seconds—by Wearne and Bergere in their times for the 10 miles was without precedent in 28 previous years of this motor classic. Wearne was placed ahead of Bergere because he qualified first.

Bergere Drives Death Car.

Incidentally Bergere, a gray haired movie stunt driver, is driving a four cylinder special job which carried Floyd Roberts to victory in 1938 and then to his death in a crash while he was trying to repeat in 1939.

Saylor, the No. 12 qualifier, is the youngest in experience in the race. Saylor, a school teacher who has been racing on dirt tracks, completed tests for the big league here only yesterday.

In contrast, the entire first row is composed of veterans. Rose took second place in 1934, fourth in 1936, eighth in 1939, and third in 1940. Mays, who is mounted in a supercharged eight cylinder job, ended in second place after starting at the pole last year but won the 1940 national championship by victories elsewhere on the American Automobile association's contest circuit.

NAVY NIPS LATE RALLY TO BEAT NOTRE DAME, 5-4

Notre Dame, Ind., May 17 [Special]. Led by Don Blue, shortstop from Wichita, Kas., who batted in three runs in the first two innings, Navy won its ninth consecutive baseball victory today, defeating Notre Dame 5 to 4. It was the midshipmen's 13th triumph in 16 games.

Navy halted a two run Irish rally in the last of the ninth when Bernie Crimmins, Irish catcher and full back, was caught attempting to steal home. Score:

Navy ........................230 000 000—5 8 3
Notre Dame................011 000 002—4 5 4

Montgomery Sends Jenkins to Surgeon for Face Lifting

New York, May 17 [Special].—Fred Browning, manager of Lew Jenkins, today said that his fighter, recognized as lightweight champion in New York, would undergo a plastic operation to repair the damage to his face inflicted in Friday night's losing battle with Bob Montgomery. Browning said skin would be grafted on a deep cut across the bridge of Lew's nose, and that stitches would be taken in a cut near his right eye, all of which probably will put Jenkins out of action until September.

WRIGHT'S IN FORM—SO IS INDIANA'S KANE

Bob Wright, Ohio State's brilliant sophomore hurdler, clears the last barrier in the 120 yard high hurdles and speeds on to first place in the Western conference track meet yesterday at Minnesota. Wright won by five yards over Chuck Horvath of Northwestern in :14.3. Indiana won the team title ending Michigan's four year reign, scoring 48 points to the Wolverines' 43.

BEST MEETING DRAWS TO CLOSE AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Sportsman's Park closed the most successful meeting of its history yesterday with a program that drew an attendance of 15,000 and a betting handle of $459,981. This was $44,981 above the highest previous figure on the half mile track's record. The total for the 19 days was $5,029,327. The Chicago area's racing activities now shift to Lincoln Fields, where a 30 day session will open tomorrow.

The main event on the concluding program was a gallop of a mile and 70 yards which drew six contenders. It resulted in an easy victory for a 5 to 1 shot, Maurice K. He got home five lengths in advance of Best Quality with White Front following three lengths farther back. The 2 to 1 favorite, Must Go, could do no better than fourth. Killarney Lass and Axelson completed the field.

Best Quality Takes Command.

After Killarney Lass went out with a rush to take the early lead, there was considerable shuffling of positions on the turns. Following a complete circuit of the track, five of the six horses were racing almost abreast coming past the stands.

Going into the clubhouse turn again, Best Quality got thru on the rail and took command. In the backstretch, however, Maurice K. moved up swiftly on the outside, got to the front approaching the far turn, and drew out steadily thereafter. In the mutuels he returned $12.60, $7 and $5.

A long shot named Pretty Rose went charging first across the finish line in the opening event of the afternoon—a five furlong dash. Racing at odds of nearly 19 to 1, she took command soon after the start and maintained her position all the way home to beat Miss Balko by a length. Mr. Moore, a 50 to 1 shot, forced the pace most of the way, but weakened

Champaign, Ill., May 17 [Special].—Led by Co-Captain John Smith, who turned in record breaking performances in both the high and low hurdles, Maine High school of Des Plaines won the championship in the 47th annual State Interscholastic Track meet at the University of Illinois today. Smith bettered the national record in the high hurdles and the state record in the lows.

Maine, coached by Sam Marzulo, former University of Illinois distance runner and cross country captain, earned 20 points to nose out Quincy's strong team by one point.

Smith's teammates who scored points were John Cooley, co-captain, second in the high jump; Bill Beile, fourth in the 880 yard run, and George Farnsworth, fifth in the 440 yard run. Smith, Farnsworth, Ed Hook, and Mervin Karl composed the mile relay team which assured victory by placing third in the heat Quincy won.

Krull Stars for Quincy.

Quincy's challenge was made possible by Harold Krull, who won the 220 yard dash and placed second in the 100, and Ken Seiz, who won the 880 yard run in record time. La Grange placed third with 15½ points, thru the efforts of Gordon Bischman, shotput winner, and Jack Hitzel and Sam Timpton, hurdlers.

Four records were broken in all. Smith won the opening event, the 120 yard high hurdles, in :14.2, which surpassed the former record of :14.5 set by Roy Brown of Morton [Cicero] in 1939.

A little later Smith won the 200 yard low hurdles in :21.9, which beat the former state record of :22.2 set by Norman Durment of Highland Park in 1938 and the national record of :22.1 by Pollom of Topeka, Kas., in 1938.

Seiz Breaks Half Mile Record.

Seiz of Quincy won the 880 yard run in 1:56.6, which broke the former record of 1:58.7 set by Bob Rehberg of Morton [Cicero] in 1938. Warren Goodell of University High [Urbana] was the next best of the half mile field. The fourth record was made in Minneapolis, Minn., May 17.—Forty minutes after he had run a 4:15.2 mile to retain his Western conference title, Campbell Kane of Indiana university came back this afternoon to whip Michigan's Warren Breidenbach and establish an all-time Big Ten record for the half mile.

This victory and a record of 1 minute 51 3/10 seconds was personally gratifying to Kane and he proved to skeptics that he could win two gruelling races with a minimum of rest between each. Kane's double victory was the outstanding feat of the meet in which three other men each won two titles.

Most important tho, Kane led the Hoosiers to the Big Ten track championship in the 41st annual meet and ended Michigan's conquests after four years, just as they had stopped these same Wolverines in the indoor conference meet at Purdue last March.

Last Event Decides It.

Indiana scored 48 points to Michigan's 43, but this final tabulation was not made until a half hour after the mile relay when the long drawn out high jump was completed. Until Wes Allen of Michigan missed at clearing 6 feet 2 inches, and tied for fifth place, the Wolverines still had a chance to pass Indiana. Don Canham, Michigan's defending champion in this event, shared the title with Don Smith of Northwestern, Jim Ray of Chicago, and Don Timmerman of Wisconsin.

Kane's victory over Breidenbach made a difference of two points in the score. He won after letting Breidenbach, who was withheld from the quarter mile to compete in the half mile, make the pace. It was Breidenbach's early speed which pulled Kane to a new record, for under handicap of his previous mile run, the Indiana man would not otherwise have pushed himself.

Breidenbach led for a lap and a half. As the runners started the second circuit, two other Michigan men, Dave Matthews and John Kautz, swept around Kane and pocketed him. Kane went wide down the back stretch to again take second place. Then, with an accompaniment of roaring cheers from the crowd, Kane came up even with Breidenbach at the head of the stretch. For 50 yards they ran as one, then Kane's drive gradually carried him ahead inches at a time until he broke the finish tape with a lead of one stride.

Breaks Beetham's Record.

Kane's mark supplanted the four year old record of 1:52.2 made by Charley Beetham of Ohio State. To get another angle on Kane's half mile, he ran 1 1/5 seconds faster today than Ed Buxton of Wisconsin did last year to win from the Hoosier.

Of the eight men who contributed to Indiana's victory, one, Bob Burnett, competed only in the mile relay in which Indiana finished fourth. All except Burnett qualified for the dual meet June 17 in Los Angeles between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast conference.

Archie Harris of Indiana also was a double winner, taking the shot put championship to every one's surprise with a toss of 50 feet, his best mark this year. He had lost this event indoors to George Paskvan of Wisconsin, who finished second today. Harris' discus throw in yesterday's preliminaries for a new American record was good for first place, of course. This mark of 174 feet 1 inch missed the world record by only 1⅛ inches.

Cochran Wins Quarter Mile.

Roy Cochran won the quarter mile and finished a close second to Ohio State's Bob Wright in the 220 yard low hurdles. Wayne Tolliver whipped his teammate, Fred Wilt, in the two miles in the creditable time of 9:15; Paul Kendall was second to Kane in the mile, and Marc Jenkins trailed Cochran in the quarter.

Michigan's defeat also can be traced to failure to score as anticipated in the quarter mile. Bob Ufer, second in the indoor meet, could get only fourth and Jack Leutritz was fifth. The Wolverines, always relying on team strength, were blanked in the mile and again in the two miles in which event Karl Wisner faltered in the stretch and finished sixth.

Michigan's only clear title came in the mile relay which the team of Al Thomas, Bob Barnard, Ufer, and Leutritz ran in 3:17.8. Canham shared in the high jump, however.

Wright Sweeps Hurdles.

Wright was a double winner, taking the high hurdles before he beat Cochran in the lows. The other double champion was Myron Piker of Northwestern, who took the 100 yards in 9 8-10 seconds and came back to win

RED SOX CHASE FELLER, BUT LOSE TO INDIANS, 12-9

Mack's Line Drive Breaks Wilson's Elbow.

Boston, Mass., May 17 (AP).—Bob Feller was anything but his usual self today, but he didn't have to be as the Cleveland Indians hit four home runs to give their pitching ace his seventh victory, 12 to 9, over the Boston Red Sox. A downpour halted play in the first of the ninth.

Bakersfield, Cal., May 17 (AP).—Alfred Letourner of France bettered the world paced bicycle speed record today, reaching 108.92 miles an hour in an event timed by the AAA.

The six day bike racer rode behind a huge shield attached to the rear of an automobile. Earlier this month he raised the mark of 87 miles per hour, set by Albert Marquette in Los Angeles in 1933, to 90.91 m. p. h.

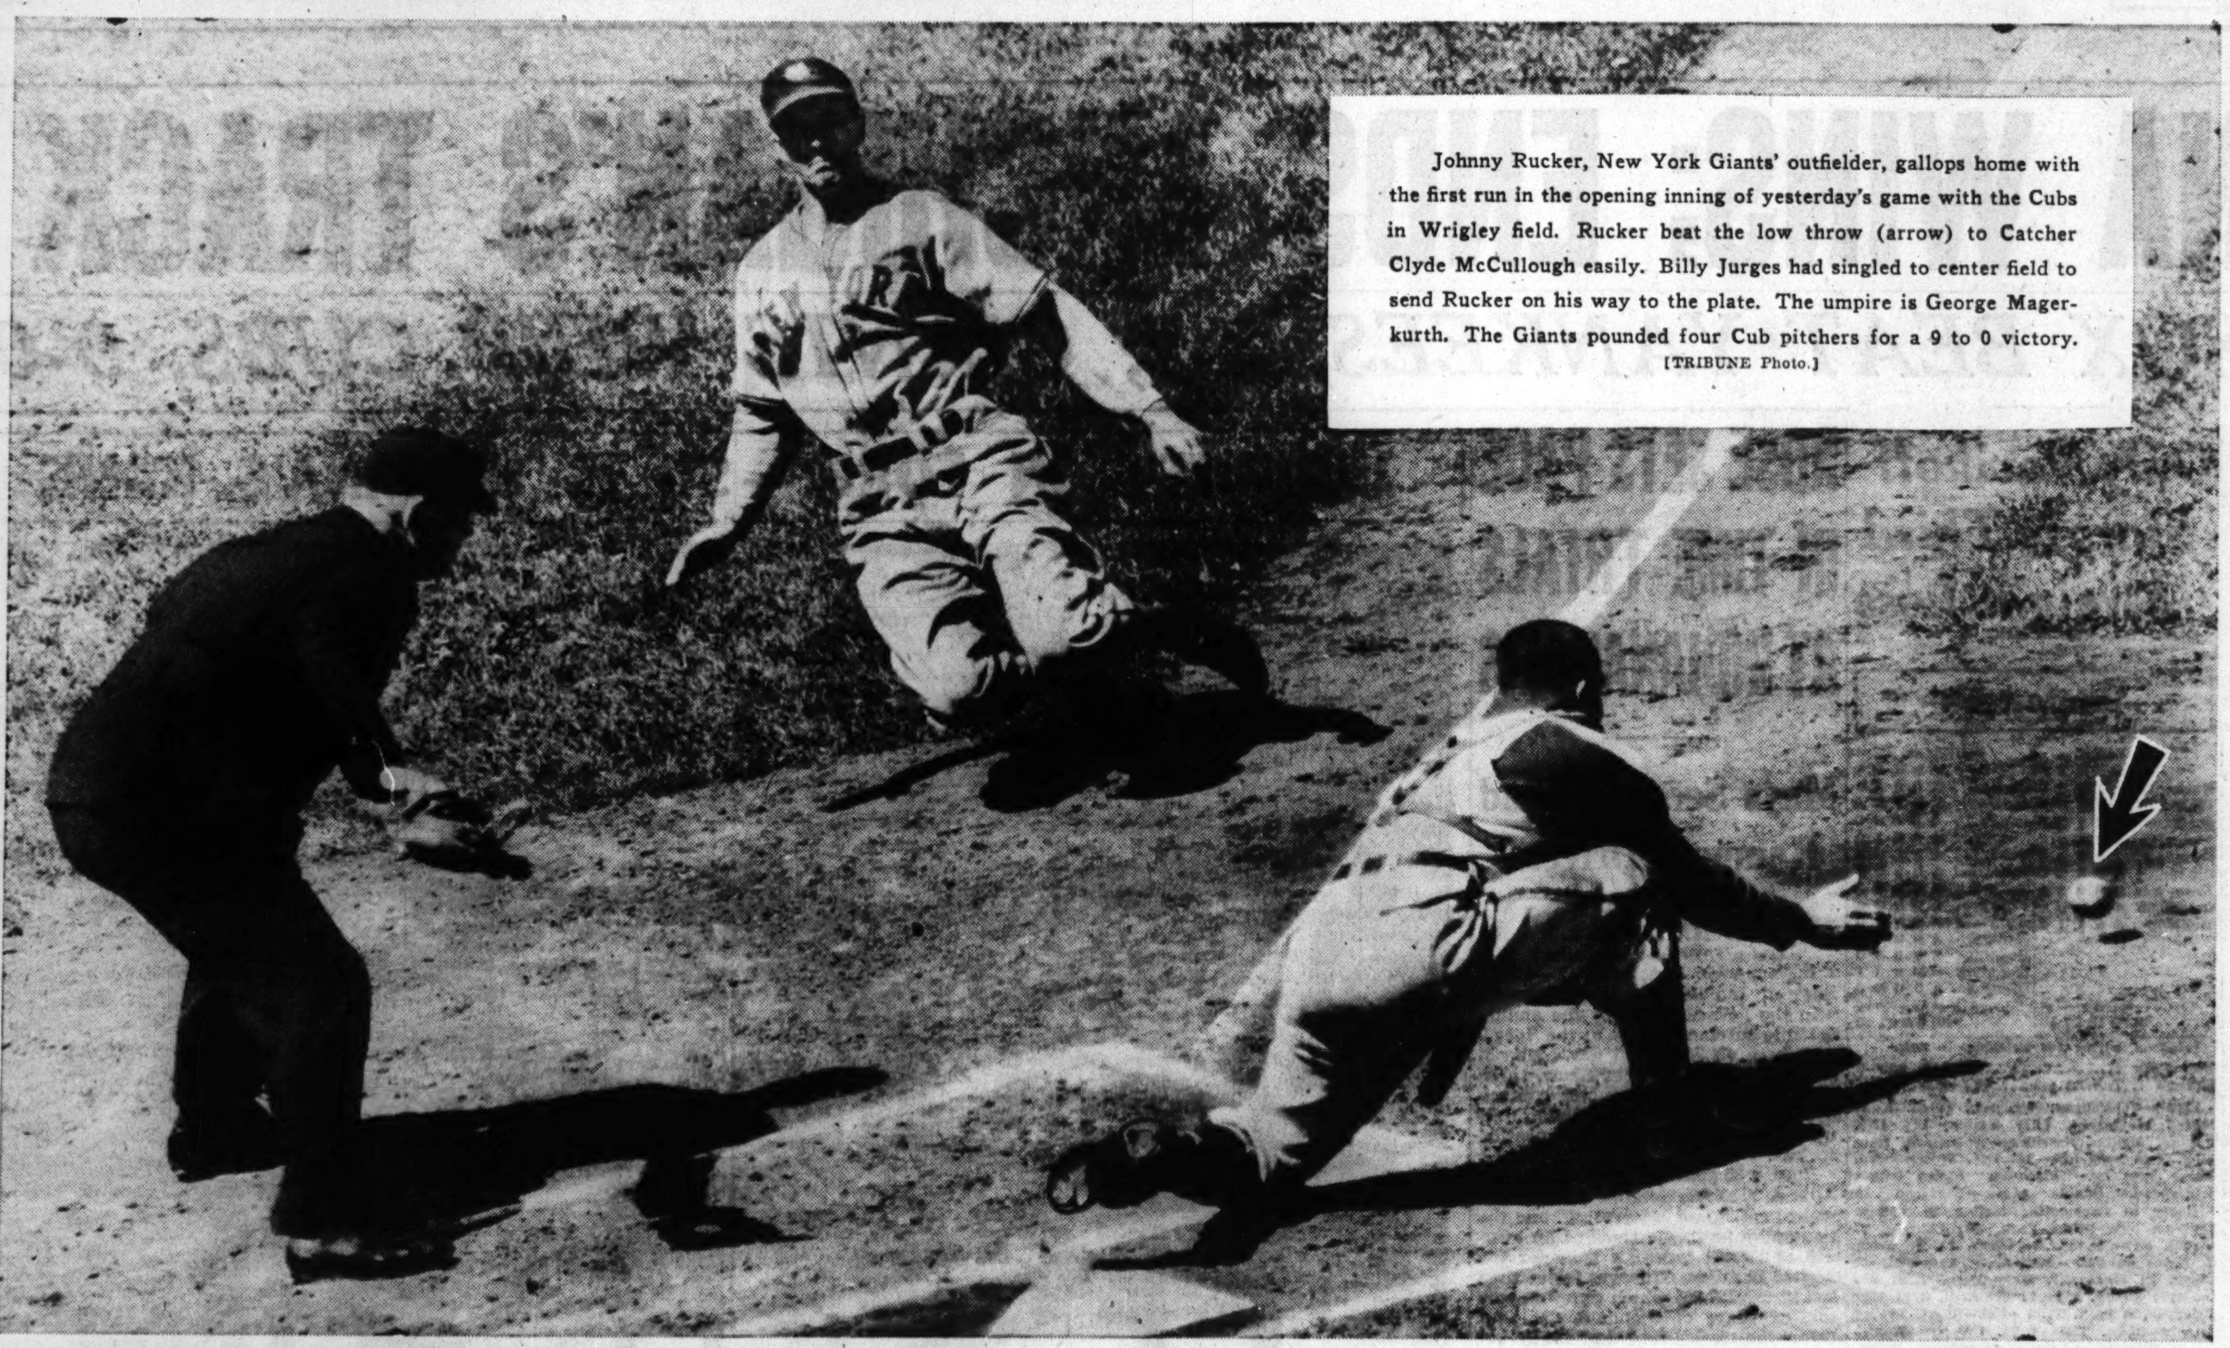
THE FIRST OF NINE FOR GIANTS—CUBS COULDN'T GET ONE



Johnny Rucker, New York Giants' outfielder, gallops home with the first run in the opening inning of yesterday's game with the Cubs in Wrigley field. Rucker beat the low throw (arrow) to Catcher Clyde McCullough easily. Billy Jurges had singled to center field to send Rucker on his way to the plate. The umpire is George Magerkurth. The Giants pounded four Cub pitchers for a 9 to 0 victory. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Sox Win, 3-2, Over Yanks in Series Final

base. That was DiMaggio, who singled to open the second and was forced by Gordon after Keller had popped out. Gordon was exterminated in an attempted steal. DiMaggio also was the next Yank to reach base, but this time he traveled farther. He walked at the start of the fifth, lingered on first until two were being put out and then legged it home with the tying run when Bill Dickey doubled to right center.

The Sox raised all kinds of trouble in the sixth, but all they got out of it was a one run lead. Joe Kuhel walked and was forced by Wright. Lodigiani rammed a hit into the right field corner, and unfortunately it bounced into the seats for an automatic double, forcing Wright to stop at third. Kreevich was purposely passed, whereupon Hoag looped a single over Gordon, scoring Wright. But the full house was cleaned out when Tresh grounded to Frank Crosetti for a double play.

Bill Knickerbocker led off the ninth with a lady-like hopper to Gordon, but that gentleman was a bit too nonchalant in his fielding and the ball escaped for an error. Luke Appling, after four futile efforts, singled to center, Knickerbocker taking third. Kuhel fouled to Dickey, but Knickerbocker had time to scamper home while Wright was forcing Appling. Lodigiani fouled to Sturm to end the inning. Then Gordon walked to start the home ninth and went to third on Dickey's single, but the damage was cut down to one run, driven across by Pinch Batter Buddy Rosar's long fly.

Dietrich Opens Senator Series for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 17.—The White Sox left immediately after today's game for Washington, where they have business for the next three days. Bill Dietrich will pitch tomorrow's opener.

Cubs Pick French to Halt Those Dodgers Today

Larry French is the gent Manager Jim Wilson hopes will be able to give the Dodgers pause in the opener of the Brooklyn-Chicago series in Wrigley field this afternoon. The Cubs expect to face Hugh Casey, former Cub, who has won five straight, or Whit Wyatt, former White Sox, who has won seven straight, after losing his first start.

LEAGUE MEETING TUESDAY.

Rookie Podgajny Yields Only Six Hits.

Cincinnati, O., May 17 (AP).—The Reds lost their sixth straight today as the last place Phillies knocked them down, 2 to 1, behind the six hit pitching of John Podgajny. Bucky Walters also yielded only six hits but in the second inning Nick Etten walked, Emmett Mueller singled, and Bob Bragan doubled both runners home.

The Reds scored in the third when Chuck Aleno tripled and got home on a passed ball. His slide sent Umpire Jorda head over heels. Score:

FORT SHERIDAN IS FORTIFIED FOR ITS BATTLE OF SPORT

Soldiers Well Equipped for Recreation.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Fort Sheridan, in these days of preparedness, is a grim, business like place—until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It is then that the 7,000 young men in the army camp start their recreation period.

If Fort Sheridan is an example, and it assuredly is, the American soldier of 1941 likes his athletics in a great big way. Thanks to the Red Cross, the soldiers have a wide variety of recreative activities. This organization has provided funds for the purchase of sports equipment.

Private Karl Rodermund, a husky youngster from Milwaukee, was checking over the equipment on hand yesterday. Private Rodermund is a busy fellow, what with the details of the fort's athletic program. His supervisor is Major Glenn R. Douglas, who is morale and recreational officer at the north shore camp.

A Verbal Inventory.

"Let's see, now," Private Rodermund said half-aloud preparing to give a verbal inventory on the sports equipment which has been provided for the men.

"We ordered 432 softballs, the 12-inch size, and 144 of the 14-inch ones," he began. "For our post baseball team we obtained eight dozen balls and 24 bats. We have 200 bats for the softball players. Recently we bought six badminton sets, 12 dozen tennis balls, 12 tennis nets, 39 dozen ping pong balls, several ping pong tables, 24 tennis racquets and 12 basketballs. That should do the boys for quite a spell."

Capt. James Love is manager of the post's baseball team, which has played several games with nearby college teams, including two with Northwestern. The baseball call brought out 240 candidates and the squad numbers from 20 to 25, having a varying personnel because of soldiers' transfer to other camps or to other duties.

There is no admission charge to the games in which the Fort Sheridan baseball team plays. Likewise, there are no guarantees to visiting teams, unless perhaps the players arrive in time to get a free meal on Uncle Sam. Now that the army maneuvers are nearing, there will be a lapse in the baseball schedule.

Boxing Shows on Wednesday.

Twenty softball teams are going strong and play each other on a challenge basis. There are 11 softball diamonds on the parade grounds. A new baseball field is being constructed, with bleacher seats. Lights are being installed and there is a prospect of night games later this summer. The baseball field will be flooded next winter for night ice skating.

No army camp is complete without boxing and Fort Sheridan is no exception. A program of fights is held every Wednesday night in the post gymnasium, most of the outside opposition coming from husky youngsters in the nearby Skokie Valley CCC camp.

Arrangements are being made to make nearby golf courses available for the soldiers on certain days each week.

ALL WORK, NO PLAY? NOT IN THE ARMY

Joe Palumbo of the Fort Sheridan baseball team swings like he means business. Art Rosko of the Young Men's club is the catcher; Beans Andarcki the umpire. The fort's "varsity" squad of 25 was selected from among 240 candidates. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Big Ten Gives Draftees O. K. in Army Sports

Minneapolis, Minn., May 17 [Special].—The faculty committee, governing body of Western conference athletics at conclusion of its meeting today announced that future eligibility of Big Ten athletes, after completion of service with the nation's armed forces, would not be jeopardized in any way by athletic competition during service.

Prof. F. E. Richart, secretary of the committee, when asked specifically concerning athletic competition, said it was the opinion of the committee that any army [service] team was an amateur team. A Big Ten athlete can serve as a coach of such teams, if assigned by his superior officer, without jeopardizing his amateur standing.

The faculty committee also approved the 1942 basketball schedule.

Kenneth C. Berry, an Illinois wrestler, was granted another year of intercollegiate competition. In his sophomore year Berry competed only 4 minutes and was prevented from continuing by injury.

HORACE MANN WINS SECTIONAL TRACK TITLE

Gary, Ind., May 17 [Special].—Horace Mann of Gary today was a decisive victor in the high school section track meet, but failed to qualify well enough to become a serious challenger for the state title next week in Indianapolis.

Lew Wallace of Gary took the mile relay and Froebel of Gary won the half mile relay in times as good as any posted in the state this season. Lew Wallace's time was 3:35.9 and Froebel's 1:33.2 on a track that was heavy as a result of rain.

Horace Mann scored 59 points against Froebel's 24 points. Other schools scored as follows:

North Avenue YMCA Wins National Volley Ball Title

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 17 (AP).—Chicago's North Avenue YMCA, paced by the brilliant spiking of Harold Wendt, defeated Houston, Tex., YMCA, 15-12, 16-14, tonight to win the national volley ball open championship. Chicago, winning its first title in 14 years of national tournament competition, dropped only two matches during the season.

Coe Retains Midwest Track Championship

Beloit, Wis., May 17 [Special].—Jim Fieweger, Lawrence sophomore hurdler, turned in the only record performance today as Coe, scoring 57½ points, retained its Midwest Conference track championship. Fieweger ran the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.1 seconds, breaking the former mark of 15.3 established by Sam Leete, also of Lawrence, in 1938.

Coe's balance stood off a challenge from Grinnell, which finished second with 52½ points. Lawrence was third with 33½ and Beloit fourth with 26. Other scores: Knox, 17; Carleton, 15; Cornell, 11; Monmouth, 6½, and Ripon, 5½.

KING COLE WINS WITHERS; BEATS ROBERT MORRIS

Runs Mile in 1:38⅕; 3d to Porter's Cap.

New York, May 17 [Special].—King Cole today won the historic Withers at Belmont Park by four lengths after being made an odds-on favorite with a crowd of 31,613. The Ogden Phipps color bearer was going easily at the end of a mile run over a fast track in 1:38 1-5.

Second and running an improved race over his Kentucky Derby effort, was J. F. Byers Jr.'s Robert Morris, five lengths ahead of Porter's Cap. Monday Lunch, handled by Eddie Arcaro, was fourth. The order of finish after that was Alaking, Dispose, War Relic, Mettlesome, and Ocean Blue.

Ocean Blue Takes Lead.

Ocean Blue's first furlong seemed as if it might cause the favorite some trouble by dulling his speed. However, Johnny Gilbert had so much horse under him that he could, and did, go to the leader without trouble.

Thus it was King Cole in front before the far turn was reached. Mettlesome, counted on to be the head and head challenger of King Cole in a speed duel, got forward sufficiently to drop into second. But he never got within menacing distance. Meanwhile, Robert Morris was a trailer and Monday Lunch was last or next to last.

Robert Morris Moves Up.

Halfway around the turn Robert Morris began to gain. Porter's Cap also moved forward. Farther back, Arcaro had Monday Lunch under way. As they headed for the top of the stretch it was King Cole all by himself with Porter's Cap and Robert Morris going head and head. The latter proved much the stronger and when straightened away he, too, was all by himself. But he was far behind the leader.

The prize to the winner was $20,300 in a race that grossed $23,800.

toward the finish and was beaten out of second place by a nose. Pretty Rose's mutuel prices were $39.40, $12.60, and $9.40.

The well backed choices took command of the second race as thoroly as the long shots had dominated the first. Jockey Johnny Adams timed his move with Falerno to get this 7 year old gelding up in the last 16th to beat Donnagina by half a length. Both of these horses closed at 9 to 2 in this five furlong sprint. The 3 to 1 favorite, Guy B., was third.

Falerno completed a daily double worth $183.40. Those who backed him individually collected $11.60, $7, and $4.60 across the board.

Miss Pittypat Scores.

Two more popular victories occurred in the third and fourth events. Wacky Jack, the 8 to 5 favorite in the seven furlong third race, followed Paul Lee's early pace, caught him on the last turn and had enough left to get home more than a length in advance of the 20 to 1 shot Serbian Rose.

Miss Pittypat, the 3 to 1 second choice, beat the even money favorite, Anna Grand, in the seven furlong fourth race. Anna Grand got thru on the rail to take the lead away from Getabout going down the back stretch, but Miss Pittypat came up on the outside after the turn for home and caught the favorite in the closing strides. Prices on the winner were $8.60, $3.40 and $3.

HARVARD CREW WINS ADAMS CUP FOR FOURTH TIME

Annapolis, Md., May 17 (AP).—Harvard's unbeaten crew won the Adams cup regatta in a triangular race with Navy and Pennsylvania over a rough, mile and three-quarter Severn river course today. Its time was 8:24.2½, a new course and regatta record, 34.3½ seconds faster than the mark set by Pennsylvania in 1925.

The Crimson, rated the best in the east, beat Navy by a half length to win the race for the fourth consecutive year. Pennsylvania was three lengths farther behind.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Pretty Rose, $39.40 straight, $12.60 place, $9.40 show; Miss Balko, $5.20 place, $3.80 show; Mr. Moore, $21.20 show. Winner trained by J. Judy. Went to post at 2:15½. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

PRETTY ROSE, away forwardly and having good speed to assume command, met strong opposition from MR. MOORE in the first half mile, responded gamely to a hard drive when reaching the homestretch and came out gradually nearing the end. MISS BALKO was a stout factor while saving ground, was shaken up strongly for the final drive but could not make up any ground. MR. MOORE forced a fast early pace, made strong bids and continued courageously to the end.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs [chute]. Claiming. Purse $810. Net value to winner, $635; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

FALERNO, hustled stoutly and kept within striking distance of the leaders, moved into contention nearing the last turn, came around the leaders, and, finishing stoutly, overhauled DONNAGINA in the last few strides. DONNAGINA hurried along with the leaders, went into a short lead rounding the final bend, saved ground, and held on tenaciously while being crowded inside the last sixteenth. A claim of foul was not allowed. GUY B. had much speed to set the pace, lost command nearing the homestretch, and weakened under severe pressure.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs. Out of chute. Claiming. Purse $810. Net value to winner, $635; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

WACKY JACK, under steadying restraint early and saving ground, went up to engage the pacemaker after five-eighths, assumed command at the stretch turn, then was ridden hard to the end. SERBIAN ROSE, allowed to gain her best stride when outrun early, improved her position steadily and came with a belated rush on the inside at the end. PAUL LEE showed nice speed to set the pace, lost command at the stretch turn and tired.

MISS PITTYPAT, saved back of the leaders while being full of run, went up smoothly to engage the leaders midway of the backstretch, withstood a stout drive gamely when abreast of ANNA GRAND, and was up in the last few yards. ANNA GRAND stole thru on the inside of GETABOUT at the second turn to take the lead, was handled stoutly for the remainder of the trip and held on stubbornly. BROWN BEN bettered his position on the outside and finished with good speed.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 4:15. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

MAURICE K., never far from the leaders, moved up fast after going three-quarters, crowded over from the outside when engaging the leaders turning into the backstretch, opened up a long lead when in front and held sway to the end. BEST QUALITY stole thru on the inside when making his run, gained the lead between calls but was no match for the winner. WHITE FRONT was a keen factor in the early running but failed to hold on when the test came.

Winner trained by E. B. Shipp. Went to post at 4:44. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

MADAM GRAY, lightly restrained in the early running, entered contention when ready, reached the pacemaker nearing the final curve to assume command, then was kept under stout urging to the finish. HONEY BOAT sprinted into an easy lead, was taken under light reserve while saving ground, but gave way to the winner nearing the final turn, and tired slowly. WATERCURE, never far from the leaders, responded to pressure but could not gain in the closing issue.

MISS MONTE moved to the front quickly, was steadied nicely after gaining a clear lead, responded to pressure in the last five-sixteenths, and had enough in reserve to stall off MORNING MAID. Latter worked his way to the winner midway of the backstretch, then gained slowly under punishment. GRAPE VINE raced gamely from the start and finished willingly to outstay BRILLIANT MISS.

MISS VEP, following within striking distance of VIRAGIN while under steadying restraint, to the front swiftly, swerved out at the last turn to lose the lead, came again under punishment and was up in the last few strides. CHIEFJEAN entered contention after going three-quarters, stole thru on the inside to enter contention, moved to the front when MISS VEP bore out but gave way nearing the close. MOLIDA was in the first flight from the start and held on gamely.

Lincoln Fields Takes Chicago Race Spotlight

The Chicago area's racing program moves into its second stage tomorrow when Lincoln Fields opens a meeting which will run thru June 21.

Thruout the last week, horses have been arriving from Churchill Downs, which is operated by the same organization which runs Lincoln Fields—the American Turf association. Many stables have shipped in their representatives from other states and quite a few horses are moving over from Sportsman's Park, which closed its spring meeting yesterday.

Matt J. Winn, managing director of Lincoln Fields and president of the American Turf association, has made preparations to handle unusually large crowds during the coming few weeks. The upswing which Chicago racing took last year is continuing into the present season as demonstrated by the record attendance and mutuel handle during the Sportsman's Park meeting.

Many of the horses which will compete at Lincoln Fields will remain in this area thruout the season. The next meeting will be at Arlington Park. Then will come sessions at Washington Park and Hawthorne, after which a fall program at Sportsman's Park will conclude the schedule.

Lincoln Fields will present an interesting stake program. There will be a $5,000 event every Saturday, and also on Memorial day.

Paige to Face Giants Today in Home Debut

The Chicago American Giants play their home opener of the Negro American league season in Comiskey park today. They meet the Kansas City Monarchs, league champions the last two years, in a doubleheader, starting at 1:30 o'clock. Satchel Paige, regarded as the greatest Negro pitcher of all time, will start one of the games for the Monarchs.

Paige, recently returned from a winter of pitching in Puerto Rico, hurled a 5 to 3 victory in Yankee stadium, New York, last Sunday before 18,000 fans. His mound opponent today is expected to be Cornelius. Hilton Smith of the Monarchs and Southpaw Willie Hudson of the Giants will start the other game.

STATE BASEBALL LEAGUE TO PLAY 10 GAMES TODAY

Ten games in the Illinois State Amateur Baseball league are scheduled for today, as follows:

North Division.

Ace Staplers vs. St. Mathias, in Winnemac Park, 2 p. m.

Norwood Park Clippers vs. West Side Royals, at 32d and Kildare, 3 p. m.

South Division.

Argo Bruins A. C. vs. Chicago Pirates, in Hamilton park, 3 p. m.

Joseph B. Fords vs. Berwyn Lakotas, in South park, Oak Park, 1 p. m.

Heritage Coals vs. Bridgeport Bears, in Hamilton park, 3 p. m.

Challenger Clothes vs. Mays A. C., in Foster park, 3 p. m.

West Division.

Alder, Ropas vs. Cicero Cardinals, in Douglas park, 3:30 p. m.

Assumptions vs. Crum Florals, in Altgeld park, 1 p. m.

Angel Guardians vs. Ravens A. C., in Douglas park, 3:30 p. m.

DOWN DRAFTS AND HYDROX PLAY IN GIRLS' OPENER

The Metropolitan Chicago Girls Major Softball league opens its 60 game schedule with two contests today. The Garden City Brewery Girls, who won the league title last year as the Hydrox Girls, oppose the Down Drafts in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. The Rival Dog Food team will make its bow in the new Rival stadium at Harlem and North Avenues, facing the Parichy Bloomer Girls.

Morgan Park Tennis Star Wins Midwest Prep Title

Culver, Ind., May 17 [Special].—Fred Steers of Morgan Park Military academy won the Midwest Prep conference tennis tournament today by defeating Defending Champion Steve Bromley of Culver Military academy, 6-0, 6-2, on the Culver Military academy courts. Bromley was forced to play three matches totaling 85 games before meeting Steers in the finals. The Culver team of Bob Heilman and Bill Williams retained the doubles title by defeating Perry and Priest of Lake Forest academy, 6-3, 8-6.

Muskie Season in Wisconsin Opens Sunday

BY BOB BECKER.

The northern muskellunge, the fish that wears a sourpuss expression from one year's end to another, is noted for it's mean disposition. But after this week the northern muskies that live in Wisconsin undoubtedly will have an even more disagreeable disposition, if such a thing is possible. The reason is that starting next Sunday morning, the 1941 season on muskies opens in Wisconsin.

Under Way in Minnesota.

Minnesota already has opened its muskie season. Minnesota has the same species of 'lunge as is found in Wisconsin. It's called the northern or unspotted muskellunge. Of all the states that have experimented with the idea of raising muskies and planting them by the millions, Wisconsin has been the most successful. Practically all of the lakes which naturally were inhabited with this fighting fish have been stocked year after year.

The fisherman has a choice of scores of muskie lakes around Three Lakes, Eagle River, Phelps, Sayner, Boulder Junction, Woodruff, Minocqua, Land o' Lakes, Manitowish, Mercer, Winchester, Fifield, Hayward, and many other localities in Wisconsin. And besides the lake fishing for muskies, Wisconsin also has river fishing for this game fish, including the famous Chippewa and the Flambeau with their big flowages.

Recommended Lures.

For early season muskie fishing, we usually have our best luck with either a wabbling underwater plug or some type of a spoon. Last May we caught a muskie and had two more on the hook in just a few minutes on Ghost lake by using a medium sized pikie minnow.

Early in the season we'll stick to either a plug or some type of lure which has flashing metal in its makeup. When hot weather comes we like to cast a surface lure, one that throws water around like the paddle wheel of a stern wheeler steam boat. But no matter whether the muskie hits or sulks, when fishermen throw their lures, he never loses caste among anglers. He's a fashionable fish.

Petroskey and Dubs Meet in Marigold Bout

Tony Petroskey, Muskegon, Mich., welterweight, will make his first Chicago appearance in two years and a half in an eight round bout against Harvey Dubs of Windsor, Ont., in Marigold Gardens tomorrow.

Petroskey has agreed to make 143 pounds for the match, two and a quarter less than he weighed for his last start in the Marigold arena against Tomy Howell. Altho Howell won the decision in 10 rounds on that occasion Tony is expected to win tomorrow.

GREENVIEWS AND INDIANS PLAY IN LEAGUE FEATURE

It'll be a battle of two former Western conference pitching stars when the Chicago Greenviews and Krier's Indians meet today in the feature encounter of the Midwest league's 12 game schedule. Berger Larson who led Michigan to a Big Ten title in 1936 by pitching 11 straight conference victories, will be on the mound for Greenviews. [Lefty] Sainati, formerly of Illinois, will pitch for the Indians. Today's schedule [all games at 3 p. m.]:

Washington Beats Central, 4 to 0, for Sixth Straight

South Bend, Ind., May 17 [Special]. —Washington High of South Bend won its sixth Northern Indiana conference baseball game today, defeating Central of South Bend, 4 to 0, behind the three hit pitching of Jerry Strzelecki. Washington scored all runs in the second inning, on three triples, a single, and an error.

PREP OARSMEN PREPARE TODAY FOR BUSY SEASON

Lane, Schurz, Waller to Hold Practice Races.

Chicago's schoolboy oarsmen, toughened by several weeks of conditioning exercises at the Lincoln Park Boat club, face a full week-end schedule for the next two months. Highlight of the most ambitious rowing program ever arranged in Chicago is the third annual Chicago Interscholastic Regatta on June 15, in which the University of Washington's national champion eighth will meet Wisconsin as a special attraction.

The Lincoln Park club yesterday beat the Culver Military academy varsity by three feet in a race at Culver. Lincoln Park's time was 5:40 4-5. Schurz High school's crew lost to the Culver Jayvees by 10 lengths on the same program. Culver's time was 6 minutes.

Today, on the lagoon at the boat club, the three crews of high school oarsmen—from Lane Tech, Schurz, and Waller—will engage in practice races.

Schurz Juniors Meet Marmion.

Next Sunday the Schurz juniors will row against the Marmion Military academy juniors at Aurora. On Friday, May 30, the Lincoln Park crew and the Lane and Schurz seniors will go to Madison to meet the three University of Wisconsin crews.

On the following afternoon, Paul Murdock, 147 pound rowing star from Waller High school, will represent Chicago in the national Schoolboy Rowing association regatta in West Camden, N. J. It is possible, too, that an eight oared shell manned by Chicago preps will compete at West Camden. Waller's senior crew is scheduled to race the St. John's Military academy eight at Delafield, Wis., on May 31, too, while on the same afternoon the Marmion Military academy oarsmen will meet the junior crew from Lane on the Lincoln park lagoon.

Face Culver Eights June 7.

The June 7 schedule calls for the senior crews from Waller and Schurz to engage the Culver eights at Culver. The Lane seniors will go to St. John's the same day. A final dress rehearsal will be held on June 8 for the Interscholastic regatta, which is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Lincoln Park Boat club in coöperation with the Chicago park district.

The Central States Amateur Rowing association regatta will be held on the lagoon on July 4 and 5. Special schoolboy races are being arranged for the second day of the meet. The boat club also will send a prep eight to Minneapolis to compete in the national regatta on July 18 and 19.

Washington Leaves June 12.

Carl V. Kilgore, manager of athletics at the University of Washington, yesterday notified regatta officials that the group of 26 oarsmen, coaches and trainers will leave Seattle Thursday evening, June 12, and arrive in Chicago at 9:45 a. m. [Chicago daylight time] on June 15, the morning of the regatta. The far westerners will leave late the same afternoon for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where the Huskies will defend their national championship on June 25. Wisconsin also will compete at Poughkeepsie.

APT GOLF PUPILS: THESE 64 PRIZES RIDE ON A SWING

Tickets to 2 Open Tourneys Await Best Students.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

One week from this afternoon the graduating exercises of the ninth annual free golf school conducted by The Tribune will be held on one of the four courses of the Chicago park district. The site of these finals will not be named until tomorrow, but yesterday two important additions to the prize list for the novice finalists were made by Maynard G. Fessenden, president of the Chicago district Golf association, and by George S. May, president of the Tam O' Shanter Country club.

Messrs. Fessenden and May, who will direct Chicago's two biggest 1941 tournaments, the former the fourth annual $5,000 Chicago Open and the latter the $11,000 Tam O' Shanter open, joined in announcing the donation of 64 tickets to the two major league shows. The Chicago Open will be held at the Elmhurst Country club on July 18, 19 and 20. Dates of the Tam O' Shanter battle, richest tourney of the year anywhere, are Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Fessenden and May said that they and their associates were happy to contribute these tickets to the finalists in the largest system of group instruction in the history of the game.

Awards to 28 Finalists.

Thirty-two tickets will be presented by the C.D.G.A. and 32 by Mr. May. Four of the C.D.G.A. tickets will go to the man, woman, boy and girl chosen as winners in next Sunday's finals. These four will be for the entire tournament. Each of the other 28 finalists will receive a ticket of admission to the final 36 holes of play on July 20. The same four winners will receive season tickets for the Tam O' Shanter open, while the remaining 28 will be given tickets good for any one day of the tourney.

Last Thursday night, the school closed the most successful first week it ever has enjoyed. A total of 41,000 free lessons in the fundamentals of golf were given on the four park district courses by members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association. Tuesday night's opening class record of 20,000 endured only until Thursday's second lesson, attended by more than 21,000.

For the benefit of those golf-minded citizens who may have been unable to attend the first two lessons last week, the members of the P.G.A. faculty have promised to repeat the tips on the grip and stance given last week. Tuesday night's third lesson and Thursday's fourth and final instruction of the regular series will be concentrated on the swing.

Not Too Late to Start.

You still have an opportunity to attend the final two classes of the school, even tho you missed the first pair. There is no charge for any of the lessons. The only entrance requirements are one golf club [bring a mashie if you can] and your prompt presence at the park course nearest your home or office. All classes open promptly at 7 p. m. and you are urged to appear 15 minutes before that time if possible. The four courses are Jackson park, 63d street and Stony Island avenue; Marquette park, Marquette road and Kedzie avenue; Columbus park, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue, and Diversey, located in Lincoln park at the foot of Diversey boulevard at Lake Michigan.

Following the completion of the final lesson on Thursday night, the professionals in charge and their colleagues at each location will select the two men, two women, two boys and two girls adjudged to have made the most progress during the school. This will form a final class of 32, all of those to be chosen being real novices. The professionals have promised to restrict their selections to beginners of this year.

The 32 finalists will assemble next Sunday afternoon, the man, woman, boy and girl whose swings please the jury will be presented with a golf bag and a set of clubs in addition to the tickets to the Chicago and Tam O' Shanter opens. The other 28 finalists will be awarded one dozen golf balls each.

ILLINOIS WINS SIXTH STRAIGHT IN GOLF, 23½-12½

Champaign, Ill., May 17 [Special].—Illinois' golf team won its sixth consecutive Big Ten match today, defeating Michigan, 23½ to 12½. Capt. Alex Welsh took medalist honors with 143. Welsh defeated Ben Smith, Michigan No. 1 man in singles. It was Smith's first defeat of the season. The teams split the four ball matches, but Illinois swept the singles. Summaries:

Vikings Meet Hansa; Defend Soccer Lead

BY OFFSIDE.

The Vikings, who took first place last week by defeating the Slovaks, defend their lead in the Major division of the International soccer league today, opposing the Hansas in Winnemac park. The Slovaks, now trailing by two points, will attempt to remain in the title running, opposing the Kickers at Addison street and Kimball avenue.

Standings of the three leading teams:

| | W. | L. | T. | Pts. | GP. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Vikings | 9 | 1 | 1 | 19 | 3 |
| Slovaks | 8 | 3 | 1 | 17 | 2 |
| Swedes | 7 | 3 | 3 | 17 | 1 |

[W—games won; L—games lost; T—games tied; Pts.—points; GP—remaining games to play].

The Swedes, defending champions, are idle today. Their pursuers for third place, the Nickeloids and Schwabens, battle in Dalzell in the only other Major division game scheduled. The Spartas, who meet the Vikings next week in a state Peel cup second round match, play the Carnegie Steels in Gary this afternoon.

BASEBALL WORLD HONORS A GRAND OLD MAN: MACK

Philadelphia, Pa., May 17 (AP).—Baseball's high officials and 15,000 fans honored Connie Mack today and neither the threat of rain nor the Athletics' 8 to 5 loss to the Detroit Tigers could detract from the elaborate affair.

The 79 year old owner-manager of the A's was praised in speeches and presented with gifts by Philadelphia business and professional leaders.

Bands played in the flag draped ball park, which this afternoon dropped its old name of Shibe park and became Connie Mack stadium. Pennants of all Mack's championship teams were prominently displayed.

He Has His Nap.

Connie, an American league fixture for 40 years, took his customary nap in the stadium office midway in the celebration which began in the mayor's office and continued at the game. When he appeared on the field the crowd roared its welcome to the tall, white haired sportsman.

Connie, choked with emotion, was barely able to speak when he thanked the Philadelphia citizens' committee for the gifts, and the fans for turning out to honor him.

A Who's Who in Baseball.

Among the guests introduced to the crowd were K. M. Lanids, baseball commissioner; Will Harridge, president of the American league; Walter O. Briggs Jr., vice president of the Detroit club; William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh National league Pirates; Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians; Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees; Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Braves; Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox; President Gerry Nugent of the Philadelphia Nationals; Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox, and Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern league, and actor George M. Cohan, who sang his specially written song, named after Mack.

The day's festivities began when Connie, accompanied by both Athletics and Detroit players, received a framed set of greetings from Detroit's city council in the office of Mayor Robert Lamberton.

WILDCATS SNAP IRISH WINNING STREAK, 5 TO 4

The Northwestern tennis team upset Notre Dame, 5 to 4, yesterday on the Northwestern courts. It was Notre Dame's first defeat in eight matches. Seymour Greenberg, Big Ten champion, and Capt. # Harvard Lightweight Crew Sets Record to Keep Title

Boston, Mass., May 17 (AP).—Harvard's 150 pound varsity crew retained the eastern intercollegiate lightweight title today by defeating Princeton by a length and a quarter, setting a record of 6:40 in the American Henley regatta on the Charles river. M. I. T. finished third, Columbia fourth, and Pennsylvania fifth.

N. U. GOLF TEAM RALLIES TO WIN OVER IRISH, 16-11

Northwestern rallied in the afternoon singles matches to defeat Notre Dame, 16 to 11, in a dual golf meet at the Kildeer Country club yesterday. The Irish led, 5½ to 3½, after the morning doubles contests. Bill Fisher scored Notre Dame's only victory in the singles. Capt. Dick Haskell of Northwestern shot a 73, one over par, for the best individual score of the day. Summaries:

DOUBLES — Neild and Schrieber, Notre Dame, beat Haskell and Haywood, Northwestern, 3 to 0; Abrahams and Beggs, Northwestern, beat Wilson and Fisher, Notre Dame, 3 to 0; Fehlig and Harrigan, Notre Dame, beat Barrett and Panko, Northwestern, 2½ to ½.

RUTGERS' CREW WINS DAD VAIL REGATTA AGAIN

Marietta, O., May 17 (AP).—Rutgers university won its third consecutive Dad Vail rowing regatta today, beating six other crews over an Ohio river course. Its eight-oared shell rowed the one mile and 550 yards in six minutes and 36 seconds to finish three lengths ahead of Marietta. Boston university was third.

The others, well strung out, finished in the following order: Rollins, American International college, Springfield [Mass.] college, and University of Richmond. Marietta's time was 6:51.2 and Boston's 6:51.8.

Wagner's 76 Wins Low Gross in Kildeer's Opening Tourney

Kildeer Country club opened its season yesterday with its annual spring stag, in which 200 members and guests competed. John A. Wagner, a former Northwestern university player, led gross scoring with 39—37—76.

Others were Fred Damaske, another former Purple golfer, 36—42—78; W. W. Watts, 41—42—83; Dr. John A. Walters, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee, 41—43—84, and W. R. Stuart, 40—45—85.

Low net went to E. E. Sanderson, who had a card of 91—20—71. John H. Shook followed with 86—14—72. George Martinson led guests with 98—25—73. Prize winners follow:

CHICAGO WOMAN TAKES LEAD IN BOWLING MEET

Los Angeles, Cal., May 17 (AP).—Mrs. Lillian Koehler of Chicago took the singles lead in the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament today with a 561 total, on games of 196, 194, and 171. Ruth Wilkinson of Watertown, N. Y., took second with 538. Mrs. Koehler and Myrtle Saunders of Chicago led the doubles with scores of 367, 338, and 337 for a 1,042 aggregate.

Mary Bendfelt and Dorothy Saunders, both of Chicago, rated fourth and fifth in the singles with 510 and 506, respectively.

MICHIGAN MAN BREAKS 96; WINS SKEET TOURNEY

E. H. Graf of Birmingham, Mich., won the small bore championship of the Great Western skeet shoot yesterday at the Lincoln Park Gun club. Graf, competing in Class C, outscored the best in all classes with 96 out of 100, the best performance by an impressive margin.

Divisional winners included:

Junior Division — Robert Garland, Des Plaines, 47x50.

GLEDHILL AND STOEFEN HEAD FOR TITLE MEET

Lester Stoefen and Keith Gledhill may not win the national doubles championship, but one thing is certain: The two Hollywood lads don't scare easily.

Stoefen and Gledhill, scheduled to arrive tomorrow or Tuesday, are making the long trek from the Pacific coast intent on dethroning Donald Budge and Fred Perry, current doubles kings, in the national professional championship tennis tournament which opens at the Chicago Town and Tennis club Saturday afternoon.

There Are Others.

Budge and Perry won the title in the championship meet held on the same courts last September and, from all indications, should be favorites to retain that title despite strong bids from Bill Tilden and Vinnie Richards, Richard Skeen and John Faunce, and Stoefen and Gledhill.

If reports emanating from the coast are authentic, the latter duo figures to be the strongest opposition to the present champions. However, anything can happen with 32 players battling over a nine day period for both the singles and doubles crowns, as well as the right to participate in the $25,000 invitational tournament to be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., about the middle of June.

Tilden, Skeen on Hand.

EVANSVILLE SELLS KUESTER.

Evansville, Ind., May 17 [Special].—The Evansville Three Eye league club has sold Outfielder Ivan Kuester to Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty league. Kuester was with Bradford in the Pony league for two seasons.

Better buy now—get this greatest tire value at today's low prices while you can

The good U. S. dollars you're spending today are the soundest money in the world—and now's the time to get full value for them.

Here's the tire that gives it to you—Goodyear's big and better first-line "G-3" All-Weather—the toughest, sturdiest tire ever to bear this famous name.

How much better is it? Well, tests prove it averages thousands of miles longer tread wear than previous models. On your car that means many months extra service!

It leads in safety, too. Just look at that massive shoulder-to-shoulder grip. See how those sharp-edged diamonds face in ALL directions—brace against skids at any angle—to insure quick-stopping traction.

A ruler will tell you these non-skid edges add up to 19 feet of grip in every single foot of tread—19 feet of road-holding traction in every foot of rubber on the road!

Surely, you want this safer tire for summer driving. Get it now—while present low prices prevail. See this greatest "G-3" All-Weather at your Goodyear dealer's—and you'll see why it is today's keenest buy.

HINT TO USED-CAR BUYERS

To get real service from a used car, you need good rubber. Why gamble on off-brand tires, when first-line Goodyear "G-3" All-Weathers cost you far less per mile. Now's the time to buy the best tires you can get—they may have to last you a long, long time.

STOCKS RECOVER MODERATELY, BUT TRADE DWINDLES

Buying Reported Based on Inflation Views.

New York, May 17 (AP).—The stock market today emerged from a generally depressed week's trade with mild recoveries in coppers, rails, steels, oils, and specialties. Transactions dwindled to the lowest level in more than eight months, however.

Persistence of inflationary talk in Wall street, despite indications the administration was considering an "all-out" price "ceiling" as a means of stemming soaring living costs, was believed by brokers to have inspired a little short covering and investment buying. Transfers of 140,540 shares were the smallest since August 24.

Some Leaders Are Higher.

Among stocks ending on the upside were Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Phelps-Dodge, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, New York Central, United States Steel, Republic Steel, Texas corporation, Continental Oil, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Sears-Roebuck, J. I. Case, and Sperry.

A new low since 1938 was posted for Consolidated Edison. General Motors was a shade lower and Chrysler was unchanged.

Slipping tendencies were displayed Monday as a fairly good business news budget was offset by a cloudier foreign situation. On Thursday quotations suffered the sharpest dip since April 18 as a result of Marshal Petain's inference France would "collaborate" with Germany.

CHICAGO LIST STEADY.

Prices were about steady yesterday in dull trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. The turnover was 6,000 shares.

The trading volume for the week was 89,000 shares, compared with 93,000 shares in the preceding week, and 446,00 shares in the corresponding week of 1940.

BANK STOCKS

Stocks of the larger Chicago banks tended slightly higher last week in over the counter trading. First National advanced 4 points, Northern Trust 3 points, and La Salle National a point. Industrial National common declined 1½ points and Chicago Title a point. Others were unchanged.

Commodities

A rush of profit taking and repeated federal warnings against overspeculation slowed commodity futures markets last week after their steep climb since the first of the month.

Advances and declines were about evenly distributed at the end of the week and price changes were moderate. Cottonseed oil, rubber, hides, and Santos coffee reached new highs for as long as four years and, with the exception of rubber, closed the week with gains.

Copper, tin, and wool tops were also higher, while cocoa, domestic sugar, silk, and lead were lower. Other than an advance of a cent a pound in hides, cash prices showed little change.

UTILITY SHARES RISE ON PLAN TO SETTLE CLAIMS

Midland Prior Liens Bound $6.50.

Two of the stocks of Midland Utilities company, a unit in the old Insull public utility system, were pushed up to new high marks for the year last week as a result of a new move to settle long standing litigation. The company and another old Insull organization figured in an action to settle claims totaling nearly 50 million dollars, over which the units have been wrangling for seven years.

From $5.50 a share last Monday the 6 and 7 per cent prior lien shares of Midland Utilities climbed to a peak of $12 on Friday, and the $6.50 advance was trimmed only moderately yesterday in the 6 per cent issue when it ended the week at $11. The 7 per cent prior lien issue was not traded in the final market session. The 6 and 7 per cent preferred stocks meantime had gained fractionally.

Rise on Claim Plan.

The rise followed the disclosure Tuesday of terms proposed by the Securities and Exchange commission for the settlement of the claims which Midland Utilities and Midland United have against each other.

These terms were included in a recommendation to a special master of the federal court in Wilmington, Del., where the claims of the two bankrupt units are being considered. The lengthy SEC report, in effect, would wipe out $31,782,138 of the total $49,750,436 of claims and would give public security holders of Midland Utilities, including those of preferred stock, prior right to the assets of the company ahead of $17,968,298 claims by United.

Final disposition of the claims, however, rests with the court, which has set June 15 as the deadline for the submission of a brief by M. B. Kennedy and Max Swiren, attorneys representing the trustee of United. In it they will answer Benjamin Goldstein and George L. Haight, representing the trustees for Utilities, on their claims and also the SEC, which cast the balance of its favor with Utilities.

Proposals of SEC.

Specifically, the SEC report suggested that $6,974,875 of the claims of United against Utilities be denied and that the remainder, amounting to $17,968,298, be subordinated to all claims and interest of Utilities' public security holders. On the other side, however, it recommended that Utilities should be denied recovery of $24,807,263 sought from United.

The SEC said in its report that United, as the controling stockholder of Utilities, managed Utilities as a part of its system rather than in the best interests of Utilities. Conflicts between the interests of Utilities and the interests of the system was resolved in favor of the system.

"Utilities was made to depend on financing thru United, and not thru reliance on independent marketing of its own securities," the report said. "Working capital and other permanent financial needs were met with funds advanced on open account and current notes, despite the fact that Utilities required equity capital.

Ruling on Finances.

"Furthermore, when Utilities became financially embarrassed, the advances then made were not as a result of a normal creditor-debtor relationship, but were born of the necessity to prevent public security holders from taking from United its control of the subsidiary.

"And there was further mismanagement. Dividends were paid to United despite the fact that Utilities had no funds for the purpose; and the declaration of dividends resulted in increasing the intercompany account. Assets of Utilities were used to bolster the United system and the credit of those controling it."

In suggesting denial of the $24,807,263 claim of Utilities against United, the SEC declared that the record does not support the contention that properties were acquired by United for United and later transferred to Utilities to relieve United of the consequence of a bad deal.

Assets of Midland Utilities total about 21 million dollars.

TERMINAL BANK VOTES JUNE 17 ON STOCK INCREASE

Gaylord S. Morse, president of the Terminal National Bank of Chicago, yesterday announced that a special stockholders' meeting had been set for June 17 to consider increasing the bank's capital stock by $100,000.

The capital stock would be increased from 10,000 shares of $20 par to 15,000 shares of $20 par. With approval by stockholders, the additional 5,000 shares would be offered for subscription at $25 a share to shareholders of record June 14 in the proportion of one share for each two shares held at that date. The extra $25,000 received for such shares would go into the surplus fund.

Chicago Bank Clearings Top Preceding Week, 1940

Bank clearings in Chicago last week increased to $412,600,000, from $344,100,000 in the preceding week and $394,500,000 in the corresponding 1940 period, the Chicago Clearing House association reported yesterday. Figures follow:

Financing the War: Views from the Opposing Powers

Berlin

BERLIN, May 17 [Special].—With the German tax and other ordinary revenue estimated at the record sum of 40 billion marks [16 billion dollars at the nominal rate of 40 cents a mark] for 1941 and the war debt considerably smaller than that of Great Britain, the finances of the reich are in a healthier condition than ever and there can, therefore, be no question of using the printing press for the financing of the war. These conclusions were drawn by Fritz Reinhardt, state secretary of finance, in an address this week to press representatives in Berlin.

Fritz Reinhardt.

In the absence of a regular budget, publication of which was discontinued in 1934—the second year of the Nazi régime—reich finance ministry estimates of 1941 revenues are particularly interesting.

Estimate of Tax Receipts.

Tax receipts are estimated at 30 billion marks. Other ordinary revenues are expected to yield 5 billion marks, to which should be added 1 billion 400 million marks in wartime contributions of German communes to the reich budget. Finally the annual contribution of the protectorates toward the reich's expenses in the seven occupied countries is estimated at 3 billion 600 million marks for 1941.

Considering that, according to Secretary Reinhardt, the German national income is estimated at 100 billion marks, taxes and other ordinary revenues collected within Germany are absorbing about 35 per cent of this income. As Reinhardt stressed in his address, the yield of the wage tax has been rising uninterruptedly since the war started, and in March, 1941, the reich revenue from this tax was 25 per cent higher than in March, 1940.

Germany has no difficulty in meeting by borrowing its war expenditures not covered by taxes and other regular revenues, Reinhardt stated. He placed the reich's indebtedness, including tax certificates, at 90 billion marks at the end of March, 1941. This would mean that the reich's debt has grown by 52 billion 600 million marks since September, 1939, when Germany entered the war with a relatively small internal debt of 37 billion 400 million marks.

The debt still leaves sufficient leeway for further borrowing operations, Reinhardt asserted. He also compared the German national debt of 90 billion marks with that of Britain, which he estimated at 148 billion marks.

London

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 17.—The prospect that the British lease-lend debt to the United States may be too large at the end of the war to be settled by a transfer of assets without risking plunging this country into bankruptcy was being seriously discussed in financial circles this week.

Attention was focused on this possibility by the recent statement of Oliver Lyttleton, president of the board of trade, that government control over finance and industry would have to continue at least three years after the war because Britain, for the first time in history, then will be a debtor country.

The full implications of the change in Britain's financial status cannot yet be estimated, the financial editor of the Manchester Guardian asserted, "but we cannot begin too early to face its broad outline."

Investment Income Falls.

Income from British investments, which at one time covered 20 per cent of all imported food, raw materials, and merchandise, is dwindling fast, he observed. Investments are being sold to help finance the war, but new debts are piling up at a faster rate.

Redemption of Canadian, South African, and Indian loans "has already made it pretty certain that little will remain of our past assets in the dominions," the writer said.

British purchases from the United States, according to the article, so far have been paid for largely by liquidation of accumulated assets, "but there is not much left to liquidate, and from now on the bulk of American supplies will be lent to us under the lease-lend powers."

Altho American loans and the assurance of increasing munition supplies without the need for immediate payment have become "a matter of life or death" for Britain, the writer discouraged "the illusion that these supplies are being given to us as a free gift."

Vast Shipments Forecast.

When peace is restored, he said, Britain will have to begin returning to the United States immense quantities of goods or other assets. Compared with the war debt tangle of 20 years ago, however, the new procedure is expected to be more simple and less likely to cause friction.

Part of the debt, it was suggested "may be claimed by the United States in the form of British property, such as eastern rubber plantations and tin mines, African mines, and Latin American utilities."

The Financial News suggested that Lyttleton's statement involves something like a three-year British economic plan. It predicted that the government not only will continue control of finance and industry, but maintain domestic rationing "for a considerable time after the war."

EXPECT BIG RISE IN WAR RISK RATE TO RED SEA AREA

New York, May 17 (AP).—Insurance men predicted today a sharp rise in war risk insurance rates—"commensurate with the risk"—on ships going into the Red sea, probably Monday when the American Cargo War Risk Reinsurance exchange meets.

President Roosevelt has removed the "danger zone" designation from the Red sea, but Germany has declared the sea, eastern approach to the Suez canal and Egypt, a combat area.

Present rates for the area 4 per cent of value on United States vessels and 7½ per cent on others.

PAY PLEA OF 'BIG 5' RAIL UNIONS BASED ON ARMAMENT BOOM

Representatives of the "Big Five" railroad operating brotherhoods yesterday continued their discussions of proposals for wage increases and other demands, with no conclusions reached on a unified program for presentation to the nation's railway managements. The proposals involve about 350,000 workers.

D. B. Robertson.

The negotiators, meeting in the Morrison hotel, will base their pay demands on the railroads' increased revenues resulting in part from armament activities, it was reported.

"The country can't spend billions of dollars and not expect to have workers benefit from a portion of that prosperity," said D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Other unions represented by 600 officials attending the sessions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

RESTORING SLUM AREAS HELD AID TO TRADE AREAS

Charles T. Stewart, administrative secretary of the Urban Land institute, announced yesterday that studies completed in Boston, Cincinnati, and New York City had resulted in a number of proposals for revitalizing urban business sections.

Among them, he said were: adoption of long range housing programs for restoration of blighted areas, more constructive zoning regulations, removal of street cars and busses from central business districts, abolishment of unnecessary smoke, dirt, and noise, and elimination of duplicated effort and expense in governmental services thru "sound" annexation plans.

Stewart said that such a study for Chicago would be completed within two months. Similar studies are under way in nine other cities thruout the country.

Train's Millionth Mile Run on Its Fifth Anniversary

The Illinois Central railroad's streamlined train, the Green Diamond, yesterday observed the fifth anniversary of its service between Chicago and St. Louis, Mo. During the day's trip the train completed the 1,000,000th mile of operation.

Glider Passes Tests; Given CAA Approval

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The first production soaring plane of the Frankfort Sailplane company of Joliet has been granted full approval of the Civil Aeronautics administration and delivered to the company's first customer, it was announced here yesterday by J. J. Smiley, president. The customer was the Lewis School of Aeronautics at Lockport, 22 miles southwest of Chicago.

Formal approval of the plane which permits its use in all commercial operations is a preliminary to the granting of a full approved type certificate and a production certificate by the CAA. Smiley said that the plane has passed every engineering and flight test and is the first soaring plane to complete these requirements under the new and stricter federal regulations governing airworthiness of all aircraft.

Glides on Air Currents.

The craft is a two seater, high wing monoplane. There is no engine. All soaring craft depend upon their low forward and low sinking speed to remain aloft after being towed into the air. The average power plane sinks when in a glide without power at a rate of from 10 to 15 feet per second. The Frankfort soaring ship sinks only two feet per second and goes 46 feet forward while doing so.

The art of soaring consists of finding a current of air that is rising as much as two feet per second or faster and staying in it. The net result of flying in a current of air rising two feet per second becomes level flight in relation to the ground. If the air is rising faster than two feet per second the soaring plane will climb. Flights have been made in the first Frankfort plane to 8,200 feet during the last week.

Smiley said that five more planes identical with the first ship are nearing completion in the company's shops in Joliet, and a second group of five planes is just going into production. All the planes now started have been sold and orders for a large number of others are coming in, he declared. Production will reach two planes a week by June, he said.

Test Single Seat Ship.

The approved model is known as the Frankfort Cinema II, and was designed by Stanley Corcoran, the company's vice president. Corcoran, an outstanding sailplane pilot, also has designed a single seater ship which is known as the Cinema I, and which is now undergoing flight tests at Joliet airport. Approval of this type of plane is expected this week.

Regulations under which the Cinema II have been given approval allow the craft to be towed by shockcord, by automobile or by airplane. It may be put thru all types of acrobatics and may be flown inverted or by instruments in clouds.

The new sailplane at the Lewis school will be used in training soaring pilots. Lewis, thru its superintendent, John Wilson, has taken over the Frankfort company's pilot training school and this will in future be operated jointly by both concerns. The first group of ten students at the Lewis school already has commenced soaring instructions.

ARMY'S BIGGEST FLOUR ORDER IN 20 YEARS PLACED

Purchase of 23 million pounds of flour for $410,000 from 17 mills was announced yesterday by Col. Henry B. Barry, commanding officer of the Chicago quartermaster depot. He said it was one of the largest quarterly flour purchases made by the army in 20 years.

The war department announced award of the following contracts to companies in Illinois [Chicago unless otherwise indicated]:

American Feather Products corporation, 50,000 feather pillows, $29,000; Globe Feather and Down company, 50,000 feather pillows, $26,235; Harris Hub Bed and Spring company [Cicero], hospital beds, $7,025; Haggard and Marcusson company, repair parts for cots, $825; Aermotor company, triangular towers, $7,280; Link-Belt company, coal handling equipment for Chanute field, $3,520; Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., steel, $3,207; Acme Industrial company, gauges, $1,134; Kux-Lohner Machine company, pelleting presses, $2,330; Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, steel, $2,935; Hanson-Van Winkle-Manning company, parts for plating barrel, $1,049; Seiberling Rubber company, truck tires, $4,416; Cullen-Friestedt company, welding manipulators, $3,937; W. F. Hebard & Co., tractors, $1,942; Industrial Gas Engineering company, air exhausters, $2,541; Lindberg Engineering company, furnaces, $3,690; Scully-Jones & Co., steel sleeves, $3,207; Caterpillar Tractor company [Peoria], tractors and graders, $30,751; Vascoloy-Ramet corporation [North Chicago], tools, $3,243, and Aintree corporation [Fairfield], 150,000 pairs cotton shorts, $43,200.

A $5,336,835 order was awarded the Chrysler corporation, Detroit, for manufacture of parts for medium bombers.

HERE'S HEARTENING NEWS FOR NATION'S HARMONICA PLAYERS

New York, May 17 (AP).—Mass production of harmonicas is under way in this country, replacing those formerly brought from Germany.

A company here is making 1,000 standard instruments daily, and plans later to step up production to 10,000 daily. Chromatic instruments, capable of producing flats and sharps, will be turned out in quantity later.

The company says this is the first time precision-made instruments with individually tuned reeds have been manufactured on a mass production basis wholly from American materials in an American factory.

This country imported about 8 million harmonicas a year from Germany before the European war.

Chicago Area Blast Furnace Peak Reached

Steel production in the Chicago area was given another boost yesterday when the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation fired its 12th blast furnace at Gary. This brought the number of blast furnaces in operation at the company's Gary and South works to 22 out of 23 and set a record for furnaces in use in this district.

A furnace at the South works is the only one of the 38 of all producers in the Chicago district that are not in production. [Carnegie-Illinois has two at Joliet which have not been used for several years.]

The number of blast furnaces of other Chicago district companies are: Inland Steel company, 5; Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, 5; Interlake Iron corporation, 2, and the Wisconsin Steel division of the International Harvester company, 3.

15 Million Ton Capacity.

Annual steel producing capacity of the various Chicago companies as of last Dec. 31, was as follows: Carnegie-Illinois, 9,593,800 tons; Inland, 3,300,000 tons; Youngstown, 1,209,000 tons; Wisconsin, 715,000 tons, and the Republic Steel corporation, 540,000 tons, a total of 15,358,400 tons. Republic Steel has no blast furnaces and Interlake Iron produces no steel.

Previously Carnegie-Illinois usually kept at least two furnaces inactive to permit maintenance work or for other causes. The company explained that firing of the 22d furnace was in accordance with its "policy of maximum coöperation with the national defense authorities." The company's two big Chicago district plants are operating at close to 103 per cent of capacity.

The big steel and iron mills in the Chicago district are reported to be employing 85,000 to 95,000 persons.

Includes Waukegan Workers.

Included are workers at the mills of the American Steel and Wire company at Waukegan and North Chicago. That company and Carnegie-Illinois are subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation.

Chicago district mills are scheduled to start operations tomorrow at 102 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 101½ per cent last week.

As a preliminary to the blowing in of the 12th furnace at the Gary works, Carnegie-Illinois recently placed in operation the last of its Chicago coke oven batteries, making active a total of 1,200 coke ovens with a theoretical capacity of 17,500 tons of coke daily.

CHANCE OF LOAN BILL VETO CUTS PRICES OF GRAIN

Uncertainty as to whether President Roosevelt would veto the 85 per cent of parity loan bill brought selling into the grain markets yesterday. Many operators decided to reduce their market commitments over the week-end, and a lower range of prices resulted.

Wheat futures held within a range of about 1 cent a bushel and closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower. Deliveries of 290,000 bushels of cash corn on May contracts started selling in that contract and the close was ⅞ cent lower. Other futures lost ⅛ cent.

Altho soy beans dipped early in the day the market rallied quickly on commission house and professional buying and closed ¼ to ¾ cent higher with July selling at a new seasonal peak.

Buying of lard attributed to packers gave that market a firm undertone and futures closed 2½ to 7½ cents higher.

INDUSTRY SETS HISTORIC PEAK IN ARMS DRIVE

Faces Rising Costs and Strike Curb.

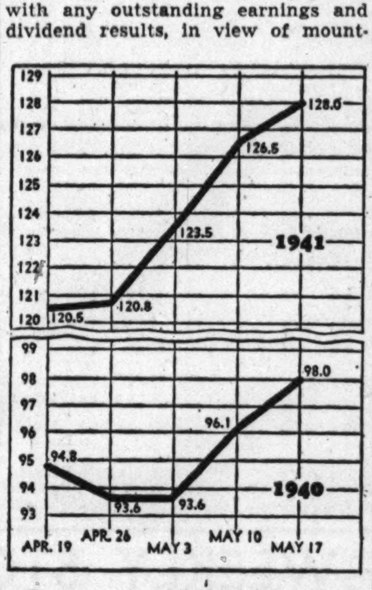
BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Business enterprises that are making and distributing the enormous quantities of goods needed by America's civilian consumers and armed forces speeded up their activities last week. One widely followed statistical measurement of industrial operations reached a peak never before attained.

The all around advance was achieved in the face of developments in the long term outlook for business which were none too bright from the standpoint of companies and individuals who will pay the costs, in one way or another, of the armament effort.

Investors showed a disposition to question the ability of corporations to emerge from the rearming period with any outstanding earnings and dividend results, in view of mounting wages, material costs and taxes. For consumers there was the prospect of getting less for their money as prices go up.



The course of industrial activity in recent weeks, as measured by the Associated Press seasonally adjusted composite index, which is based on 1929-'30 activity as 100.

Food Rises 4½ Per Cent.

The government reported the food price average for April was 4½ per cent higher than a year earlier, with some items up 10 to 20 per cent.

Business men wondering how to absorb wage increases made with the blessing of federal agencies were warned that G-men and other agents will be on hand to help Leon Henderson, price czar, enforce price fixing orders. Manufacturers, already subjected to numerous priority regulations, faced a tightening of government controls under a bill designed to give President Roosevelt mandatory rule over all industrial materials.

Strikes continued to harass many industrial plants. W. Homer Hartz, Chicago area coördinator of the Office of Production Management, said that strikes are offsetting industry's efforts to boost output.

Plan 270,000 Freight Cars.

Rail executives, meeing in Chicago, made plans to have 270,000 freight cars built for delivery in 1942 and 1943 at a cost of 756 million dollars. The latest freight figures showed the roads hauled 837,149 cars, the largest number for any week in 1941 and the most for any corresponding week in the last 10 years.

Steel production was up to 99.2 per cent of rated mill capacity, from 96.8 per cent in the preceding week.

Wholesale centers reported brisk buying by merchants preparing for fall trade. Retail trade held to the lively pace of the preceding week.

The industrial activity index compiled weekly by the Associated Press rose to the highest level it has ever reached. The index, based on 1929-'30 figures as 100, compared as follows:

| | Lates wk. | Prev. wk. | Yr. ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Automobile Prod. | 119.1 | 118.4 | 91.5 |
| Steel Mill Act. | 136.7 | 133.4 | 93.9 |
| Cotton Mfg. Act. | 162.5 | 165.8 | 115.0 |
| Elec. Pwr. Prod. | *143.2 | 141.2 | 122.1 |
| Residential Bldg. | 104.8 | 104.8 | 84.5 |
| Total Carloadings | *89.1 | 84.2 | 72.5 |

*New 1941 high.

Automobile production declined less than the usual seasonal amount to 127,255 units, from 132,380 in the preceding week.

Stocks of Crude Petroleum Decline 1,734,000 Barrels

Washington, D. C., May 17 (AP).—The bureau of mines reported today stocks of crude petroleum at the close of the week ended May 10 totaled 263,994,000 barrels, a net decrease of 1,734,000 barrels from the preceding week.

Labor Rivals Co-Operate to Speed Arming

In an effort to help speed armament production in the Illinois industrial area representatives of rival labor organizations yesterday joined a movement for coöperation which leaders said practically ends any threat of further jurisdictional disputes. Such controversies have hindered arms work in the past.

Samuel Levin [top] and Victor Olander participate in conference.

At a conference in the Merchandise Mart with Sidney Hillman, associate director general of the Office of Production Management, representatives of the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and the railroad brotherhoods named a three member steering committee to guide the program in Illinois and parts of other states in this industrial area.

Seek Adequate Labor.

The principal aim of the movement, as directed by the steering committee and local community committees to be formed, will be to see that labor is made available where needed and that all possible idle equipment is put into armament production use.

Hillman outlined the objectives as follows:

1. To uncover idle machine capacity, such as that in railroad shops and any others having machine tools.

2. To form a basis for general employer-labor collaboration in efforts to get more armament contracts for this area.

3. To coördinate more closely the various city, state, and federal agencies handling training and placement of workers for arms industries.

4. To assist vocational schools in training workers and to facilitate the training of workers in plants.

Work with Employer Groups.

The committees to be formed in each locality will work with employer committees on all problems relating to the program, an OPM spokesman said.

The three named to the steering committee were Samuel Levin, president of the Cook County Industrial council [CIO]; P. F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago and Cook County Building and Construction Trades council [AFL], and Dennis McCarthy, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen. Sullivan was made acting chairman of the committee.

"We are going to expedite production any way we can," said Levin. "We are very much interested in national defense, and anything we can do to assist it will be done."

"—And also anything that can be done to keep peace in the family," Sullivan added.

Decide to Avoid Disputes.

A representative of the OPM said that remarks by Levin and others during the organization meeting made it clear that the unions have decided to avoid jurisdictional disputes.

Victor Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, representing nearly 3,000 local AFL unions in the state, said:

"Jurisdictional disputes between unions in this area are out. There is not the slightest doubt of the complete coöperation of labor in the arms program. The only unfavorable aspect of the situation is that we do not have enough armament contracts, and one of our aims is to help remedy that. We have plant capacity and skilled men who still are working on odd jobs. We are going to do our best to see that the right kind of labor is provided where it is needed, and to see that labor gets a square deal."

C. P. A. EXAMINATION
.... NEW CLASS PLAN

Thoroughly tested over 5 years, this new plan embodies strikingly different and efficient methods. The quizzer method (so effective in preparation for the bar examinations), an optional laboratory period of 3 hours each Saturday afternoon for practice in answering problems under examination room conditions, an intensive review of accounting, continuous coaching by successful C.P.A.'s, thorough study of A. I. A. examination problems, and consultation at any time with an experienced C.P.A.—these are some of the facilities and services.

Evidences of our success in coaching for the examinations is seen in the fact that over 10% of the C.P.A.'s in the U. S. are LaSalle members. Furthermore, if you fail in passing the examination, we will continue coaching you without further cost until you do pass.

These loop evening classes begin the week of May 26 and continue for 25 weeks. Classes meet once a week—one on Tuesday, one on Thursday and one on Friday—at 6:30 P. M. The cost is moderate and convenient payment terms can be arranged.

STRIKE OF HARD COAL MINERS CALLED BY CIO

Set Friday Deadline for Bituminous.

New York, May 17 (AP).—A work stoppage beginning Monday was ordered today by the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] in the Pennsylvania hard coal field, but the threat of a tieup in the bituminous industry ended temporarily when William H. Davis, vice chairman of the National Defense Mediation board announced that soft coal mines would continue in operation during negotiations until Friday at 10 a. m.

Despite protracted negotiations the union and Pennsylvania anthracite operators announced that they had been unable to agree on a wage contract to replace the one which expired April 30.

In the hope of reaching a settlement which would keep 100,000 hard coal miners at work, the negotiators decided to meet again tomorrow.

Arouses "Uneasiness."

This threatened stoppage would have little effect on armament industries, since hard coal is used largely in homes, but the deadlock between southern soft coal operators and the union, Davis said, had aroused "some uneasiness."

He conferred with union representatives and soft coal operators tonight and the decision to continue mine operations until Friday was the result.

The board intervened the first time when southern operators bolted the joint Appalachian conference last month and established a separate bargaining group, but efforts to effect an agreement failed.

After an appeal by Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones, the southern operators resumed negotiations and the mines, closed a month, were reopened under a tentative arrangement.

Wage demands stood in the way of settlement in both branches of the industry.

Balk at Added 40 Cents.

The present wage rate in the southern Appalachian fields is $5.60 a day. The union seeks to match the $7 wage agreed to by the northern operators, who previously paid $6. The southern group offered an increase of $1, but balked at the added 40 cents.

S. T. Putman of Beckley, W. Va., spokesman for the southern soft coal operators, asserted that "the real issue is the continuance of the right to own and manage private property or surrender to the union's nationalization program.

Detroit Strike Ends.

Detroit, Mich., May 17 (AP).—A strike of lumber company truck drivers and building trades workers, which had paralyzed home and industrial construction here for a week, ended today and more than twenty thousand workers will return to their jobs Monday.

An agreement terminating the strike was signed by the Teamsters' union [AFL] and the Detroit Retail Lumber Dealers' association. Union demands which were granted included a 5 cents an hour pay raise, bringing drivers' pay to 75 cents an hour and that of helpers to 60 cents an hour.

Vote Tuesday on Ship Peace.

San Francisco, Cal., May 17 (AP).—Gov. Culbert L. Olson said tonight rank and file committees had agreed to put the question of ending the bay area shipyard strike up to the AFL and CIO membership at a mass meeting Tuesday night. The governor added he would ask strikers to agree with their committees and end the walkout "as a national duty." The strike has tied up five hundred million in defense orders.

ROLLINS BURDICK TO OPEN ITS NEW, LARGER OFFICES

Eastern insurance company executives will take part tomorrow in the formal opening of the new offices of the Rollins Burdick Hunter company insurance brokerage firm, in the Continental Illinois National Bank building. Herbert J. Lorber, vice president and treasurer, said the move into the new quarters, which occupy about half of the 16th floor of the bank building, was made necessary by expanding operations. The former offices were in the Insurance Exchange. The interior decorating department of Horders, Inc., superintended the furnishing and designing of the new offices. The insurance firm was established in 1899.

FEDERAL BUYING CARRIES HOGS TO THREE YEAR PEAK

Average Rises 53 Pct. Above 1940 Level.

The government's influence on the hog market, thru purchases of pork products, was more evident last week than at any time since the vast buying began. Altho prices of most other classes of meat animals averaged lower, hogs were sharply higher.

Packers paid an average of $8.90 for the week's hog supply, the highest since March, 1938. It was a peak May average in four years, showing an increase of 53 per cent over the corresponding week last year, and a gain of 30 per cent compared with two years ago. This was in contrast to the lowest cattle average in nine months, and the lowest lamb prices since early February.

Canadian Imports Soar.

As a result of the hog price increase caused by federal buying of pork, part of which is to be shipped to England under the lend-lease bill, Canadian farmers and packers are selling heavily in United States markets. Imports of fresh pork hams are especially large. Canadian pork received at New York during the week ended May 7 totaled 417,717 pounds, the largest weekly total in many years.

The various cuts of pork sold at wholesale from 17 to 54 per cent higher than a year ago. Top light loins brought $20 a hundred pounds.

Butcher Hogs Advance.

Butcher hogs above 240 pounds advanced 40 to 60 cents during the week and other grades rose 30 to 40 cents. The range of prices was about as narrow as it has ever been, with practically all 190 to 400 pound hogs selling at the same price.

The week's steer average, $10.25, was down 5 cents. Lamb prices averaged 95 cents lower, at $10.30, because of a larger proportion of shorn stock included in the run.

RAIL AND OTHER GROUPS OF BONDS UP FRACTIONALLY

New York, May 17 (AP).—Fractional gains were spread thruout the bond list today. More active rail issues holding fractional gains included Baltimore and Ohio convertibles of '60, Illinois Central 4¾s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 A, St. Louis and San Francisco 4½s of '78, Southern Pacific 4½s of '69, Southern Railway 4s, and Nickel Plate 4½s.

Top grade industrial issues were for the most part unchanged. United States treasury 3¼s of '45-'43 lost 1-32d of a point, the 3⅛s of '49-'46 were down 5-32, and the 1½s of '47-'45 gained 2-32. Governments held about steady in over the counter trading.

Buyers seemed attracted to Buenos Aires 4⅜s, sending the price up a fraction. Also tending higher were Uruguay adjustment 3¾s of '79 and Japan 5½s.

REVIVAL IN SHIPBUILDING.

Awakened from its long dormancy by the war, the American shipbuilding industry almost overnight has accelerated to the highest pitch of activity in its history. Shipyards which were rusting away are being reconditioned, new shipways are being built, and every available yard is being employed to capacity.

The unprecedented demand for ships comes from the government's two ocean navy program, the British efforts to replace shipping losses, the scarcity of bottoms for merchant cargoes, and the government's emergency shipbuilding program.

Navy and private shipyards have 6 billion dollars of vessels under construction or contract. Government orders for combat ships and cargo vessels represent about 5½ billion dollars of this total.

The navy itself had on order 361 fighting ships and 123 auxiliary craft last April 1, of which 63 and 13, respectively, actually were under construction. The swift acceleration of the navy program is demonstrated by the fact that only 61 combat ships and 16 auxiliary vessels were on order or being built on Jan. 1, 1940.

The boom in commercial shipbuilding was set off last fall when the British ordered 60 "ugly ducklings"—cargo vessels of simplified and standardized design adapted to speedy mass construction.

Last March the maritime commission inaugurated the administration's emergency shipbuilding program by ordering 200 of this type. An additional 112 were ordered in April for transfer to the British, and 72 tankers were contracted for the American merchant marine.

The current prosperity of the shipbuilders is not built on permanent foundations. Altho the backlog of orders, which has accumulated under the high pressure attempt to rearm and help Britain, will keep shipyards busy for several years, there is no assurance that the depression which befell them after the last war will not be repeated when the present war ends.

The immediate earnings outlook in the industry is favorable. However, the profit margin will be subjected to the adverse influences of rising taxes, increasing labor costs as skilled workmen become scarce, and higher material costs.

In appraising shipbuilding companies for investment purposes special emphasis should be placed on the ability to operate profitably in lean years. One should also determine the percentage of a company's assets invested in newly expanded plants that may have to be abandoned or diverted to other uses later, and the profit margin of the company over a period of years.

[A list of the major shipbuilding companies may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.]

A GEM OF A SUMMER HOME

In Nature's Playground

Bohner's Lake is the meeting place of wilderness and civilization, where the comforts and luxuries of modern living are set in a background of forest beauty and delight. Relaxation and a new viewpoint of life come with the crisp, bracing, fragrant air of the pine forest. The city is as close as your telephone, yet it will seem hundreds of miles away. Actually, it is only 59 miles—an easy drive on well paved highways.

BOHNER'S LAKE

ONLY 59 MILES FROM CHICAGO.

Away from the crowded "resort" sections, Bohner's Lake is different from anything you have ever seen. Fed by perpetual springs of crystal-clear water, this big lake is a thing of beauty. You'll enjoy fishing in its weed-free, gravel bottom or swimming along the gently sloped, sandy beach. Bohner's Lake is truly a Fisherman's Paradise. The Wisc. Dept. of Conservation maintains a State Hatchery right on the shore. That means plenty of game fish—Northern pike, pickerel, and bass. All summer long you can play golf or tennis. Sailing, rowing, hiking [along winding trails and picturesque hills], horseback riding, hunting in season—all sports are here for your health and pleasure.

ONLY $740 COMPLETE

SMALL DOWN PAYMENT

$12 Monthly

It's easy to own a well constructed home on Bohner's Lake. For only $740 you can buy a carpenter-built cottage with 4 large rooms, screened porch. All modern improvements, including electricity and inside toilet. Even the screens are included at this price.

DRIVE OUT TODAY.

See this Nature's Paradise today. It's only 59 miles! Follow Milwaukee-av. through Antioch to Brass Ball Corner [which is Highway 50] or follow Superhighway 41 [Cicero-av.] to Highway 50 and turn left on 50 to Bohner's Lake.

Day by Day on the Farm

By BOB BECKER

Curiosity in French.

May 17, 1941.

CHIANTEL fondeur . . . 1878, Saignelegier. These French words, in conjunction with the date 1878, caused a series of conversations on the Wheaton farm this week. The men haven't gone "high hat" and they aren't studying French between chores, but these words aroused their curiosity.

They are found on the bells attached to the collars of some of the farm sheep. The men also noted the same inscription on a bell attached to one of the Karakul ewes bought recently by the farm.

By consulting a French dictionary and gazetter one of the men thinks he has solved the puzzle.

Made in Switzerland.

Fondeur means foundryman in French. Saignelegier is the name of a city in Switzerland. Piecing together the words and date the men believe it indicates that the bells were made by a man named Chiantel in 1878 in Saignelegier, Switzerland. This explanation seems plausible in view of the fact that French is the common language in one area of Switzerland, and the Swiss would be apt to manufacture such equipment because they need bells for their sheep and goats when their flocks are sent to the hills to graze. The date 1878 rather intrigues the farm workers, because if that indicates the date of manufacture it means the bells which tinkle on the farm sheep as they move thru the barn or graze in the fields are more than 60 years old.

The farm workers are ready to stand corrected if their "sheep bell diagnosis" is wrong. If any readers of this department have made a study of sheep bells and can give us further enlightenment on this subject we would like to hear from them.

It wasn't hard to find a big assortment of wild flowers and flowering trees in the woods this week. After we had hiked across an open field at the Wheaton farm and climbed a fence separating it from a wood lot at the south section of the farm we noticed many different varieties of flowers in a half hour's jaunt.

Add Color to Woods.

The wild flowers, which prefer a little shade now, have succeeded the spring beauties and dogtooth violets which thrive in the woods before the oaks and hickories unfold their leaves. The wild purple phlox are the most prominent of this week's wild flowers, but they are getting some serious competition from the purple trilliums which are in every farm wood lot. Virginia creeper plants are starting their climb up the trunks of the trees, wild geranium flowers are common, and the vivid five-petaled yellow cinquefoil flowers are adding color to the woods.

The first white flowers of the mandrake plants are peeping out from under the big umbrella leaves, and there are more violets in the wood lots than at any similar time in the last few years. Jack in the Pulpits are preaching from the moist ground alongside the little creek which winds thru the south woods, and the long white blossoms of the chokecherry trees are adding a distinctive note. So even tho the hawthorns and flowering crab trees are fading out of the picture after their reign as the most colorful woodland residents, there are plenty of gay wild flowers to take their place in the spring parade.

Personal Property and Salary.

LOANS
". . . on your own terms"

You, yourself, can decide how much per month you wish to repay and how much the total cost of your loan will be. We don't ask you to put up a lot of security. We prefer to make loans on just your signature. Friends or employer not notified.

$50 cost just $3.03

when repaid in 3 equal monthly installments which includes charges of 3% per month on balances of $150 or less, and 1½% per month on that part of the balance in excess of $150.

Any credit-worthy person, able and willing to repay, can get $25 to $250 or more quickly, without embarrassment.

BOY, THIS IS GOOD You'll Really LAUGH! SH-H-H!

IT'S A DEEP, A VERY DEEP

SECRET I DUNNO WHAT

Robinson Crusoe

Did with FRIDAY on SATURDAY nite, but

I-DO-NO

That our Finance Company needs paper!

Just Imagine

Our Finance Company telling ME that they are behind in their volume budget for 1941, that they need a lot of time payment deals before June 1st, and they asked ME to help 'em, and

BOY OH BOY

Did I make 'em squirm and give in for easier and better terms. So here 'tis. If you are and can furnish 2 references, just come in today, select your car, drive away, and

PAY-ON-PAY-DAY

AND IF YOU OWE A BALANCE on your present car, we will pay it off and trade you a newer and finer model and give you

24 MONTHS TO PAY

PAY WEEKLY OR SEMIMONTHLY. Just bring along your social security card. [To verify your employment.]

STATE STREET'S The Main Line OF DEFENSE

. . . against all those fellows who are running around yelling about prices and taxes going up. If taxes do go up, we'll merely absorb them, and we can do it too, because,

We Are on State-street

[2] Our overhead is less.
[4] We don't need fancy trimmin's or high pressure salesmen.
[5] And you don't have to pay for marble floors or silk curtains as a part of your purchase price.

BE SMART AND SAVE

We have over 326 fine reconditioned cars for you to select from and we do not intend to raise our prices under any circumstances. Our 20 years of honest dealings with well satisfied customers has brought the greatest satisfaction to all.

TRIBUNE
WANT AD PULLS SIX REPLIES!

J. C. Ireland, 10855 Vernon avenue, offered his 1940 sedan in a Tribune want ad. Six prospects answered the ad and one of them bought the car for cash the day the ad ran!

Regardless of what you want to sell, rent, trade or buy, Tribune circulation, over 1,000,000 every day of the week, reaches the largest audience of your best prospects. Printing more want advertising than all other Chicago newspapers combined, the Tribune is the long established want ad market watched by men and women who seek opportunities of many kinds.

Call SUPerior 0100 — Want Ad-Viser. If you are a telephone subscriber, you may charge your Tribune want ad.

6,866 MILE ROAD RACE IS PLANNED FOR STOCK CARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, May 17.—If present plans are carried out, the world's longest automobile race for stock cars will be run this year over a 11,050 kilometer [6,866 miles] course from Caracas, Venezuela, on the shores of the Caribbean sea, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, on the estuary of the River Plata. The proposed course runs thru seven republics—Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, and Argentina—and varies in altitude from sea level to mountain passes as high as 16,000 feet.

The race will start in Caracas on Sept. 17 and continue southward thru the following towns and cities: Trujillo, Cucata, Bogota, Cali, Pasto, Quito, Guayaquil, Puerto Bolivar, Chiclayo, Lima, Nazca, Arequipa, La Paz, Uyuni, Antofagasta, Copiapo, Ovalle, Santiago, Mendoza, and Buenos Aires. Barring unforeseen delay, the winner should reach the end of the trail on Oct. 12, Columbus day, celebrated as a holiday thruout Latin America.

In addition to a first prize of 25,000 pesos [$5,950], offered by the Automobile Club of Argentina, there will be a large number of special awards for winners of sectional races within the borders of several countries traversed. The event is open to drivers of every nationality and to any make of stock car. More than 100 entries are expected.

Nineteen overnight stops and control points, not including Caracas and Buenos Aires, have been designated. There also will be a day of rest at each of the following cities: Bogota, Colombia; Quito, Ecuador; Lima, Peru; La Paz, Bolivia; Santiago, Chile.

Only over one section, between Guayaquil and Puerto Bolivar, a distance of approximately 78 miles, will the racing cars be compelled to leave the motor highway. At this point they will be ferried across the Gulf of Guayaquil. Mangrove swamps and jungle bottom lands make the construction of a highway over this terrain impossible before the time of the race.

Lima lies about midway on the No. 1 proposed route, 5,241 kilometers from Caracas and 5,809 from Buenos Aires. The longest leg of the course lies within Peruvian territory, a distance of nearly 3,000 kilometers [1,875 miles] from the Ecuadorean to the Bolivian frontier. The greater part of this stretch of highway is paved with asphalt.

Motorists Look Ahead to May 30 and 3 Day Week-End Outing

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May -1.—Chicagoland's million motorists are perusing maps this week-end for Memorial day trips that will inaugurate the 1941 summer travel season. All indices point toward a banner season. And the inauguration, if weather is favorable, is expected to be proportional.

With Memorial day falling on Friday, there will be a three day week-end for many. The holiday travel will start on Thursday evening and continue until well after midnight Monday morning.

Mingling on the highway will be thousands of city dwellers finding recreation in the country and thousands of others en route to and from visits in Chicago.

Military Camps on the List.

A tour objective new this year will be the military camps. On this day originally dedicated to the memory of those who fought in a war for the solidarity of the United States, friends and relatives will visit young men being trained in prospects of an international war.

Memorial day, by precedent, is also a popular date for Chicagoans to open their summer cottages in Michigan and Wisconsin and on lakes of northern Illinois and northern Indiana. Their cars, laden with camp paraphernalia, will be part of this heavy week-end traffic.

Memorial day, by precedent, also is the popular date for opening the summer resorts of the lakes and woods country. Hard driving fishermen will be pushing accelerators distances too arduous for any sportsmen other than the Izaak Walton enthusiasts. And May 30 is the date of the 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis speedway.

Don't Slow Up the Parade!

In this fast traffic will be the slower moving picnickers and one day excursionists. The high accident tolls that have marked Memorial day highway travel are attributed to his variety, almost as much as to the large volume of traffic.

The Chicago Motor club yesterday warned that more than ordinary caution is demanded of drivers on this occasion. Hazards new this year will be the congestion in the vicinity of cantonments. An example near Rantoul, Ill., is a traffic of 6,000 cars a day on a two-lane road which cannot carry more than 1,500 cars a day without delays and risks due to traffic density. Near this air corps ground school there have been 9 traffic deaths and 36 injuries among army personnel since the first of the year.

Some Tours Extend 600 Miles.

Bert Vanderwarf, manager of the Chicago Motor club touring bureau, reported that his inquiries indicate that the Memorial day week-end tours in considerable numbers will extend from 500 to 600 miles from Chicago. Last year these distant drivers roved from 400 to 500 miles from their city homes.

As in former years, few delays from congestion are anticipated on the outskirts of Chicago during the outbound movement because it is distributed from Thursday night until Saturday afternoon. The inbound movement late Sunday afternoon and early Sunday night usually accounts for the peak loads on the pavements.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

ATTENTION, CHIEF ALLMAN!

Chicago, May 15.—The other day I had an experience that left me wondering. The traffic was heavy, and at the side of the street were two cars which had obviously collided. A young man was frantically waving at passing cars, but no one would even slow down. I went over and asked what had happened. He said he'd been hit by a drunken driver and that he was holding the drunk and wanted a policeman. I looked over at the curb and there sat the drunk hardly able to move.

So I left the kid watching the drunk and went in search of a cop, but as usual, when you want one there is none to be found. I had driven a couple of miles when I saw a policeman on the sidewalk in the middle of a block. He was in conversation with a man and as I hurried up to them I saw that the man was passing currency to the cop, but the officer was so intoxicated that he couldn't hold the bills and they were falling out of his hands and blowing in the wind with both of the men scrambling after them.

The cop said he couldn't come with me, he was too busy, and that I should go to a police station. At the station I encountered several cops, all of whom told me to go 'somewhere' and report the accident. Finally I managed to make it clear that I was merely a passer-by and all I wanted was a cop to go to the scene of the accident where the kid was waiting with two smashed cars and a drunk. One finally condescended to go.

What goes on! FRITZ HEILBRON.

INDIANA ARRESTS.

Rosedale, Ind., May 15.—Just a tip which I think would save Illinois drivers a headache and a ticket or fine here in Indiana.

The Indiana state highway department has yellow stripes on the pavement for no passing zones. But it doesn't have "no passing zone" signs at the start of the zone, and the cops catch plenty of drivers, for there is a zone in front of my house.

Also, the state police are moving the decent cops off U. S. 41 and putting the tough ones on patrol. So beware of U. S. 41. C. H.

U. S. 14 SLAB BROKEN.

Chicago, May 13.—As I was returning from Wisconsin Sunday on U. S. 14 between the state line and Harvard, I struck several large holes in the pavement, on one of which I broke the spring on my car and careened wildly to the other side of the road before I brought the car to a stop. Fortunately for my family and me, there was no traffic in the other direction. Otherwise there would possibly have been a fatal accident.

The least the state can do is to patch up the holes if they cannot afford to build a new highway. They certainly do collect plenty of dollars of taxes. I wonder where the money goes. H. P.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Appointment of R. C. Somerville to the position of director of regions for the Plymouth division of the Chrysler corporation is announced by Joseph E. Bayne, general sales manager.

B. B. [Cap] Kimball, assistant advertising manager of the Pontiac division of General Motors, last week was being congratulated in the company's offices in Pontiac on the occasion of his 25th year with the company.

D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile's general sales manager, reports that Oldsmobile has manufactured and shipped to dealers 100,000 cars equipped with hydramatic drive. About 45 per cent of all new cars being built by Oldsmobile are equipped with this device which eliminates the necessity for gear shifting.

The Chicago Automobile Trade association will hold three regional management meetings this week for key men in dealers' organizations. West area dealers who are members of the association will meet in the Graemere hotel Tuesday, the south area group will meet in the Windemere East on Wednesday, and the north area group will meet in the Sovereign hotel Thursday. Each meeting will be a lunch session, starting at 12:15 p. m.

The Chicago Metropolitan Chevrolet Club, Inc., last week elected Paul Wixom of Nelson Chevrolet Sales, Inc., as president. Other officers elected were: Harold C. Seip, Seip Chevrolet Sales, vice president; Herbert N. Stein, Uptown Motors corporation, secretary-treasurer; J. D. Bergl, U. L. Dunaway, J. A. McInerney, Irving R. Ruby, and M. B. Weiss, directors.

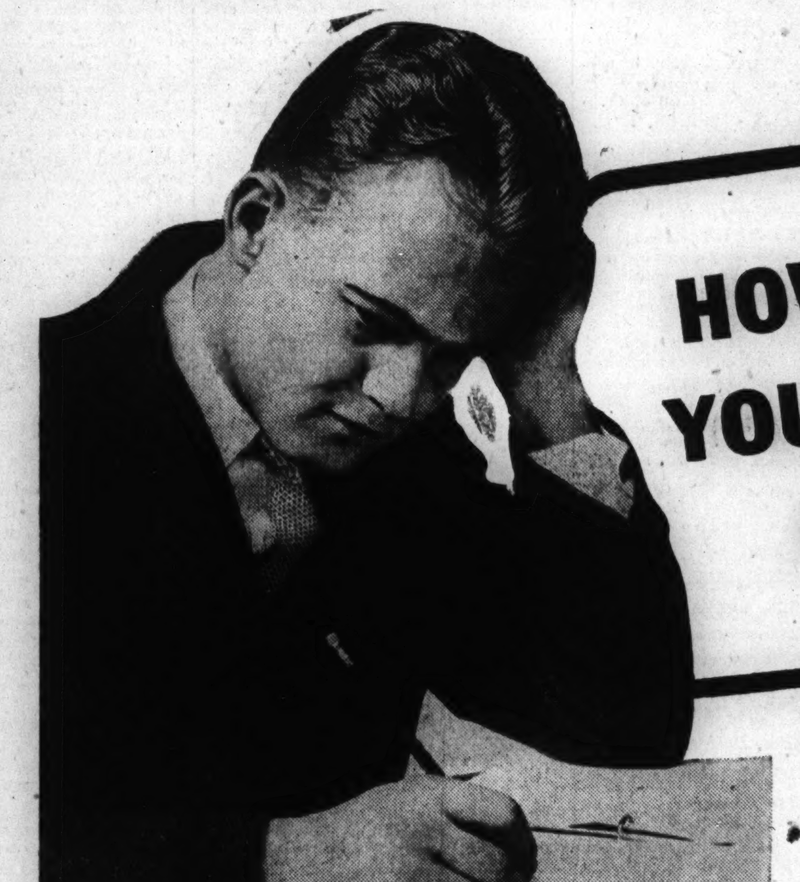
HOW TO GET ALONG WITH YOUR WIFE

Do you keep your wife busy taking the car to the garage to get it fixed? Wives don't like to be nursemaids to ailing autos. Why not consider trading in the old crate on a snappy late model? They're dirt cheap considering what you get—million dollar looks, up-to-date engineering, plenty of pep, and lower operating cost. You'll find dozens of late models of all popular makes described in the Used Automobiles for Sale columns in the Tribune want ad section. Take your pick of them today.

HOW TO KEEP CUSTOMERS HAPPY

Lost orders, missing production records, shipping orders which disappear or are filled to wrong specifications—such troubles can't bother the business which operates with adequate equipment—files, ledgers, duplicating machines, calculating machines and other devices which help keep an office in smooth running order. If you need adequate office machinery and equipment, follow the Office Furniture and Devices column in the Tribune want ad section for opportunities to buy what you need at attractively low prices.



HOW TO INFLUENCE YOUR BOSS AND WIN A PROMOTION

The day of the apple polisher is gone. To win promotion and more pay today you have to demonstrate your worth to the boss. That means you must meet the competition of trained men by training yourself. If you want to make the most of your opportunities, it will pay you to specialize. Review the courses offered to men and women in the Instruction, Trade Schools, Dressmaking and Millinery Schools and Musical and Dramatic columns in the Tribune want ad section.

HOW TO FIND FUN IN THE BASEMENT

First, you remodel it. That's fun itself, especially when you can buy lumber, wallboard, paint, glass, light fixtures and other materials at low cost from advertisers in the Building Materials column in the Tribune want ad section. From the same source you get material for tennis tables, chairs, settees, and other furnishings. Size up that basement tonight and follow the Building Materials column for the materials and equipment you need.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE

I HEAR YOUR COUSIN IN IRELAND IS SENDING YOU HIS FORTUNE TO KEEP UNTIL THINGS GET BETTER OVER THERE -- HAS IT GOT HERE YET?
NOPE -- BUT IT'S ALREADY CAUSING ME A LOT OF GRIEF --
I BOUGHT A SAFE TO KEEP THE FORTUNE IN, BUT ESMEY LOCKED THE COMBINATION INSIDE OF THE DANGED THING -- NOW, I GOTTA HIRE AN EXPERT TO OPEN IT!
LEAVE IT TO ME, GERTIE -- I KNOW JUST THE GUY!
HOW MUCH DOES HE GET FOR OPENING SAFES, PADDY?
I DON'T KNOW HOW MUCH HE'LL GET FOR THIS ONE, BUT FOR THE LAST ONE HE GOT FIVE YEARS!
HE'LL BE AT YOUR HOUSE BY THE TIME YOU GET THERE!
DID PADDY TELL YOU WHAT HAPPENED?
YEH, BUT DON'T WORRY LADY- DIS JOB IS GONNA BE A CINCH!
HE'S BEEN WORKING ON THAT SAFE FOR AN HOUR -- HE SHOULD HAVE IT OPEN BY NOW!
BANG BANG BANG
HOW'RE YOU GETTING ALONG, BUD?
IT'S O.K. NOW, LADY. DIS WON'T CAUSE YOUSE ANY MORE HEADACHES
WHAT DO YOU MEAN EVERYTHING'S O.K.? --I STILL CAN'T GET IN IT!
DON'T BE SILLY-- SURE YOUSE CAN --
WHAT DO YOUSE TINK I BORED DIS HOLE IN DE BACK FOR? -- NOW YOU CAN GET STUFF OUT WIT NO TROUBLE AT ALL!

OH, SAY! WE'RE JUST IN TIME TO HEAR UNCLE QUINCY'S QUARTER HOUR ON THE RADIO!
YEAH, LET'S TURN IT ON!
HELLO, BOYS AND GIRLS-- HAPPY EASTER! TODAY I'M GOING TO TELL YOU A STORY ABOUT A LITTLE RABBIT!
DO YOU HEAR THAT, BAXTER?
YEAH, I'M LISTENIN'!
ONCE UPON A TIME THERE WAS A LITTLE COTTON-STUFFED RABBIT-- HE HAD TWO BUTTON EYES AND FUNNY LITTLE WHISKERS-- CAN YOU IMAGINE THAT, BAXTER?-- IT'S JUST LIKE MY BUNNY!
SOMEBODY MUSTA TOLD UNCLE QUINCY!
--ONE DAY THE LITTLE RABBIT LOST HIS TWO EYES AND DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO-- SO HE PUT AN AD IN THE PAPER THAT WENT LIKE THIS---
--"LOST- TWO BUTTON EYES-- FINDER PLEASE RETURN TO LITTLE RABBIT SO HE CAN START LOOKING FOR THEM"--
HA HA HA HA
--WHEN THE LITTLE RABBIT FOUND HIS EYES HE SAW A BIG DOG COMING TOWARD HIM, SO HE HAD TO RUN FOR HIS LIFE--AND BEFORE YOU COULD SAY "TECHNOCRACY" THE BIG DOG MADE A DASH FOR THE CLICK!
HEY! WHAT'S THE IDEA, TURNIN' OFF THE RADIO?
WELL, YOU DIDN'T THINK I WAS GOING TO LET THAT BIG DOG CATCH MY LITTLE BUNNY, DID YOU?

WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF YOUR THREE BABY BROTHERS?
GEE, THEY'RE SWELL, DAD. THEY'RE AS CUTE AS THEY CAN BE.
GINGER, YOU MUST TAKE GOOD CARE OF THINGS WHILE I'M IN THE HOSPITAL. BE SURE YOUR TWO BROTHERS EAT THEIR MEALS REGULARLY!
YOU BET I WILL, MOTHER. WE ARE ALL ANXIOUS TO HAVE YOU BACK HOME!
BEFORE YOU LEAVE, GINGER, I WANT YOU TO MEET A FRIEND OF MINE, MR. TRACY. HE'S DOWN ON THE NEXT FLOOR!
OKAY, BUT I'M IN A HURRY, DAD!
YES, YOUR DAD DONATED A QUART OF BLOOD FOR A TRANSFUSION FOR ME. I'M QUITE INDEBTED TO HIM!
DAD'S A GOOD SCOUT, ALL RIGHT. WELL, I MUST BE GOING NOW. I'M VERY GLAD TO HAVE MET YOU!
I'LL BE BACK IN GEORGETOWN WEDNESDAY. THE DEPUTY AND I HAVE TO MAKE SOME SLOT MACHINE RAIDS WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON. SAY! IS THAT AN EVENING DRESS YOU'VE GOT ON THERE?
YES! I'M GOING TO A DANCE, DAD!
WELL, YOU SAW THE KID BROTHERS, EH?
YEAH! COME ON, LET'S GET OUT OF HERE. I PICKED UP A HOT TIP. THEY'RE GRABBING YOUR SLOT MACHINES WEDNESDAY!
GOOD WORK, KID. I'LL TELL THE BOYS TO GATHER THE MACHINES UP TOMORROW. YOU KNOW THEY COST ABOUT A HUNDRED DOLLARS A PIECE!
SAY, WHERE ARE YOU GOING? I THOUGHT WE WERE HEADING BACK TO GEORGETOWN!
I THOUGHT I'D STOP HERE A MINUTE. I'D LIKE YOU TO MEET A FRIEND OF MINE, GINGER!
HOLD HER DOWN ON THAT COUCH WHILE I GET THE SUN LAMP!
SAY, WHAT IS THIS?
I'M JUST GOING TO PUT MY BRAND ON YOU, KID. IT WON'T HURT. HOLD STILL NOW, SO THESE LETTERS WON'T TIP OVER!
WHY, YOU CRAZY MUGS! WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO ME, ANYWAY?
ABOUT SIX MINUTES WILL BE LONG ENOUGH!
TRIGGER
TEN MINUTES LATER.
THERE YOU ARE, GINGER, YOU'VE GOT MY NAME BURNED RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF YOUR BACK!
WHY YOU NERVY SO-AND-SO! I OUGHT TO—

DON'T TELL US SUPER SUDS CAN'T MAKE YOUR WORK WORLDS EASIER!
206% AS MUCH SUDS OVER TWICE THE AVERAGE OF OTHER POPULAR SOAPS TESTED!
Super Suds
FOR WASHING CLOTHES AND DISHES
KERCHOO!

SAY, THAT OLD WASHING MACHINE perks up like a new 1941 model, when the extra sudsing power of Super Suds eases the dirt out of clothes. Why, Super Suds even gets out the deep down dirt, that stubborn grime in cuffs and collars, the bull's-eye in pillow cases, the heart-breaking dirt in towels and table linens.

SOAK 'EM IN SUPER SUDS, give a few quick rubs with Super Suds on extra-grimy spots, a douse, and your washing comes out as clean and fragrant as a June breeze.

IT'S THE EXTRA SUDS you get with Super Suds over other popular package soaps we tested, that does the trick. Yes, suds that last so long you hardly can wear them out. Bring back spotless whiteness to everything in the family wash, safely!

SO EASY ON HANDS, TOO, you'll prefer Super Suds' mild, hard-working suds for getting greasy dishes bright and shiny in a jiffy. Buy that big blue box of Super Suds, first thing, and see how its extra suds cut your work on dishes and laundry amazingly!

ATTENTION, WASH-DAY SNEEZERS! Every ounce of Super Suds is especially processed to remove sneezy soap dust.

AMY SEES HER DENTIST!
TO COMBAT BAD BREATH, I RECOMMEND COLGATE DENTAL CREAM. ITS ACTIVE PENETRATING FOAM GETS INTO THE HIDDEN CREVICES BETWEEN YOUR TEETH... HELPS REMOVE DECAYING FOOD PARTICLES AND STOP THE STAGNANT SALIVA ODORS THAT CAUSE MUCH BAD BREATH
COLGATE'S NOT ONLY COMBATS BAD BREATH, IT MAKES TEETH SPARKLE, TOO! AND I ADORE THAT PENETRATING FOAM — IT MAKES MY MOUTH FEEL SO CLEAN AND REFRESHED!
MARTIN SURE PICKED A WINNER, DIDN'T HE?
YOU'RE DARNED RIGHT! THEY DON'T COME ANY PRETTIER —OR SWEETER—THAN AMY!

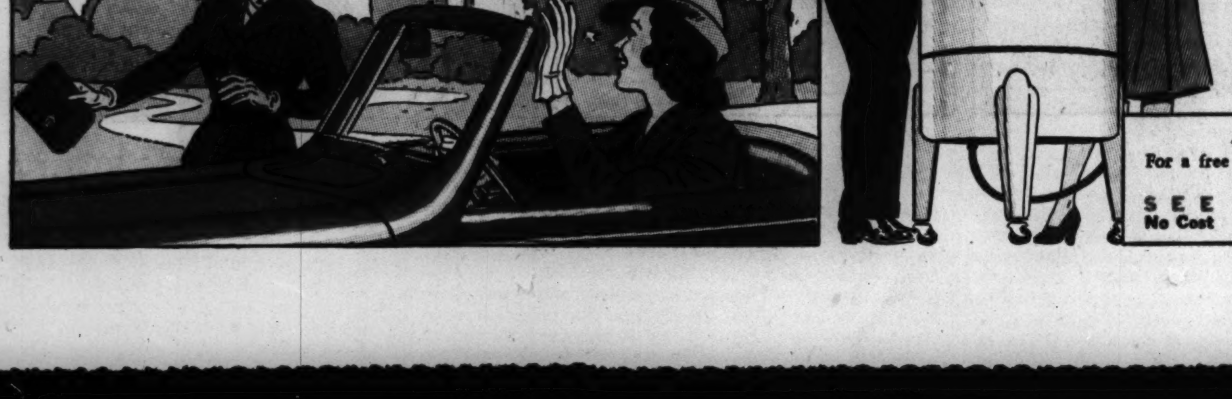
I'D DIE OF SHAME IF MY SHEETS WEREN'T ANY WHITER THAN THIS!
I HEARD EVERY WORD YOU SAID, ALICE CARTER—AND I HOPE YOU NEVER SET FOOT IN MY HOUSE AGAIN!
HEAVENS, ELLEN, I DIDN'T MEAN TO BE CATTY—I JUST MEANT IT'S A PITY YOU AREN'T USING A WHITER-WASHING SOAP!
YOU NEEDN'T "PITY" ME! I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I'M USING THE SAME SOAP I'VE USED FOR YEARS!
BUT THAT'S JUST THE TROUBLE, ELLEN! YOU REALLY OUGHT TO TRY THAT WONDERFUL NEW SOAP THE BIG WASHER MAKERS RECOMMEND NOW—HIGH-TEST OXYDOL! YOU'LL BE AMAZED HOW WHITE IT WASHES!
NEXT DAY
...AND THEN SHE HAD THE NERVE TO TELL ME IF I'D USE THAT NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL, MY THINGS WOULDN'T BE SO GRAY!
OF COURSE YOU WERE FURIOUS! BUT ELLEN—I THOUGHT YOU KNEW ABOUT OXYDOL. WHEN I GOT MY NEW WASHER THE THOR MAN TOLD ME IT WASHES AS MUCH AS 9 TO 11 SHADES WHITER! I'LL SHOW YOU.
SEE THOSE HEAPS OF SUDS. THAT MUST BE 3 TIMES AS MUCH AS MY SOAP MAKES!
AND WAIT TILL YOU SEE HOW THEY SOAK OUT DIRT WHILE THE WASHER'S RUNNING—YOU'RE THROUGH IN NO TIME AT ALL!
Thor
BUT IF OXYDOL'S SO MUCH WHITER-WASHING, ARE YOU SURE IT'S SAFE FOR WASHABLE COLORED THINGS, TOO?
SAFE AS SAFE! I'VE WASHED THIS COTTON PRINT WITH OXYDOL OVER AND OVER—AND SEE HOW BRIGHT AND FRESH IT IS!
Thor
WHY—THEY SPARKLE LIKE SNOW! BELIEVE ME, I'M GOING TO CHANGE TO HIGH-TEST OXYDOL BEFORE ANOTHER DAY GOES BY!
BEST OF ALL, YOU'LL FIND IT GOES SO MUCH FARTHER THAN LESS ECONOMICAL SOAPS, IT CAN SAVE YOU AS MUCH AS 25%!



ONE WEEK LATER
WHY ELLEN—I THOUGHT YOU'D CUT ME DEAD AFTER THOSE HORRID THINGS I SAID ABOUT YOUR SHEETS!
CUT YOU—I COULD KISS YOU FOR TELLING ME ABOUT THAT MARVELOUS HIGH-TEST OXYDOL COME ALONG TO MY HOUSE—I'LL SHOW YOU THERE ISN'T A WHITER WASH IN TOWN!
Thor

"FOR WASHES AS MUCH AS 9 to 11 SHADES WHITER USE OXYDOL"... Say Makers of Famous Thor Washers

If you are a washing machine user, you should heed this important news! Now a number of leading washing machine makers are officially recommending an amazing new soap—as the one soap for use in their machines.

For one example, the makers of famous Thor washers now state officially: "For washes as much as 9 to 11 shades whiter, we recommend the use of new High-Test OXYDOL."

These authorities changed to High-Test Oxydol after seeing proof that Oxydol does these amazing things, compared to many popular soaps tested in our laboratories:

(1) Gets white clothes as much as 9 to 11 Tintometer shades whiter. (2) Cup for cup, gives up to 3 times the suds. Rich, active suds that stand up as much as 2 to 3 times longer.

Yet is so SAFE that even gay cotton prints, given the equivalent of more than a full year's washing, came out looking bright and fresh as new.

Money-saving, too—High-Test Oxydol goes so much farther than less economical soaps, it can cut laundry soap bills as much as 25%.

So—no matter what soap you've been using, why not do as many leading washing machine makers urge? Try the new High-Test OXYDOL next washday. We believe you'll be so thrilled—you'll never go back to less modern soaps. Procter & Gamble.

SH-SH! THIS IS A LOVE LETTER THAT FATHER WROTE TO MOTHER IN NINETEEN-TWENTY-FIVE-READ IT, KITCH! AND WAIT'LL I START WRITING THEM TO YOU!
"MY DARLING SUGAR PIE—HOW CRUEL IS TIME—HOW EMPTY THE HOURS THAT I'M AWAY FROM YOU—BUT WITH YOUR LOVE AS MY GUIDE—NOTHING CAN STOP ME—NOTHING—HARVEY" NOT BAD—FOR YOUR FATHER!
GET ME PAPER AND A PENCIL, KITCH! I'LL RIP OFF SOMETHING THAT'LL HAVE YOU IN A CLOUD!
OH! HOW THRILLING!
"MY SUGAR LUMP-"
A BIT COARSE! BESIDES-THERE'S NO 'H' IN 'SUGAR'!
LATER
I'LL TURN ON THE RADIO TO INSPIRE YOU-
NO-NO-NO-NO-NO!
HOW DOES THIS SOUND? "MY DARLING SUGAR PIE-"
THAT LINE SOUNDS VERY FAMILIAR!
A GOOD POSTCARD-WITH ONE OR TWO WORDS ON IT WOULD-
IF YOU REALLY CARED-WORDS WOULD JUST FLOW FROM YOU!
ALL RIGHT! ALL RIGHT! JUST LET ME ALONE FOR AWHILE! LET ME THINK! SIT IN THE OTHER ROOM!
I'LL GIVE YOU JUST FIFTEEN MINUTES!
OKAY, KITCH! FINISHED!
"MY DARLING HONEY PIE—HOW CRUEL TIME IS—HOW EMPTY THE HOURS THAT WE'RE APART—BUT WITH YOUR LOVE AS MY GUIDING STAR—NOTHING CAN STOP ME—NOTHING! BREEZY"

I CAN'T IMAGINE WHY I AIN'T HEARD FROM "THE GREAT GIMLETTO".
PERHAPS IT'S BECAUSE HE DECIDED I WAS MORE THE THEATRICAL TYPE, MAMIE, AND NATURALLY, WHEN HE MADE ME A OFFER TO JOIN HIS TROUPE, I JUMPED AT THE OPPORTUNITY.
SO DID LORD PLUSHBOTTOM-ABOUT TEN FEET.
"THE GREAT GIMLETTO"-BAH! I WILL TELL THAT HOUND IN NO UNCERTAIN TERMS THAT I WILL ALLOW NO WIFE OF MINE TO APPEAR ON ANY STAGE AS A HYPNOTIST'S STOOGE.
HUH. SO THIS IS THE HALL WHERE HE IS REHEARSING HIS ACT.
MAY WE GET BY, PLEASE?
THANKS.
I BEG YOUR PARDON.
OH!

AH- MY GOOD FRIEND GIMLETTO! YOU REMEMBER ME, LORD---
SORRY, OLD TOP, BUT I CAN'T STOP. HAVE TO GO LOOK UP ANOTHER HALL. THAT ONE ISN'T SO SATISFACTORY.
MAY I MAKE A SUGGESTION?
IF YOU MAKE IT BRIEF, YOU MAY I'M IN A HURRY.
MAMIE, ORDER SOME FLOWERS-I HAVE INVITED "THE GREAT GIMLETTO" AND HIS TROUPE OUT HERE TO REHEARSE.
GEE! COME LOOK AT WHAT JEST COME IN.
I WILL BE RIGHT DOWN, KAYO.
THIS WAS A SPLENDID SUGGESTION OF YOURS, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM, SPLENDID!
YES, A LOT OF DIZZY CHORUS GIRLS WERE REHEARSING OVER THAT HALL WHERE WE WERE AND THEY MADE SO MUCH RACKET WE COULDN'T HEAR OURSELVES THINK.

LITTLE ROSE, BUFFETED BY MISFORTUNE AND HARDSHIP IS HEARTLESS FATE'S UNHAPPIEST VICTIM—
UNCLE BIM AND CHESTER ARE SO KIND TO ME— BUT ALL I WANT IS MY DADDY!
IF THERE WERE ONLY SOMETHING I COULD DO, UNCLE BIM—
YOU? GOOD GRIEF, MY BOY—YOU RISKED YOUR LIFE IN THE FIRE THAT CONSUMED THE PROOF OF ABEL BUDD'S INNOCENCE!
MEANWHILE, FATE REACHES HALF WAY AROUND THE WORLD FOR ANOTHER SKEIN FOR THE EVIL WEB SHE IS WEAVING —KAIN BUDD, THE ACTUAL CRIMINAL, IS ABOARD THIS SHIP!
MAN THE LIFEBOATS !!!
THEY CAN'T LIVE IN THIS STORM, SIR!
MANY HOURS LATER— AFTER THE STORM SUBSIDES—
THE SHIP IS SUNK— EVERYONE IS LOST— BUT ME—

by MILTON CANIFF
LET'S NOT KID EACH OTHER!... I HAVE TO TAKE YOUR ORDERS BECAUSE THERE'S NO CHOICE! BUT DON'T EXPECT ME TO ACT SYMPATHETIC TO YOUR CAUSE!
OF COURSE! I ONLY TRIED TO TEST YOU BEFORE! YOUR NEW ASSIGNMENT IS QUITE SERIOUS BUSINESS! REPEAT YOUR ORDERS!
OKAY! THERE'S AN ENGINEER NAMED WOLFF ACTING AS THE TECHNICAL ADVISOR ON A DAM THE INVADER IS BUILDING IN OCCUPIED CHINA!
THIS WOLFF IS A GOOD ENGINEER BUT HE DOESN'T ACT ENTHUSIASTIC ENOUGH ABOUT YOUR COUNTRY'S AMBITIONS! YOU THINK HE WILL GO SO FAR ON HIS ABILITY THAT THE SECRET POLICE MUST HAVE SOMETHING ON HIM — TO WHIP HIM INTO LINE!...
THAT'S PUTTING IT CRUDELY! — BUT GO ON!
LOOK WHO'S GETTING DELICATE! .. ANYHOW, A SECRET POLICEMAN NAMED KAMP RECENTLY STOPPED AT WOLFF'S PLACE ON HIS WAY TO THE INTERIOR! .. I AM TO GO TO WOLFF'S PLACE AS IF I AM MRS. KAMP, EXPECTING TO FIND MY HUSBAND THERE! THIS KAMP IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE MARRIED ME IN SHANGHAI — BEFORE THE WAR . WHICH EXPLAINS MY BEING AMERICAN!
WHILE I AM SUPPOSEDLY WAITING FOR THIS KAMP TO RETURN AND PICK ME UP, I AM TO PLAY ON WOLFF'S LONELINESS AND GET HIM TO TALK FREELY WITH ME — HOPING HE'LL SPILL HIS REAL THOUGHTS!...THEN I'LL REPORT THEM TO YOU — SO YOU CAN SLAP HIM DOWN IF HE DOESN'T CLICK HIS HEELS LOUDLY ENOUGH!
QUITE RIGHT!... AND I AM SENDING THESE TWO MEN WITH YOU! THEY WILL POSE AS NEW ASSISTANTS TO WOLFF! REALLY THEY WILL KEEP AN EYE ON YOU!
A SPY ON A SPY IS A SPY IS A SPY ON A SPY... SOUNDS LIKE A DIZZY OPERA I HEARD ABOUT ONCE!
...I'LL FINISH PACKING! DON'T YOU BOYS DISCUSS ANY SECRETS IN FRONT OF THE CANARY! HE MAY BE AN ENGLISH SPARROW IN DISGUISE!
GOTTA WORK FAST! ...LUCKY TERRY SMUGGLED THIS FLASHLIGHT AND MORSE CODE TO ME!... HE'S ON THE ROOF ACROSS THE STREET! HE'LL HAVE TO FOLLOW ME SOME WAY IF WE'RE BOTH TO GET OUT OF THIS CRAZY MESS!
LATER...
I SUPPOSE YOU TWO WILL RIDE IN A DIFFERENT PART OF THE TRAIN — SO THIS WOLFF WON'T HAVE THE SLIGHTEST IDEA WE TRAVELED TOGETHER!
QUITE SO!
... WHY ARE ALL THOSE CHINESE BEING LOADED INTO BOX CARS ON OUR TRAIN?
THEY GO TO LABOR ON WOLFF'S DAM!

MR. COFFEE-NERVES
DOUBLE-TROUBLE BUREAU
SNAP OUT OF IT, JIM. THAT BIG LEAGUE SCOUT IS COMING-- AND YOU'RE 'WAY OFF FORM AND GETTING WORSE!
AND IN TWO MORE WEEKS YOU WON'T BE ABLE TO HIT A BALL THE SIZE OF A PUMPKIN.
THAT FRESHMAN PITCHER STRUCK YOU OUT AGAIN. I WONDER IF SOMETHING'S GONE WRONG WITH YOUR EYES.
NO, IT'S MY NERVES. FOR A MONTH NOW I'VE BEEN JUMPY AS A MOUSE.
AND, BROTHER YOU AIN'T SEEN NOTHIN' YET!
I THINK I'LL QUIT THE TEAM. YOU'LL BE BETTER OFF WITHOUT ME.
DON'T BE FOOLISH! LET'S TALK IT OVER AT THE DOG-WAGON AFTER PRACTICE.
FOOLISH, MY EYE! HE WANTS YOU TO MAKE A MONKEY OF YOURSELF IN FRONT OF THAT SCOUT!
WILL YOU BRING ME ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE, MADGE? MAYBE IT WILL CALM ME DOWN.
S-A-A-Y! I WONDER IF IT ISN'T COFFEE THAT'S MAKING YOU NERVOUS? I HAD COFFEE-NERVES ONCE AND MY DOCTOR....
DON'T LISTEN. HIS DOCTOR IS A SPECIALIST IN THE DISEASES OF GOATS.
SPECIAL
MY DOCTOR MADE ME SWITCH FROM COFFEE TO POSTUM. IN A FEW WEEKS MY NERVOUSNESS WAS GONE AND I FELT FIT AS A FIDDLE AGAIN. WHY DON'T YOU START DRINKING POSTUM?
I'LL TRY ANYTHING. CHANGE THAT ORDER TO POSTUM, MADGE.
SCRAM, MEANIES! POSTUM MEANS WE'RE LICKED!
SAY! THIS POSTUM REALLY HITS THE SPOT! IT'S A SWELL DRINK!
TWO WEEKS LATER
A GREAT EXHIBITION OF HITTING, MY LAD! I'D LIKE TO SIGN YOU UP FOR NEXT YEAR RIGHT NOW!
WHERE DO I SIGN?
I SURE OWE PLENTY TO COACH JONES. SWITCHING FROM COFFEE TO POSTUM CERTAINLY MADE A BIG DIFFERENCE IN ME AND MY GAME!
COME ON, BOSS. WE'LL FIND SOME PLACE WHERE THEY DON'T HAVE POSTUM.
TO THE SHOWERS
ARE THERE MANY PEOPLE WHO SHOULDN'T DRINK COFFEE, DOCTOR?
YES, VERY MANY OF THEM, ALTHOUGH OTHERS, OF COURSE, CAN DRINK IT WITHOUT ILL EFFECT
WHAT ARE APT TO BE THE SYMPTOMS OF COFFEE-NERVES?
SLEEPLESSNESS, INDIGESTION, NERVOUSNESS, OR IRRITABILITY.
WHY DO YOU ADVISE PEOPLE WHO ARE UPSET BY COFFEE TO SWITCH TO POSTUM?
POSTUM CONTAINS NO CAFFEIN OR OTHER STIMULANT. IT CAN'T FRAY NERVES.
AND POSTUM IS ONE OF THE MOST DELICIOUS AND SATISFYING DRINKS THERE IS!
IT'S ECONOMICAL, TOO.... COSTS LESS THAN ½¢ A CUP!
WHY DON'T YOU TRY POSTUM? IT IS DELICIOUS EITHER HOT OR ICED!

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal, brewed like coffee; and Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup. A Product of General Foods.

Are you one of the women* who can accept this free offer?

*WOMEN WHO HAVE NEVER TRIED MIDOL... YOUNG WOMEN JUST REALIZING THEIR NEED...

Millions of women depend on Midol regularly, month after month, confident that it will relieve their functional periodic pain. Millions more have an equal need for Midol—to take the "dread" from trying days, to redeem them for active living.

So to these women—those who have never tried Midol, and young women never before needing it—this offer is made: A generous trial package of Midol, mailed in plain wrapper, in return for the coupon below.

WILL MIDOL RELIEVE YOUR DISCOMFORT? If you have no organic disorder calling for special medical treatment or surgery, Midol should give you relief. Among thousands of women recently interviewed, more reported using Midol for this purpose than all other preparations combined, and 96% of these Midol users said they found Midol effective!

TRY MIDOL; PROVE ITS COMFORT Don't hesitate to try Midol. It contains no opiates. One ingredient is prescribed often by many doctors for headache and muscular pain. Another exclusive ingredient reduces spasmodic pain, peculiar to the period, to increase relief. When you know the relief of Midol, you'll understand why so many women go through their "trying days" actively and in comfort! Mail the coupon now for your trial package. Get more Midol, when you need it, at any drugstore. Large size, 40¢; small size, 20¢.

Something to work on

MAYBE you're not driving rivets on a battleship. But whatever you're doing, this country needs the best you can give to your job—every day. Then give yourself something to work on.

Help yourself to a breakfast that helps you "get in there and pitch." Coffee tastes good, but you need a sturdier foundation for the morning's work.

Start with some fruit or fruit juice. Then stow away a bowlful of Wheaties with plenty of milk or cream. Now you're really eating breakfast, a thoroughly satisfying "Breakfast of Champions"!

Every morning, eat the food that helped make America great. Depend on whole wheat, our basic cereal grain. Eat Wheaties for breakfast. Wheaties, unique as a preferred wheat cereal because these toasted flakes give you all the well known essential nourishment that nature packs into choice whole wheat—something to work on.

Eat Wheaties, milk and fruit and depend on this "Breakfast of Champions" to do a champion job for you.

THIS "GO" VITAMIN! If you could call one vitamin the National Preparedness Vitamin, it would probably be $B_1$. This "GO" vitamin helps make the wheels go around, has a direct effect on the nervous system, on endurance and good performance.

For more $B_1$, eat Wheaties. This champion cereal is guaranteed to give you all the plentiful vitamin $B_1$ (Thiamin), all the vitamin G, all the minerals (iron, phosphorus) naturally present in whole wheat. Thus Wheaties are accepted by the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association as a preferred wheat cereal, a good food made better at no added cost to you.

AMERICA—ITS STORY IN FLAGS!

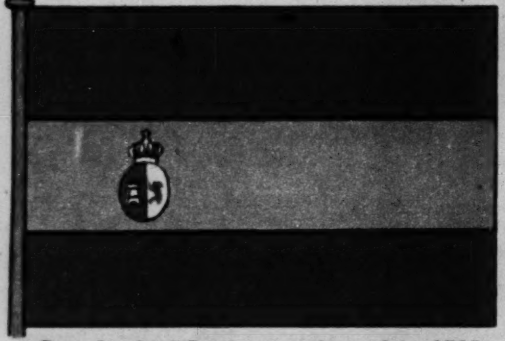
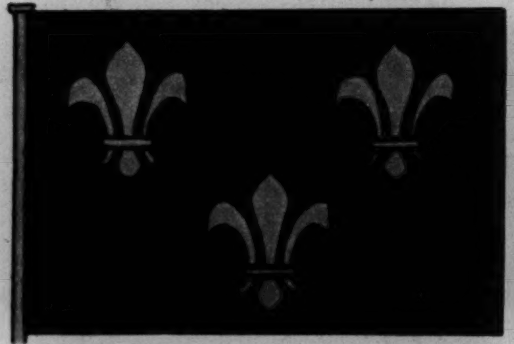
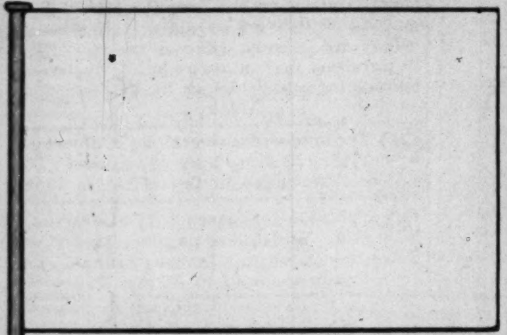
Spanish flag, under which Columbus discovered Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands, Magellan discovered Philippines, and St. Augustine was founded.



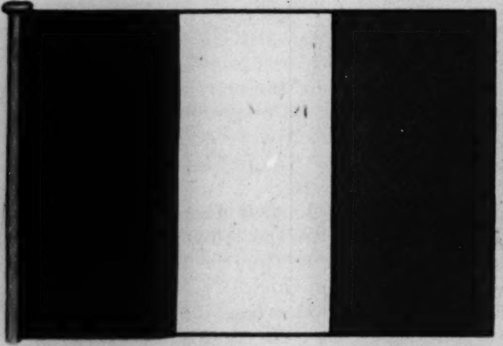
Standard of Spain as adopted in 1785, when that country still was the owner of a considerable part of what now is continental United States.



Old fleur de lis flag of France. It was under this banner that Laudonniere planted his ill-fated colony on the banks of the St. Johns river in Florida.



White banner of Bourbons of France. La Salle, Marquette, and other daring Frenchmen explored our Mississippi valley under this flag in 17th century.



Tricolor of France, which became that country's flag in 1789. It was lowered in 1803 in favor of the American flag when Napoleon sold Louisiana.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA embraces numerous lands, over which in the past the flags of many nations have flown. The 17 banners reproduced in their correct colors on this page, along with the present-day national flag, provide a graphic history of our country. One can trace in these flags the story of America from the discoveries of Christopher Columbus in the 15th century to the acquisition of the Canal Zone from Panama little more than a generation ago. Most of the important powers of Europe—Spain, France, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Sweden, Denmark, and Russia—at one time or another possessed territory over which now floats Old Glory.

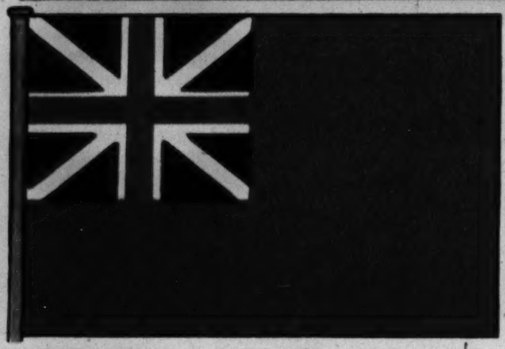
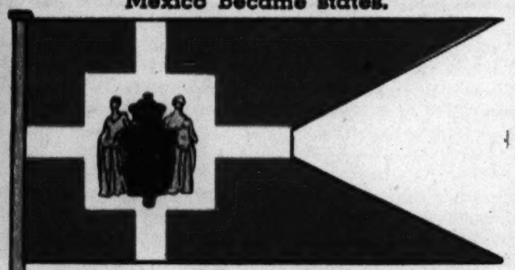
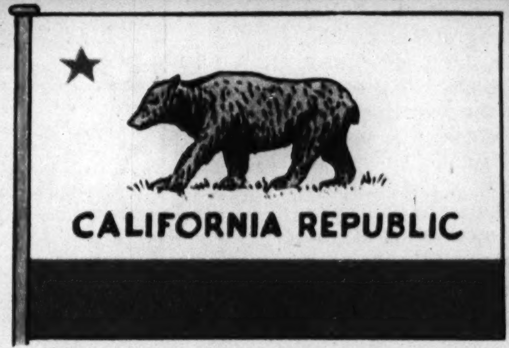
Old Glory of today. It acquired 47th and 48th stars in 1912 when Arizona and New Mexico became states.



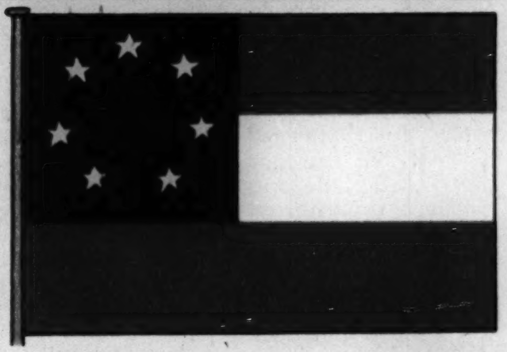
Red ensign of Great Britain, adopted in 1707. It was the British banner in the American Revolutionary war.



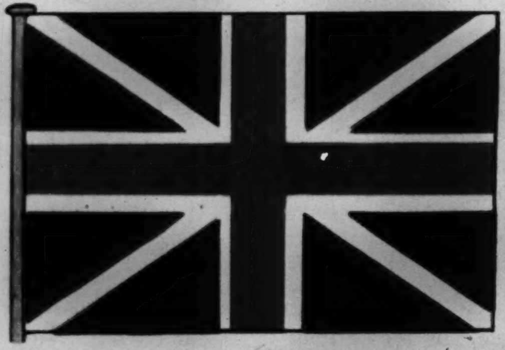
Denmark's royal standard. The Danes acquired some of the Virgin Islands in 1650; sold them to United States in 1917.



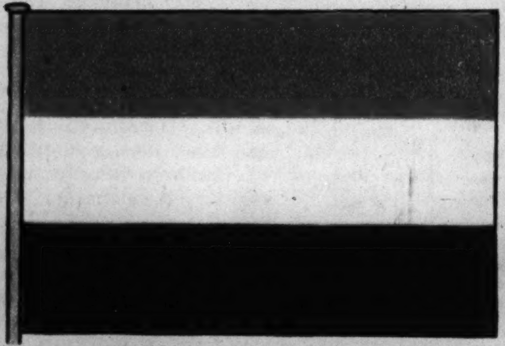
Grizzly Bear flag of the brief-lived republic set up in California by American settlers in 1846.



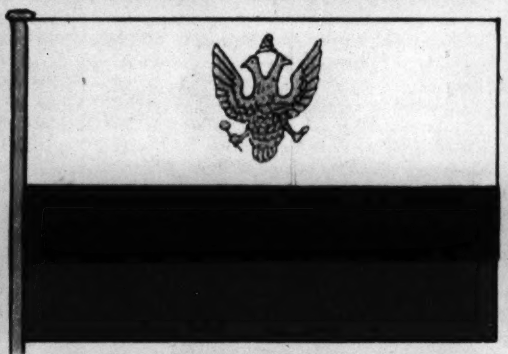
Stars and Bars, one of the best known flags of the Confederate States of America. Officially adopted in 1861.



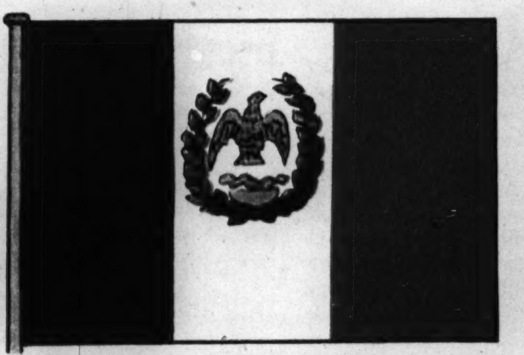
British union flag carried by Pilgrims of Mayflower and settlers of Jamestown. It was adopted in 1603 when England and Scotland were united. Combined in it are St. George and St. Andrew crosses.



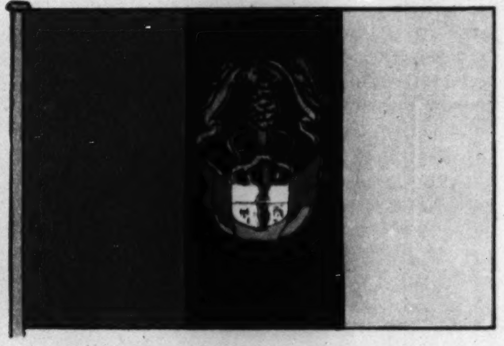
Dutch flag of New Amsterdam. Orange stripe was changed to red in 1660, four years before Dutch surrender.



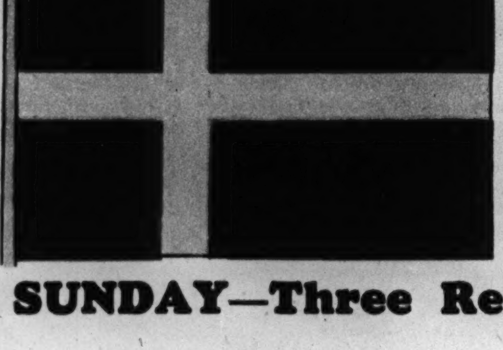
Flag of Russian-American company, which flew over Alaska from 1799 until purchase by United States in 1867.



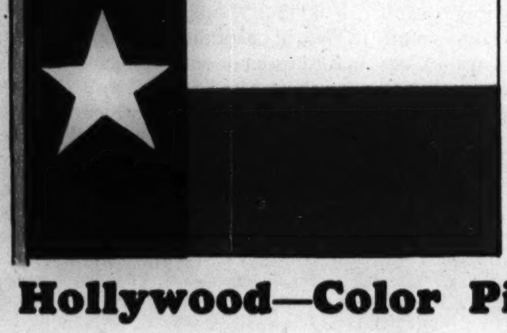
Flag of Mexico, adopted in 1821 when that country threw off the yoke of Spain. In various slightly altered forms it flew over our far southwest until the settlement of the Mexican war in 1848.



New Granada flag, which flew over Panama until New Granada in 1861 became Colombia and altered its flag.



At left: Flag of Sweden, which flew over Swedish settlements on the Delaware river from 1638 to 1655. In last-named year the Dutch seized the Swedish lands. In 1664 the English in their turn absorbed the Dutch lands.



At left: Flag of republic of Texas. It was official banner of Texas as an independent nation from 1836 to 1845 and now is the state flag.

WHO OWNS ISLANDS IN OUR OCEANS!

1 Aleutian Islands—Discovered 1741 by Vitus Bering and Alexei Chirikov; owned by Russia until 1867, when transferred to the United States.

2 Midway Island—This, with Gardner, Necker, Johnston, Howland, and Baker Islands, belongs to the United States on basis of American discoveries as early as 1856. Midway, stopping point in trans-Pacific air line service, officially recognized as American soil in 1861.

3 Hawaii—Discovered by British navigator, Capt. James Cook, 1778, who was slain there Feb. 14, 1779. New England missionaries arrived 1820. Islands under native kings and queens until provisional government set up in 1893. Republic established 1894. Annexed to the United States 1898. Given territorial government 1900.

4 Line Islands—Discovered by Captain Cook in 1777. Most of group annexed by Great Britain 1888. Islands include Palmyra, Washington, Fanning, Christmas, Jarvis, Malden, Starbuck, Vostak, Flint groups, and Caroline Atoll. United States claims Christmas Islands on basis of rediscovery prior to 1857. Palmyra Islands ceded to United States by Britain in 1934 for naval air base. Jarvis Islands claimed by United States on basis of early discoveries.

5 Phoenix Islands—Eight small islands annexed by Great Britain 1889-'92. On April 6, 1939, United States and Great Britain signed a treaty providing for joint administration of Canton and Enderbury Islands, two of the group. Canton Island turned over to an American air line company Oct. 8, 1940.

6 Manihiki—Most of islands of archipelago discovered in 19th century. Annexed by Great Britain 1889-'92. Administered from New Zealand.

7 Samoa—Discovered by a Dutchman, Jacob Raggeveen, 1772. British missionaries arrived 1830. Pago Pago occupied by United States 1878. Made protectorate of U. S., Britain, and Germany 1889. British withdrew 1900. Germany given western islands. Tituila and other eastern islands given to U. S. German islands taken over by New Zealand 1918. U. S. holds six, New Zealand eight islands.

8 Tonga Islands—Discovered 1616 by Jacob Lemaire and Willem Schouten. Visited 1643 by Abel Tasman, 1773-'77 by Captain Cook. After long civil wars among natives islands placed under British protection 1900.

9 Cook Islands—Discovered by Captain Cook 1777. Settled by missionaries in 1823. Administered from New Zealand since 1915.

10 Tahiti—Discovered by Pedro Quiros 1607. Claimed for France by Captain de Bougainville 1768. Islands named Society Islands by British Captain Cook, who visited them in 1769. All islands of group made a French colony 1903.

11 Australs—Visited by British Captain Cook 1769-'77. Rapa discovered by Vancouver 1791. French protection and annexation carried out between middle of 19th century and 1900.

12 Pitcairn—Discovered by Carteret in 1767. Occupied by Bounty mutineers 1790. British possession since 1839.

13 Tuamotu—Discovered 1606 by Pedro Quiros. Became protectorate of France 1844. Annexed by France as dependency of Tahiti 1881.

16 Cuba—Discovered by Columbus in 1492 and made Spanish colony. Havana taken by British 1762; restored to Spain 1763. Under United States military rule 1898-1902. Became independent republic 1902.

17 Jamaica—Discovered by Columbus 1494. Captured from Spaniards by British 1655. British title to island recognized 1670. French and Spanish invasions repulsed 1782 and 1806. Made a British crown colony 1865.

18 Virgin Islands—Discovered by Columbus 1493. Tortola occupied by British 1666 and held ever since. Denmark acquired St. Croix 1650, St. Thomas 1671, and St. John 1719. Last two twice taken by British, finally restored to Denmark 1815. All these sold to United States 1917. British still retain 32 islands of group.

19 Dutch Islands—Dutch West India company acquired St. Eustatius 1634, Curacao, Bonaire, and Oruba 1634-'35, Saba 1640, and part of St. Martin 1648. Netherlands still shares control of St. Martin with France.

20 Bahamas—Discovered by Columbus 1492. Exploited by Spain until British colonizations in 1640. Taken under British crown 1717. Base of blockade runners in American Civil war.

21 Newfoundland—Discovered by John Cabot 1497. British took possession 1583. Colonized by British 1610-'23. France ceded all territorial rights to British 1713.

22 St. Pierre and Miquelon—Occupied by French 1660. Taken by British four times—1702, 1778, 1793, and 1803. Finally restored to France 1814.

23 Bermudas—Discovered by Spaniard, Juan Bermudez, early in 16th century. Colonized by British 1609-'12. Granted to British trading company 1612. Became British crown colony 1620.

24 Haiti—Discovered by Columbus in 1492. Virtually deserted by Spaniards in 16th century. Western portion (Haiti) ceded to France 1697. Its independence granted 1804. Became Republic of Haiti. Eastern portion declared independence 1821. Whole island ruled by Jean P. Boyer 1822. Dominican republic founded 1843.

25 Puerto Rico—Discovered by Columbus 1493. Remained Spanish until 1898, when occupied by United States military forces. Transferred jurisdiction of American civil authorities 1900.

26 Antigua—Discovered by Columbus 1493. Uninhabited until taken by British in 1632. Held temporarily by French in 1666. British ever since.

27 Guadeloupe—Discovered by Columbus 1493. Taken by French company 1635. Became French crown colony 1674. Captured by British three times, in 1759, 1794, and 1810. Finally restored to France in 1816.

28 Martinique—Probably discovered by Columbus 1502. Seized by French 1635. Became French crown colony 1674. Captured by British in 1762, 1793, and 1809. Restored to France finally in 1814.

29 Barbados—Discovered by Portuguese. Settled by British in 1625. Became British crown colony 1660. Remained British ever since. History of Windward Islands, a British group, closely parallels that of Barbados. Windward Islands include St. Lucia, St. Vincent, and Grenada.

30 Trinidad—Discovered by Columbus 1498. Taken from Spaniards by British 1797, ceded to Great Britain 1802.

31 Tobago—Discovered by Columbus 1498. British flag planted there 1580. Seized by Dutch, and later by French, and finally restored to British 1814.

Possession Is Vital Factor in America's Defense

Honolulu and its harbor as seen from Punch Bowl crater behind the city. Part of the American battle fleet is at anchor in the harbor. (Acme photo.)

THE TWO heavy lines shown on the map above mark the limits of what have come to be considered, from the standpoint of our national defense, purely American waters. In earlier times the United States felt reasonably secure behind its continental coastal defenses, but that time is long past. Today the only certain method of providing security for our long seacoasts involves a frontier far at sea, both in the Atlantic and the Pacific, where naval and air bases can screen us from possible attacks by hostile powers.

A recent editorial in The Chicago Tribune dealing with the question of what, if anything, this country is to obtain in return for its all-out war efforts in behalf of Great Britain, touched as follows upon the subject of guarantees of protection in the form of islands in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the Caribbean sea:

"The United States also has certain very definite geographical aspirations which ought to be satisfied now. The sites have little economic value in themselves, but will be of great strategic importance to us in guaranteeing our security for the future. All the islands, without exception, which lie west of a line drawn thru Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the most easterly of the Antilles should be either set free or ceded to the United States. Likewise we should have all the Pacific islands east of a line drawn from the tip of the Aleutians thru Midway and Samoa. The certainty that all these positions are in our charge, or at least that none of them can be fortified against us, would vastly strengthen us. The threat of invasion would be greatly reduced, and perhaps we might even reduce our annual bill for armament."

The two lines mentioned in the foregoing paragraph are the lines shown on the map, a close scrutiny of which will disclose that between the two lines are innumerable islands. A majority of these islands belong to foreign powers. The legends surrounding the map tell briefly the story of ownership of the principal islands within the area defined by the lines.

European powers represented by insular possession in this area are Great Britain, which still is a free nation and an important factor in world affairs, and France and the Netherlands, which have been conquered by Germany. Of the five larger islands of Newfoundland, Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica, and Puerto Rico, two are free, Cuba and Haiti; two belong to the British, Newfoundland and Jamaica; and only one, Puerto Rico, flies the American flag. The United States has no desire to change the nationalities of those islands in the American oceans that are free or that belong to Central or South American republics. It is only those islands belonging to remote foreign nations that are deemed threats to the security of America. Great Britain and France own nearly all of the islands of this group. As British and French possessions they do not present a serious threat now, but should they fall into the hands of some conquering power and bases be established upon them they would be the source of real danger.

From the standpoint of economics very few of the islands that lie between the two lines shown on the map are of any great value. Many of them are mere strips of sand, unsuitable for agriculture and useful only as the possible sites of air bases and signal stations. Others that are somewhat larger possess harbors that could be utilized as naval anchorages and used either as temporary or permanent bases for naval operations. A few of the largest islands, however, are of value both from the economic standpoint and as possible links in our ocean defenses.

Cuba, with its vast sugar and tobacco plantations and its ability to raise excellent tropical crops of various kinds, is important in world economics. But Cuba is an independent republic, thanks to the United States, and America would not have it otherwise. Newfoundland is famous for its timber lands and fisheries. It has considerable undeveloped territory that might be used for stock raising purposes. Coal exists there in large quantities. As a whole the island, which is a British colony and not a part of Canada, has been backward and has not taken advantage of its rich resources.

Sugar, tobacco, coffee, and fruits are the principal products of Puero Rico, which has been an American possession since shortly after the Spanish-American war. Jamaica, largest island of the British West Indies, produces chiefly, in this order in export value, bananas, sugar and rum, coffee, pimiento, coconuts and copra, logwood, oranges, tobacco and cigars, and grapefruit. Trinidad, second largest of the islands of the British West Indies, is famous for its asphalt and oil deposits, and in addition grows various tropical crops in abundance.

The Hawaiian group in the Pacific, a United States territory for more than 40 years, is celebrated for its subtropical products, the principal ones of which are sugar and pineapples. A large majority of the islands of the Pacific that lie east of the heavy line shown on the map have no economic value whatever, yet there are many in this area that do figure to some extent in world trade. The principal crop of these islands is copra, the dried meat of the coconut, from which coconut oil is derived.

The United States obviously is not vitally interested in the economic value of its more distant possessions, as is shown by its present plan to grant independence to the Philippines, an act which, according to some authorities, will leave these islands wide open to Japanese exploitation. What the United States is, or should be, interested in most vitally is seeing to it that potential hostile powers do not acquire or retain islands close enough to our shores to threaten our security.

How foreign nations, principally Great Britain and France, came to possess numerous islands in America's oceans is told in the legends accompanying the map. Some of these islands were acquired before there was a United States. Others were taken while this country still was a young nation and long before any one dreamed that islands a thousand miles away might, as naval and sea bases, imperil America's security. The development of swift-moving sea craft and the airplane was unforeseen when America was young. France and Great Britain as early as the 16th century were extending their imperial domains, annexing all unclaimed territory. The Dutch were doing this, too, and the Spaniards and the Portuguese.

The last named two vanished from the American scene some years ago, the Portuguese when they lost Brazil and the Spaniards when the Spanish-American war finally deprived them of Cuba and Puero Rico. Colonization of the West Indies was begun by the Spaniards after Christopher Columbus, the great Genoese navigator, planted the Spanish flag on most of the important islands of the group. Spain, however, was not strong enough to hold what it had taken. Island by island it was forced to give up its possessions to the British and the French, until it had left only Cuba and Puerto Rico. And then by misgovernment it brought on the conflict that resulted in its retirement from American waters.

The story of the islands of the Pacific is similar to that of the Caribbean group, except that the discoveries and settlements in the Pacific were at a later day. Altho Ferdinand Magellan, a Portuguese in the service of Spain, sailed across the Pacific ocean as early as 1520, and other daring navigators faced its dangers soon afterward, the real Columbus of the Pacific was Capt. James Cook, British explorer, who in the last quarter of the 18th century made many discoveries on its broad expanse.

THAT'S WHERE THE MOVIE MONEY GOES

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD

with John Chapman

Clark Gable and Carcle Lombard netted only $8 on their orange grove last year and are looking for an Oregon ranch.

Hollywood.

AN ACTOR and his money are soon parted—because an actor bundles up his wad, gives it an encouraging slap, and says, "Now go out and get to work." Occasionally the wad goes out and fritters its life away, and some of Hollywood's best paid people are the poorest. They have groves of eight-balls out here, the way they do oranges. Quite often, with sensible guidance, the wad hastens out and works like a beaver for papa or mamma, and Hollywoodians are getting a solid reputation for business sense. Many operate commercial ventures on their own; others, who don't trust themselves, put their money in the hands of hard-headed managers and let the managers do the investing.

What do film folk put their money in? It would be easier to list what they don't put it in. One player owns three wrestlers, half of a New York dentist, and the recipe for a candy bar; others have the usual run of dogs like oilless oil wells and nonmetallic mines. One very interesting thing is that practically nobody in the movies has invested in the movie business—in the retail end of it, that is.

The only star theater owners I can think of offhand are Henry Fonda and his wife, who put $75,000 in the Uclan theater near the college campus in Westwood, and who make it pay. William S. Hart built a movie house in Newhall—but not as an investment. He gave it to the town. When a film notable invests in films he goes into the manufacturing end, putting up his salary for a share in a picture. The return is quicker and bigger if you have a hit.

Real estate is the most common investment. Tyrone Power is building a two-story office building, the Tyrone Power building, on Sunset boulevard—cost, $25,000—and it is already rented from plans. A picture magazine has taken the ground floor and an agent the upper one. The rent will run about $275 a month a floor. Ty also owns an apartment building at 3084 West 12th street. He bought it for the hell of it—and for $18,000—because once he was tossed out of the place for failing to pay his rent. The rest of Ty's money goes into government bonds.

• • •

One of the wealthiest of movie men is Cecil B. De Mille, who has been making fantastic sums ever since he started Hollywood on a whim. He owns mines and oil fields—and lots of real estate. He is about to do for the drive-in what he did for the bathtub—glorify it. He has bought a big drive-in at Los Feliz boulevard and Hillcrest avenue and is having it rebuilt. He will lease it to the Brown Derby, whose building at Hollywood and Vine he also owns. The new place will be the last word. Count Alexis de Sakhnoffsky is designing special trays to fit around fat people; Zook, studio couturier, is designing a sexy car-hop costume modeled after the uniforms of parachute troops. There will be a great cornerstone laying.

Other De Mille investments: A Hollywood boulevard market building which is leased by Frank Capra and run by Frank's brother. A piece of the Hollywood baseball club. A 1,000-acre ranch, Paradise, which grows apples and things. A piece of the Bank of America.

Gloria Swanson, who is returning to the screen in "Father Takes a Wife," is a wealthy business woman. She owns a large share of the Brown Derby restaurants, a lot of real estate, and a New York firm, Multiprises, Inc., which finances and markets inventions.

James Ellison builds small homes for low rentals. He has six now and is expanding. The Talmadge apartments in Wilshire, built by Norma, have made a steady return for years. There's a Corinne Griffith building in Beverly Hills. Bing Crosby and Brother Everett own a building on the strip from which they operate a veritable financial empire. Harold Lloyd recently opened a bowling alley in Santa Monica. Reginald Denny operates a toy shop specializing in model airplanes and is angling for a government contract to use his ships as target planes.

Ranches, of course, catch many a cinema eye. Harry Carey's big place near Saugus pays dividends in sheep and alfalfa. Eugene Pallette has an immense cattle ranch in Oregon. Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Taylor, and Chico Marx are partners in the Marwyck ranch near Hidden valley, where they breed, raise, and board thorobreds. Tim Holt has a ranch for raising polo ponies. Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz have just bought a place at Northridge and intend to make it self-sustaining.

Mae West, about whom one hears so little now, has a big investment in apartment buildings, and so has Kay Francis. Spring Byington invents and markets labor-saving kitchen gadgets. Elizabeth Risdon owns a profitable kennel specializing in Welsh corgis, and Dennis O'Keefe raises Great Danes like mad.

Zasu Pitts operates a truck farm. Marjorie Rambeau and her wealthy husband, Francis Gudger, have a poultry farm. Adolphe Menjou has $50,000 tied up in stamps and says it's one of the safest investments.

Errol Flynn owns three large apartment houses, has a ranch stocked with blooded cattle and horses, and is a partner with Howard Hill in making one-reel sports films. He almost bought a 15,000-acre cattle ranch in Hawaii, but changed his mind at the last minute just recently. George Brent owns a lime grove near Indio, a market on Pico boulevard, a filling station, and a pineapple plantation in Hawaii. Donald Crisp, who acts as his own agent and manager, owns gold mines, oil wells, and much local real estate—and is the only actor on the board of the Bank of America.

May Robson builds small houses to sell. Priscilla and Rosemary Lane are exceptions; they want to own a movie theater in their home town, Indianola, Ia., and their mother will go there shortly to handle negotiations. Edward G. Robinson has tied up a sizable fortune in modern and 19th century art, and he thinks it's a wise investment.

Eddie Albert has one of the most unusual of businesses. He deals in shark livers. It seems that, with the country vitamin-crazy, a shark liver is almost priceless, because it's crammed with vitamins. Eddie has leased two 70-foot shark-fishing boats, operates them in Baja California water, and sells his catches to a refinery. Eddie also has two apartment houses and finances the making of two-reel travel and educational films for schools.

Director Mitchell Leisen owns a haberdashery at Sunset and Gower. He also operates a firm, Hollywood Presents, a stage and night club promotional outfit. Recently this firm had Billy Daniel, Mary Parker, and a line of six dancers at the Ambassador's Coconut Grove. Richard Arlen operates a flying school at Metropolitan airport and several air freight lines. Soon he will open a line which will fly fresh fish from Acapulco, Mexico, to Los Angeles.

Joel McCrea has a cattle and grain ranch.

Preston Sturges built a large drive-in and restaurant, the Players, on Sunset. Reported to have operated it at a loss for several months, he is now remaking it into a night club. Sturges is also backing a new Diesel engine, originally designed for marine work, which has been redesigned as an airplane motor. He says it can be built right into the leading edge of a plane's wing and will turn up 1,000 horsepower.

The Bing Crosby interests would take a chapter to list. His and Everett's corporation is involved in lumber preserves, mines, apartment houses, a large hunk of the successful Del Mar race track, a fish cannery in San Pedro, a horse breeding farm near San Diego, a piece of Decca records, a piece of a music publishing house, and a hunk of a talent agency.

And Chris-pin Martin, rotund Mexican comedian, also has a mine—El Gato, on Cerro Gato mountain, near Tucson, Ariz. A cousin far removed, an ancient Indian, gave it to him. Chris-pin doesn't think much of it, even tho the Indian said it was a lost Spanish mine for sure. But Chris-pin has literally hundreds of relatives, most of whom seem to need befriending. He decided to ship a few to the mine and let them dig for gold. Now they go there by the dozens—and they mine enough to pay for food and clothes and living quarters.

Director Archie Mayo has spent $32,000 on a chicken ranch housing 15,000 birds, sells thousands of eggs and about 1,000 chickens a week. When he decided to go into the poultry business he went to the agricultural department of the University of California and asked it to design and supervise construction of a model place. Richard Dix raises chickens, quail, cattle, and grain on 160 acres back of Beverly Hills. Randy Scott owns a large farm near Norfolk, Va. Sidney (Charlie Chan) Toler owns a golf driving range on Pico boulevard. Sen Young, who plays Sidney's son in the movies, has a share of a San Francisco night club.

Don Ameche owns a restaurant on Beverly boulevard near Highland. Alice Faye thought she had a bonanza in a streamlined dog wagon on Wilshire boulevard, but she bowed out of it a few weeks ago. Ben Carter, colored comedian, operates a colored actors' agency. Conrad Nagel has a market on Santa Monica boulevard. Chick Chandler, comedian, gets about $100 a month clear from a bee farm. Robert Young and Allan Jones are co-owners of a thriving rental stable in Beverly Hills. Charles Farrell, another silent star who kept his money, operates the swanky Racquet club in Palm Springs.

Loretta Young buys apartments and houses at auction, then turns them over to her mother, who redecorates them, and then they lease or sell. Mrs. Young also furnishes houses on a rental basis—a good venture in this country of floating population. Peter Lorre, the horror man, buys film and play rights. Shirley Temple, thru her parents, owns annuities, bonds, and land. Her father bought, developed, and sold much of a large tract immediately east of Twentieth Century-Fox, where Shirley used to work. Sonja Henie owns part of an ice show which ran all season in New York—and, of course, has her own ice show, which grosses $1,500,000 in 10 weeks each winter.

Laurel and Hardy owned a chicken ranch once, but apparently something was wrong. They had a sign up: "Eggs at Cost—$1.20 a Dozen."

Clark Gable and Carole Lombard have an orange grove on their place, but it netted only about $8 last season. Now they are shopping for a ranch in Oregon. Cesar Romero owns 1,600 acres near Flagstaff, Ariz., and intends to build a dude ranch. Jack Oakie owns a famous Afghan hound kennel. Joel McCrea and Frances Dee have a cattle and grain ranch on which they live in the valley. They expect to clear $5,000 on it this year. "Judy Garland, Flowers" is Judy's own florist's shop on Wilshire boulevard. Greta Garbo is reported to have invested much of her fortune in Stockholm real estate.

Bill Boyd owns a Los Angeles plant that makes a new kind of electric wrench which is quite important in the manufacture of tanks and other defense equipment. Noah Beery's fish hatchery near Saugus supplies many restaurants with trout. Bill Demarest owns a patent medicine company. Bill Hade raises mink. Susan Hayward and Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague) have an ice cream parlor. Jon Hall and Frances Langford, slightly traitorous, raise fruit in Florida. James Wong Howe, the photographer, has a thriving Chinese restaurant, Ching How's, on Ventura boulevard. Ann Rutherford inherited a cannery in Vancouver. Victor Fleming and Douglas Shearer have adjoining ranches near Bing Crosby's Rancho Santa Fe, and raise tomatoes.

PLAIN JANE becomes a GLAMOR GIRL

Dull . . . Drab . . . Color-Dimmed By Dulling Film Illustrates soap-washed hair. Soap forms clouding film ("bathtub ring")... which covers highlights, color, loveliness.

Sparkling Highlights . . . Glowing Color . . . Up to 33% More Lustre Illustrates hair shampooed with Drene. No dulling film—so hidden loveliness is revealed.

Coiffure by Stani Marc, St. Regis Hotel

CAN the kind of shampoo you use make that much difference in your loveliness? Yes, the right kind of shampoo brings out extra highlights in your hair . . . and those highlights emphasize your other points of beauty, make you more glamorous.

Drene Shampoo really brings out those extra highlights! Actually, scientific lustre-meter tests in our laboratory proved hair shampooed with Drene reveals up to 33% more lustre and color-brilliance than when washed with soap.

This is true because Drene's different patented cleansing agent does not combine with minerals in water—as all soaps do—to form a dulling film that hides the color and sparkle of your hair.

Drene safely super-cleanses your hair, completely removing grime, dirt, loose dandruff . . . and brings out its natural glowing color and hidden loveliness. Use Drene—so men will notice, women envy your lustrous, lovely, silky-smooth hair!

SPECIAL, for normal or dry hair. REGULAR, for oily hair.

Music by JOSEPH SHALIT

Chorus
HEN-NY PEN-NY, my black hen; she lays eggs for gen-tle-men.
Some-times nine and some-times ten. HEN-NY PEN-NY, my black hen. HEN-NY PEN-NY, my black pet, gets the oth-er hens up-set. She's got oomph and she's bru-nette, HEN-NY PEN-NY my black pet. Five eggs, six eggs, I re-mem ber sev-en. Nine eggs, ten eggs, once there came e-le-ven.
Get all set, ye gen-tle-men, to see my gen-tle set-ting hen. Look out! There she goes a-gain! HEN-NY PEN-NY, my black hen. my black hen.

LAWRENCE WELK

● Out at the Trianon ballroom Lawrence Welk and his champagne music, the Band of the Week, have been playing for you this sprightly little tune.

THE COMPOSERS

● The composer, JOSEPH SHALIT, was born in Minneapolis; studied under private teachers and also in the music department of the University of Minnesota. About five years ago he went to New York for a two weeks' visit. Mr. Shalit is still in New York. He tried for a fellowship in composition at the Juilliard school and won it. Two days later he was offered a job. He chose the job in place of the fellowship and has continued as an arranger and a piano teacher since that time.

● SYLVIA DEE, the author of the words, has been writing poetry since she was 5 years old. Her mother was a writer and her father a concert violinist with a regular post in the Rochester Symphony orchestra. Altho she writes under her maiden name, she is married and has a 2-year-old son.

COMING

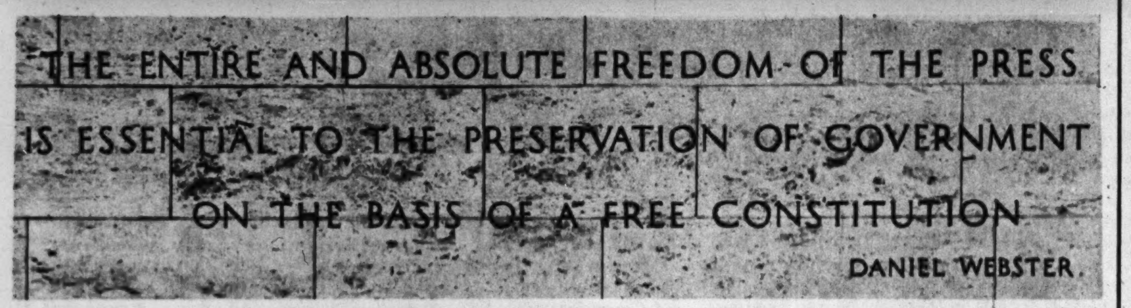
● Listen this week over W-G-N for "Just Quote Me," the next Song of the Week, played by handsome Bernie Cummins and his Band of the Week at the Aragon ballroom.

THE HALL OF INSCRIPTIONS IN TRIBUNE TOWER



THE ENTIRE AND ABSOLUTE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS IS ESSENTIAL TO THE PRESERVATION OF GOVERNMENT ON THE BASIS OF A FREE CONSTITUTION

DANIEL WEBSTER.

AMONG THE great men of history who have done much to defend and preserve the American form of government none perhaps is more conspicuous than Daniel Webster, celebrated New England statesman and orator. When he, in a speech in the United States senate on March 7, 1850, uttered the line reproduced above from an inscription in the Hall of Inscriptions of Tribune Tower, he was laying down a sound principle of liberty and democracy. No country can offer any appreciable degree of liberty to its people without its press being entirely and absolutely free.

Webster was born in Salisbury, N. H., Jan. 18, 1782. He was educated at Phillips academy and Dartmouth college, being graduated from the last-named institution in 1801. He read law in the office of Christopher Gore of Boston and was admitted to the bar in 1805, beginning his practice in this profession in Portsmouth, N. H. As a lawyer he developed into an eloquent speaker, his first notable triumph in court being in connection with a famous murder case. His most celebrated plea before the federal Supreme court was made in behalf of Dartmouth, his alma mater. Chief Justice Marshall is said to have shed tears as he listened to this plea.

From 1813 to 1817 Webster served as a member of the national house of representatives. During this time he bitterly opposed the war with Great Britain. From 1817 to 1823 Webster was out of politics, but in this period he was constantly adding to his reputation as an orator. His addresses at the bicentennial celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, at the 50th anniversary celebration of the battle of Bunker Hill, and on other occasions have come to be regarded as classics.

In 1823 Webster returned to the house of representatives, and in 1827 he became a United States senator. In 1830, in a relatively minor debate in the senate on the subject of public lands, New England was assailed by senators from the south. Webster's reply to Senator Robert Y. Hayne of South Carolina on this occasion, a glorification of the Union, is said to have done more to unify the country than any single utterance by any man.

Webster's term in the senate ended in 1837. He served as secretary of state from 1841 to 1843, first under President William Henry Harrison and then under President Tyler. Back to the senate he went in 1845. He opposed the war with Mexico and defended the compromises that staved off for 10 years or so the war between the north and the south over the question of slavery. He again became secretary of state when Fillmore was elected President, serving from 1850 to his death on Oct. 24, 1852.

WALK AWAY YOUR CORNS

IF YOU suffer from corns, you should know about Blue-Jay Corn Plasters, a sensible, easy-to-use treatment that helps relieve pain quickly—remove corns. Corns are caused by pressure and friction and home paring just affects the surface. But Blue-Jay does more. First the felt pad lifts off pressure to help relieve pain. Then while you walk in comfort the Blue-Jay medication gently loosens the corn so in a few days it may be easily removed—including the pain-producing "core"! (Stubborn cases may require more than one application.)

Blue-Jay Corn Plasters cost very little, only a few cents to treat each corn, at all drug counters.

THAT NORTH SHORE MYTH

BACK EAST, long before we ever dreamed of living anywhere else, we always heard the north shore mentioned by expatriated midwesterners from these Lake Michigan shores with a respect so deep that it bordered upon awe.

According to them it was the seat of midwest culture, aristocracy, beauty, wealth, and hospitality—every attribute that could make a place of residence this side of paradise supremely habitable and desirable.

I realize that we are not beautiful, but I'm equally sure that we are not repulsive; we use the correct fork at dinner parties; we don't gargle our soup; we take daily baths; we don't lisp; we dress conservatively; I don't dye my hair, neither does my husband wear a toupee.

We speak the king's English, have traveled abroad a good many times, read all the late books that are recommended by able critics, subscribe to the best magazines, aren't penurious, and bend backward in our endeavor to repay any social obligations we have incurred.

We play bridge and poker without quarreling, and don't gripe when we lose; we dance and play golf well enough to get by with people who don't claim to be experts, and we have a sense of humor. I've had the same cook and housemaid for a good many years, which proves that I am not too difficult to get along with. Yet I would fervently ask:

"What is the matter with us?"

• • •

We have joined four golf and country clubs, and been treated by the old members as tho we were suffering from some contagious disease; not while they were angling for our membership fee, but afterward.

We have entertained countless natives of this refined soil, made a special effort to have them meet our local acquaintances or out-of-town friends they might enjoy, but seldom are we introduced by the old-timers to their intimates.

On the rare occasions that we are invited to their homes, possibly a dull couple or two are hauled in at the last minute to fill a bridge table, but more often than not we sit alone thruout the meal and evening, listening to the oft-repeated tales of our host and hostess.

Is the exertion involved in having more than two people at a time too much of a strain? Or aren't we considered eligible for the honor of being introduced to their friends? Or did our hosts come from homes where entertaining was such an ordeal that they never have been able to rid themselves of the shackles of this early training?

This last may be the answer, because I am constantly hearing the chant, "They owe me or I owe them," and the careful checkup concerning these obligations never fails to amuse me.

Back east I knew at least 50 homes within a radius of a few miles, some on great estates, some magnificent old ancestral mansions and some just unpretentious little cottages. But if I should appear suddenly at a meal time, and if there were no servant, or the one servant or staff gone for the day, I still would be welcome.

We don't know half a dozen homes here, after all of these years, where we could drop in casually and unannounced and not feel de trop.

In my early days here, and in my initial loneliness, I, as well as several of my misguided eastern friends, identified ourselves with various clubs, churches, and charity leagues.

I'll confess we weren't overwhelmed with charitable impulses; we were more anxious for a few social contacts.

Where there were dues they were eagerly collected, and when there was work to do it was piled on; but, eastern strangers entering these gates for the first time, don't fool yourselves for one instant into believing that any of these exertions will improve your status.

The female intelligentsia on the north shore, who claim breeding, go thru about the same motions as their eastern sisters—hair sets, permanents, bridge, matinées, cocktail parties, dinners, book reviews, and an occasional opera, as a concession to culture. Probably there is a little more interest displayed here in beating the law by hanging around bookie joints.

Another curious thing I've discovered during my long and innocuous sojourn here is a complex that north shore matrons seem to possess en masse—one that almost borders on a mania. They must always be dated up. Call them on the telephone and suggest entertainment of any sort and an ominous silence ensues. That means they are busily thumbing over the well worn desk calendar, silently informing you that they are so rushed and popular that if you catch them with a free moment you are fortunate beyond your deserts.

Half of the time these heavy dates prove to be white elephant sales, charity bridge conclaves, fashion shows in some store or hotel, book reviews, or bookie appointments—places any one can go if she brings her pocketbook.

A parting word to strangers entering for the first time these sacred precincts that you have heard so much exploited. Don't take it all too seriously.

Don't rob the butcher, baker, and candlestick maker trying to play this silly, tiresome game. Gather up a few pals that speak your language, regardless of their financial status or social claims, and, as often as you can, flit back to Jersey, Long Island, or Westchester and warm your toes.

MIXING BOWL MORSELS

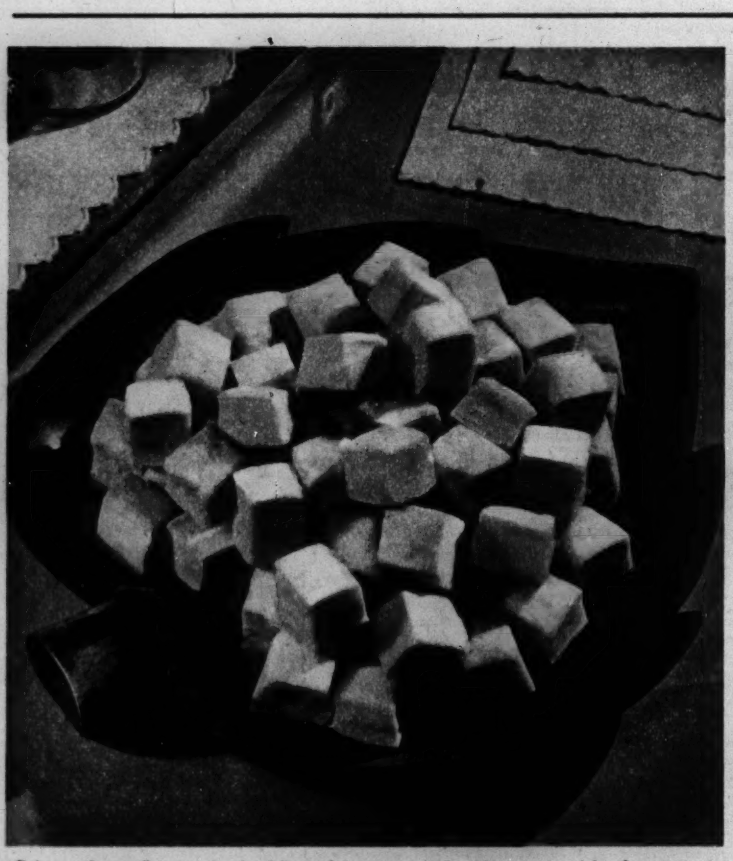
By MARY MEADE



Crisp, sharp-flavored cheddar cheese pastries belong with the tomato juice, soup, or salad.

CHEESE PASTRIES, little nippy cubes to go with the tomato juice, soup, or salad, are delicious morsels which a cook may prepare the day before she wants to use them (if she can trust herself and family to let them alone). They will keep well in a tin or crockery container.

CHEESE PASTRIES

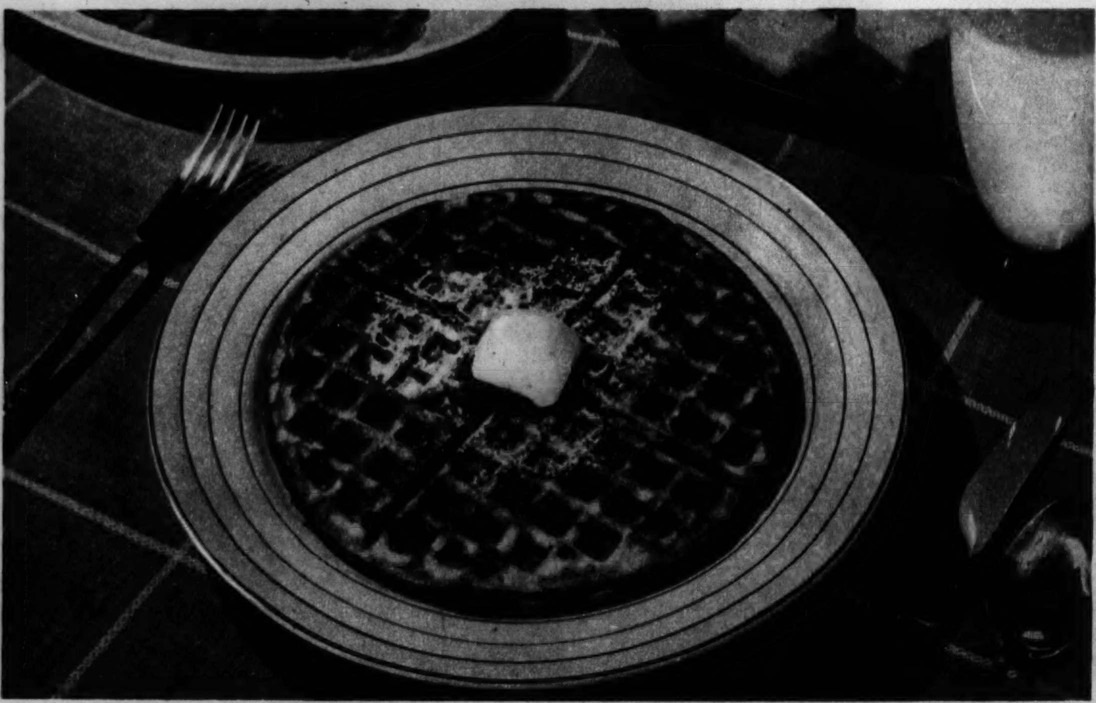
- ⅔ cup sharp cheddar cheese, cut fine or grated
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon red pepper

Mix cheese and shortening thoroly. Work in flour sifted with salt and pepper. Add no water. The mixture will be crumbly. Place in wax paper and chill for several hours. Roll to a half inch in thickness, folding crumbs over and over until cheese mixture is firm. Cut into ¾-inch squares. Bake on a cookie sheet at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.



Crushed pineapple, a whole cup of it, makes this waffle recipe an unusually good one.

Another delicacy produced by the mixing bowl is the pineapple waffle. Plain sirup, honey, maple or pineapple sirup, and plenty of butter make them a luncheon or breakfast treat.

PINEAPPLE WAFFLES
(About 10)

- 3 cups flour
- 4½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ cup pineapple juice
- ½ cup melted butter
- 1 cup drained crushed pineapple

Sift flour with baking powder, salt, and sugar. Beat egg yolks until light and stir in milk, pineapple juice, and melted butter. Add flour mixture all at once and stir until blended. Stir in pineapple. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter lightly but thoroly. Allowing ½ cup of batter for each waffle, bake in hot iron until crisp and brown. Serve with butter and sirup.

Squaw corn is an old favorite campfire dish, but it's just as savory baked in a casserole and served to the family at home.

SQUAW CORN
(Five servings)

- ½ pound bacon
- ½ cup sliced onion
- 2½ cups whole kernel corn (1 No. 2 can)
- 2½ cups cream style corn (1 No. 2 can)
- 1 egg
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Parsley

Leave three whole strips of bacon for the casserole top. Cut remainder into small pieces and fry a golden brown. Remove to brown paper. Fry onions in bacon fat until brown. Place corn, beaten egg, salt, and onion in a greased 1½-quart baking dish. Add bacon and two tablespoons bacon fat. Mix ingredients. Place remaining bacon strips over the top of the casserole. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes. Garnish with parsley.

Here's an oven version of an old favorite campfire hash—it's called squaw corn.

Match Your Handwriting with the Movie Stars'

By SHIRLEY SPENCER
(Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.)

THE IDEA that one can tell the sex of a writer from the handwriting is based on the old illusion that women generally are not as brainy as men and therefore that women's handwriting doesn't show intelligence and force. I don't need to go very far to prove that plenty of woman have brains and personality, and in choosing Marlene Dietrich as an example we find the increasingly common combination of beauty, brains, and a forceful personality.

First note that the letter formations are very angular. See the sharp points on them? There isn't anything soft in this script. The mind is shrewd and keen. The intelligence is not clouded by sentimentality.

Now look at the signature. It is illegible, but is the illegibility which comes from rapid mental processes and shows a highly developed mind which has taken many short cuts to decisions. There is a decisiveness here that one would expect from a shrewd executive. Look at that long stroke which joins her first and last name and also at the stroke of the last loop of the "M"—that's a picture of a combative and tenacious will and a fighting spirit.

The increase of pressure on the down strokes indicates her stubborn determination to satisfy her desires and ambitions. The tall first stroke on the "M" is her independence, and all those hooks on her letters are ample proof that when she digs in "for the duration" nothing can budge her. She knows what she wants, and she intends to get it if it is at all humanly possible, and she doesn't care whether or not you approve, and she has no intention of letting you get in the way of her forward march to what she wants when she wants it. The difference between the signature and the body of the writing shows she has cleverly developed a dramatic expression of temperament.

May this sample of my handwriting interest you.

|---|---|
| 1 pound ground beef | 4 slices bread |
| 1 egg | ¼ cup water |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 2 tablespoons shortening |
| 3 tablespoons grated onion | 2 tablespoons flour |
| 2 teaspoons Lea & Perrins Sauce | 1 cup milk |

Combine meat, egg, salt, onion and Lea & Perrins Sauce. Toast bread slowly until dry and brown. Break in small pieces; add water to toast. Combine softened toast with meat mixture. Shape into small balls and brown in hot shortening. Remove meat balls from pan. Add flour, stir until smooth, then gradually add milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Place meat balls in gravy, cover and simmer about 15 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

The humble meat-ball calls for rounds of applause when served up in this delicious disguise. Credit Lea & Perrins Sauce with the elusive and oh-so-satisfying flavor.

FLAKY, TENDER PIES?
Try "SURE-MIX" CRISCO—it's different!

Have you ever envied other women's flaky-light pastry? Just do as so many wonderful pie-makers do... Use New "Sure-Mix" Crisco. A patented discovery makes it different from any other home shortening we know of! Try New Crisco today—and let the pastry lesson below lead you every step of the way to pie success!

SUCH FLAKY PASTRY! "WHAT A DIFFERENCE IN MY PIES! WITH NEW 'SURE-MIX' CRISCO THEY'RE PERFECT—SO FLAKY. MY FAMILY IS THRILLED." Mrs. Hazel M. Mayfield of San Francisco
TASTES SWELL! "THE PIE CRUST TASTES AS GOOD AS THE INSIDES NOW—IT'S DE-LICIOUS!" said Marilyn Manson of Boston, Mass., when her mother made pie with New Crisco

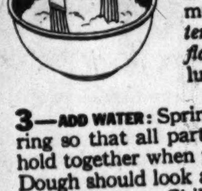
Scared to make pie crust? Don't be that way!
Clip this recipe—it explains every step to flaky, tender pastry
... the kind women who change to New Crisco rave about!

GOOD OLD APPLE PIE

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup Crisco
3 to 4 tablespoons water

1—SIFT FLOUR—measure 2 cups; sift again with salt. Measure Crisco. (Easy way to measure Crisco: Fill measuring cup ⅓ full of cold water. Put Crisco in cup, adding until water reaches "1-cup" line. Pour off water.)

2—CUT CRISCO INTO FLOUR: With 2 knives, one in each hand, use a criss-cross motion (or use a wide-tined fork or pastry blender). Continue until your Crisco-flour mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. (Note: This makes a tender pie crust. If you want a flakier crust, cut Crisco into lumps as big as small peas.)

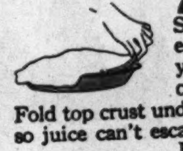


3—ADD WATER: Sprinkle on a little at a time, stirring so that all parts get evenly moistened and hold together when pressed into a ball. Caution: Dough should look a trifle crumbly—don't let it get sticky-wet. Chill the dough 15 minutes before rolling it out.

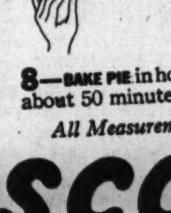
4—ROLL OUT DOUGH: (A pastry canvas and a knitted rolling-pin cover make rolling out easier!) Flour board and rolling-pin lightly. Place dough on board; flatten it a bit with rolling-pin; cut in half; roll out one piece into circle a little larger than pie plate and ⅛ inch thick. (Watch that dough! Don't let it stick. If it should stick, loosen with spatula and re-flour board.)

5—TRANSFER TO PIE PLATE. When dough is folded in half it is easy to transfer. Press down gently against bottom and sides of plate; don't stretch dough. Trim dough close to edge of plate.

6—AND HERE'S THE FILLING FOR YOUR PIE...
6 apples, peeled and cut in eighths
⅓ cup white sugar and ⅓ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg
Combine above ingredients (the brown sugar adds richer flavor)—arrange in bottom crust so that apples are tightly packed, and fill plate to the rim. In this way an empty space won't form between crust and filling. Dot top with butter.



7—ROLL OUT TOP CRUST as in Step 4—but roll circle big enough to extend an inch beyond rim of plate. Place lightly over apples. Trim ragged edges. Fold top crust under lower crust and tuck under so juice can't escape. Flute edges with fingers. Place thumb and first finger of left hand on outside edge of pie. With first finger of right hand press dough between other fingers—this gives you a crinkled edge. Gash the top crust so that steam can escape.



8—BAKE PIE in hot oven (400°F.) about 50 minutes.

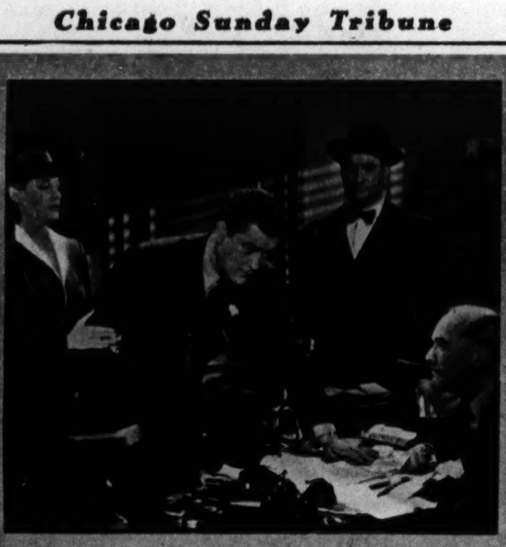
GRAPHIC LITTLE THEATER PRESENTS 'Affectionately Yours'

WITH Merle Oberon, Dennis Morgan, Rita Hayworth

1 Rickey Mayberry (Dennis Morgan) is having a gay time as foreign correspondent in Lisbon. To his photographer (George Tobias) he says. "O.K., Pasha, get the angle on the angel."

2 Also in Lisbon is Irene Malcolm (Rita Hayworth). "Darling," whispers Rickey, "I'd like to marry you, but Mrs. Mayberry is still waiting hopefully in New York. It sort of complicates things."



3 But Sue Mayberry isn't waiting. Rickey learns she has divorced him and hastens back to America. With him go Irene and Pasha. Rickey's editor (Jimmy Gleason) storms at him: "You deserted your post, you so-and-so. You're fired!"

5 The net result of this cockeyed courtship is Sue's cold. In their old apartment Rickey is doctoring her when Owen Wright, Sue's intended bridegroom (Ralph Bellamy), walks in. "Get out of here, you . . . you . . . tramp reporter!" he shouts.

Simple Test Reveals Dishwashing Miracle No Soap Can Duplicate

dreft
marvelous suds discovery

TO see the miracle of Dreft with your own eyes . . . to know why this remarkable suds discovery is changing the dishwashing habits of particular housewives throughout the country . . . make this simple test tonight:

Wash a glass with the soap you now use. Then wash another one with Dreft suds. Rinse both glasses—and let them dry by themselves. When dry—hold the glasses up to the light. This is what you'll see:

Because your water is hard, the glass you washed with soap will be coated with a dull, grayish film of hard-water scum. But not the one washed with Dreft—not even if your water is hard as a rock! This glass will sparkle with crystal-like brilliance—so lustrously clean and shining bright, you'll agree there's no point in wiping it! And, of course, it's bound to be more sanitary than when dried with a towel!

Unlike Any Soap You Ever Used!

How does Dreft accomplish this miracle of bringing glasses and dishes sparkling like jewels without wiping—and so, cutting your work in half?

The answer is Dreft offers advantages no soap can claim! In fact, Dreft is so completely different from any soap ever made, it's been granted patents by the Government! And this is what Dreft's advantages mean to you:

(1) MORE SUDS IN HARDEST WATER! Actually 5 times more suds than any soap! Light, active suds that seem to dissolve and chase grease like magic! Heaps and heaps of suds that account for Dreft's amazing dishwashing economy in your hard water.

(2) INSTANT SUDS—even in cool water! Dreft makes suds faster than any soap you ever used!

(3) SUDS THAT NEVER FORM "SCUM"—even in water hard as a rock! Not a trace of clinging, grayish film! Glasses and dishes dry bright as sunbeams—without wiping! Dishwashing work is cut in half!

(4) COMPLETELY NON-ALKALINE SUDS! The first non-alkaline suds. Not a trace of alkali—so often the cause of rough, red hands!

Obviously, switching to Dreft suds means far more than merely using another new dishwashing suds. It means you can start cutting your dishwashing work in half—and end countless hours of unnecessary drudgery! Try it—and see! Look for Dreft suds in the smart green package at your dealer's. Procter & Gamble dreft is different!

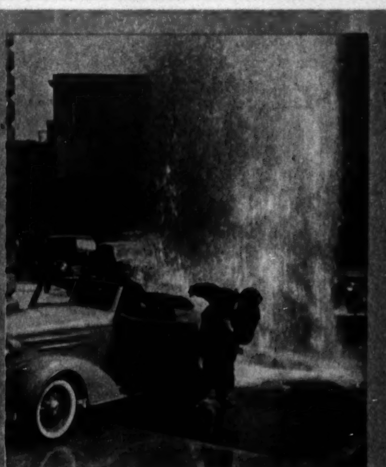
So different, its advantages can't be duplicated by any soap!

Sniffles or no, Sue settles the controversy temporarily. "I'll get you a date, Rickey, and we'll have fun." But Irene discovers Sue has hired homely girl for Rickey's date. She substitutes herself, pretending not to know Rickey.

8 When Wright shows a sudden interest in her, Irene senses a chance to stiffen Sue's determination to marry him and leave Irene free to get Rickey. "I feel like an intruder, Mr. Wright," she coos, "but would you mind driving me home? It's right on your way." Wright beams his delight.

9 Left alone, and a little bewildered, Sue and Rickey have a heart-to-heart talk. "I do love you, Rickey darling. You're fun and you're nice—but so doggone undependable. Owen is some one I can count on."

10 To make sure Sue's wedding comes off, Irene connives with Rickey's editor to kidnap him until after the ceremony. "Easy, lug," says the gunman. "Be a good boy and you'll still be pretty when you get out."



11 So Rickey slugs him. Escaping, he intentionally rams his car into a fire plug. "Pasha," he yells, "stop that wedding. I'm taking a cab to the hospital. Bring Sue there!"

12 At his bedside Sue cries. "O, Rickey darling, you're . . ." And as Rickey winks at her she finishes with an exasperated sigh: "You're the same adorable faker I'll always love. Would you by any chance care to marry me?"

Even our landlord couldn't resist this Spry FULL FLAVOR Cocoa Cream Cake

MAKE ONE TODAY!

OUR HOUSE needed painting. But the landlord said NO. Then one night he called when we were finishing dinner and I made him sit down and sample my Cocoa Cream Cake. Boy, did it make a hit! But that's not surprising. Just show me the man who isn't crazy about Spry FULL FLAVOR cakes.

"WISH MY WIFE could make cake like this!" he sighed. "Gosh, what swell chocolaty flavor!" "It's made with Spry," I told him, "and Spry doesn't 'smother' flavor the way ordinary shortenings may. I'll send your wife the recipe if you want. And now, you must have another piece!" He did and before it was finished, he up and offered to paint the house!

So tender, delicate, moist—and purer Spry lets you get the FULL rich chocolaty flavor

DON'T risk losing some of the deliciousness of this wonderful cake by making it with ordinary shortenings that may "dull" flavor. Be sure to use Spry, the flavor saver. Spry's purer, stays fresh longer, creams so easily. Three extra advantages and only Spry gives all three. Change to Spry today for all your baking and frying.

COCOA CREAM CAKE

⅔ cup Spry
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup cocoa
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sour cream

Blend Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream well. (Isn't it easy with triple-creamed Spry!) Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Sift baking powder, soda and cocoa with flour 3 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with sour cream, mixing after each addition until smooth. Bake in two 8-inch Sprycoated layer pans in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Spread Cocoa Cream Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

COCOA CREAM FROSTING

2 tablespoons Spry
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cocoa
2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
6 tablespoons scalded cream (about)

Blend Spry, butter, vanilla and salt. Sift cocoa with confectioners' sugar. Beat in ⅓ cup sugar-cocoa mixture. Add hot cream, alternately with remaining sugar mixture, beating well after each addition. Add only enough cream to make a nice spreading consistency. A marvelous frosting, so luscious and chocolaty, so smooth and creamy! You'll want to make it again and again. But always use Spry to be sure of best results.

The Setter—A Popular Breed with a Past

WHEN ANY dog fancier launches a discussion of the English setter, one of the most beautiful breeds ever developed in any country, he isn't at all concerned about the fact that not even the oldest authorities on the breed can agree about how the setter originated.

The points about the English setter that have a great interest for most fanciers are its beauty, its ability to hunt upland game, and its mild, gentle disposition. An intelligent, lovable, and handsome dog, the English setter has endeared itself to all classes of dog fanciers from the sportsman to the average owner who wants an affectionate companion dog.

There is nothing surprising about this appeal of the setter—at least not to those who know and own English setters, for if any sporting breed has the qualities to make it popular the English setter is the one. Satisfactory as a well mannered companion in the home, fond of children, affectionate and smart, this good looking breed can look forward to a sound future, because it's in good hands.

Probably the most confusing thing about the English setter to the average dog owner is the Llewellyn versus English setter controversy. Today not a few sportsmen believe that the Llewellyn is a breed entirely different from the English setter. Such is not the case, of course.

There is only one breed known as the English setter. All Llewellyns are English setters. The term Llewellyn (coined in this country) is used to identify a strain of English setters developed by an Englishman of that name. He made some highly successful crosses in his kennel. The dogs produced did a great job in field trials. American setter fanciers began to import dogs from this kennel, and thus the line of breeding became firmly established in the United States of America.

Gradually and inevitably setter owners called these dogs (out of this English strain) Llewellyns. The strain was given much publicity, so before long some dog owners began to think that the Llewellyn wasn't an English setter at all.

Authorities on sporting breeds have compiled evidence to show that the English setter was a trained bird dog in England about 400 years ago. It seems likely that the earliest dogs taught to crouch or set game were some of the older land spaniels that had their origin in Spain. Youatt in 1857 offered this theory of the origin of the setter when he said that the setter "evidently was a larger spaniel improved to its peculiar size and beauty and taught another way of marking his game, viz., by setting or crouching." Drawings of spaniels and setters made in 1582 show that the two breeds were quite different in appearance even that early in dog history, for the spaniels had their tails docked (as they have today), while the tails of setters were left as nature intended them.

We have examined some of the old drawings of setters. This old setter-spaniel was a very handsome animal. The coats of the dogs were almost as beautiful as those of the modern setter. One picture in particular impressed us. It showed that the early setter had a very curly coat, with much curly hair around the thighs.

English setters come in a number of different colors and combinations. The standard of the breed specifies that the colors may be black, white, or tan; black and white; blue belton; lemon and white; lemon belton; orange and white; orange belton, liver and white; liver belton, and solid white.

Destructive Termites Have Complex Social Order

Photomicrographs of termites by Leon Keinigsberg, Chicago.

THE INSECTS shown in the accompanying illustrations are termites, commonly called white ants. They differ fundamentally from true ants, however, and, altho usually of pale appearance, rarely are white in color. They are members of the zoölogical order Isoptera and are represented by more than 1,200 species, the majority of which are found in the tropics. Only two species are common in Europe, but nearly 40 species occur in the United States.

Among laymen, and particularly from the viewpoint of economics, chief interest in termites centers in their appalling destructiveness. Among naturalists, on the other hand, these insects are highly interesting because of their amazingly developed social instincts. Like the bees and the true ants, the termites live in huge colonies. Moreover, as with the ants and the bees, there has evolved among the termites a caste system, each caste being represented by individuals markedly different from those of other castes.

A termite colony commonly is constituted of representatives of five distinct castes. The first caste is made up of the primary king and queen, whose sole purpose is reproduction. Insects of this group have fully developed eyes and fully developed wings, the last named being shed after the swarming flight to a new home. Unlike true ants, the males of which die after mating, the king and queen termites mate for life, some living as long as 20 years. These representatives of the primary caste do not feed themselves, depending upon the workers of the colony to take care of their wants in this respect.

Among North American species of termites the body of the queen is only slightly enlarged when filled with eggs, but among tropical species the queen swells to relatively great size (three or four inches in length) when ready to deposit her eggs. The termite queen can lay as many as 75,000 eggs in 24 hours. Since these queens have egg-laying careers of 10 to 20 years, it is no wonder that their colonies become great in size. Nests made by the colonies in tropical countries sometimes attain a height of 20 feet.

Making up the second caste are the substitute kings and queens, which possess only rudimentary wings. The sole purpose of these is to take the place of the primary kings and queens should the parent insects of the colony perish. In representatives of this caste the brain, eyes, and reproductive organs are somewhat smaller than those of the first caste. Each colony contains a number of the substitute kings and queens.

The third caste of the termite colony is represented by fertile specimens that are not so fully developed as the second caste. Their brains and reproductive organs are smaller than those of the second group, and they possess no traces of wings.

In the fourth caste are the workers. These are sterile. their brains are small in comparison with those of the fertile groups, and the eyes are vestigial or absent. Their heads and mouth parts are not well developed. The workers are the most numerous of the colony, and, as their name implies, they do all the labor.

Soldier termites constitute the fifth caste. They possess large heads, but the brains are small and the eyes vestigial. The mandibles are very large and projecting, varying in form in different species. There are males and females in this caste, and altho their powers of reproduction are poor, it is said that among primitive species the female soldiers sometimes lay eggs. Generally speaking, however, the soldiers are classified among the sterile groups. The business of the soldier termites is to defend the colony. That is the reason for their large armored heads and pincer-like mandibles.

In a few groups of termites there is a sixth caste made up of special soldiers called the nasutus, after the term nasute, which means, zoölogically speaking, with sheathed nostrils. In this caste the individuals have relatively small mandibles and the heads are retort-shaped. Instead of fighting with their mandible these soldiers, as a means of defense, eject thru their elongated snouts a fluid that other insects, especially ants, find objectionable.

• • •

Termites, distinguishable from ants by the absence of any constriction or "waist" where the abdomen joins with the thorax, are of vast economic importance because their chief food is cellulose. In other words, what is one of man's most important building materials is the termite's food. Not only do these insects damage or destroy wooden buildings to the value of many millions of dollars annually, but they injure or destroy trees, crops, and stored goods of a cellulose nature.

Termites, for example, may start a colony in the basement of a house, completely eat away the inside of a beam, work their way thru the boards of a floor into the legs of chairs and tables, devour the insides of the woodwork of a bookcase, and finally eat the paper of the books within it. They may do all this and still leave standing the shells of the beam, the furniture, and the books, with nothing to indicate that these have been ruined from within. Chairs that have been attacked by termites have collapsed suddenly when sat upon. Whole buildings have crumbled into dust after inroads by termites.

In regions infested with termites various chemical solutions are used in treating lumber to be used for building purposes. These chemical solutions usually contain a large amount of creosote, which repels the insects. Wooden cellar supports that come in contact with the ground frequently are coated with cement to protect them.

The Setter—A Popular Breed with a Past

WHEN ANY dog fancier launches a discussion of the English setter, one of the most beautiful breeds ever developed in any country, he isn't at all concerned about the fact that not even the oldest authorities on the breed can agree about how the setter originated.

The points about the English setter that have a great interest for most fanciers are its beauty, its ability to hunt upland game, and its mild, gentle disposition. An intelligent, lovable, and handsome dog, the English setter has endeared itself to all classes of dog fanciers from the sportsman to the average owner who wants an affectionate companion dog.

There is nothing surprising about this appeal of the setter—at least not to those who know and own English setters, for if any sporting breed has the qualities to make it popular the English setter is the one. Satisfactory as a well mannered companion in the home, fond of children, affectionate and smart, this good looking breed can look forward to a sound future, because it's in good hands.

Probably the most confusing thing about the English setter to the average dog owner is the Llewellyn versus English setter controversy. Today not a few sportsmen believe that the Llewellyn is a breed entirely different from the English setter. Such is not the case, of course.

AIR CORPS STEPS UP TESTING PROGRAM

By WAYNE THOMIS

ALONG with other branches of the army air corps, the flight test and material section at Wright field, Dayton, O., is enjoying a field day. For the first time in the history of the air corps there is plenty of money for procuring every bit of testing equipment that engineers may devise. Wright field long has needed a huge appropriation to bring this important nerve center of the nation's air arm to modern standards both as regards laboratories and the living quarters of its personnel.

Four hundred thousand dollars is being spent in the engine testing section, where new stands and instrument rooms are being established that will stay abreast of power developments for the next 10 years—in all probability. These new stands are engineered to contain and test satisfactorily engines that will deliver as great as 8,000 horsepower in a single unit. This is four times as much power as the largest and newest aircraft motors of today can produce, and at this time, when a 1,000-horsepower motor still seems large, the erection of engine test stands for 8,000-horsepower motors seems almost fantastic.

• • •

But the experience of the past rejects this valuation. Aviation still is a young science. The Wright brothers' engine at Kittyhawk, N. C., in 1903, when the first heavier-than-air plane was flown, produced only 12 horsepower. From that meager unit motors already are developing 2,000 horsepower, and several of the nation's largest manufacturers are working on 4,200-horsepower engines. Specifically, Wright Aeronautical is doing the preliminary cylinder testing on a radial engine that will be six rows deep, with each row seven cylinders in a radial form. This will be a 42-cylinder motor that will give at least 100 horsepower per cylinder for takeoff.

We quote from the air corps announcement concerning the test stands: "By 1936 engines producing 1,100 horsepower had been accepted. Soon they became standard equipment on most military tactical planes and on the nation's big air liners. Present-day developments are along two lines, the radial air-cooled type and the liquid-cooled type.

"The liquid-cooled engine made a come-back after ethylene glycol (Prestone and its equivalents) was introduced as a cooling medium, taking the place of water. Not only was the new coolant far more efficient than water, but it permitted a reduction of radiator area amounting to almost 50 per cent.

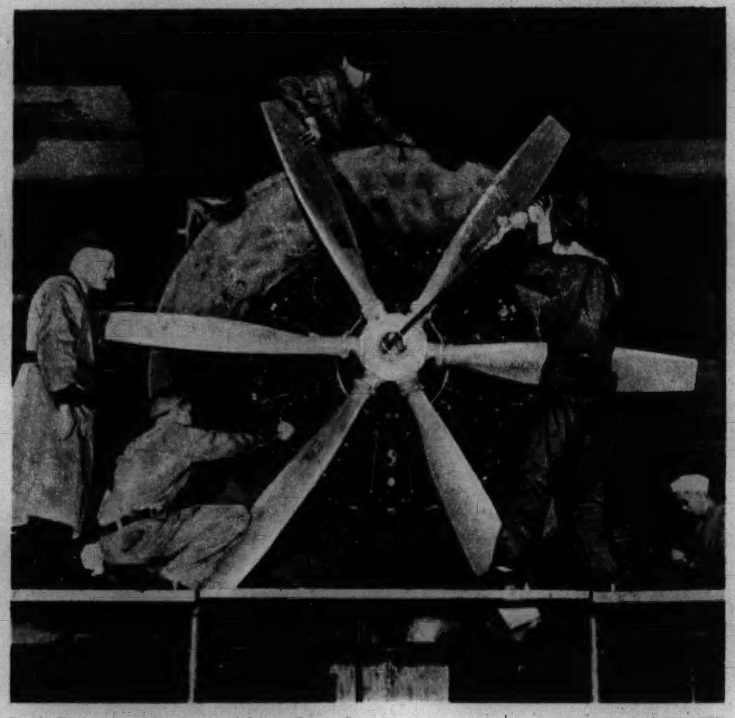
Engineers checking dynamometers to determine exhaust and fuel performances of airplane engine.



Installing an engine with stub-end test propellers for endurance run on torque stand.

"Huge frontal areas of the air-cooled motors seriously interfered with clean aerodynamic design, whereas the liquid-cooled engines had far less frontal area to buck the air stream.

"Today, faced with this new competition from an old rival, the air-cooled engine manufacturers are redesigning their engines to meet the challenge. And now the newest air-cooled radial engines provide a diameter not far out of line with the diameters of liquid-cooled engines of comparable horsepower."

All this rivalry, with the swift development of brute power thru the expenditure of vast sums of money upon armament, means that the air corps must be prepared to test any sort of monster power unit that can now be created. Thus the decision of the Wright field engineers to prepare their new test stands for 8,000-horsepower units.

The heart of any engine testing stand is the recording room, where fuel flow readings, pressures in the intake and exhaust manifolds of the motor, temperatures of oil at entrance and exit from the motor, temperatures of cylinder heads and bases, and a thousand other readings can be taken. These literally allow engineers to look inside a huge motor and know exactly what is happening inside its cylinder walls, its firing chambers.

The tests themselves take many forms—endurance, power, and other factors are determined by separate kinds of testing—all of which, however, require the motor under consideration to be run on the test block.

• • •

In an endurance run motors are placed on mounts similar to those of an airplane and then run at full throttle for long periods of time. In a power test the motor is set up on a block and the crankshaft where a propeller would ordinarily be connected is bolted to a dynamometer. This is a huge brake which when turned by the engine records automatically the power delivered. It is the one way satisfactorily to determine just how much power the engine will deliver to the propeller.

For these various tests standardized conditions are required. Air density is controled, as is the humidity or water vapor proportion. Oil temperatures are maintained within predetermined limits by huge cooling radiators, and the electrical spark transmitted to the engine is varied to suit the engineer's wishes.

England, Germany, France, and Russia all possessed several new and up-to-date laboratories for testing their military engines before the European war began. Since then both Germany and England have expanded their testing centers enormously. It is high time that our own centers received the financial support they so badly need, and it is an indication of foresight that the air corps is using some of its money today to provide the laboratory equipment it will need badly in the future.

KNOW YOUR CAMERA

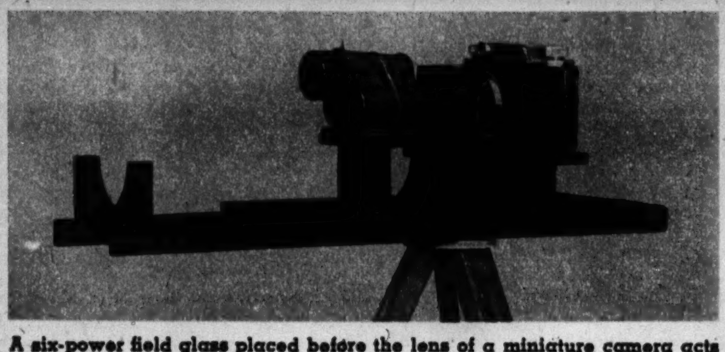
By ANDREW B. HECHT, Ph.D. Managing Editor, Popular Photography Magazine



A six-power field glass placed before the lens of a miniature camera acts as a telephoto lens, giving a six-diameter magnification. The axis of the camera lens and the field glass must be lined up carefully.

You Can Devise Your Own Telephoto Lens

YOU CAN take telephoto pictures with your present camera even if you don't want to spend the considerable amount a telephoto lens costs. All you need is an opera glass or a small telescope which you may have around the house, can borrow from a friend, or can purchase for less money than the cheapest telephoto lens.

Telephoto lenses—or their substitutes—enable you to take pictures of distant objects in such a manner that you can get a large image on your negative, showing good detail of the subject photographed. There are many uses for such a lens. When taking landscapes, a distant mountain you want to snap may show up only very small in your picture, but with a tele photo lens it will occupy the dominant position you want to give it. With such a lens you can take closeups of sports events even if you sit far away from the action; you can photograph shy animals; can get pictures of inaccessible architectural detail; can make candid shots of people from a considerable distance, and can take many other type of pictures impossible to snap with your ordinary camera lens.

• • •

It is true that in many cases you can enlarge just a section of the negative taken with the ordinary lens and get the effect of a closeup. But beyond a certain limit enlargements begin to get fuzzy and lose detail. Telephoto shots will give you larger images at the start.

There are two ways in which you can increase the size of the image on your film. One is by going nearer to your subject and using a portrait attachment which cuts down the focal length of your lens so that you can get sharp focus at close range. The other is to employ a telephoto lens, which increases the image size without the necessity of moving the camera closer to the subject. This effect is based on the fact that lenses of larger focal length give larger images.

You can increase the focal length of your lens by placing an opera glass or telescope in front of it. By doing this you give your camera a new optical system. All you have to do is follow a simple procedure and you will get good results.

First set your camera at infinity and open the diaphragm of your lens to the largest stop. Then take the telescope or opera glass and focus it from the camera position on the object you want to photograph. Focus as sharply as you can. Next place the telescope or one of the eyepieces of the opera glass directly in front of the camera lens and you are practically ready to shoot.

But there are a few minor questions you have to solve before you can make an exposure. You must devise a support for the telescope so that its axis will be in line with the axis of the camera lens. This can be done by mounting both the camera and the telescope on a board, using props and string to keep the telescope in place. After this is accomplished you must join the eyepiece of the telescope and the camera lens in such a manner that no light from outside can penetrate between the two. If you put a lens shade on the camera, placing the eyepiece of the telescope inside the wide opening of the shade, it is easy to exclude light by wrapping black cloth or tape around the juncture.

The final question to answer is what exposure to use with such a combination. The exposure depends on the "f" number of the combination. If you are mathematically inclined you can figure out this number by consulting a handbook on optics. For practical purposes it is sufficient to know that such combinations give a small "f" number, owing to the long focal length and consequently a slow lens. Make test exposures based on lens speeds of f:16 or f-22. The results will soon show you in which direction to correct your estimate. In view of the relatively slow lens speed it is advisable to use very fast film if you want to take action shots with your improvised telephoto setup.

The results you can obtain with such a combination are not as perfect as results with a special telephoto lens, but they are good enough for most amateur purposes. The quality of the pictures will depend largely on how good an opera glass or telescope you use.

Telephotography will open new worlds to your camera. Try it by all means, whether you decide to use a special telephoto lens or your regular lens in combination with a telescope.

These three comparative shots, taken from the same camera position, show the effect of different lenses. The top picture was taken with a wide-angle lens of short focal length. The people in the picture are hardly visible. The center shot was made with a standard lens, showing the figures somewhat larger. At bottom is a telephoto shot of the group, giving the effect of a closeup. In place of a telephoto lens you can use an opera glass or telescope in front of your normal camera lens to achieve similar effects.

New Equipment

249 If you want to dry films or prints quickly you can do it with the aid of new electric bulbs that radiate infrared. Films suspended between two lamps dry in less than two minutes.

250 A practical new gadget enables users of flash to test their equipment and avoid disappointments. The single unit tests flash bulbs, batteries, and also correct synchronization. It costs $1.75.

251 Color prints of the wash-off relief variety are made by a new printing service at a price of $3 for the first 8x10 print and $1 for additional prints from the same 35-mm. color transparency.

252 A portable air-conditioning unit that attaches to a window, requires no plumbing, and occupies very little space is recommended by the manufacturer for darkroom use. It changes, cools, and dehumidifies the air.

Practice What Your Manicurist Preaches

By FLORENCE MURDOCH

JUST BECAUSE you walk into your beauty parlor once a week for a manicure, don't get the idea you can shed all further responsibility for future health and beauty of your nails. The weekly manicure isn't supposed to be a substitute for some regular home care, and your nails will profit by an extra home manicure slipped in between your professional visits. Besides, the practice acquired in doing this will make you just that much more efficient if a change of polish faces you, due to resultant chipping when a nail runs head-on into a stubborn zipper.

Your home method, however, is as important as the one used by your manicurist. It should be gentle, eliminating any possibility of healthy nails becoming irritated ones.

The first step after removing the old polish is to shape your nails at the tip. You'll find an emery board the best for this, and most important is to never, never file them at the sides. Let them grow out naturally and you'll be rewarded by longer, stronger nails.

Then dip one hand in a bowl of warm, soapy water long enough to soften the cuticle. Dry, and with an orangewood stick tipped with cotton apply cuticle remover. Push back the cuticle, gently working around the base and sides of the nail and under the tip. Wipe away the loosened cuticle. If there are any ragged edges left, snip them off carefully.

If you are not going to use polish, whiten the nail tips by running a nail white pencil, slightly moistened, under the tips. Then scrub the nails in clear water, and dry.

If you use one of the protective waxes, apply it before the polish, which should be applied with quick, light strokes. Finish off with a hand cream or lotion massaged into the skin and your hands will be soft, white, and ready for their next handshake.

1 Shape your nails to emphasize their natural beauty. Use an emery board and confine the shaping to the tips. Never file them at the sides.

2 Apply cuticle remover with an orangewood stick tipped with cotton. Push back the cuticle very gently, working around the base and sides of the nail.

4 At right: Bleach the nail tips if you are not going to apply polish. You'll find a nail white pencil an easy and effective way to do this.

VOICE OF THE MOVIE FAN

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Mae Tinée: I have thought from time to time that some day you would write a movie review that would be worth depending on.

I have just finished reading your review on "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Evidently you don't have much work to do, or else you just don't know a good movie when you see one. After a good day's work a light, entertaining comedy is a tonic. Why don't you try seeing a show just for entertainment instead of picking it to pieces?

We use your column as guide to our moviegoing in this way: If you say it is good, it's bound to be bad; if you say it is bad, it is bound to be good. Our method seldom fails.

As an adult, and giving you the benefit of the doubt (I presume you are an adult), it seems to me that you should be able to do a better job of evaluating a movie. Truly yours, RUTH STEFFEY.

Dear Ruth: I always hope that the movie I have to review will PROVE to be entertaining. When it doesn't I'm just as disappointed as you are disapproving of me. And that's being plenty disappointed, I guess.

Dear Miss Tinée: Could you please tell me who played opposite Jackie Cooper in "Seventeen" and in "What a Life"? Thanks and the best of luck!

NORMA J. ORNDORFF.

Dear Norma: Betty Fields appeared opposite Jackie Cooper in both the films mentioned above. You're welcome, and the same to you!

Dear Mae Tinée: Would you please tell me who Pretty Willie Williams and Frosty Welch were in the picture "Tall, Dark and Handsome"? I liked it a lot, and my curiosity got the best of me. It wasn't printed on the screen, so I thought you could help me satisfy my curiosity. Thank you.

R. R.

Dear R. R.: Milton Berle played the rôle of Frosty and Sheldon Leonard was Pretty Willie in "Tall, Dark and Handsome." You're welcome.

Dear Miss Tinée: I have never written to you before, altho I read your column every Sunday to see what other people think.

I want to tell the producers in Hollywood that they are finally back on the track with one of their stars. To write them wouldn't do, for they would never see my letter, so I am using your column as a go-between. Yesterday I saw Robert Taylor in "Flight Command." This is the first picture since his first, "Magnificent Obsession," that I have liked him in. Now that the producers have awakened to the fact that he is a good dramatic actor instead of just a glamor boy, he will get the kind of parts he deserves. Here's hoping.

Thanks for letting me get it off my chest. Your very truly,

H. B. L.

Dear H. B. L.: Here's hoping the producers see your letter.

Dear Miss Tinée: I am just one of the thousands who read and enjoy your column in The Chicago Sunday Tribune. It seems that every Sunday it gets more interesting when it had been so very perfect the previous Sunday.

Dennis Morgan

I wonder if you would be so kind as to print a brief biography of Dennis Morgan? I always thought of Mr. Morgan as a wonderful singer, but acting, I see, comes right in with his other talents, as was proven in the grand picture, "Kitty Foyle." If it is at all possible would you try to squeeze some sort of a picture of Mr. Morgan along with his biography?

Hoping to hear from you thru The Sunday Tribune in the very near future and always wishing for your continued success and loads of good luck, I remain as ever, yours very sincerely, MISS J. S.

Dear Miss J. S.: I am delighted beyond words for your interest in my column. Here's a bit about Mr. Morgan, and also a brand new picture of him. His real name is Stanley Morner. Born in Prentice, Wis. Educated Carroll college. Career started in Chicago, singing at the Palmer House and on a big radio program. Married Lillian Vedder.

DOES "SOAPING" ROB YOUR HAIR OF COLOR?

Try one Halo Shampoo—it leaves no Dulling Soap Film!

MANY women blame dull "mousey" hair on age, or Mother Nature, when it may only be the dulling film that old-style soap shampoos can leave on your hair. So do as thousands of women are doing and switch to Halo Shampoo as the way to beautiful hair. Because Halo contains no soap, it leaves no dulling film to hide the natural color and luster. You don't even need a lemon or vinegar rinse.

So Halo your hair tonight. See how Halo leaves your hair radiant, soft and easy to curl—how it gives eye-appeal to "mousey" hair. And Halo makes oceans of lather in hardest water.

Buy Halo Shampoo in generous 10c or larger sizes. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau.

ODE TO HAPPINESS

By JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL

Spirit that rarely comest now,
And only to contrast my gloom,
Like rainbow-feathered birds that bloom
A moment on some autumn bough
That, with the spurn of their farewell,
Sheds its last leaves,—thou once didst dwell
With me year-long, and make intense
To boyhood's wisely vacant days
Their fleet but all-sufficing grace
Of trustful inexperience,
While soul could still transfigure sense,
And thrill, as with love's first caress,
At life's mere unexpectedness.
Days when my blood would leap and run
As full of sunshine as a breeze,
Or spray tossed up by summer seas,
That doubts if it be sea or sun!
Days that flew swiftly like the band
That played in Grecian games at strife,
And passed from eager hand to hand
The onward-dancing torch of life!

Wing-footed! thou abid'st with him
Who asks it not; but he who hath
Watched o'er the waves thy waning path,
Shall nevermore behold returning
Thy high-heaped canvas shoreward yearning!
Thou first reveal'st to us thy face
Turned o'er the shoulder's parting grace,
A moment glimpsed, then seen no more,—
Thou whose swift footsteps we can trace
Away from every mortal door.
Nymph of the unreturning feet,
How may I win thee back? But no,
I do thee wrong to call thee so;
'Tis I am changed, not thou art fleet:
The man thy presence feels again,
Not in the blood, but in the brain,
Spirit, that lov'st the upper air
Serene and passionless and rare,
Such as on mountain heights we find,
And wide-viewed uplands of the mind;
Or such as scorns to coil and sing
Round any but the eagle's wing
Of souls that with long upward beat
Have won an undisturbed retreat
Where, poised like winged victories,
They mirror in relentless eyes
The life broad-basking 'neath their feet,—
Man ever with his Now at strife,
Pained with first gasps of earthly air,
Then praying Death the last to spare,
Still fearful of the ampler life.
Not unto them dost thou consent
Who, passionless, can lead at ease
A life of unalloyed content,
A life like that of landlocked seas,
That feel no elemental gush
Of tidal forces, no fierce rush
Of storm deep-grasping, scarcely spent
'Twixt continent and continent.
Such quiet souls have never known
Thy truer inspiration, thou
Who lov'st to feel upon thy brow
Spray from the plunging vessel thrown
Grazing the tusked lee shore, the cliff
That o'er the abrupt gorge holds its breath,
Where the frail hairbreadth of an if
Is all that sunders life and death:
These, too, are cared for, and round these
Bends her mild crook thy sister Peace;
These in unvexed dependence lie,
Each 'neath his strip of household sky;
O'er them clouds wander, and the blue
Hangs motionless the whole day thru;
Stars rise for them, and moons grow large
And lessen in such tranquil wise
As joys and sorrows do that rise
Within their nature's sheltered marge;
Their hours into each other flit
Like the leaf-shadows of the vine
And fig tree under which they sit,
And their still lives to heaven incline
With an unconscious habitude,
Unhistoried as smokes that rise
From happy hearths and sight elude
In kindred blue of morning skies.

Wayward! when once we feel thy lack,
'Tis worse than vain to woo thee back!
Yet there is one who seems to be
Thine elder sister, in whose eyes
A faint far northern light will rise
Sometimes, and bring a dream of thee;
She is not that for which youth hoped,
But she hath blessings all her own,
Thoughts pure as lilies newly oped,
And faith to sorrow given alone;
Almost I deem that it is thou
Come back with graver matron brow,
With deepened eyes and bated breath,
Like one that somewhere hath met Death.
But "No," she answers, "I am she
Whom the gods love, Tranquility.
That other whom you seek forlorn
Half earthly was; but I am born
Of the immortals, and our race
Wear still some sadness on our face:
He wins me late, but keeps me long,
Who, dowered with every gift of passion,
In that fierce flame can forge and fashion
Of sin and self the anchor strong;
Can thence compel the driving force
Of daily life's mechanic course,
Nor less the nobler energies
Of needful toil and culture wise;
Whose soul is worth the tempter's lure,
Who can renounce and yet endure.
To him I come, not lightly wooed,
But won by silent fortitude."

Cotton Week Quotations

By
REA SEEGER

LEARNED economists may talk for hours about the importance of buying and wearing cotton for our national welfare, but it takes the designers only a short time, in showing new spring and summer clothes of cotton, to start the rush of shoppers downtown. Cotton this year has a universal appeal for all. You'll wear cotton from the skin out, for there isn't anything needed for a cool, fresh summer wardrobe, whether you're a career girl operating on an exceedingly slim budget or a Mrs. Crœsus with a sky level clothes allowance, that doesn't appear in cotton.

First, the newest underlayers. They come in girdles, altogethers of corset and bra cut in one long, smooth model, and the cotton lastex panty girdles for the debs and subdebs. Lovely cotton nightgowns are marvelously cut and fitted with the suave outlines of a sophisticated dinner dress or a fluffy dancing dress. Thin cotton costume slips, petticoats, negligees, bed jackets, house coats, and ensembles of jacket and matching nightgown are plentiful and tagged with interesting price marks. All of them retain the crisp freshness after a summer's tubbings, remaining snowy white, or vividly colorful if the printed cottons are used.

Cotton for spectator and active sports reigns supreme—smart golf dresses, tennis clothes with matching shorts, play clothes of all-in-one shorts and shirt with a companion wrap-around skirt, country club dresses with brief sleeves, and the clever dress and jacket outfits, the dress sleeveless and the jacket with short sleeves.

Daytime dress suits for town and office wear reach a new high record for beauty, trim tailoring, and unusual color contrast. The suits are made with the same expert precision that details a fine tweed or wool suit. Plaids, stripes, checks, and the monotone colors are the favorites, Dinner dresses and summer dancing and party frocks are the loveliest things imaginable. The swanky dinner clothes use such stunning cottons as fine piqué, dotted swiss, organdy, seersucker, and chambray. There isn't a color that isn't featured, from pastels to the clear, bold, high shades.

PERFORMERS IN "TWELFTH NIGHT" AT ERLANGER

Mark Smith as Sir Toby Belch
June Walker as Maria
Maurice Evans as Malvolio
Helen Hayes as Viola
Sophie Stewart as Olivia
Wallace Acton as Sir Andrew Aguecheek

Sherwood Gets Pulitzer Best Play Notation

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK [Special]. — We have gone in pretty strong for theater prizes this week. Robert Sherwood got the Pulitzer prize for "There Shall Be No Night" as the best play of American authorship produced in 1940. Paul Lukas got one for giving what the Drama league considers the best performance of the current season in "Watch on the Rhine." Ethel Barrymore draws one tomorrow [her second] for what the Robert Porterfield Barter theater group considers the best performance of the season, which would be her schoolmistress heroine in "The Corn Is Green."

Helen Craig drew one for her deaf mute heroine in "Johnny Belinda" as the most creative rôle of the year, and Richard Waring one for giving the best supporting performance of the year playing a Welsh miner in "The Corn Is Green." Dorothy McGuire got one for giving the best performance of the season by a newcomer, Dorothy playing the heroine of Rose Franken's "Claudia."

• • •

The Sherwood award was particularly pleasing to many play followers who had given up hope of its getting its just deserts after the New York critics' circle passed it by last spring and gave their plaque to Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life."

It now is explained that the Pulitzer committee has fixed March 31 of each year as the deadline for entries as far as its play award is concerned. "There Shall Be No Night" was not produced until April 29 of last year and therefore was not considered as a 1939-'40 candidate, just as neither Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine" nor Saroyan's "The Beautiful People" was considered this year, both being April productions.

• • •

The prize awards are about over. The New York drama critics' plaque went to Miss Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine," a moving drama of an anti-Nazi German's efforts to escape the Gestapo in America while he is collecting funds for his fellows in Germany, and of his contact with the family of his American wife.

The critics' second choice was Saroyan's "The Beautiful People," which, if it is to be accepted as drama at all, in any common acceptance of that term, must be so accepted on the author's own terms exclusively. Your correspondent voted for Paul Green's and Richard Wright's "Native Son," because he believes that the problem it presents, that of the attitude of the citizens of democracy toward the Negro and other underprivileged groups in this country, is of greater importance to the theater and to the people with the means to support the theater than is the problem of a threatened fascism.

Neither Miss Hellman's play nor that of Wright and Green is a perfect technical exhibit, and the emotional impact they build is of equal impressiveness. "Watch on the Rhine," however, is a less disturbing and a less revealing document, which may account for its greater popularity.

• • •

An interesting thing happened in the theater this week that I think may reasonably be considered of importance. It was the announcement of a special 5 cent matinée performance of Bernard Shaw's "The Doctor's Dilemma," with Katharine Cornell starring and Raymond Massey and a fine company supporting her, to be given for an audience of 1,300 selected New York high school students.

• • •

The 5 cent matinée for high school students is the first of what it is hoped will be a series of matinées of "hit" shows brought within reach of the students' budgets. It is the outcome of a series of conferences in which the board of education, the Actors' Equity association, and the League of New York Theaters took part.

The plan is to give one performance each of the best and most successful plays produced on Broadway during a season, and to charge no more for it than just enough to cover the actual expenses of the production. Actors, musicians, stage hands, authors, and help are to donate their services with the idea that, in so doing, they will "not only be making a real contribution to the children of New York, but that thru their action the theater will make new friends who, in turn, will develop into a great and ever renewed audience of the future."

"The Doctor's Dilemma" will cost 5 cents. The regular matinée prices are from $1.10 to $2.75. It may be that the next play selected, if the seating capacity is more limited, will cost the students 10 cents.

• • •

The Playwrights' company, of which the late Sidney Howard was a member, could not find a struggling dramatist of sufficient promise to warrant giving him the $1,500 annual Sidney Howard memorial award. It was turned over to the Authors' league relief fund. Elmer Rice of the same company, having been given the Theater club award of $100 for having written "Flight to the West," which this club considered the best play of American authorship of the season, also turned that sum over to the Authors' league. Which makes it a good year for the league.

Polish Dancers and Jack Little at Edgewater Beach Hotel

By Will Davidson.

Polish with polish.

There you have the formula for the bright spot of the current revue in the Marine dining room of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Polish are beautiful Ludmilla and handsome Zigmund Rossilliano. Their polish comes from long dancing experience —a career that got its real start when they won the international dance competition in Vienna in 1934, and later took them over the world as official good-will envoys of the Polish government.

The Rossillianos open the show with a series of native dances, in flashing costume. They are assisted by the Dorothy Dorben dancers in one of their cutest routines. In formal attire, the Rossillianos later do several standard numbers with considerable ability.

A little of Jack Little goes a long way, and Jack gives plenty. His orchestra is conservative, his library packed with nostalgic oldtimers. And Jack still can handle those keyboard runs as of old. The rest of the show has little to recommend it. The Northwest Mounties, with Constance Merrill, are colorless, and the Dorben finale, an amateur flag waver that gets men from the audience onto the floor in silly hats, is corn incarnate.

• • •

Just for the record: Lou Holtz will headline the next show at the Theater-Cafe [née Mike Todd's] on May 30. Henry Lishon's band already has replaced Les Brown's, and the King's Jesters will follow Joe Sanders on May 23. . . . Seriously, that Rhumba Casino opening on May 28 should be marked in your date book in red letters. You probably have never seen anything quite like its decor, and the show looks mighty promising on paper. Eddie Le Baron is a favorite in New York, and his band has much musical savvy. Don Pedro and Milo Perez are very competent alternates. The revue, featuring well known Tito Guizar, has a Pan-American motif, with a line of girls and boys under Sammy Rose's tutelage. . . . Cab Calloway takes over the Panther room Memorial day. . . . The new show at Harry's New Yorker will star Nan Blackstone, bringing in also the Mackays and May Lewis, and holding over Billy Gray. . . . Early in June Art Kassel comes to the Aragon; two weeks later comes Johnny [Scat] Davis; in two more Russ Morgan, followed by Guy Lombardo, and on Aug. 16, Dick Jurgens.

Those Tune Tossers over at the Bismarck Ranch room are a cheerful bunch of coots who give you nearly any old song you want, and tirelessly turn out danceable rhythms. Their Sweetheart Mary is a pretty gal with a cheerful voice, and Jimmie Hatton, guitarist, sings Irish songs at the drop of a shamrock. Hatton, Dave Pritchard, Max Stelter, Stan Jacobson, and David Collins make up this lively group. Maidie and Ray do their rope spinning calisthenics as an entertaining addition to the show.

Old Heidelberg restaurant has inaugurated a new entertainment policy, using its large staff of singers in condensed versions of favorite operettas and musical comedies. Under the direction of Eddie Freckman and Hans Muenzer, the Musical Cavalcade group presents in the current show selections from "Faust" and "The Merry Widow," as well as groups of individual numbers, modern and semiclassical. Sally Sharrat, long a Heidelberg favorite, continues as the top member of the cast.

Still the most compact and showwise entertainment in the house are Louie and the Weasel, who hold loudly forth in the Rathskeller.

• • •

Scores of us like The Four of Us, and it looks like a long, happy run for this energetic little group in the Buttery. They swing "Ramona" and they balladize "My Man." They twist the "Prisoner's Song" into a novel and naughty design, and they do everything but put grass skirts on "Hawaiian War Chant." Violin, bass, guitar, and piano, they have an inviting beat, and easily enough volume for the small room. Peggy Lee has poise, friendliness, and a creamy, well controled voice.

• • •

Boswelling the Bistros: Katherine Dunham gives her fellow actors a chance to see her troupe dance at midnight tonight when she offers a concert in the Panther room of the Hotel Sherman. . . . The Five Squires are now playing in the Blackhawk grill . . . and Marianne Arden is the singing pianist doing duty in the Blackhawk's main dining room. . . . The Duanos, Spanish dance team, have replaced two of my favorite acts in the Colony club show, Lorraine De Wood and Chiquita. . . . Joe Marsala is causing that musical heat wave at the Capitol cocktail lounge. . . . Grace and Bob Conrad, of Colony club memory, may open a Latin dance school here. . . . Capitalizing on the most sophomoric habit of men on a bender—putting on women's hats —the Panther room is offering a millinery style show, with male models from the audience. People laugh, too. . . . Maybe those historians will prefer to refer to Hitler as the Hess-less hordesman.

Popular Recordings

Victor has something special in Tommy Dorsey's 12-incher, a smooth, smoky version of "Without a Song." It is Dorsey at his best. Backing it is Cy Oliver's arrangement of "Deep River," a good piece of music. Joe Reichman does very much all right by "If This Be Love" and "Dance of the Bayou," and Artie Shaw continues his swell recordings with "Moonglow" and "My Blue Heaven." Teddy Powell really has a killer in his sizzling version of "Blue Danube" on Bluebird.

Another Columbia Gershwin album is at hand. This one couples Andre Kostelanetz and Alec Templeton in a three-side 12-inch set of "Rhapsody in Blue." It's a grand recording of a grand tune. The odd side is "Love Walked In." Xavier Cugat gets an album of his best Rhumbas—eight sides in album C-54, called "Rhumba with Cugat." Two single discs deserve special mention—Eddy Duchin's version of "Maria Elena" and Raymond Scott's "In the Hush of the Night" from Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade." It's very danceable.

Drama Notes

Today seems like the end of a great historic epoch of some kind, for this is the last time the Sunday drama column will have occasion to speak of "Life with Father" as a local theatrical attraction. On Saturday evening Lillian Gish, Percy Waram, the four boys, the relatives, friends, and servants will play their last performance at the Blackstone theater. Instead of moving to Detroit, as was originally announced, the cast will take a vacation until fall—except, perhaps, for Lillian Gish, who is still rumored to have a Hollywood contract hidden away somewhere. The Philadelphia company of "Life with Father," with Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern, will take over the Detroit assignment. Next season both companies are slated to make 40 week tours.

When the curtain fell on last night's performance at the Blackstone theater "Life with Father" at last equalled the all-time Chicago theatrical record of 65 consecutive weeks. The play continues this week in order to exceed that record by one week. The long time title holder was, of course, the immortal "Lightnin'," which opened at the same Blackstone theater on Sept. 11, 1921, and closed there on Dec. 9, 1922. Frank Bacon, the star of "Lightnin'," left the cast on Nov. 11, 1922, and died a week later. He was succeeded, for the remaining four weeks of the run, by John D. O'Hara, a native Chicagoan who had played the rôle for over two years in Australia.

Oscar Serlin's Chicago production of "Life with Father" opened at the Blackstone on Feb. 19, 1940, after a single tryout week in Baltimore. There have been no pre-Christmas or Holy week layoffs, and except for Sunday evenings there have been daily performances [with Wednesday and Saturday matinées] continuously thruout the 66 weeks. The final performance Saturday will be the 528th in Chicago, and the 536th for the company. Lillian Gish has never missed a performance, and Percy Waram has been out only half a dozen times. Every one in the company has earned a vacation, and Chicago sends "Life with Father" away affectionately and gratefully, with thoughts—even if they may be premature—of a return engagement some day.

Lee Shubert, the producer, was in town last week-end for the opening of "Hellzapoppin." He also took time to see "Arsenic and Old Lace" at the Grand Opera house, for the sake of catching a glimpse of two of his performers of bygone days—Laura Hope Crews, who played in his production of "Brown of Harvard," and Effie Shannon, who appeared in "Taps."

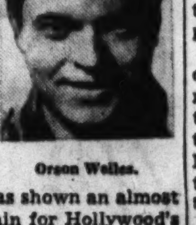
The Helen Hayes-Maurice Evans performance of "Twelfth Night" has completed its Theater Guild subscription period at the Erlanger, and all seats are now available for all comers. This bright and merry production, it should be pointed out, broke all run records for "Twelfth Night"—in its entire history of more than three centuries—by playing 129 times in New York, plus 124 performances on the road up to last night. It will remain at the Erlanger only two weeks more, until May 31.

Drama Critic Calls 'Citizen Kane' Epochal

By Cecil Smith.

A great deal of controversy has arisen over the merits of "Citizen Kane," the motion picture in which Orson Welles serves as producer, director, and actor. On our own Tribune staff, for instance, John Chapman regards "Citizen Kane" as the best moving picture he ever has seen, while Mae Tinée finds it considerably overrated by Mr. Chapman and some of his colleagues who have praised it so highly. Among my own acquaintances who have seen it I find a similar opposition of viewpoints. There seems to be no middle ground. Either people find the picture exciting and wonderful or they find it episodic and dull.

At any rate, the vigor of such arguments, pro and con, proves that "Citizen Kane" is conceived with great originality and executed with enough power that nobody can choose to ignore it. Mr. Welles has thrown to the four winds the accepted notion that a cinema story must be told in terms of simple narrative, and he has shown an almost revolutionary disdain for Hollywood's assumption that the screen fulfils its highest function when it drenches its players in a luminous fog of glamor.



Orson Welles.

To any one who followed the experiments of the federal theater a few seasons ago the story telling technique of "Citizen Kane" need hold no mysteries. Essentially the picture is cast in the style and form of a "living newspaper." The federal theater presented several "living newspaper" productions, about housing, power, and syphilis, in which the play—if such it could be called—was a compound of short episodes and quick flashes. Each of these "living newspapers" endeavored to present as vividly and economically as possible a great many scattered but interrelated facts about its particular subject.

"Citizen Kane" employs this same method. It is a study of a newspaper publisher—an attempt to show what made the wheels go round inside his personality. Specific incidents are important only when they reveal general truths about his character. We do not learn about Kane thru an orderly, consecutive portrayal of his biography. Instead we examine many facets of his character one by one, and we are given at each moment precisely the facts we need at that moment.

• • •

In spite of the fact that it runs for two hours "Citizen Kane" is marked by tremendous economy. If a single exchange of dialog reveals the next fact we need no time is wasted in an attempt to blow it up into a full length scene. Often the camera seizes upon symbolic objects, like the wire fence at the beginning of the picture, or the vast living room of Kane's enormous medieval castle. These symbols are sometimes able to communicate more mood and meaning than five minutes of talk and action could have produced.

I never have seen a picture which was able to present so much material in two hours. When "Citizen Kane" is over we know Kane's character even more fully than we knew Rhett Butler's after four long, painstaking hours of "Gone with the Wind." Indeed, I am convinced that "Citizen Kane" presents the fullest and most profound character study I ever have seen in the movies.

This richness and variety of substance is attained, to be sure, at the risk of unclarity and disjointedness. In his first attempt with so novel a technique Mr. Welles has not always overcome this risk. Yet the picture has more form and shape than some people seem to think. It is virtually divided into separate acts, with brief letdowns or breathing spells in which the audience can think back over what has been presented. It also is full of what a musician would call thematic references — recurrence of words, phrases, and camera shots which relate the various portions of the picture to one another. And above all else it has keen suspense about the identity of "Rosebud," suspense which is not resolved until the very end.

• • •

Perhaps the most notable feature of "Citizen Kane" is the superlative acting. Seldom has Hollywood produced a picture in which every actor so modestly, capably, and precisely performs his coöperative function in the artistic totality without trying to grab more than his share of personal success. In fact, the acting is so expert and so well controled that one has to look for the Group theater or the Lunts' acting company for comparisons.

Whether you spontaneously like it or not "Citizen Kane" is an epoch making picture, with as much to contribute to the growth of motion picture technique as the early films of D. W. Griffith or René Clair in their time.

Notes of the Theater

Summer theater activities are in the offing, and James Hargis Connelly is toying with the idea of sending his old style, melodramatic production of "East Lynne" on a straw hat circuit. It would make good diversion for a hot evening, for as it was produced effectively in Kimball hall recently this old epic of the "hearts and flowers" era still can jerk a few big, beady tears, and Mr. Connelly was successful in finding a villain eminently worth hissing.

This department's favorite performer in "Hellzapoppin," at the Auditorium theater, is Ben Dova, who progresses from a series of drunken acrobatic tumbles into a magnificent climactic episode, in which he transforms a lamppost into a big, and seemingly very dangerous, teeter-totter. A native of Alsace-Lorraine, he gave up the study of medicine to help entertain American soldiers in France in 1918, and subsequently came to this country with a partner, in a balancing act. In 1936, returning from Europe, he was on the dirigible Hindenburg when it exploded in New Jersey. He jumped from a considerable height and landed alive. His name, in case you wonder, is a pun.

Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov, who turned Ruth McKenney's "My Sister Eileen" stories into the sparkling comedy now at the Harris theater, amassed most of their preliminary playwriting experience in Hollywood. Among their movie scripts were a number of mild successes, which compensated them somewhat for the fact that their endeavors to write a hit show for the Broadway stage were ill-starred. Their horoscope improved suddenly, however, when Max Gordon, looking for some one to dramatize "My Sister Eileen," ran across the young writers on a Hollywood studio lot and signed them to undertake the task. Now that Mr. Fields and Mr. Chodorov have made the grade in New York, they hope to devote their entire energy to writing for the legitimate stage.

Arguments Against Opera in English Given by Critic

Problem of Translation Is One Difficulty

By Edward Barry.

An article printed in this section last Sunday sought to prove that grand opera should be sung in English in American houses. The method of argument used was one dear to the hearts of all propagandists. Facts which tended to support the thesis were forcefully presented, those which did not were ruthlessly suppressed. Here are some of the suppressed facts:

No matter what the language, the words of opera are fearfully difficult to understand. Houses are big. Orchestras are large and loud. Worse still, the demands of natural stage action are severe. A loving soprano and tenor must whisper their sweet nothings to each other, not come all the way downstage to shout their confidences at the audience. As a result, most of what they have to say is lost. The question of what language an opera is to be sung in is not, therefore, as important as has been represented.

When an attempt is made to use English, still further difficulties are encountered. Not that the language itself is any harder to understand than French or German [altho it probably is harder than Italian, due to the latter's clear, sustained vowel sounds] but the quality of the diction of the available singers nearly always gives trouble. So does the quality of the translations.

• • •

As to the first point, the supply of first rate American singers, altho it has grown enormously in the last decade, has not yet reached a point where it is always possible to assemble consistently strong casts without calling on at least one or two foreign born singers. These singers are difficult to understand. Besides, few things can bring an opera performance down to earth with more of a thud than the presence in the cast of one or two persons who speak the English language with a rich Neapolitan or German accent. Better far that the opera be left in the original. There will still be differing accents, of course, but they will not bother any but the most sensitive ears.

As to the quality of the translations, it is not generally realized that the problem of translating the words of opera [or of mere songs, for that matter] is much more serious than that of translating nonmusical poetry or prose. In the former case the music has been so closely fitted to the text that musical inflections follow the sense of the words and tone coloring adds its magic to word coloring. Therefore, the translator of opera should work along word by word and phrase by phrase trying to make the original and the translation match. He has none of the freedom of the nonmusical translator, who may use lines or stanzas or even larger units if it pleases him.

A fully successful translator of opera must be thoroly conversant with the idiom of the original language [no mere school book knowledge will suffice]. He must be thoroly conversant with the idiom of English. Finally he must be a master craftsman—almost a creative genius. Is it any wonder, then, that satisfactory translations are hard to find?

• • •

So much for the difficulties of getting the words over to the audience intelligibly and with reasonable regard for the musical—textual problems involved. It is possible to go still further in our attack on opera in English and declare that even if it were possible to do both of these things successfully the project would still be hardly worth while.

The sad fact is that many opera librettos are of a quality which makes the use of a foreign language a mercy rather than a deprivation. Motivation is careless, character implausible, ideas sparse, or expression inept. Opera in English would bring all of these faults home to us.

Seeing "Lohengrin," we know that the soldiers around Henry's throne are sympathizing with Elsa in her distress. Wagner's marvelously expressive music tells us that unmistakably, and with an eloquence that can gain nothing from words. Is it not better, then, to leave the words in their original German rather than deglamorize the whole passage brutally by making these rude soldiers say:

> "While the sad tale she is revealing,
> The tears adown my cheeks are stealing."

And Wagner's librettos [done by the composer himself] are far from being the worst of the operatic crop. They rate far nearer the top than the bottom!

• • •

It is hardly going too far to claim that a person who does not understand Italian enjoys an opera like "Il Trovatore" more than one who does. The former is not distracted greatly by the faults of the libretto. The latter, when he checks his hat and coat, is compelled to check his critical sense and his sense of humor, too. Only then will he be able to be caught up and swept along by the performance. For it is the music which gives opera most of its immense power to move and to delight, and the composer is often better off if he is allowed to speak without the continuous interference of his blundering librettist. Moreover, the music is in most cases capable of carrying the story almost alone. The listener who knows even a rough outline of the plot will find in the majority of cases that the music will tell him directly almost everything else he wishes to know. It will characterize, it will communicate emotions, it will underline all the drama's important passages.

• • •

Another reason why a person conversant with the language in which an opera is being sung should envy one who is not lies in the fact that the former is more painfully aware of opera's sometimes absurd conventions than the latter. One of these conventions [in truly "grand" middle and late 19th century opera, at least] requires that even a phrase like "Pass the butter" should be sung rather than spoken. This is apt to give the too knowing listener a fearful jolt, and if opera should come to be done in English all of us would begin to suffer from these jolts.

Let the writer of last Sunday's screed retire now in well deserved confusion. And let the day be long delayed when he and his kind will succeed in depriving us of the delight of hearing opera in tongues which veil its crudities and increase its enchantment.

LEADS YOUTH ORCHESTRA

On its forthcoming tour of the United States the second All-American Youth orchestra will play in the Civic Opera house on Monday, June 2. Conductor and organizer of the ensemble is Leopold Stokowski.

Current Music News

Stanislaus Moniuszko's tragic opera, "Halka," will get another of its more or less annual performances in the Civic Opera house tonight. This time the sponsor is the newly formed Polish Opera society, organized to keep Polish music and the great traditions of Polish art alive in this city. Earlier this season they presented the same composer's popular comic opera, "Straszny Dwor." "Halka" was first produced in its present four-act version on Jan. 1, 1858, in the Warsaw Opera house. Tonight it will be sung in Polish, but that fact should not prevent opera lovers from enjoying the work any more than their lack of ability to understand Italian lessens the pleasure they take in Verdi operas. For the Polish work is cast in the familiar 19th century operatic form, with set arias, choruses and ballet interludes.

Tonight's performance features several eminent Polish artists in the cast: Maria Sokil and Valerie Glowacki, sopranos; Jan Kiepura, tenor; and George Czaplicki, baritone. Others will be Edward Grabinski, Alexander Kulpak and Chester Nieznanski. The Polish Ballet, headed by Felix Sadowski and Janian Frostowna, will supply the dances, and the whole production will be directed by Jerzy Bojanowski, musical director of the Polish Opera society.

Omega Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota will present Florence Ruden, Florence Boydston, Grace Carlson, Barbara Malott, and Mrs. Irene Malott on its final musical and tea of the season this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Cora Ryerson, 336 South Crescent, Park Ridge. Proceeds of the afternoon will be donated to the MacDowell colony at Peterboro, N. H.

"Zora," a Croatian Singing society, has scheduled a concert for this afternoon in the American-Bohemian hall, 1436 West 18th street. The group is directed by George Benetzky. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Jugo-Slav war relief fund.

Mary Louise Cressey, pianist, will play Saint-Saëns' Second Piano Concerto with the Chicago NYA Symphony orchestra, Irwin Fischer, conductor, in the Illinois Music concert hall, 632 North Dearborn street, on Tuesday at 8:15. Brahms' Second Symphony will also be played on the program, together with works by Mendelssohn, Hofland, and Johann Strauss.

The Saidenberg Symphonietta, Daniel Saidenberg, conductor, will make its first Chicago appearance for the year in the auditorium of the Francis Parker school on Friday evening. The program features a Concerto Grosso in D minor by Vivaldi, Bach's Suite in B Minor, David Van Vactor's Bagatelles, and a Frank Bridge suite.

Mae Doelling Schmidt, Lucille Manker, Harriet O'Rourke, Joseph Goodman, and Walton Tyre will participate in the Chicago Artists association's final meeting of the season on Tuesday night in Curtiss hall.

At the Civic theater on both Friday and Saturday nights the Uptown Players will present their director, J. Bradley-Griffin, in a dramatic recital. He will have the assistance of Lulu Jones Downing, composer-pianist, and Phillip Jorgensen, accompanist. The event will begin at 8:30 each evening.

A week from this afternoon the Jewish Peoples Choral society will give its annual spring concert, singing in the Great Northern theater. As usual the direction will be in the hands of Eugene Malek. The second half of the program will be devoted to Jacob Schaeffer's "Biro-Bidjan" oratorio.

The noted operatic conductor and vocal coach, Isaac Van Grove, will teach a master class at the Boguslawski College of Music this summer. He has recently completed a tour with Grace Moore and conducted orchestras in Minneapolis and Mexico City.

Evelyn Wienke will conduct the Orionis Vocal ensemble in its annual concert in Curtiss hall this afternoon. Various vocal solos by members of the group are listed on the program.

M. J. Lester Wilczynski, tenor, and Robert Nogulich, bass, will give a joint recital in the Auditorium recital hall this evening. Excerpts from Polish and Jugo-Slav operas are listed for performance as well as arias from more standard French and Italian works. Jerzy Kalmus, pianist, will be the assisting artist.

'Cabin in Sky' Lauded for Its Musical Appeal

By Cecil Smith.

The music season has settled down into its spring slumber, from which it will seldom stir until the opening of the summer festival at Ravinia park. Meanwhile Chicago music patrons may well join followers of the drama in paying attention to "Cabin in the Sky," the all-Negro musical fantasy at the Selwyn theater.

This imaginative venture in the musical comedy realm presents the Negro outlook on life, death and immortality with a degree of humor and beauty not equaled since "The Green Pastures." In the midst of a finished and handsome production may be seen and heard several renowned notables of the Negro stage. Ethel Waters, for instance, may not devote herself to the same musical répertoire as Marian Anderson or Dorothy Maynor, but to Vernon Duke's smoothly written popular songs she brings, as the occasion requires, such poignancy or such broad, healthy humor that it is impossible not to recognize in her one of the supreme artists of her race. Her performance of an unassuming tune called "Taking a Chance on Love" is so genuine and simple and restrained that it touches the audience deeply.

Ethel Waters.

• • •

Katherine Dunham and her lively dance group also make an important contribution to "Cabin in the Sky." Miss Dunham started out right here in Chicago, and her dancing and choreography, full of the flavor of native Caribbean styles, won local acclaim for several seasons before she transplanted herself and her group to New York. In her present work in "Cabin in the Sky," she has collaborated with George Balanchine in the creation of ballets and dance episodes which range from an Egyptian divertissement on the banks of the Nile to a vivid, rug-cutting cabaret scene.

There is also some first rate singing to be heard from Todd Duncan, the intelligent and well schooled baritone who became a stage celebrity in George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." And, on the acting side, Dooley Wilson gives a truly memorable performance, instinctively perfect in every detail of conception and projection, as Little Joe, the chap whose eternal salvation is in question thruout the whole fantastic, quasi-religious plot of "Cabin in the Sky."

• • •

Such a production as this—even tho it admittedly does not have a musical score of more than average distinction and competence—justifies a hopeful attitude toward the American lyric stage of the future. The cause of American opera has been earnestly sponsored, by major opera companies and by societies which take themselves very seriously. But nearly all progress toward an indigenous musical theater has been made in the realm of musical comedy, and not of serious grand opera.

For decades American composers have been trying to write grand operas, with the notion that their works might ultimately take their place in our opera houses alongside such European perennials as "Il Trovatore" and "Tristan and Isolde." The box office results, however, have not justified so optimistic an assumption. The warehouses of the Metropolitan and Chicago Opera companies are crowded with settings, costumes and properties from innumerable American operas, all of which were very short-lived — Converse's "The Pipe of Desire," Herbert's "Natoma," Hadley's "Azora," Damrosch's "Cyrano," and in more recent years Gruenberg's "Emperor Jones," Hanson's "Merry Mount," Taylor's "The King's Henchman" and "Peter Ibbetson," Damrosch's "The Man without a Country," and others which might be added to the list.

All these operas were produced on terms approximately equal to the standards of the general European repertory, yet all were essentially failures, for no opera company ever talks of reviving any of them, and no operagoers ever seem to complain because they are neglected.

• • •

If you investigate the scores of these operas you will see the reason. All are imitations, more or less pale, of a foreign idiom—of Wagner or French opera or Italian opera or Stravinskian modernism. The only opera that ever got down to business and dealt with one aspect of the American scene, in terms the American public thought to be applicable, was not given in any of our big opera houses. This opera was "Porgy and Bess," produced in legitimate theaters by the Theater Guild, and produced with the expert informality of modern musical comedy technique.

If and when our best American composers really make a success of operatic composition, they will succeed, I believe, by discovering a way to extend the spontaneous and already popular style of musical comedy into a more ambitious artistic sphere. American opera needs to grow out of the popular musical theater, much as the romantic operas of Weber grew out of the popular German Singspiel of the 18th century.

Even tho "Cabin in the Sky" is certainly not a production of grand operatic scope or pretensions, it belongs in the select company of those musical comedies whose fresh invention and artistic integrity point toward a significant American lyric stage of the future. And in the meantime it is only natural to prefer the honest directness and the sincere characterization of "Cabin in the Sky" to overstuffed hokum about Indian princesses, or pre-Chaucerian figments of Edna St. Vincent Millay's imagination, or grandiose tales about Salem witches.

Notes of Music and Musicians

Charlene Shafer, young Chicago pianist, will give a debut recital in Kimball hall this afternoon, playing the following program:

| | |
|---|---|
| Organ Fugue, G minor | Bach-Samaroff |
| Sonata, F minor, Opus 57 ["Appassionata"] | Beethoven |
| Impromptu, F minor | Fauré |
| Intermezzo, Opus 116, No. 2; Capriccio, Opus 116, No. 1 | Brahms |
| "Ariadne Abandoned" | Irwin Fischer |
| Capriccios, B minor and F minor | Dohnanyi |
| "Pictures at an Exposition" | Moussorgsky-Bauer |

The American Conservatory of Music's initial student recital on the newly installed organ in Kimball hall will be presented on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Pupils of Frank Van Dusen, Edward Eigenschenk, Emily Roberts, and Kenneth Cutler will be heard.

Ruth Ray, violinist, and Elizabeth Brown, contralto, will be the soloists on tomorrow's concert by the Illinois Symphonic ensemble in Kimball hall. The program features one Chicago première—a violin concerto by an 18th century Italian composer—and a work by the Chicago composer, Leo Sowerby. Leo Kopp will conduct the concert, here listed in full:

| | |
|---|---|
| Overture to "Alceste" | Handel |
| Concerto in G Minor ["The Girdle"] for violin and string orchestra | Castrucci |
| Ruth Ray. [First performance in Chicago.] | |
| Sinfonietta for string orchestra | Sowerby |
| Variations on a Theme by Tschaikowsky, Opus 35a | Arensky |
| "El Amor Brujo" | de Falla |
| Elizabeth Brown. | |

A new large pipe organ has been installed in Kimball hall, and the first recital on it will be played by Virgil Fox, head of the organ department at Peabody conservatory, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Fox is being presented by the Chicago Woman's Musical club on the last of its series of concerts for the benefit of its scholarship fund. The recitalist was a pupil of Louis Robert and Wilhelm Middelschulte before assuming his position at Peabody at the age of 26. In a tour of Europe in 1938 he played 10 concerts in as many famous cathedrals, churches, and chapels. At present he is making his fifth coast to coast tour of this country. The new organ boasts 51 speaking stops and 3,830 pipes.

Virgil Fox.

A worthwhile choral program will be given by the La Grange Presbyterian church choir this afternoon at 4 o'clock under the direction of the church's organist and choirmaster, Paul Chandler Hume. Ralph Vaughan Williams' Serenade to Music and Gabriel Fauré's Requiem will be sung.

Verdi's "Il Trovatore" will be staged in Kimball hall on Saturday night with scenery, costumes, and a small orchestra and chorus by the Cantor-Rounds Opera class, for which dramatic and musical direction are supplied by Bernard Cantor and Erma Rounds respectively.

64 Rosenwald Fellowships Awardedfor '41

Dr. Evans' guide to students in the selection of a college or university can be purchased at Public Service offices of the Chicago Tribune, One South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, at 25 cents a copy, or 28 cents by mail.

By the Rev. John Evans.

Sixty-four fellowships totaling $100,000 have been awarded by the Julius Rosenwald fund for 1941. This was announced by Edwin R. Embree, president of the fund, who explained that the awards were made to 40 Negroes and 24 white southerners, selected for their special talent and scholarship.

Under the present fellowship program, awards are made once each year by a committee on fellowship consisting of Will W. Alexander, adviser to the council on national defense; Charles S. Johnson of Fisk university; Henry Allen Moe, secretary of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation; Raymond R. Paty, president of Birmingham-Southern college; Robert C. Weaver, administrative assistant, Office of Production Management; Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, and George M. Reynolds, director for fellowships.

• • •

The 1941 fellows will work on projects in a variety of fields, ranging from southern agriculture and South American forests to a study of the Spanish-speaking settlements of Delacroix Island of Louisiana, and the painting of scenes of the southwest. In addition to fellowships in the academic fields, three awards were made in art, three in creative writing, and one in music.

Among the notable fellows to receive the award during the 12 years it has been in existence are Marian Anderson, contralto; Katherine Dunham, dancer; William Grant Still, composer; Charles S. Johnson, social scientist; E. E. Just, biologist; Aaron Douglas, painter; Richmond Barthe and Augusta Savage, sculptors; W. E. B. De Bois and the late James Weldon Johnson, writers.

Dr. Earl E. Kleinschmidt, associate professor of public health, preventive medicine and bacteriology at Loyola university, has announced the approval of Loyola's medical school course in public health nursing by the National Organization for Public Health Nursing. The school is one of 20 in the entire country to be approved and the second in Illinois. Graduates now become eligible for positions under the social security act and for federal and state positions thruout the country. Starting in 1938 with 30 students, the course now has 120 students enrolled.

Dr. Kleinschmidt is on a three months' leave of absence in Washington, D. C., to work in the national defense program making health studies, plans for the protection, care, and guidance of students employed in vocational training for defense work in industry.

Good Morning!

So far as I know, "The Wagons Roll at Night" hasn't any local bookings as yet. But it's coming, and, as I've previewed it, I'm going to tell you about it today, seeing as how I'm hard up for material at the time of writing. [Wednesday].

This is the second circus film to come out of Hollywood recently. It is, however, unlike "Chad Hanna" in that it sings of contemporary wagons that roll at night. Also, there's a heap more doing than there was in the first release. More punch and more romance.

• • •

Humphrey Bogart takes on the character of the hardboiled owner of a carnival show who has two main interests in life. One—to keep a jump ahead of the sheriff. The other—to protect his innocent young sister who lives a carefully guarded life on his farm, in the custody of a sensible and kindly elderly couple, from any contact with the show or the people connected with it.

Eddie Albert is the show's lion tamer [FANCY Eddie!], having got the job of a former drunken trainer thru an act of sheer heroism. . . .

Sylvia Sidney is a fortune teller, and Humphrey's girl, a strange, lonely, unhappy creature — and how SWELL to be seeing Sylvia again!

Joan Leslie plays, refreshingly, Sister Mary. She looks so CLEAN!

• • •

Key situation: Lion tamer and sister fall in love.

Result: Hell-a-poppin'.

The picture is melodramatic but excellently acted, staged, and directed and, I thought, mighty interesting.

Jot its name down on the cuff and when the "wagons roll" your way, step forth and givvem the once over.

See you tomorrow.

SMILING BROADCASTERS

NOT a toothpaste ad but WOULD you look at all the pretty toofies! Property of—as you know—John Payne, Alice Faye, and Cesar Romero. All this smiling takes place in "The Great American Broadcast." (Chicago).

Plan 2 Operas

Because it is celebrating its 10th anniversary this year the Central City, Colo., festival will stage two productions instead of one. Both will be operas, Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" and Gluck's "Orfeo ed Euridice," and both will be sung in English. Over a period of three weeks, beginning July 5, the Rossini work will be performed 15 times and the Gluck work 10 times. Frank St. Leger of the Metropolitan Opera company will produce and direct, while to Robert Edmond Jones has been assigned the creation of the settings and costumes. A chorus of 44 voices is promised, a larger one than has been used in the past.

THE TYROLEAN HAT

By Leonard H. Nason

(Copyright: 1941: By Leonard H. Nason)

IN the hallway of a small apartment a young man in evening clothes took a last look at his white tie in the mirror, inspected two theater tickets that he placed carefully in an inner pocket, then stepping to a closet he took from the shelf a dark green hat of rough felt and unusual form, decorated with a cord and what looked like the remnant of a shaving brush.

He peeked into it with pride. On the leather band inside were the initials "T. D.," which stood for Tom Doremus, the young man's name.

"Come on, Freda, let's go. We'll be late if we don't take off pretty quick!"

From an inner room appeared a delicious figure in black, surmounted by a countenance as fair as the figure. Freda Doremus crossed the room to her husband and kissed him tenderly.

"I bought you a little present," she said, "to celebrate this day when you got your first raise in salary." She picked up a thin book and pressed it into his hand.

"Simple Rules to Entertain Elaborately," read Tom from the cover.

"You nice girl, thank you." He opened the book and read: "'The mixing of cocktails is not difficult. Any combinations may be made, remembering that the proportions are always in equal thirds, no matter what the ingredients.' That's fine. But who's going to mix cocktails?"

"Now that we have more money," smiled Freda, "we're going to be able to really entertain. I want you to be prepared."

Tom folded her in his arms. "Listen, Freda," he said gently, "now that we're going to have more money, I don't think I ought to have my wife working any longer."

Freda gently disengaged herself. "O, Tom, I know. But I really can't leave Mr. Reed. Not just yet anyway. Come, darling, put on your hat and let's be going."

Tom assisted his wife into her wrap, put on his coat, then the dark green hat, which he contemplated with satisfaction. His wife gave a faint shriek.

"What on earth is that on your head?" she gasped.

"My new hat," beamed Tom. "The cold wind doth blow and we shall have snow, and I cannot wear last winter's hat any more."

Freda observed the hat more closely. It had somewhat the shape of an inverted flower pot, shaggy, with a narrow brim. It seemed clear that she did not approve. She pushed a timorous finger at the shaving brush.

"O, Tom," she said, obviously struggling not to say too much, "what made you buy that one?"

"I am a successful man, now," expostulated Tom. "The thing I needed most was a new hat. The one I wore all year graduated from college with me. It was four years old. Now I got a raise and could buy one. I looked in that man's magazine for ideas. It said the Tyrolean models would be worn by the discriminating this fall. You want your husband to be among the discriminating, don't you?"

Freda Explains the Purpose of Errand

They went down to the elevator, Freda clinging to her husband's arm. At the door, while they waited for a taxi, she spoke again.

"Mr. Reed wasn't in the office today," began Freda. "He was at home fighting a cold. The cold won, and he has had to go to bed. He asked me to stop at the house where he was to have dinner, and tell them he wouldn't be able to come. It won't take us a minute. Then I can put the taxi on the expense account."

"We won't need the expense account, nor the salary either, any more," said Tom. "For me, this would have been a good time to drop him a gentle hint. I would have said, 'Mr. Reed, I am going out with my husband. I'm sorry about your engagement, and if you will give me the number, I'll be glad to telephone.'"

The taxi drew up before them, relieving Freda of the necessity of replying.

Freda Doremus, when she had come to New York a young bride, had looked about her for employment, both to occupy her time, and to assist in balancing the family budget. She had found work with a Mr. Reed, a gentleman of years and considerable wealth, which he employed in the search for and the acquisition of weapons connected with the early history of the United States, particularly the period of colonial wars. These he displayed in a museum built with his own funds, in a pre-revolutionary fort, among whose ruins he had played as a boy, and which he had acquired by purchase as soon as he had come of age.

As the cab snored away down the long canyon of buildings, Tom took his wife's hand gently in his.

"I have never really liked your working," said he, "but these are dangerous times, and if I lost my job in some sudden cataclysm, it would have been bad. But all the money you made is in the bank, I got a raise instead of getting fired, and it seems to me the time has come for you to resign. Make an issue of this evening. Your husband is taking you to dinner and to the theater; you're ordered to go somewhere to make excuses for an old duck that's too lazy to telephone them. Don't go."

"Now, Tom, if Mr. Reed asked me to go in person, there was very good reason for it. Mr. Reed has been very patient with me. You have no idea what being secretary to a man whose hobby is collecting colonial weapons is like. I was practically useless to him for three months. I didn't know a pistol from a musket. Imagine me learning about the four types of pistols carried by the British troops in the first expedition to Tinkling Brook, and learning the names of the French regiments of the garrison that opposed them!"

The taxi stopped. The driver opened the door. Tom and Freda descended.

The house before which they stood was in the upper sixties, off Park avenue. It was round-bellied with bow windows, opulent with tall columns. As Freda and Tom mounted the steps the door swung open at their approach. Softly it swung shut again, leaving them in a palely lighted hall. The man who had closed the door took up his station in a niche where he could watch for other arrivals. A maid tripped fairylike from one doorway, a second man materialized from somewhere, and both made overtures to remove the newcomers' wraps.

"We have a message for Mr. Owens," said Freda. "We're not staying. Please tell Mr. Owens we have a message for him from Mr. Reed of Tinkling Brook."

The man servant bowed. Gently the two young people were propelled into another room. The door closed.

"Gee, I hope he doesn't keep us waiting," muttered Tom. "We'll be late for dinner." He rested his Tyrolean hat upon his knee. Freda opened her mouth as tho to speak, then remained silent. Tom placed the hat beneath his chair.

"Tom, dear," whispered Freda, "would you mind turning your hat so that the shaving brush part doesn't show?"

"It's not a shaving brush, Freda. It's the tail of a gemsbok, or a klipp springer, or something like that, a goat that lives in the high Alps, and is harder to catch than Rocky Mountain sheep. It's a decoration to have a bit of its tail. Supposed to show you shot one."

It was hardly a minute before the room door opened and an elderly man entered.

"You have a message from Mr. Reed?" he asked quickly. He was in evening dress, his stiff bosomed shirt creaking. Then as his eye fell upon Freda, he bowed. "I am Mr. Owens. Tell me, what has happened?"

"I am Mrs. Doremus," said Freda, "and this is my husband. I am Mr. Reed's secretary. Mr. Reed has been ill all day, and he just telephoned and asked me to come here to you and say that he could not possibly come to dinner tonight. He has a wretched cold, and is confined to his bed."

It was obvious that the news was a distinct disappointment to Mr. Owens.

"This is bad news," said he, "very bad indeed. I am sorry to hear he is ill. Very unfortunate. Most unfortunate."

Mr. Owens paced the length of the room, beating his hands.

"The inconvenience is not mine," said he at last, "but Reed's. I fear it will be more than inconvenience to him. It will be disaster. I gave this dinner tonight so that Reed might meet Sir Maury Howard and his sister, who are my house guests. They are sailing back to England the last of the week and have no other time free. In fact, it was only because I was a very personal friend that I was able to get Sir Maury to stay to dinner with us tonight. Their majesties are having a private reception for British residents and he had been invited to dine by the ambassador beforehand."

"I am sure," said Freda, "that Mr. Reed must be very ill indeed or he would have come. I know when he told me to bring his regrets personally that it was something serious and important."

"Yes," agreed Mr. Owens abstractedly, "you were quite right in coming in person. Sir Maury is an old fashioned Briton. They do not use the telephone as freely as we do. Well, now, of course you must see Sir Maury. Won't you leave your wraps and come upstairs? Or would you prefer that I brought Sir Maury down?"

"If you don't mind," coughed Tom, "we—that is, we are on our way to the theater, and we have to eat first, you know. Maybe we——"

"I'll bring him down," decided Mr. Owens, turning to the door.

"Please do whatever is most convenient," hurriedly urged Freda, "but it seems to me it would be better if we went upstairs. Don't you think it would be—that it would make the message more personal?"

Mr. Owens agreed. He opened the door and stepped into the hall, bowing them the way. Again maid and man servant appeared from the wings and this time they bore away as spoils of war Freda's wrap and Tom's coat and hat.

"This will grow to a brawl!" whispered Tom in Freda's ear as she tucked her hair into place before the mirror. "We'll miss the first act."

She made no answer, but as they followed Mr. Owens up the monumental staircase, she murmured to her husband, "I don't want an old fashioned Briton to see my husband in evening clothes with that Tyrolean hat."

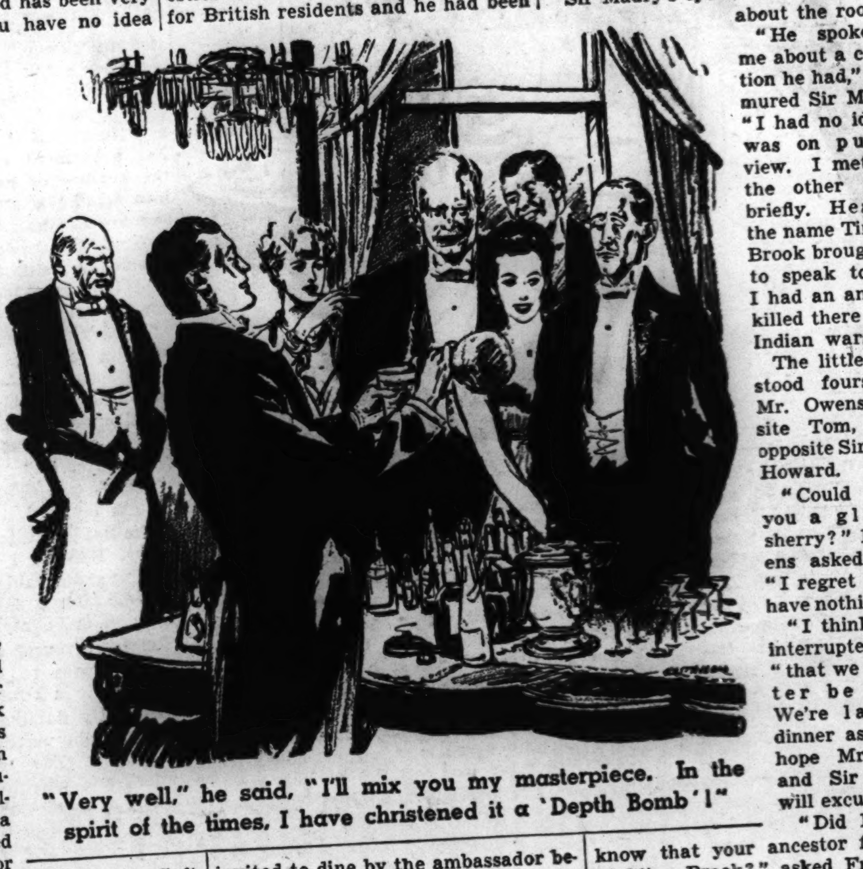
There were a few other guests, 10 perhaps, in the living room upstairs.

Sir Maury Howard was a slightly built man with thinning hair, and an expressionless eye. He wore, on the lapel of his tailcoat, a longish row of decorations.

"Very good of Mr. Reed to send me his regrets by such a charming messenger," said Sir Maury, after Freda and her husband had been presented. "You are his secretary? Dear me. I thought he was a country gentleman. What does Mr. Reed do with a secretary?"

"Mr. Reed's grandfather," explained Freda, "bought a property on Lake Champlain, on which were the ruins of an old fort built by the French, called Tinkling Brook. It has been his life work to restore the fort and to build a museum in it wherein to put weapons and colonial implements. We have a very magnificent collection there now. School children from all over the state, from all over the country, I might say, come to see it. So that is why he has a secretary."

Sir Maury's eye roamed regretfully about the room.



"Very well," he said. "I'll mix you my masterpiece. In the spirit of the times. I have christened it a 'Depth Bomb'!"

"He spoke to me about a collection he had," murmured Sir Maury. "I had no idea it was on public view. I met him the other night, briefly. Hearing the name Tinkling Brook brought me to speak to him. I had an ancestor killed there in the Indian wars."

The little group stood foursquare, Mr. Owens opposite Tom, Freda opposite Sir Maury Howard.

"Could I offer you a glass of sherry?" Mr. Owens asked Freda. "I regret that we have nothing else."

"I think, dear," interrupted Tom, "that we had better be going. We're late for dinner as it is. I hope Mr. Owens and Sir Howard will excuse us."

"Did Mr. Reed know that your ancestor fought at Tinkling Brook?" asked Freda, taking one step backward as tho to leave, hoping thus to pacify her husband's growing impatience.

"Rather. My ancestor, Lord Howard of Lochbouie, was in command of the first expedition against the French. I fancy he has heard of him." The bitter rasp in Sir Maury's voice changed to a gentle tremolo of regret. "I really had looked forward with pleasure to seeing Mr. Reed again. He had promised to mix me a cocktail."

There was a surprised silence of some seconds duration.

"A cocktail?" asked Freda. "You mean a drink?"

"Yes," said Sir Maury. "Each year when I return to London I bring back something of interest to the club, a new story, or some bit of amusing machinery or something. Mr. Owens suggested that Mr. Reed had the reputation of a great gentleman mixer. He thought a new cocktail would electrify my friends at the club." Sir Maury clasped his hands behind him and turned to observe with sorrow a remote corner of the room. Freda followed the direction of his gaze. There was a table there that she had not observed before, on which stood an array of bottles filled with various beverages made from fermented juice of grape or grain. There was a silver bowl of ice, and the implements for compounding mixtures.

Tom Doremus sought and found his wife's eye. To his lifted eyebrow and slight nod toward the door, she returned a cool pitiless glance.

"My husband is a gentleman mixer, too," said she. "Perhaps he could take Mr. Reed's place."

The effect of the remark on Mr. Owens, the host, and upon Sir Maury was terrific.

"Really now!" cried Sir Maury. "How fortunate!"

"You will mix something for us, of course," pleaded Mr. Owens hurriedly. "Do say yes. I had especially invited Mr. Reed to show his skill here with the liquid appetizers. Parlor trick, you know, like playing the piano."

Tom, with heart of ice, took up his stand behind the table of ingredients. He had in his day often mixed cocktails, but with no sense of proportion or component parts. For a panic second he thought that this might have been all arranged by Freda beforehand, and that she had given him the book on how to entertain with that in mind, but then he remembered that he had opened the book himself at that particular page. "Cocktails are simple to prepare," he seemed to remember, "if the ingredients are mixed in thirds."

"Well, Sir Maury," asked Tom, wrenching his face into a smile, "what will it be?"

"That's for you to decide. But let it be new. Martinis I have had before. We drink them even in England."

Tom seized three bottles at random. "Very well," said he, "I'll mix you my masterpiece. In the spirit of the times I have christened it a 'Depth Bomb'!"

"Hmmmm," observed Sir Maury, tasting. "Very good indeed. What did you put in it?"

Freda slipped away behind a group of guests, then reappeared at Sir Maury's elbow.

"I'm so sorry Mr. Reed couldn't come to talk with you about your colonial ancestor," she began. "Mr. Reed is interested, you know, in every little anecdote about the Tinkling Brook region. But perhaps you could tell me a little about it that I could repeat to Mr. Reed."

"Briefly," began Sir Maury, "my ancestor was Lord Howard of Lochbouie, in command of the expedition against Tinkling Brook, then held by the French. He had some American guides with him from Maine. They guided him into an ambush and then took to their heels and jolly well left him to be done by the savages."

Sir Maury Tells of the Lochbouie Pistols

"How awful! How do you know it's true?"

"Lord Howard had a very fine pair of pistols, such as every officer carried in those days in his sash. The Indians took them off his body and sold them to a French officer. The British recovered them when they captured the fort, but never returned them to the family, and they were there years afterward when the armed rabble seized the fort during the revolt of the colonies against England. A chap named Benedict Arnold was in that affair, and the pistols of my ancestor became his share of the loot. He left the service some time afterward and went to England, where he returned the pistols to my family. Very decent of him, don't you think?"

"Why, those are the Lochbouie pistols!" gasped Freda. "Mr. Reed has been hunting for trace of them for years. And your family has them! Just think what they would mean to the museum, something that has been connected with every phase of the life of Tinkling Brook, and with the beginning of the nation."

Sir Maury did not seem to have heard. He contemplated his empty glass.

"I say, young man, how about the other half of this?" he asked.

Tom immediately refilled his glass.

"I had heard, of course, of Lord Lochbouie," began Freda, "but I never knew his name was Howard. Of course, in those days, a gentleman could be called by his family name or the name of any property he owned. I don't recognize the story, either. I have always heard that Lord Lochbouie went scouting by himself, altho his guides told him the Indians were very near, and that he must not leave the circle of the camp. He disregarded it and was cut off and killed. So his pistols were saved and finally returned to the family! What a story! Tell me, do you have them where people can admire them?"

"Er-no. A plate had been added to the case in which the pistols were kept that said, 'Presented to Benedict Arnold by Ethan Allen, for military merit.' Caused considerable com-

What Has Gone Before

Lisle Jerningham, bride of six months, runs away from a house party when she hears gossip that her husband, Dale, killed his first wife for her money and was attempting to kill Lisle when she was almost drowned recently. Lisle confesses what she had heard to Miss Maud Silver, a private investigator she meets on the train, and Miss Silver gives Lisle her business card in case she should ever need it. Dale and Lisle live at Tanfield, the Jerningham estate that has been in the family for 500 years. Dale has poured most of his first wife's money into it, and Lisle feels that the upkeep is so expensive they should sell it and live in their smaller house. Lisle learns that Alicia Steyne, cousin of Dale, has been in love with Dale for many years and tries to turn Rafe Jerningham, another cousin, against Lisle. When Lisle tells Dale why she left the house party he becomes furious, and that night he hears her talk in her sleep about Miss Silver. He opens Lisle's bag and finds Miss Silver's card, reads it, and replaces it.

"I always say Tanfield is like one of those monsters they used to make offerings to . . . the virgin sacrifice, you know."

INSTALMENT III.

THE room was very quiet when Dale came into it again. He slid the drawer into place and stood for a moment listening to the stillness, then moved nearer to the bed. Lisle stirred, caught her breath between a sob and a groan, and woke. There was a moment of terror, because the room was dark and some one was there—not speaking, not moving. And then, as he said her name, terror rushed out and joy rushed in.

She said in a warm voice, "O, darling, you frightened me," and he came and knelt down beside her and put his arms round her.

"You frightened me. You were calling out in your sleep. What was it—a dream?"

"O, yes—a horrible dream. But it doesn't matter now."

Nothing mattered if Dale were there—if Dale were kind. There were no more dreams, and when she woke up the sun was on the windows and Dale was pouring tea. Whatever cloud there had been between them, it had gone as completely as if it had never been. He was going over to the aerodrome after breakfast—he was crazy about flying just now. They talked about that, and about flying, and about what a bit of luck it had been getting his own price for the flying-ground. That is to say, he did most of the talking, and Lisle was happy because Dale was pleased.

"I wonder what my father would have said if any one had told him all that moorland would fetch a fancy price. But there'll be a subsidy worth having on wheat if there's a war—and it's bound to come. In my great-grandfather's time you could stand up there where the aerodrome is and see nothing but wheat, so long as you stood with your back to the sea. Funny if it all came back again. There were big fortunes made then. But that won't happen again, worse luck. They'll skin our profits down somehow, damn them."

He was sitting on the edge of the bed, his hair rumpled and his eyes smiling. Blue and white striped pajamas set off the clear brown skin. The open collar showed the strong neck. She felt the old hero-worship for him spring up in her.

He laughed and said, "What are you thinking about?" and when she said, "You," he kissed her and with his arm half round her went on.

"Keep right on doing it, darling, because I want to talk to you."

She said "What about?" and her heart went cold in her when he said, "Tanfield."

Lisle Feels That Lives Hang on Dale's Answer

Dale sat back a little so that he could look at her. His hand slid down from her shoulder and rested against her knee.

"You see, I've got to give Tatham an answer."

"Yes——" She could manage no more than that.

It seemed to her that all their lives hung on the answer which Dale would presently have to make. If he would take Mr. Tatham's offer, sell Tanfield and move those two miles inland to the Manor House, they would be free to live and be happy. But if there was something in him that wouldn't let him sell, then they must stay here, and Tanfield would suck them dry until they were old, gray dead people dragging an intolerable burden up an unending hill. Her hands came together and held each other tightly, as if they would hold on to something Dale was trying to take away, not from her—not just from her—but from both of them.

He leaned on his hand and said:

"It's a good price. Most people would say I was a fool if I refused it. But you're not most people, Lisle—you're my wife. If I have a son to come after me here, you'll be his mother. That's what I want to talk to you about." His voice changed suddenly and broke. "It's so difficult to make you understand. And I've got a beast of a temper. I get angry, and then I say things, and you get hurt and frightened and we don't get any farther. But I thought—we might talk about it—differently. I thought you might—try to understand my point of view."

"I'll try."

He sat up, looking away from her.

"Well, it's this way. When you've had a place as long as we've had Tanfield, it doesn't belong to you. It's like your country—you belong to it—it comes first. Look at all the pictures in the long gallery. Those people have all lived here, had their time here. Most of them have added something in their time. And they're gone—the whole lot of them. But Tanfield is here, and Tanfield is going to be here when we're gone, and if we have sons, Tanfield will go on being here after their time too. Don't you see what I mean? It doesn't matter about us, and it doesn't matter about our children. We shall go, and they'll go, but Tanfield will go on."

His eyes had kindled and the color had come to his cheek. Lisle gazed at him with a sort of paralyzed horror. He had said: "Try to understand," and she had said: "I'll try." But she didn't have to try. It was easy enough to understand, and the more she understood of it, the more it horrified her. People, human lives, herself and Dale, their children—all of no account in comparison with a great soulless barrack of a house, made uglier and more expensive by the successive sacrifices of each generation. It was a point of view and she could understand it well enough, but it seemed to her quite mad, quite horrible.

Dale got up, walked to the window, and came back again. He hadn't moved her—he could see that he hadn't moved her. No color, no response. Her eyes watching him.

He flung himself down beside her.

"Not while you feel like that. O, Lisle darling, can't you see? It's no good going to Mr. Robson unless you feel different. I know you've asked him to let you put some of your capital into keeping Tanfield, and if you ask him a hundred times, he'll still say no, because he can see that you don't really mean it. If you felt differently, he'd let you do it. It's because he knows you hate Tanfield that he won't help you to save it."

She looked up at him piteously.

"I'll ask him, Dale—I will."

He walked over to the window and stood looking out.

Lisle was sitting up clear of her pillows. She was quite rigid with the strain she was putting upon herself—on her body to keep it from shaking, on her voice to hold it steady, on her heart to keep down the cold surge of fear, on her mind and will to make them want what Dale wanted. If she truly and really wanted to keep Tanfield she could persuade Mr. Robson. Dale had just said so, and it was true.

"Lisle — darling! What a brute I am! Why do you love me? You do, don't you? But I can't think why. Look here, we're never going to talk about this again. I'll go into everything right down to bedrock, and if I find I can't manage I'll take Tatham's offer. I've got till the end of the week, and I might be able to spin it out beyond that. There's just a chance the air ministry may want more ground—there's all this talk of expansion. I'll see if I can't get something definite out of them before I answer Tatham."

He was sitting by her on the bed with his arm round her, his face alive and interested, all the tension gone. He put his cheek against hers and rocked her.

"I can't go up today—I'm flying. Damn! So I am tomorrow too! But I'll tell you what, I'll write to Jarvis and tell him to nose out what he can, and I'll go up tomorrow afternoon. You can drive me in to Ledlington to catch the 3:20. Then I'll get hold of Jarvis and find out how the land lies, and if it's at all promising I'll go round to the ministry in the morning. How's that for a scheme?"

She looked at him with a warm, happy smile. Her heart sang. Everything was all right again. She said,

"It's a lovely plan."

He dropped his head on her shoulder.

"Don't stop loving me, Lisle."

They were at breakfast next day, when Alicia was called to the telephone. Rafe had finished, and sat with his chair pushed back, smoking a cigaret. He worked in the designing department of the firm which had bought a site for their new aircraft factory from Dale a couple of years ago. He sat with his eye on the clock, dallying, as he always did, until the last possible moment.

Aimee Mallam Invites Herself to Luncheon

Alicia came back into the room with a bright, mocking smile. She dropped into her chair and addressed herself to Dale.

"That, darling, was Aimee."

"Aimee who?"

She laughed.

"Have you got more than one? I should have thought she was enough and a little bit over. Aimee Mallam, darling. And she's staying with the Crawfords, and she wants to come over to lunch today."

"What fun!" said Rafe. "Devastating for me to have to miss her. But there'll be all the more for you." He got up lazily and blew Lisle a kiss. "My child, you don't know your luck. Give her my fondest love."

"If you don't hurry," said Alicia, "you'll be late."

"Not quite," said Rafe. "I cut it fine, but I don't overstep. That's what old Mallaby said to me no later than Saturday morning. Goodby children—enjoy yourselves." He went out, leaving the door open.

Dale got up and shut it. He had a controled, angry look.

"What did you say to her, Alicia?"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"What does one say?" She put on a polite mimicking voice. "'My dear, how wonderful! We shall simply love to see you—especially Dale.' That's what I said."

"Don't be a fool, Lal! She can't come here today. I'm flying this morning, and I'm going up to town this afternoon. Lisle's driving me in to Ledlington, so unless you want to have Aimee all to yourself——" His eyes met hers, and saw them brighten.

"O, no, you don't darling! Aimee's not my pigeon."

"Then you'll just go back and tell her she can't come!"

Lisle sat there a little bewildered, a little out of it. Aimee Mallam——For a moment the name stayed on the surface of her mind, then sank into it like a stone. That was the woman who had talked on the other side of the hedge—Rafe's wasp in treacle. A cold, faint shudder went thru her. She looked at Alicia and saw her shake an emphatic head.

"I can't do that." She dropped her mocking manner. "Look here, you'd much better let her come and get it over. She won't be here till 1 o'clock, and if you're catching the 3:20—I suppose it is the 3:20—we can push off at a quarter to."

"We?"

Alicia laughed.

"I'm not going to be thrown to the wolves. Besides, I want to fetch my car. Langham said it would be ready any time after 3, so I'll do some shopping and drive myself home."

She came round the table to Dale, standing close to him, and let her voice fall to a confidential murmur.

"Honestly, darling, you'd better let her come. She was full of hints about why hadn't she seen you at the Cranes', and why had Lisle gone off in such a hurry—she so particularly wanted to meet her. You know the kind of thing—the more you try and put her off, the more determined she'll be. And she'll go away and say you wouldn't let her meet Lisle."

The words were pitched for his ear, but Lisle caught them. They made her feel as if she were eavesdropping. She saw Alicia's look and Dale's black frown. Her cheeks burned as she pushed back her chair and ran out of the room.

Neither Dale nor Alicia noticed whether she stayed or went. There was a struggle between them—or rather, a new version of an old struggle. He frowned, but he couldn't frown her down. The bright malice of her glance said, "Why are you frightened of Aimee? You are. I could have protected you — I'm her match. Why should I protect you? You didn't wait for me. You chose Lisle—let her protect you." The malice melted into soft mocking laughter.

"Better make a virtue of necessity, darling—she'll come anyhow," she said, and stood on tiptoe to kiss the point of his chin.

Lisle spent the morning trying to arm herself with a valor which she did not possess. She put on a new dress, straw-colored linen to match her hair, and was heartened to see how she looked in it. She used a little more color than she generally did, because whatever happened, Aimee Mallam wasn't going to see her looking pale. After all, what could she do or say at Dale's table and to his very face? She was making herself wretched for nothing at all. The treacle would probably hide the wasp, and there would be an end of it.

Mrs. Mallam arrived in a snappy little car and too smart a dress. It had a very short flared skirt and a tight bodice of an emerald green and white striped material. She wore it with green shoes and a twisted emerald hair-band under which her hair showed overpoweringly thick and golden.

There was too much hair, and too much gold to be true—a great deal too much. There was also too much bust to be so tightly encased in such vivid stripes. There was too much calf to be so freely displayed. But in curious contrast to all this overemphasis there was too little of it elsewhere. The eyes, which should have been large and blue, were narrow, rather closely set, and of a light uncertainty of hue.

She embraced Alicia, put a hand covered with rings on Dale's arm, and said, looking at Lisle:

"So this is the bride. Which of you do I congratulate?"

It was the voice which had said "A lucky accident for Dale." It drawled, as if clogged with its own heavy sweetness.

For a moment Lisle was numb and dumb. And then, like an automaton, she was shaking hands and saying "How do you do." Mrs. Mallam's hand, plump and warm in a wash-leather glove, clung to hers, pressing it. Her voice drawled:

"I shall congratulate Dale."

Her other hand was still on his arm. She turned to him.

"But I'm about six months too late. I expect you've heard it all hundreds of times."

He smiled down at her.

"The more the merrier, Aimee. I know how lucky I am—I can't hear about it too often."

Aimee Mallam laughed.

"O, my dear, but you always were lucky. How do you do it? I wish I had the secret."

Aimee and Dale Carry Burden of Conversation

Lunch went pleasantly enough, at least for Aimee Mallam. She and Dale did most of the talking. Alicia, not in the best of tempers, came darting in when it pleased her. She ate nothing but fruit.

"But, darling, you don't have to diet," said Aimee Mallam.

Alicia's eyes rested for a moment upon Aimee's well filled plate. She said,

"My dear, when you have to it's too late. I'm keeping my figure."

Mrs. Mallam burst out laughing.

"I can't be bothered about mine. If it wants to go back on me it must. I adore my food, and I don't care who knows it." She turned to Lisle. "You don't know how disappointed I was to miss you at the Cranes'. I couldn't believe my ears when I heard you were gone. You see, I didn't get down there till nearly midnight on the Friday, because I dropped in on my cousin Lady Lowstock on the way, and she insisted on keeping me to dinner. Very naughty of her, and very naughty of me. Marian Crane was furious, but, as I said to her, 'Pamela and I were cousins for about 20 years before you and I ever met, and she simply insisted.' You've met the Lowstocks, of course?"

"I'm afraid I haven't."

Mrs. Mallam looked shocked.

"Whatever has Dale been doing? He ought to have taken you all round and introduced you to everyone. Wanted to keep you all to himself, I suppose. But he must take you over to see Pamela Lowstock. She's such a delightful creature—and a very old friend of Dale's. In fact there was a time—but we mustn't rake up old stories now, must we?"

Alicia's light laugh rang out.

"But why not, Aimee? There's no lie like an old one—no one can check up on it, for one thing."

She got a rap on the arm and a slow slanting smile.

"Always so amusing, darling." She turned back to Lisle. "You shall take me round the garden, and I'll tell you about all Dale's old flames."

This entertainment did not, however come off. When lunch was over and coffee disposed of, Dale announced that he had a train to catch, and that Lisle was driving him and Alicia into Ledlington. There was no time to go round the garden.

If Mrs. Mallam were disappointed she did not show it. She turned an unruffled smile upon Lisle and asked if she might go upstairs with her.

"Just a few running repairs, my dear Dale."

If he had intended to prevent a

IN THE BALANCE

tête-à-tête, he was now hopelessly at a disadvantage. Alicia, who might have afforded him some support, merely raised a sarcastic eyebrow and vanished in the direction of her own room. Dale had perforce to see Lisle and Aimee go side by side up the black and white marble steps. As they came toward him again along the gallery overhead, their voices reached him—or rather Aimee's voice:

"There isn't any place quite like Tanfield."

Mrs. Mallam repeated the remark as she sat powdering her nose in front of Lisle's mirror. It stood at an angle to the light and reflected the whole room. In spite of three long windows the effect was one of gloom.

Mrs. Mallam turned a well powdered nose upon her hostess.

"My dear, why don't you do it all up? It's a beautiful room, but you're not your great-grandmother. Doesn't it give you the pip, all this boiled beef and spinach?"

Lisle found herself jarred, and yet with an inward response. She was getting used to Mrs. Mallam's voice. Now that she had heard it say so many other things, the effect of what it had said from behind the yew hedge was wearing off. She thought Mrs. Mallam ill-bred and tiresome, but she was glad she had come, because the very fact that she was so obviously just a vulgar mischief-maker deprived what she had said of any real value. She spoke quite pleasantly and easily now.

"It's rather dark and old fashioned, but don't you think it suits the room? After all, Tanfield court is old, you know, and I don't think Dale would like to have anything changed."

Lisle Finds No Words to Change the Subject

When Aimee Mallam laughed her lips did not part. They stretched in a thin slanting line and the laugh came gurgling out like water from a close necked bottle. No, not water—treacle. Rafe's word—and Rafe was right.

"Well, my dear, Dale's made one change for the better, anyhow. You didn't know Lydia, I suppose. O, no—you couldn't have. You wouldn't have been more than 10 or 12 years old when she—died."

Lisle said, "I suppose not." She wanted to say something that would change the subject, but nothing would come.

Aimee looked at her out of narrowed eyes and smiled her tilted smile.

"You know, it really was astounding that he should have married her. Of course she had money, but Dale might have married anyone. My cousin Pamela Lowstock was crazy about him. But you needn't worry about her now, because she's devoted to her Josiah. Lowstock's Peerless Ales, you know. Pots and pots of money. And she hadn't a bean, so it's just as well Dale didn't fall for her, because of course he simply had to marry money. I always say Tanfield is like one of those monsters they used to make offerings to." She laughed her treacly laugh. "The virgin sacrifice, you know. Jerninghams have always married money—they've got to—and Tanfield just swallows it and asks for more."

Something in Lisle was stirred to anger. Something else bowed a weeping head and said:

"Yes, it's true." She turned pale, but she forced her lips to smile. "That sounds rather creepy. Are you ready? Shall we go down?"

Dale had said that Lisle was driving them into Ledlington. Actually he took the wheel himself. It was Lisle's own car, but, like so many good drivers, to be driven by somebody else fretted him past bearing. Lisle was a good deal relieved to see him get into the driver's seat. She would have left the place beside him to Alicia, but he called out such an impatient "Nonsense — that's your place!" that she slipped into it without further protest.

Alicia shut the rear door a little harder than she need have done. She had thrown on a vivid black and white checked coat over her sleeveless linen and bound her dark curls with a white band. Her color stood high and her eyes were bright. Lisle, weather wise, took comfort from the thought that she would not have to drive Alicia back.

Dale drove slowly for him. He had pushed Aimee Mallam off by making what she had stigmatized as an absurd fuss about having plenty of time to catch his train, but now that they were on the road, he dawdled up the steep, crooked lane between Tanfield village and the main Ledlington road. The way ran level from there, level and rather high, but the village was tucked into a hollow, with a long gentle slope down from Tanfield court, and that steep crooked climb to the Ledlington road.

"Are we going to a funeral?" said Alicia tartly from her back seat.

Dale made no answer. He was frowning over the wheel. After a moment he said abruptly:

"When did you have this car out last, Lisle?"

She said, "Yesterday."

He went on frowning.

"Notice anything odd about the steering?"

"O, no. Is anything the matter?"

He was still frowning and intent.

"No—I don't know—I thought it felt odd just now on the hill. You'd better be careful coming back. Get Evans to take her out and test her. That's where we're going to miss Pell—best mechanic I've ever had."

Lisle said, "Evans"—and would have done better to hold her tongue.

"Evans is a driver. I don't suppose you know the difference. Women are all fools about machinery, and you're worse than most. I was a fool myself to let Pell go."

Alicia laughed.

"O, darling, you couldn't possibly keep a mechanic who played fast and loose with the village maidens—not with Lisle in the house. Of course he had to go."

Lisle straightened herself. She spoke to Dale, not to Alicia.

"It was your own decision. The Coles are your tenants. You said he must go after Miss Cole came up and saw you about Cissie."

She met a scowling look, but her own held firm. Tanfield and Tanfield's tenants — that touched his pride. And Pell was an outsider from Packman way. Alicia had no business to butt in—it wasn't her affair. He said in a grumbling voice,

"Anything wrong with the steering puts the wind up me."

Lisle said, "It was all right yesterday." The question of the steering did not disturb her at all. Dale was used to driving a much larger car. Small cars irked him, and he never drove hers without finding something wrong—ignition too far advanced, brakes not properly adjusted—there was always something. She was a fair driver, but like most women she knew and cared nothing about the mechanism. She therefore gave no more attention to Dale's remarks about the steering than to hope that he was not going to be vexed.

Dale talked about cars in general and the shortcomings of Lisle's car in particular the whole way to Ledlington station. He was obviously out of humor, not only with the car but with its owner. Quite definitely Lisle received the impression that it was her fault if there was something wrong with the steering.

And behind that impression another one—if she had a better car, Dale would be better pleased. And why hadn't she a better car? She had plenty of money. If she kept a car which was a reproach to her husband—well, I ask you, doesn't it show a mean streak somewhere? None of these things got into words—Dale's manner said them, not Dale's tongue. But once at least his manner spoke so plainly that Alicia laughed in obvious enjoyment.

Dale Asks Lisle to Look After Steering

When they reached the station, however, there was a change. He put his hand on Lisle's and squeezed it.

"You're such a fool about cars," he said. "All women are, but you're worse than most."

Only the words were harsh. His voice melted into her, and his eyes smiled. She turned to meet them, suddenly radiant.

"I'm not!"

"O, aren't you just? Now, look here, darling. I'm not happy about the steering. Get it looked at. You'd better do it now. Take her round to Langham's."

"O, but—"

"You'd better. I should feel happier about it."

He let go her hand, kissed her lightly on the cheek, and jumped out.

"See you tomorrow," he said. He waved to them both and was gone.

Lisle watched him out of sight before she started the car. Perhaps this was one of the things, all small in themselves, which brought Alicia's temper to the breaking point. As the car moved, she spoke. There was a sweet, dangerous tension in her voice.

"Well, I suppose you like being babied like that. Pretty sickening, I should have thought. 'Darling, you're a fool!'" She dropped her voice to mimic Dale's with surprising accuracy. "I'd like to see a man talk to me like that!"

Something inside Lisle said in a whisper, "You'd like Dale to say it to you—O, yes, you would." But her lips said nothing. She turned the car carefully and drove out of the station yard.

Langham's garage was half way down the street on the right. She had to go there anyhow to drop Alicia. Every second counted heavily until she could get rid of Alicia. She mustn't answer back, she mustn't quarrel. It would vex Dale beyond words if she had a quarrel with Alicia. She must drop her at the garage and get away quickly.

But Dale had said wait and have the steering tested.

O, no, she couldn't—not with Alicia like this. Evans could see to it at home, and Dale wouldn't really mind as long as it was all right.

And all the time Alicia was talking with a kind of soft fury.

"Can't you stick up for yourself at all—not to Dale—not to any one? Haven't you got a drop of red blood in you? I don't believe you have! Milk and water—that's what you've got in your veins! How long do you think Dale's going to put up with milk and water?" A little bitter laugh broke thru. "Haven't you even got the spirit to damn me for saying that? Upon my soul, I don't believe you have!"

Lisle drew the car in to the curb. The garage entrance lay just ahead. She opened the door, got out, and stood there, pale but not trembling now. She opened the rear door and waited until Alicia got out.

They stood there together for a moment, and now they were both pale. Alicia without color was Alicia spoiled. There were marks like bruises under her eyes. She looked her age, and more. But Lisle looked very young — heartrendingly young, like a child accused of some fault it does not understand. She said:

"Are you sure your car will be ready? I'll wait while you find out."

Alicia stared at her.

"Wait? You'll have to wait for your own car, baby. Won't you? You needn't wait for mine—it's ready."

Lisle said nothing. She got into the car and drove away.

THE TYROLEAN HAT

ment when Americans saw it, I'm told. They had queer ideas about this chap Arnold. So my father put them away in the garret."

Sir Maury turned to Tom, who had been shaking up another serving.

"You do very well," said Sir Maury. "I wonder if I could have one of a different sort this time?"

"Sir?"

"What other kind of mixture do you know? What about something the Indians used to drink? Haven't you one of those? I believe the Cubans have a famous cocktail, called the Rhumba or something like that."

"Well, sir," smiled Tom, "you know these cocktails are nice to take, but we don't drink them at random. It's best to stick to one kind. They don't get along together in the system at all."

"You are not insinuating that I am weak-headed by any chance?" rasped Sir Maury. "Really, now, come. I shan't catch a cropper with these orange blossoms."

"I think the story of those pistols is fascinating," she smiled. "Wouldn't you like to have them in the place of honor in the museum at Tinkling Brook, with all their story on a card above them, where thousands of people could see them?"

"Thank you, no," said Sir Maury. His manner exuded ice. "My ancestor was left to a horrid fate by those whom he trusted. His relics shall not be displayed as trophies, perhaps to descendants of his betrayers, so that they might exult over their elders' treachery."

"But that's only one version," cried Freda. "If Lord Lochbouie went wandering into the forests by himself you can't blame——"

"Will you excuse me?" bowed Sir Maury. "The discussion is painful to me." He stalked to the table, where Tom seemed to be preparing to cease operations.

"Young man, once in London I had a cocktail called a stinger. Made out of brandy, I believe. Could you toss me one up?"

"I can," said Tom. "That's one I remember from my fraternity days. But that breaks the rule; it's half and half."

"Let's have it."

"I'll mix it and just leave you the shaker," said Tom. "My wife and I must really be pushing on."

Their host accompanied Freda and Tom to the door.

They had their wraps and were saying good-by when a lady came somewhat hurriedly down the stairs. She was Sir Maury Howard's sister.

"Maury has a headache coming on," she began. "He's afraid he's not going to be able to go to their majesties' reception."

"Really?" asked the host with concern. "That will be terrible. No, really now, a little black coffee——"

"O, no," said the sister quickly, "he is not going. I have a better plan. There will be 200 people there at least. I have our card of invitation." She turned to Freda. "Could you just turn it in at the door? It will be checked against the list of guests as having been present, and no one will know that Maury didn't present it in person. You have only to go into the hotel, you know, to the ballroom, leave the card, and walk out again. Could you do it? It would save my brother a great deal of—that is, if he should not appear, or make some gesture, it would be quite frightful."

"I'd like to help you," said Freda, "but my husband could never represent Sir Maury. My husband is not in evening clothes. That is, fully. I've been to British functions before. Every one wears a high hat. My husband—hasn't—got one."

"Nonsense! Let him take Maury's topper and return it in the morning. Maury's not going to be needing it."

Tom and Freda Go to Royal Reception

The two young people once more snored down the canyon, Tom balancing the high hat of Sir Maury on his knee.

"O, Tom," pleaded Freda, "I was only trying to do my best. I thought if Sir Maury would only lend those pistols, I could tell Mr. Reed that now I would resign. I fulfilled one of his life's ambitions, getting those Lochbouie pistols."

"I don't know," said Tom gloomily. "I'd think you'd have excuse enough by saying his errand had broken up a very fine celebration."

"But we're going to a royal reception," breathed Freda. "All the money in the world couldn't get us into that."

Tom, high silk hat on arm, proud of his wife, entered the richest hotel in the city. The British colors were displayed, uniformed police stood about thickly. But all drew back at the sight of the silk hat that marked the wearer as a Briton. Only at the private elevator was he discreetly asked for his card of invitation.

"Sir Maury Howard," whispered the man on watch to another, who checked a list. "And the Honorable Clementine Howard."

Then the elevator carried them above to fairyland. Soft music played, beauty and chivalry walked about arm in arm, and all was hush and spell of royalty.

"Their majesties," Freda heard a lady say, "will not be here until promptly at 9:30."

Freda and her husband looked at each other. "Shall we stay?" she breathed. Silently her husband nodded his awe-stricken consent.

It was late. Their majesties had appeared. Freda and Tom had both shaken their hands. Then afterward they had danced until their feet would hold them up no more. And so taken their departure.

On the main floor, as Tom and Freda left, the man who had taken Tom's card of invitation stepped forward.

"Forgive me, sir," said the man, "but there was a person appeared, giving his name as Sir Maury Howard. We did not of course admit him, his card having been already presented. We thought you might be interested to know of the occurrence, sir."

"O, what happened to him? What did he do?" coughed Tom.

"Why, he became rather violent. As a matter of fact, the police had to chuck him out."

"What made you so sure he was not Sir Maury?" gasped Freda.

The man smiled. "He was a bounder," said he. "Quite intoxicated. He was wearing a most horrible green hat."

The next day at noon, Freda and Tom returned to the opulent house with its well-fed windows.

"Have you the silk hat?" asked Freda.

Tom displayed a paper bag. "We'd better hurry in," he advised. "Sir Maury will probably be still in bed. We can get my hat and get out before he wakes up."

They went in and stated their business to the passionless manservant.

"In the confusion last night—my confusion——" explained Tom. "I took the wrong hat. I think this belongs to Sir Maury Howard. Will you give it to him?"

The man servant bowed and took the paper bag.

"Have you found mine?" asked Tom. "It was a green one, Tyrolean. With a little brush in the back."

The man servant bowed again. "Sir Maury Howard," said he "left word that Mr. Doremus was to be announced, should he call."

The door opened and Sir Maury Howard entered. He bore in his eyes and pallid cheeks the marks of a rough night. The hand he extended to Freda shook ever so slightly.

"Mrs. Doremus," he began, "and sir. I have but now come from my bath. There was a bit of a tempest blowing last night. Won't you sit down? Please do. I—I find trouble in standing myself. Mr. Doremus, I have an apology to make to you, sir. In my hurry last night I went out with your hat."

"O, that's all right!" Tom hastened to assure him. "I went out with yours."

"I regret to say, however," continued Sir Maury, "that I lost yours. Er—I was to attend a reception given by some eminent personages. I had no idea that I was so frothed. Fancy, I forgot my card of invitation. Quite properly, I was refused admittance." He put his hand to his brow. "If the eminent personages had even seen me such as I was, it would have been frightful, perfectly frightful."

The others reserved their opinions. They did not dare say it would have been frightful, for that would have intimated that they knew of Sir Maury's condition. To say, on the other hand, that it would not have been frightful, would have been to cast discredit on the eminent personages, as being accustomed to symptoms of over-indulgence in their guests.

"What I was about to say, however," continued Sir Maury, "is that I have lost your hat. I believe it was somewhat of an unusual bit of headgear."

"You lost it?" cried Freda.

"I fear so," Sir Maury's tone was most contrite. Gone was the stiff spine, the haughty chin in the air, the cold, fish-eyed glance. "I exchanged words with a constable. It was at that time I lost your hat. I was annoyed that they would not admit me without my invitation. I fear they ejected me. Happily there will be no evidence as to who I was."

"But the hat——" began Tom.

"That is what saved me from being recognized," said Sir Maury. "No one would ever think for a moment that Sir Maury Howard would appear anywhere in a hat like that."

Sir Maury Promises to Lend Pistols

Tom rose to depart, and Freda followed.

"Touching upon the matter of the Lochbouie pistols," began Sir Maury, "I have reconsidered the matter. I gathered from your conversation last night that it would please you no end if I were to loan them to some museum here. I will be very happy to do this, in token of my appreciation to you and your husband. I owe it you for saving me from appearing to a great disadvantage at the reception. If you will have the museum get in touch with me, I will arrange to have the pistols delivered to them."

"Really?" cried Freda. "O, Mr. Reed will be delighted. Nothing on earth would mean so much to him as to have those pistols."

"That's great!" added Tom. "Gee, that's really awfully good of you. We'll tell him just how much it means to you, with your feelings about your ancestor and all."

"I do this," said Sir Maury, "in retribution for the unkind things we have said about the demise of Lord Howard of Lochbouie. The version my family had accepted all along I can now believe has been wrong. I can see how my illustrious ancestor might have been intolerant of warnings, and so, in his ignorance, have come to a horrid end. I fear we British do not realize when exploring the American wilderness, be it about the Indians or about cocktails, we must follow the advice of the colonists."

After Freda and Tom had departed, they walked as far as the corner in silence.

"O, I'm so glad," began Freda, "that it turned out that way. Now I can say to Mr. Reed that having gained his life's ambition, he won't need a secretary any more. Then I will have time to go downtown with you, Tom dearest, and help you pick out a decent hat."

Women of Fashion This Season Wear Black Lace Gowns

Such Dresses Prominent at Halifax Event

By Judith Cass.

No matter what else she has this spring, a woman of fashion must have a black lace dress, or else she isn't a person of fashion. In the balcony of the Drake hotel ballroom on the night Lord Halifax talked to the Commercial club, virtually every other woman of the two or three hundred was in black lace. No two of the gowns were alike, either. It is wonderful what a variety of styles can be achieved with the same material!

We haven't seen a better dressed nor a more representative group of Chicago women in months than the one that crowded the balcony that night to hear the British ambassador. It looked as tho the Assembly ball list had been invited. And, to show how pleased they were at having been invited, thus breaking all precedent in the Commercial club, the women were all in their very newest and smartest clothes. The center of attention, of course, was the wife of the speaker.

• • •

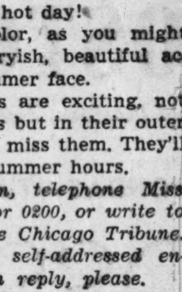
Sitting in the center of the balcony, exactly opposite her husband and looking down on him [something she seldom does, no doubt, for he is over six feet tall and she is about five feet four] as he sat in the ballroom, was Lady Halifax, slim and almost girlish looking in spite of her gray hair. She wore an exquisite gown of fine black net, stiffened, with black velvet bows at the shoulders and smaller bows of the same ribbon in her curls. The gown had a cape effect that covered her upper arms. Her flowers were white orchids and around her shoulders was a cape of stone marten.

Lady Halifax's dinner hostess, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, sat next to the English visitor. Mrs. Valentine was stately and stunning in pale blue crêpe trimmed with 10 inch fringe of the same soft color. Her throat was encircled by many strands of pearls, and at her shoulder was a huge corsage of purple orchids. Just in case you think a busy diplomat does not have time to notice feminine clothes, when Lady Halifax introduced Mrs. Valentine to Lord Halifax at the English-Speaking union on Saturday afternoon she said: "This was my charming hostess Thursday night." "Yes, I saw you sitting beside Dorothy, and wearing a beautiful blue gown," said the gallant Englishman, as he shook hands with Mrs. Valentine.

• • •

One of the gayest gowns in the balcony was worn by Mrs. William McCormick Blair, who had on one of the chic new big prints. The background was white and splashed on it in bold coloring and design were red and green flowers. Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, and Mrs. James C. Cathcart were a few of the many women in black lace that night. Mrs. Linn never looked better than she does this spring. Her skin is the color of café au lait, for she has spent the entire winter in the south, and with her white curls she is as pretty as a picture.



Mrs. Homer Hargrave

Mrs. Henry Roberts is wearing a spectacular outfit these fine spring days when she comes to town from her Barrington home. The costume consists of a bright red woolen suit and a little narrow-brimmed green hat trimmed with a big bunch of red poppies and yards of green veiling that ties in a big bow under her chin.

Mrs. Homer Hargrave, formerly Colleen Moore of movie and doll house fame, was wearing a charming dinner dress when she and Mr. Hargrave went to Orchestra hall the other night to see Veloz and Yolanda dance. The gown had a white background with rather small flame tulips and bright green leaves printed on it. There was a bolero jacket, which, when removed, revealed a formal décolleté gown. Her slippers exactly matched the tulips in color. Her wrap was a stunning, long, fitted coat of dark green velvet.

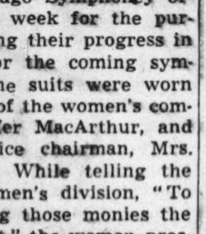
Two of the best looking suits-about-town this season were in evidence, and prominently, at a meeting the men of the Chicago Symphoney orchestra held last week for the purpose of announcing their progress in raising money for the coming symphony season. The suits were worn by the chairman of the women's committee, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, and her Winnetka vice chairman, Mrs. E. V. L. Brown. While telling the crede of the women's division, "To be of help getting those monies the men could not get," the women present could not help but admire the chairman's grab. Of gray plaid, simply tailored, with a plait in the skirt, the suit was ideal with sables for the city; without, for the country. Mrs. MacArthur was wearing a sable scarf, and a peaked hat with some bright red in it.

Mrs. Brown, who walked away with top honors in the amount of money reported, was wearing a traditional suit of tailored Oxford gray cloth, an ageless sort of garment that always looks new, for one can have it copied year after year with a minor change here and there and always be in perfect style.

• • •



Mrs. George A. Kelly.

Mrs. George Arthur Kelly, who seemingly never wears the same hat twice, had on a stunning white straw sailor with a rather high crown that looked like a riding bowler and, at the same time, had a Gibson girl effect, perhaps because a smart beige suit went under it. Every one admired Mrs. Frank D. Mayer's charming white straw hat covered with little white flowers and a touch of bright red ribbon. The collar and revers of her smart black bolero outfit were of snowy white.

There was something charming and old fashioned, too, about the costume of Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., altho it was as up to the minute as could be from a fashion point of view. Perhaps it was because of the odd way Mrs. Wendell draped a gossamer sheer black veil down one side of her head from her hat which was virtually all brim and no crown. The collar and cuffs of her black gown were of white lace.

Thru the Looking Glass

By Eleanor Nangle

There's a great deal of whimsy abroad in the beauty-land these days. Consider, for example, the charming new family of bath and beauty aids, all keyed to the color of raspberry ice and a scent that somehow conveys its intriguing "coolth." It's great fun, and the things themselves are lovely fripperies!

There are cologne, dusting powder, and foam bath, plus a brand new and thrillingly beautiful lipstick shade in cerise. The containers for the first three are the cutest things you've ever seen.

• • •

The outer package, we'll have you know, is an ice cream container, like the quart cartons you used to tote from the drug store. These are prettier, since they're delicately adorned with a design of raspberries and dangle from chartreuse silk ribbons! Inside, tucked in with plenty of streamer cellophane that looks like ice, are the objects of all this whimsical attention.

The cologne decanter, modeled after an old-fashioned phosphate bottle, is frosty pink, strewn with raspberries, its name in snowy white lettering. It's one of those little bottles you love to touch, to own and to use, and its contents really something super! Know what a raspberry ice tastes like? That's what the cologne smells like. It's that cool, that delicious and that refreshing!

The dusting powder is even more fun in the way of package. The container is a replica of the ice cream can you used to see in the soda fountains where you spent such heavenly hours. It's the most amusing package of the year.

• • •

The foam bath, which makes trillions of perfumed bubbles in the water, is done up in a replica of an ice cream soda glass, just the thing to reach for on a hot day!

The lipstick color, as you might guess, is raspberryish, beautiful accent for your summer face.

All these things are exciting, not only in themselves but in their outer wrappings. Don't miss them. They'll add joy to your summer hours.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Sunday, May 18.

Make this a day of rest, mentally as well as physically; take no risks, and don't worry much about plans—they'd have to be changed later. Week ahead sees something of a letup in recent pressures; at least we'll see a little clearer.

A Few Musts.

Never before in our lifetime has it been so important to have friends—and to be friends. At the same time, it has never before been so important that we do not misplace our regard. We must not trust the wrong people. We must trust the right people. Those of us who have not learned to discriminate should at once go about doing so. Success in the next five years depends on friends coöperating.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is crucial, if born on this date. Can be upset, overemotional, impractical, but should be calmly wise in deciding new matters, paying off for past, taking responsibility, seeing opportunity. Danger: Feb. 12 to March 3.

Tomorrow.

Avoid rash moves; but reason things out carefully in evening.

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl with Stomach Acid Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one where an admirer praised the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. She would hardly have done this had she suffered after-eating pains. Those who are distressed with stomach acid pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid should try a 25c box of Udga Tablets. They must help or money refunded. At drug stores everywhere.

Have a Fairer Complexion with the Aid of Mercolized Wax Cream

A LIGHTER, lovelier complexion is obscured by the dull, drab, faded outer layer of your skin. Flake off this unsightly cuticle in tiny, invisible particles by using Mercolized Wax Cream, the Skin Bleach and Beautifier, according to directions. Mercolized Wax Cream, a famous cosmetic for nearly thirty years, has helped thousands of women to realize the beauty possibilities of their complexions. Get a jar now. Start using it tonight to impart a fresher, fairer skin appearance.

USE SAXOLITE ASTRINGENT—for Skin Freshness. As a quick freshener between a hectic day and a gala evening, try tingling Saxolite Astringent. Your skin will feel cooler, fresher, daintier. Saxolite reduces excess surface oil, tightens skin tissue by temporary contraction, and leaves the skin feeling delightfully refreshed. Just dissolve one ounce Saxolite in a half pint witch hazel and use daily.

PHELACTINE DEPILATORY—Takes Hair Off Face. Embarrassing facial hair can be removed quickly and easily with Phelactine Depilatory. Apply it in a few seconds then flick it off and see the hair come out from beneath the surface. Not a cream or powder. Has no offensive odor. Try Phelactine today.

Five Menus Are Designed for Large Parties

By Mary Meade.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

At this time of year many an organization is planning for an annual banquet or dinner for its members. And many a chairman of the "eats" committee is bothered by menu worries.

What can we have that will be nice enough to make a real impression? What can we serve that everybody will like well enough not to complain about the price? How do you go about planning a formal dinner, anyway? What's a good informal dinner menu?

These and other questions are genuine problems for any one who is not used to planning for events of this kind. I hope these five menus will be helpful in bringing about solutions in at least a few cases.

I am happy to announce that a new booklet, "Food for a Crowd," is available to persons interested in planning meals for 50 or more. It will be mailed upon receipt of seven cents, preferably in stamps.

This booklet includes lists of amounts of various foods required for 50 servings. There are menus, too, and recipes for many of the most frequently called for dishes.

A booklet of this kind will be most useful to church and club groups interested in serving dinners and luncheons at little cost.

2 Mistakes Wives So Often Make

Because of inward shyness or ignorance, many married women make needless mistakes—risk health, happiness. Why? Generally because feminine hygiene is considered too personal to be discussed. And so many women use over-strong solutions of acids which can burn or scar delicate tissues. Today risks are needless. For science has given womankind Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. ## Lady of the House

Along the Little Roads.

May is indulging in a wild revelry this year. So many of her own favorite blooms burst out in April that she is hurrying the rest along thru the heyday of their all too brief life. The pale green mist of the tree tops turned suddenly to thick, cool clouds lighted with white and pink and coral. It seemed that in just a day or two the whole countryside filled with weet, earthy, homey smells and everything in the gardens took on youth and freshness and hope.

Such are the vagaries of our climate that if it isn't snowing when you read this you might get out the car or your hiking boots and take that first little side road that doesn't look as if it were going anywhere, much. Suddenly—a meadowlark singing on a fence post . . . a glimpse of heavenly blue thru white clouds of locust blooms drooping over a wayside shrine . . . the lovely coral buds of a great thicket of wild apples . . . the liquid notes of a bobolink up a pasture slope . . . a tiny cottage in a blossoming orchard tucked against the breast of a hill . . . a roadside spring among ferns and violets.

Spring Is A-Tip-Toe.

Spring is a-tip-toe—dancing, dancing,
With silent step and grace entrancing;
Her breath, like a breeze as sweet as a rose,
Touches our cheeks as she comes and goes.

Spring is a-tip-toe—singing, singing;
The echoing note of our souls is ringing.
Down in the hearts of old and young
Is the treasured song that spring has sung.

Spring is a-tip-toe—laughing, laughing,
Is she sincere or only chaffing?
How can we know, and why should we care,
While she tosses us flowers she wore in her hair?

Spring is a-tip-toe—calling, calling,
Into her mood we are merrily falling;
Our hearts are glad, our hopes are high,

Sunday Tribune into Baskets.

But NOT wastebaskets. Mrs. Ruth Fitzgerald, Palestine, Ill., says that she saves all the picture section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, cuts the pages into strips which she twists and braids and sews into boxes and baskets of various shapes and sizes, or weaves into covers for odd shaped bottles; sometimes finishing them with a coat of shellac. These she fills with homemade candies or flowers and presents them to appreciative friends. She has also made picture frames, and this summer she will do a garden hat.

What do you do with your SUNDAY TRIBUNE?

Big Tree Contest.

Trees are so much a part of home to me, I can hardly think of a home without a tree. Now comes the national contest to find the biggest tree of all native species. City, farm, and forest trees are eligible. Just furnish the diameter at 4½ feet from the ground. Each tree will only compete with others of the same species. Have you an entry?

Goin' Fishin'?

May is just naturally a fishing month and every little running rill suggests a barefoot youngster with a pole and, at least, a bent pin. It also recalls for me the first fish I ever caught. I had wormed my way into the good graces of my brothers sufficiently to be allowed to tag along. Arrived at the stream, I pushed the wriggling worm onto a too large, rusty hook in spite of my rising gorge; fearfully climbed out to the far branches of a fallen tree as commanded and threw in the bait. Promptly the cork began to bob and the boys yelled for me to "take him in." A wild jerk on the willow pole landed the fish in the tangle of branches and me in the river. Tho I effected my own rescue I was drummed out of the gang.

In spite of all my good resolutions to clean one room thoroly each month and thus altogether eliminate that great annual upheaval known as "spring housecleaning," there is something about a sunny, windy, May morning that makes me chase dirt with extra enthusiasm and I find myself "digging out" some corner of the old house, or washing everything not actually in use at the moment. I guess it's just to keep pace with old Dame Nature's own cleanup campaign.

Contract According to Culbertson

By Ely Culbertson.

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: My regard for you as a high priest of the bridge cult was rudely shaken when I read recently in one of your columns that you were relegating psychic bids to the limbo of an unregretted past. Say, in the words of a once popular tune, say it isn't so, Mr. Culbertson. Say that perhaps my vision was a little more myopic than usual, or that my brain cells, or what passes for same, were in a somewhat addled condition that day.

"For surely, the game of bridge is not now to become merely a creature of rules, regulations and nicely calculated percentages. Surely, we are not now to exclude the psychological. You, yourself, have often likened the game of bridge to the military science. You have stressed the importance of interrupting the enemy line of communications, and have repeatedly stressed the importance in contract as in military tactics of masking the strength or weakness of your position. Well conceived psychics frequently accomplish both these aims. It may be contended that they deceive the kindred force—your partner. This is admitted, but surely the acceptance of a calculated risk, provided the prize is worth the risk, is in the essence of all good tactics.

• • •

"You can't kid me, sir—I am confident that you have personally pilfered many a cold game and laydown slam from your opponents at a paltry cost by the adroit use of a bluff bid. Let's have a sample or two, or at least give me your considered opinion on the bid.

"I offer you below a semipsychic which does not rank among the best in my memory, but has the distinction of having been perpetrated on the very day when I thought I saw disparaging references to the spice of bridge—good psychics—in your column. The hand:

North, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.
East-West part score 60.

NORTH

♥9 8
♦A 10 8 7
♣J 9 8 6

WEST

♦Q J 6 5 3 2
♣10 7 3

SOUTH
♠Q 10 9 8 7 6
♥J 10 3 2
♦K 4

"I sat South in a rubber where East-West were vulnerable and we were not, and in addition East-West had a part score of 60. As you can see, the stage is set here for the entrance of the villian, Psychic Bid. My partner dealt and passed. East passed. When I looked at my hand I reasoned that, with three hands unable to speak, West must surely hold enough to open [particularly in view of his partial] and might even hold a very good hand. I decided to do something about it at once, rather than wait to be shut out with a one no trump bid, or something similar. I bid a spade. West feared to double for a takeout as his partner was marked with long diamonds. Consequently, he bid two clubs. My partner, fooled by my bid, now unwittingly added to West's confusion by doubling. East tried to save [?] at two diamonds, and I promptly bid two spades. West was now in a nice pickle. Doubled at two clubs, he hesitated about bidding three. He finally did the worst possible thing and doubled my two spade bid. Naturally, I made a cheap game while holding in the rubber. Of course, West's bidding can be severely criticized, but my point is that the semipsychic gave him the opportunity to make a slip, and at the very least would have made his pathway to a game bid very difficult.

"Will appreciate your comments. And to the last, I trust I was wrong in my interpretation of your comment anent the serpentile psychic. V. N., Boston."

I am grieved at my correspondent's impression that psychic bidding is abhorrent to me. I can't imagine what could have made him think this. Consulting my file, I find that, under date of March 22, I did say that a certain type of bidding had been abandoned because its sole advantage was showing up psychics; I went on to point out that "years ago, defense against psychics was necessary, but now that psychics have virtually gone into limbo, it is neither desirable nor necessary to set up a specific defense." Moreover, a few days later, in this column, I also said that a psychic based on a worthless or nearly worthless hand has about one chance in 100 of working against reasonably alert opponents, and I stick to this statement. Neither of these remarks, however, should be taken to mean that I am opposed to psychic or semipsychic bidding under any and all circumstances. A dozen factors, most of them imponderable, enter the picture. With certain partners and against certain opponents, I do not hesitate to make unorthodox bids, but when I do this, I am fully aware of the risks I run, hence take out all the insurance available.

• • •

Referring specifically to my correspondent's hand, he has censured the wrong opponent. West's bidding was excellent; it was East who fifth columned his own team by rescuing West from the double of two clubs. With a void in spades and with three clubs to the ten spot, to say nothing of the strength in hearts and diamonds, East should have passed the double with the greatest of alacrity—afraid only that it would be taken out by South, not that West would be defeated. After East's absurd two diamond bid, West was in the unfortunate position of having to make a bad bid. Under the circumstances, his double of two spades was supremely logical.

As for my correspondent's opening bid of one spade. I probably would have made that bid myself.

Bridge Problem.

Hearts are trump and South leads. North and South are to win all the tricks against any defense.

Solution: South starts with the seven of trumps. West's best discard is a club. North lets go a spade, and East a diamond. South leads a small club. North wins and leads spade jack. If East covers, South wins and leads a diamond, North returning a club. South leads a third club, and West is forced to give up a diamond or a spade.

Shop Solves Problem of Clothes for Masculine Small Fry

Stocked with Miniatures of High Fashions

By Rea Seeger.

A shopping expedition with a small boy is usually somewhat of a problem, that is, if you're out for something in the way of miniature masculine apparel to make your small fry satisfied. Or if you seek smart boys' clothes that have that air of swank that is seldom available in the usual seasonal showings. But these clothes can be found. In one super showing in a Chicago store you'll find the jackets beloved of the boys, checks, plaids, and tweed mixtures in every tone and shade imaginable.

These are the jackets that have been carefully copied from the larger sizes, and the copy jobs are flawless. Pockets, notched lapels, belts, plaits, and all the details are visible. Shorts of the right contrast in flannel are also stocked so that a small boy may depart completely garbed in the smartest manner. Shirts are another prize winning collection. So are the neckties and real, honest-to-goodness belts like dad's. The first tuxedos are also featured, and any number of cool white and natural colored summer suits. It's a stronghold of ideas and finds made easy for both parent and offspring.

In the same spot are all the new toys for small toddlers, the finds for the gift-bearing relatives for birthday and other occasions. The newest, amusing animals in "dunkable" cloth or sponge rubber, the best of the new dolls, and the "floaters" that keep baby calm and content during the bath; there isn't anything brand new and colorful from the toy market that isn't stocked in this helpful department.

• • •

There isn't a store or smart shop in Chicago that does not offer a safe harbor for your finest furs during the trying summer weather.

You can bring your fur coat, fur piece or muff, and other furs right along with you, or you can phone or mail in a request for a bonded messenger to call for your treasures. They will be expertly cleaned, mended, and repaired, if you so desire, or merely stored while you gad about the country on vacation.

All the best methods of cleaning and storing are available. Your finest furs are carefully cleaned and then hung in just the right atmosphere to keep them fluffy and at just the correct temperature. The small fees are easy to manage and the knowledge that such fur coats, capes, or fur pieces are safe, ready for wear next fall, will make your summer one of ease and comfort.

Summer is the time to order all remodeling projects, new small pieces made of slightly worn long coats, new linings, new collars and cuffs, or entire new sleeves. There is plenty of time for careful work and prices are exceedingly modest for all remodeling during the summer months.

Miss Miriam Mayfield Is Bride of Dr. Edwin Graf

Miss Miriam Mayfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Mayfield of Springfield, Ill., and Dr. Edwin Charles Graf, son of Mrs. Clarence Zina Graf of Chicago, were married on April 19 in the Parkview Lutheran church. The bride was graduated from the Ravenswood hospital school of nursing, and Dr. Graf was graduated from the Northwestern medical school. He is a resident of St. Luke's hospital.

Household Forum

by LOUISE BARGELT

[Have you some favorite household help; something that lightens labor and gets results? Is there some comfort or convenience you could enjoy? We'll be glad to pass on your ideas to our readers. Address Louise Bargelt, The Chicago Tribune.]

E. J., Milwaukee—Isn't it about time we were all thinking of saving our old tins and pieces of iron for national defense? All communities would be glad to coöperate if the word is given.

Marion C., Chicago—My husband always keeps we well supplied with wire coat hangers which he has "treated" so they won't tumble off a clothesline. He bends the hook until it looks like the letter "R." Then when I hang coats and jackets in line for airing I snap hook over line and the wind won't blow the hanger off.

Betty C., Oak Park—If you are mending any pieces of chinaware this spring or summer, use a little modeling clay to hold that china together until the cement dries. I learned this trick a long time ago and always found it useful. The clay is easy to remove as it stays pliable.

Alice B., Chicago—Now that picnics are ahead of us why won't manufacturers of our handy wax paper put it out in different package colors: yellow for cheese sandwiches, red for tongue and ham sandwiches, and so on? The mother of a large family would find this convenient for outdoor luncheon and supper gatherings.

Now—PLEASE—your idea!

On the House

By Louise Bargelt

Skilful color styling with quality paints can make a tremendous change in the exterior appearance of a house, and paint manufacturers are working with the public in preparation of helpful booklets, color charts, and color guides. Often a desire to change the color of a house exterior is as motivating a reason for new paint coats as the desire to give it a clean, fresh surface. And there are suggestions aplenty in available color charts and guides.

If you have a darkish room with little direct sunlight, there's a handsomely patterned sheet glass which can be brought into service. Panels of this sheet glass are not expensive and it is not difficult to cut a hole in an interior partition, fill it with the glass, and permit the sun from one room to give brightness to another "less fortunate" room.

Are you planning to do something for your garage this summer, by giving it a smartly finished interior as well as added weather resistance? There's a flexible asbestos-cement board which comes in sheets and can be nailed over existing walls. The cement-like surface is a rather light gray in color, but will take paint if you wish. This board is very low in cost, fireproof, and also can be used for fire protection over your furnace or boiler. A local carpenter or expert family handyman can do the work in short order.

Removal of Tarnish.

Tarnish on copper or brass may be removed with salt on a piece of lemon. The utensil then should be rinsed thoroly.

Crocheted Pillbox Chapeau

By Ellen Bruce.

The crocheted pillbox for the teen-ager is a quick and easy job, and a style which is most attractive with the pompadour hair style. It has a solid crown and an open work brim, with dainty little clips above each ear to foil the breezes. White freesias create just the necessary touch of trimming. This hat is crocheted of one spool of linen thread, with enough remaining to crochet a Juliet cap.

For instructions in crocheting the pillbox hat, No. 944, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

May 18, 1941.

Universal day—Altho things may have simmered down a little, the atmosphere is still jittery.

Birth years—Those born in the years 1888, 1897, 1906, 1915, 1924, 1933 should prepare themselves for the years beyond 55 by studying, for they undoubtedly will find themselves interested in science and religion in the latter part of their life. They will rely on their philosophy and will want to seek greater spiritual knowledge and understanding during this period that is ruled by the number seven. A quiet, studious life, preferably in the country, would be suitable. Or perhaps there might be some research to do working behind the scenes in a laboratory. If they do not prepare themselves for this quiet period they may find themselves lonely and depressed, worried perhaps about security. They should seek an intellectual and philosophical outlet.

The "MAID OF COTTON" cheers for gentle New Quick LUX

SMART COTTONS are fine fabrics these days—need the same gentle care as your other nice washables. That's why the "Maid of Cotton" and leading stores everywhere advise new, quick Lux. Frequent Luxing keeps cottons dainty, new-looking longer.

New, quick Lux is America's favorite care for nice things. It's so fast—so thrifty—safe for anything safe in water alone. Comes in the same familiar box —costs you no more.

ALICE BEASLEY titian-haired beauty from LaGrange, Tenn., is the lovely 1941 "Maid of Cotton." She is flying 14,000 miles as the star of a fashion show of Luxable cottons featured by leading stores. Here she's wearing a Luxable evening dress of checked gingham and white piqué.

COTTON PLAY CLOTHES are tops for sports. This Persian-print play dress, like all colorful cottons, thrives on Lux care. "I'm keen about new, quick Lux," says Miss Beasley, "because it's so kind to colors."

"NEW QUICK LUX is thrifty care for this printed piqué jerkin and skirt," says Miss Beasley. A little goes so far! And it's fast—suds in a sec in water as cool as your hand! Look for these Luxable cottons in the stores!

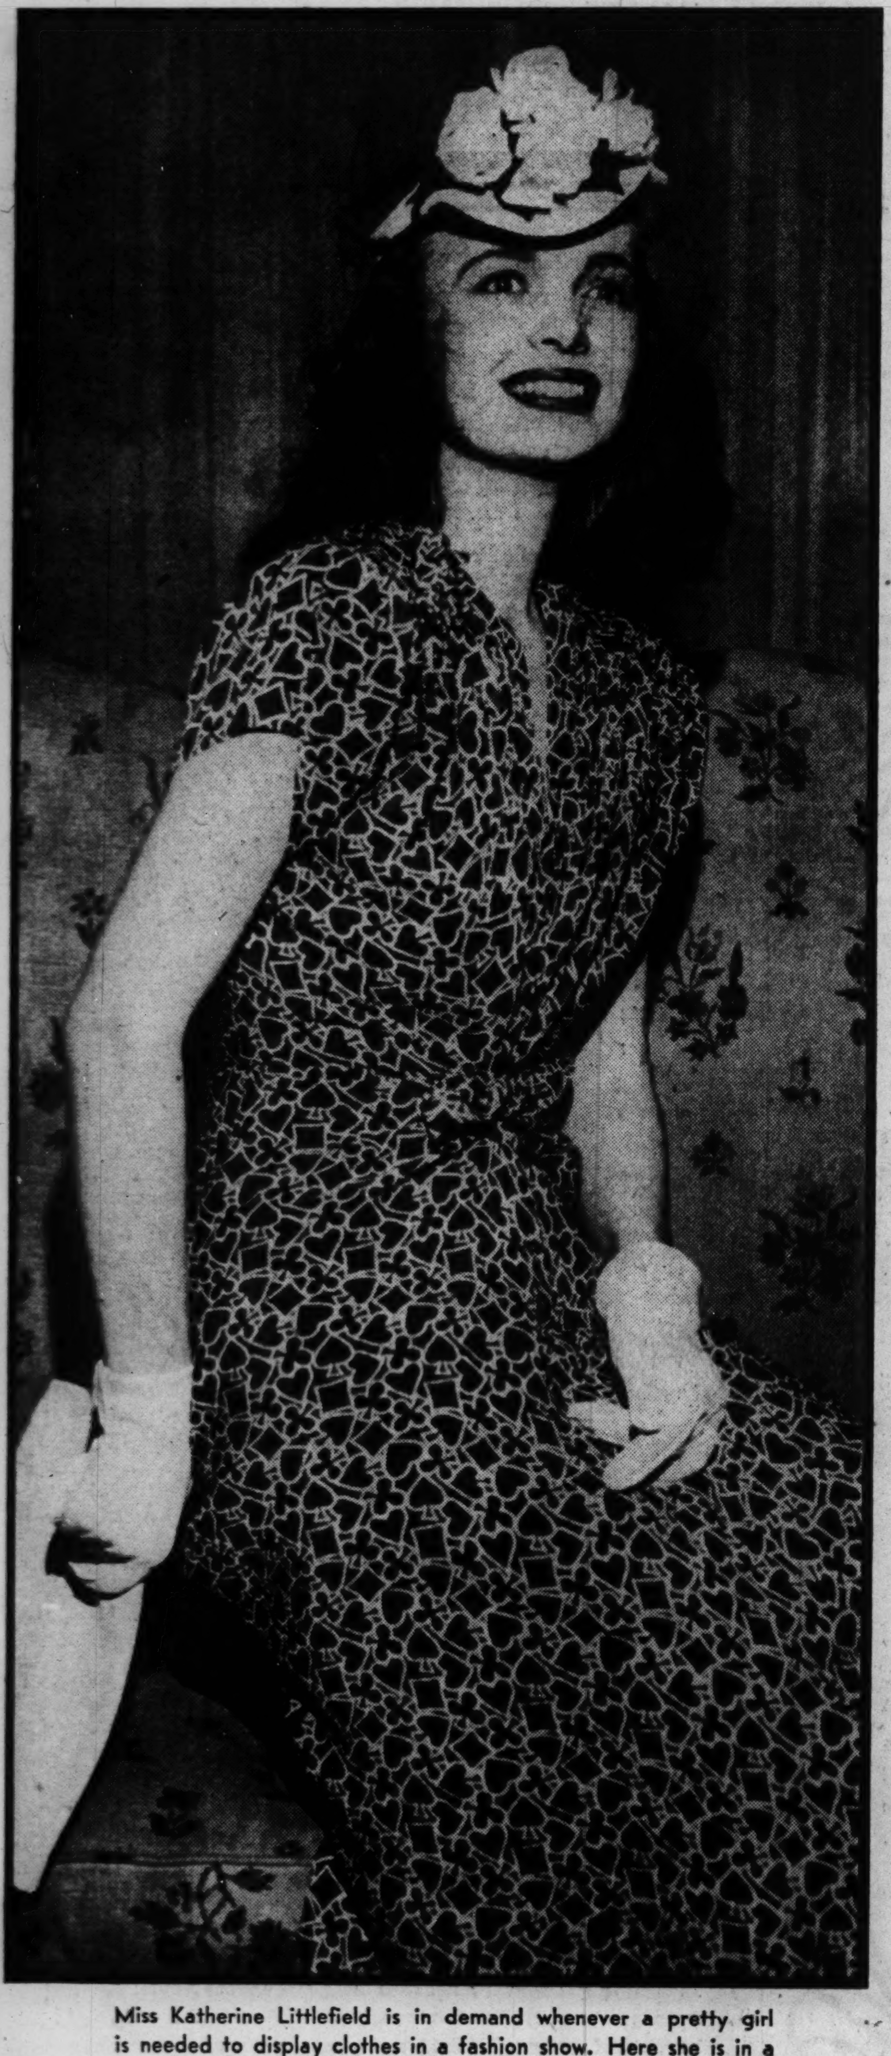
Part 7 TRAVEL

MAY 18, 1941.

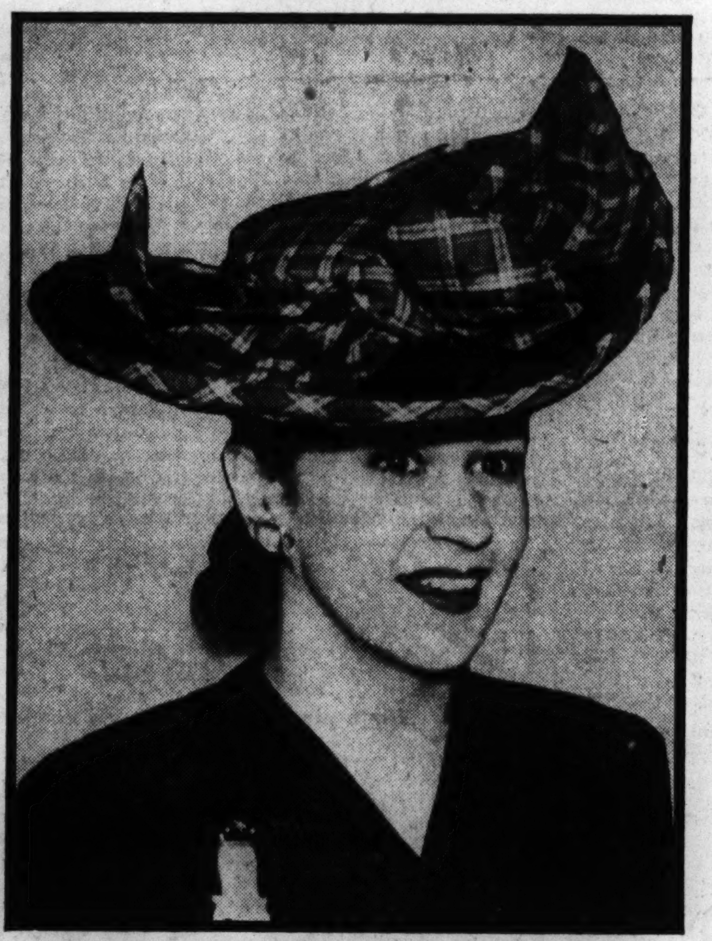
Below: Mrs. Walter R. Kirk (left) and Mrs. Howard Linn are active in the work of the British War Relief society, which will receive the proceeds from two garden tours. A number of interesting places in the Fox river valley will be opened next Saturday and Sunday, and 11 beautiful north shore gardens will be on display on Memorial day and Saturday, May 30 and 31.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

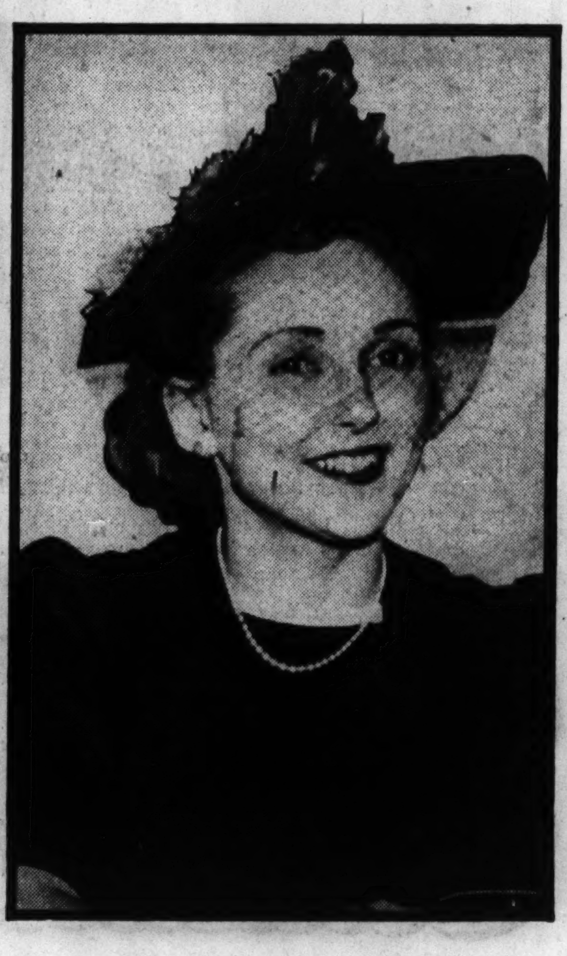
Right: Mrs. Thomas A. Connors is a busy woman for she is on the committee in charge of a Lighthouse benefit concert on June 2; she is helping to plan the Lake Forest Garden club show on June 28 and 29, and she is chairman of the Belgians in Britain benefit fund.



Miss Katherine Littlefield is in demand whenever a pretty girl is needed to display clothes in a fashion show. Here she is in a show at the Pump room for the benefit of the British War Relief society.



Mrs. Benson Martin (above) and Miss Barbara Barnhart (below) illustrate two smart ways in which brimmed hats may be worn this season. Mrs. Martin's dashing one is worn well at the front, but Miss Barnhart perches hers in back of her pompadour.



Above: Mrs. Joseph H. Grayson (left) and Mrs. Herbert J. Roney are interested in the work of La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium, which is working with the South Shore Country club and the Kenwood Social Service club to make a success of the South Shore horse show on June 21 and 22.

Chicago Social Activities Set a Brisk Tempo

By Judith Cass.

Usually at this time of year social life moves to a slower tempo than it does earlier in the season, but this is not true this year. Everyone is so concerned about helping the British or the Chinese, or the Greeks, or some other war victims, in addition to the customary home philanthropies, that every woman in social circles is running around in circles. Accomplishing much, however.

Tomorrow night it is the suffering Chinese who will benefit from a theater party arranged by the Chicago Committee for Aid to China. Mrs. William S. Monroe heads the committee that has taken over the Erlanger theater where Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans are appearing in "Twelfth Night." There will be dozens of dinner parties before the performance. Programs, flowers, and cigarets will be sold by pretty young Chinese girls in native costume.

At noon tomorrow at the Arts club the Lake Shore League of Women Voters will meet for luncheon and to hear Mrs. George Gellhorn of St. Louis talk on the present aims of the league. Mrs. John Collier, president, will preside. A board meeting precedes the luncheon.

• • •

The woman's auxiliary of Grant hospital is having its annual card party at the nurses' home, 536 Webster avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Frederick L. McNally is chairman of the committee that has planned the party. Because Mrs. Charles Wrigley's tulip tea is a spring tradition on the north shore, the Woman's Symphony Orchestra board has postponed its spring luncheon from Tuesday until Friday. It will be at the Arts club. Mrs. Wrigley's tea will be at her home, Willow Bank, in Wilmette, from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Henry P. Isham is opening her home in Lake Forest on Tuesday from 10 until 6 o'clock for a Hull House Shop sale. Country linens, blanket covers, wedding presents, gifts for the baby's and antique china are some of the things that will be on display in the first floor rooms of the Ishams' new home.

The Chicago Junior League is entertaining at the Arts club Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock to show the members and their friends the art work that has been accomplished during the year by the members with artistic ability. Mrs. Theron Chapman heads the committee that arranged the exhibit and tea.

• • •

Dr. Horace J. Bridges will speak on "Winston Churchill and the Spirit of Britain" Wednesday night in the ballroom of the Drake hotel under the auspices of the social service committee of St. James church. Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler is in charge of the benefit.

"I Was at Dunkirk" is the title of a talk that Adolphe Pervy will give Thursday night at the Tavern club. Thursday afternoon the Antiquarian Society of the Art Institute will be at home in gallery M4a of the institute in honor of Mrs. Potter Palmer, one of the most loyal antiquarians and a former president. A loan exhibition of European embroideries will be opened with the tea, which will be given from 3 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Phillip Miller is president of the society.

Friday afternoon there will be a tea at the Arts club to open three exhibitions. Salvador Dali, Fernand Leger and Horace Pippin are the artists. The surrealist painter and Mme. Dali will be guests at the party. The British War Relief society will receive the proceeds from a play to be given Friday night in the Highland Park High school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Highland Park, Deerfield-Bannockburn unit of the society. "Good-by Again" is the play to be presented.

• • •

A ball on Friday at the Drake hotel, to be held under the sponsorship of Republicans of the 42d ward, provides a reason for a number of dinner parties that evening. Among those entertaining before the ball will be Mr. and Mrs. Ira Couch, the William A. Littles, the Robert McKennas, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, the Eugene Swigarts, the Robert A. Carrs, the Charles F. Cutters, Miss Emily Goehst, and Mrs. M. Gross Sampsell.

TO BE MARRIED IN SUMMER

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Helen Marie Wolfe to Robert Alan James has been made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus V. Wolfe of Toledo, O. Mr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. James of Euclid avenue. Miss Wolfe is studying at Wellesley college and Mr. James is a student at Harvard. The wedding is planned for this summer.

Those who elect to spend a day in the country and at the same time to swell the fund for British civilian relief can visit a number of places in the Fox river valley on Saturday or Sunday. The places will be open from 10 until 6 o'clock, daylight saving time. In Dundee the Jonacre farm with its glass brick barns where cows are milked to the accompaniment of soft music, Walter's blacksmith shop, and Clearbrook farm will be on display. Horses will be shod at the shop on Saturday afternoon. Clearbrook farm is a rainbow trout hatchery and a pheasant, deer, and duck preserve. A dairy lunch will be served at the Milk Pail on this farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton Fedou's garden and the Sears Art gallery on the grounds of the Elgin academy will be open in Elgin. In Wayne Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johns, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. John Dole, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. J. McWilliams Stone, and Leonid Remisoff will open their houses or their gardens, or in some cases both. The Dunham Woods Riding club in Wayne also will be on display and will be open for luncheon by reservation only, telephone St. Charles 3536.

Mrs. Fred Babson and Mrs. Ray Solfisburg will be hostesses in St. Charles, and in Geneva the Charles Reckitts and the Herbert P. Zimmermanns will open their gardens. Luncheon may be obtained at the historic old mill, which now is the Mill Race inn. In Batavia the tourists will see a minute town garden at 49 North Prairie street and in Aurora Mrs. H. C. Smith will open her garden at 301 West Park avenue.

• • •

Some table settings that will be on view in the Winnetka Garden Walk for the benefit of the Bethlehem Crèche and Settlement on Saturday are of particular interest. A table in the Fisher's lane home of Mrs. George D. Smith will be set by Mrs. Laban J. Brady of South Shore drive with a silver service made for Mrs. Brady in Pekin, China. Also used in the decoration will be tiles from a roof in the Forbidden City which are loaned by the Crèche's head resident, Miss Georgene E. Bowen, who formerly was head of a mission school in the orient.

Mrs. Kingsley B. Colton will set a formal table in her dining room using old Austrian green glass. A Victorian luncheon table will be set on the flagstone terrace of the house, and a barbecue terrace will be put up on the rear terrace. A 110 year old early American wire potted plant carrier on wheels will be on display in the garden.

Some antique Bristol glassware will be a point of interest in a table setting in Mrs. A. Ballard Bradley's home. Mrs. William Warfield III. will display a buffet table set by Mrs. Ralph Ware of River Forest with some famous William Spratling silver which Mrs. Ware had made to her order by native craftsmen in Taxco and Mexico City.

Other interesting sights to be seen along the Garden Walk are Mrs. Everett D. Graff's Fox lane garden, which has an unusually beautiful forest background, and Mrs. Langdon Pearce's Golf lane garden, which has been called a horticulturist's paradise. All plant varieties are labeled so the novice may be informed. Mrs. Pearce's vegetable garden and greenhouse also will be on display.

There'll be plenty of movement to the Ridge Service Guild auxiliary's spring benefit, for the organization is giving a party on a train. A special train of club and lounge cars will leave the La Salle street station on Saturday night, bound for Beverly Hills. It will make all Beverly Hills stops. Cocktails will be served en route, and music will be furnished by strolling musicians.

The destination of the Guild "special" is being kept secret, but wherever it is there will be dinner and dancing. Mrs. Henry Kline is general chairman of the party. Some of those assisting her are Mrs. James H. Dunbar Jr., Mrs. Charles Lethan, Mrs. Irving Boberg, Mrs. John S. Townsend Jr., and Mrs. Wakelee R. Smith. The Morgan Park Home for Dependent Children will receive the proceeds of the party.

City Boasts Big Variety of Art Exhibits

By Edith Weigle.

The present exhibitions at the Chicago galleries are widely diverse. There is the excellent annual water color show by members of the Palette and Chisel academy, reviewed some time ago in this column when it was housed in the academy building; there is a collection of miniatures by 17 Chicago artists; there are photographs and "water paintings" by Charles J. Cook, and a number of oils and water colors by Florence White Williams.

One of Miss Williams' canvases, "Drying Sails," was reproduced on this page last Sunday. In the show are others of similar theme, painted during summers at Boothbay Harbor, Me., and in Vermont. There are, as well, Wisconsin and duneland landscapes and several flower studies.

All are full of fresh, vibrant color. One of the most pleasing landscapes is a small canvas called simply "Vermont," in which a white house is seen tucked away under a hill and a peaceful countryside unfolds beyond. "Spring Comes to Chicago" is a pattern made by bare branches and blossoming trees with nearby buildings seen thru them.

• • •

Mr. Cook's work both with camera and brush is the result of many years of patient, painstaking endeavor. His studies of nudes in outdoor woodland settings are poetic bits of sunshine and shadow. Of these photographs Baker Brownell has said: "A fluid light that drips and swirls thru his lenses and spills in living rhythms on his plates, a tenderness of flesh, and the cool purity of human form are there uniquely. His work is like no other."

This craftsman is surely something of a magician. His water colors are not painted with a brush. At least, the strange, colorful backgrounds, some like an opal, others like marble are the result of a secret process and have little to do with conventional painting. Against these dreamlike colors Mr. Cook poses delicate, fairylike nudes, water sprites and flying fancies of the air. Each of the "water paintings" has for its subject one such figure, and in each the background is a different, fascinating mingling of colors and patterns.

• • •

In the show of the Chicago Society of Miniature Painters the following artists are represented: Carol C. Blair, Rosina Cox Boardman, Helen E. Walker Boyd, Eda N. Casterton, Lucile S. Dalrymple, Florence T. Green, Rosa Hooper, Nathalie L. Jackson, Cornelia E. Hildebrand, Anna Lynch, St. Claire MacDonald, Josephine N. Phillips, Lily B. P. Rhome, Carolyn D. Tyler, Magda Heuermann, and Louise N. Richardson.

Magda Heuermann's "The Chess Players" is an engrossing study of two old men and shows how much can be accomplished thru the medium of the miniature, as does Nathalie Jackson's little still life, "Wine Bottle." Anna Lynch, for many years a master miniaturist, has eight items in the exhibition, and Rosina C. Boardman has an unusually fine portrait, "The Cocked Hat." Another excellent miniature is St. Claire MacDonald's "Mrs. J. B. O'Connor."

⸻

At the Lake Shore club 42 water colors by Herbert Olsen are on exhibition. This Chicagoan's work is straight forward and sincere, his eye sure, his hand swift. Characteristic of all the papers is this directness and a dashing, lively atmosphere and feeling of place. Mr. Olsen is one of the few painters who can still do Gloucester wharf scenes and get away with them. More interesting because their subjects are less time worn and hence fresher in appeal are his views of Norway.

One of the finest paintings in the show is "City of Hammerfest." Another is "Andalasnaes." Of great interest, too, are a number of Mississippi river pictures and several with a Florida locale.

"Waiting for the Boat" is a sketch of great vigor and originality. Against a threatening sky a group of people are seen huddled together on a wharf. There is about this simple scene a high sense of drama, an emotional quality that stamps it on the memory.

⸻

The magnificent French exhibition at the Art institute ends on Tuesday at 5 p. m. It has been one of the most memorable events in the art history of the city.

Today at 2:30 p. m. Miss Helen C. Gunsaulus whose book on Japanese textiles has just been published by the Japan Society of New York will give a lecture on the special showing of Japanese priest robes in Gallery H9 of the institute. And in Fullerton hall at 3:45 p. m. Dudley Crafts Watson will speak on "The Contribution of France to America."

⸻

Tomorrow sees the opening of a large exhibition of water colors at the Findlay galleries. Chicago artists whose work will be on view are: Grace Sponberg, Frances Badger, Flora Schofield, Ethel Crouch Brown, Herbert Lewis, Fritzi Brod, Harry Mintz, Louis Weiner, John F. Stenvall, Donald Mundt, Willard Johnson, and Ann Michalov. Vera Topper's and Lyman Carpenter's ceramics will also be exhibited.

⸻

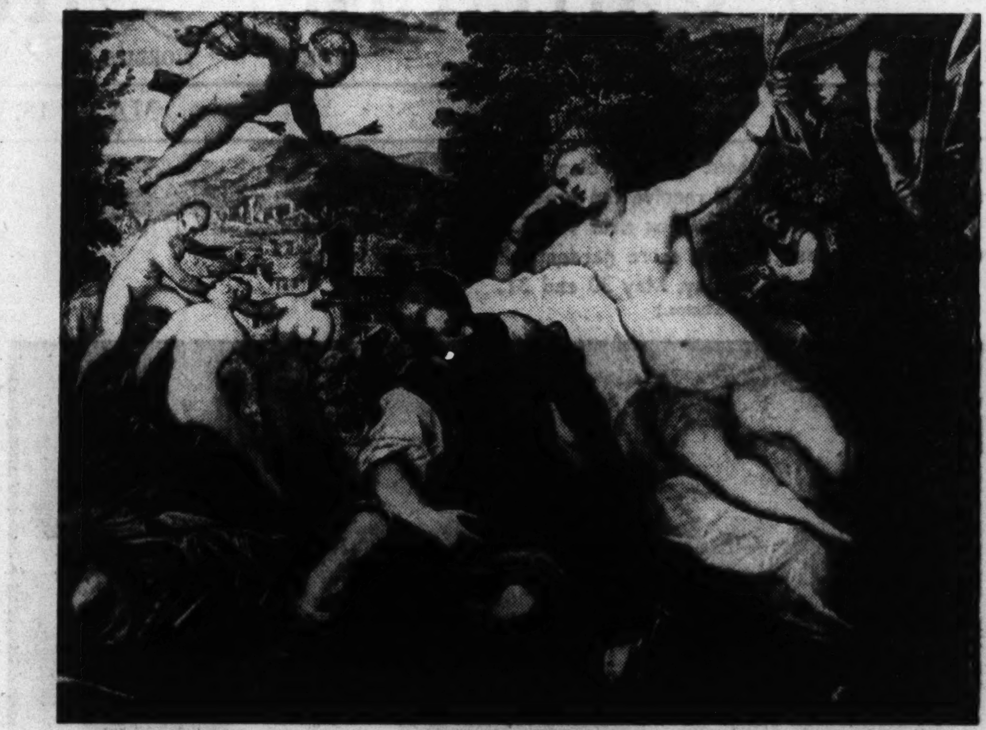
A small collection of delicate, exquisitely painted flower studies by Frances Foy is to be seen in the art galleries of the Marshall Field store. These water colors have a charming fluency of line and are executed with utmost skill.

⸻

The "Masterpiece for the Month of May" at the Art institute is Tintoretto's famous "Venus and Mars, with the Three Graces." This lush, richly colored painting is typical of the work of the 16th century Venetian artist who, with Titian and Veronese, created many luxuriantly decorative pictures for princely owners of the marble palaces that flanked the canals of their city, "queen of the Adriatic."

Tintoretto studied the art of Titian, but was also influenced by the Florentine sculptors of his day, especially Michelangelo, and by nature itself. The paintings he was commissioned to paint for the ducal palace are among his most celebrated and are in the same spirit as "Venus and Mars, with the Three Graces."

There is a lot going on in this picture. Beside the two central figures there are the ones of the graces in the background and of cupid on the wing, all very lively and graceful, plus a bit of still life in the lower left corner of the canvas that is a study in itself, and the soft gray landscape of a hill town in the remote distance. There is so much to look at that this "masterpiece of the month" is indeed a feast for the eyes.



MASTERPIECE OF THE MONTH

"Venus and Mars with the Three Graces," a painting by Tintoretto, has been chosen for "the masterpiece of the month" at the Art institute and is hung in the special small gallery on the first floor.

Illinoisans to Attend Fete of Federation

By Betty Browning.

A veteran club leader remarked the other day: "I'm not going to bother to go to the General Federation's jubilee. Imagine sitting thru pageants and dressing up in old-fashioned costumes at a time like this!"

Mrs. P. L. Wettaw.

At least 200 Illinois club members disagree with her, according to advance estimates. A record delegation from the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, including some 30 women from the 7th district alone, will attend the golden jubilee convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs this week at Atlantic City, N. J. Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw of Eldorado, newly elected state president, and her predecessor, Mrs. William T. Bruckner of Hinsdale, new General Federation director for Illinois, will head the delegation. The convention opens formally tomorrow night, to continue thru Saturday.

• • •

How far the festive atmosphere appropriate to the occasion can be maintained remains to be seen. Vivid reminders of the current crisis will figure on the program in the persons of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, leader of the anti-war bloc, and Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, administration spokesman, who will debate present undertakings and possible future moves to aid Britain. Lady Halifax, wife of the British ambassador to the United States, will bring greetings from the beleaguered women of her country.

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, will speak on "Health and Defense," and Adolph A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, is scheduled to discuss the latest diplomatic developments.

Federation policy in relation to world events will be the big question before this meeting. The Illinois delegation, by convention action last week, is "unalterably opposed to the military participation by the United States in any foreign war." At last year's General Federation council meeting, Illinois came under fire for that same stand, but succeeded in preventing the national organization from adopting a resolution strongly interventionist in tone.

A resolution to be submitted at this year's convention, approving the policy of aid to nations defending their independence, was passed over by the Illinois Federation last week on the ground that it is now "obsolete." This resolution, or a possible substitute, offers one of the interesting "news" potentialities of the meeting.

• • •

Another question before the convention is the choice of a second vice president. A three way contest between Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie of Athens, Ga.; Mrs. R. I. C. Prout of Wakefield, Mich.; and Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck of Richmond, Va., promises much of the picturesque campaigning for which the federation is famed. The dynamic Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, Md., now first vice president, is the unopposed nominee for president, as are all other candidates. Mrs. Whitehurst is to succeed Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Portland, Ore.

It is Mrs. Whitehurst who, for the last three years, has directed the golden jubilee activities which will culminate in this convention. A pageant and a "Pioneer Night" will recall the contributions of outstanding women and of the club movement since the Sorosis club of New York issued the call for the organization of a nationwide federation of women in 1889.

• • •

Fifty-three of the country's most noted women will receive scrolls in recognition of their successful pioneering in many fields. Club leaders selected by their respective organizations also will be honored.

A golden jubilee birthday dinner will bring the announcement of final gifts for the birthday fund, already past the $50,000 mark, which has been built up at similar parties thruout the country. This gift will go toward the completion of the million dollar foundation fund to endow and expand federation activities.

Other features of the convention will include talks on the arts by Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly; a "Town Meeting of the Air," broadcast from the convention; a talk by Miss Helen Hiett, formerly of Pekin, Ill., who became a foreign news commentator after studying abroad on a General Federation fellowship; an ice carnival, and a program by a "Chorus of One Thousand" recruited from all sections of the country.

Mrs. William Kletzer.

Another important meeting, the 45th convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, today will bring more than 3,000 delegates to Boston, Mass. The place of the organization in national defense will be the chief concern of this five day meeting. Some 30 parent-teacher leaders will represent Illinois at the sessions.

Mrs. William Kletzer of Portland, Ore., national president, commented on the convention program thus: "Building the economic and emotional security of the homes of America is basic in building national morale. This is our task. And thru the medium of this convention we can unify our efforts and clarify our thinking so that a clear-cut pattern can be presented to our nation for obtaining this desired end."

At town meeting with "Is Education Meeting the Needs of Youth?" as the topic will be broadcast from the convention Tuesday evening. Howard Y. McClusky of the American youth commission, and Dean Francis Spaulding of the Harvard university graduate school of education, will be among those participating.

Hughes Mearns of the New York university school of education will be the banquet speaker Wednesday evening. Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator; T. V. Smith, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago; Donald DuShane, president of the National Education association; Mrs. Sidonie Matsner Gruenberg, director, Child Study Association of America; John K. Norton of Teachers' college, Colmbia university; and Ernest O. Melby, dean, school of education, Northwestern university, will be among other convention speakers.

MAYOR'S NIECE A BRIDE

Mrs. Henry J. Couch, who was Miss Maurita Kelly before her marriage on April 26 in St. Barnabas' church. Mr. Couch, who is the son of Mrs. William Couch of Chicago, took his bride to Sea Island, Ga., on a wedding trip. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kelly of South Damen avenue and a niece of Mayor Edward J. Kelly. The wedding ceremony was performed by the bride's cousin, the Rev. Stephen O'Donnell.

Gladys M. Hunt Engaged to Lieut. Jerome Howe

Mr. and Mrs. William Gilbert Hunt of East 68th street announced the engagement of their daughter, Gladys Marylyn, to Lieut. Jerome J. Howe at a tea on May 4. Lieut. Howe is the son of Mrs. Margaret Howe and the late Patrick C. Howe of Prairie avenue. Miss Hunt and her fiancé were graduated from the University of Illinois. Lieut. Howe, who received his commission from the United States Army Air corps on April 25 at Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., is stationed at Puerto Rico.

Rosary College Alumnae to Mark Their 20th Year

Alumnæ of Rosary college in River Forest will observe the 20th anniversary of the founding of their auxiliary with a luncheon on Saturday, June 14, at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Mrs. John W. Musham, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Clarence McDonald, past president, serve as co-chairmen for the luncheon. They will be assisted by Mrs. John S. Gorman, social chairman, and members of the board of directors. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Francis J. Blum, Oak Park; Mrs. Daniel A. Sheahan, River Forest; Mrs. James P. Farmer, Chicago, and Mrs. Edward J. Holland, Maywood.

The auxiliary was founded in 1920 under the direction of Mrs. William Hardy of Oak Park. Since that year its members constantly have cared for the chapel in the heart of Rosary college.

•

The Chicago Mount Holyoke club will hold its annual meeting at 6 o'clock tomorrow at the Chicago College club. Under the direction of Mrs. Karl D. Vittum, the club's president, who will act as "skipper," the program will take the form of a "campus cruise."

Dana Hall alumnæ in Chicago are receiving invitations to attend the 60th anniversary celebration of the founding of the school to be held on June 1 and 2 at Wellesley, Mass. Mrs. George Brett and Mrs. Arthur D. Weston are the anniversary chairmen, assisted by Miss Helen Caine, Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison, Miss Margaret Allen, Mrs. Bertha S. Fauvre, and Miss Helen Hazelton.

The Maternity Center Groups Plan Benefit

The seven auxiliaries which help support the Chicago Maternity Center have taken over Arlington Park, the racetrack northwest of Chicago, for the afternoon of Wednesday, July 16. Their venture has been made possible thru the generosity of the Arlington Park Jockey club, whose president is John D. Allen. The entire proceeds from an advance sale of tickets to be handled by the auxiliaries will go to the center.

The center, originally the Maxwell Street dispensary, was founded in 1895 by Dr. Joseph B. DeLee, with the idea of giving good confinement care to indigent expectant mothers and of affording special instruction to doctors, medical students, and nurses in the science and art of obstetrics. The first clinic was small, poor, and inconvenient, a mere four rooms in a tenement house. Its clientèle came from the Hull House district. From that clinic it grew into the great Chicago Lying-In hospital, which, with the Maxwell Street dispensary, merged with the University of Chicago in 1929. In 1932, for financial reasons, the dispensary again began a separate existence, and was incorporated as the Chicago Maternity center.

• • •

The seven groups totaling from 800 to 1,000 women who support the center are: The Mother's Service club, the North Shore auxiliary, the South Shore Service league, the North Shore Service league, the Nursing Service league, the West Suburban auxiliary, and the Maternity Center guild.

Dr. DeLee is chairman of the board of directors of the center. Clark J. Lawrence is vice chairman; Daggett Harvey, treasurer, and Mrs. George Henry Schulz, secretary. The center has three other stations, one at the Northwestern University Settlement House; the Franklin Park station, and the Kedzie avenue station. Last year the center cared for 2,649 mothers.

An office to take care of ticket sales has been opened at 327 South La Salle street, telephone Harrison 5631, in charge of Dr. Beatrice Tucker, medical director of the center. Among the women taking an active part in the benefits are Mrs. Henry Buxbaum, Mrs. Earl J. Cooper, Mrs. Aubrey Piggott, Mrs. Clarence Nichols, Mrs. William D. Davidson, Mrs. George F. Christians, and Mrs. Edward T. Tihlman.

Miss Frances Hoffman
[Harry Johnson Photo]

The Maytime Frolic of the Jewish Big Sisters will be held at noon tomorrow at the Covenant club. The annual fundraising event, which this year is under the chairmanship of Miss Frances Hoffman, helps to maintain the club's program of service for underprivileged girls.

Mrs. Philip H. Kahn and Mrs. A. M. Krensky are co-chairmen of reservations for the Frolic, of which Mrs. S. S. Hollender, Mrs. J. B. Anixter, and Mrs. Henry Bogoff are general vice chairmen. The club has devoted its efforts for the last 25 years to aiding underprivileged children.

• • •

Final arrangements for their annual bridge party are being made this week by the directors of the Service Council for Girls [the Protestant Big Sisters]. The bridge party and tea, whose proceeds will go to helping needy teen-aged girls, will be held on Monday, May 26, at the Chicago Woman's club.

Working with Mrs. F. H. Law, chairman of the benefit, are Mrs. Albert Held, Mrs. Burnett D. Warner, and Mrs. Guy Phelps.

WEDS MAY 29

Miss Barbara Rose Goodman, whose engagement to Milton Feinberg of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Feinberg of Miami Beach, Fla. has been announced. The wedding will take place on May 29 at the Oak Ridge Country club in Minneapolis, where Miss Goodman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goodman reside.

Novel among benefits is a "Punkosdi Rozsa" dance by which the Women's World League for Hungary will raise funds for the Hungarian Friendship Garden. The party, featuring gypsy music and a cold buffet supper, will be given on Saturday at the International House, 1414 East 59th street.

The David M. Grodsky Junior Aid will give its annual spring military dance on Sunday, May 25, at the Standard club. Proceeds will help to maintain a summer camp for underprivileged children.

Funds to provide summer vacations for underprivileged boys will be collected at the annual luncheon of the Deborah Woman's club on Tuesday at the Standard club. The club maintains an off-the-street club for boys on West Division street. The boys will vacation at Camp Henry Horner, Round Lake, Ill. Mrs. Louis Sontag is chairman of the luncheon.

Judge Jacob Braude will be guest speaker today at the 13th annual Silver Plate banquet of Rest Haven, a convalescent home which has been nursing Jewish men and women for almost 30 years. The home is supported solely by private contributions and earning fund events, and members and friends who have earned or donated money to its support have been invited to attend the banquet. Myron E. Wisch will be the special guest and Walter J. Bloch, the toastmaster of the dinner, of which Mrs. Nuemon Katz is chairman.

Billie S. Freedman and W. F. Epstein Married

Announcement is made of the marriage in Shreveport, La., on May 3 of Miss Billie Shirley Freedman to William Freschl Epstein, son of Judge and Mrs. Benjamin P. Epstein of Chicago. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Freedman of Shreveport. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Washington-Youree hotel, Rabbi David Lefkowitz officiating. A reception followed. Robert L. Epstein was his brother's best man. After a wedding trip thru the west, Mr. Epstein and his bride will be at home in Chicago.

Mrs. O. A. Ahlgren Indiana Head of Club Federation

Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren
[Bodie Photo.]

The Indiana Federation of Clubs, in convention recently at Indianapolis, elected Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren of Whiting as president. Chosen without opposition, Mrs. Ahlgren is the youngest woman to be elected to the office, and she is the first president to receive a three year term in the federation.

Mrs. Ahlgren has served the Whiting Woman's club as president, was first vice president of the federation prior to her election as president, and has been active in church work and parent-teacher activities. Her husband is an attorney. They have a 15 year old daughter, Adrienne.

Ladies' Oriental Shrine Convening for 27th Year

Garden Clubs in Berkshires Plan Season

PITTSFIELD, MASS.

A number of Chicago colonists have arrived in the Berkshires and garden clubs and allied organizations, in which they are interested, are shaping up for the season.

Mrs. Thomas H. Blodgett, who is the former Miss Margaret F. Kendrick of Chicago, president of the Great Barrington Garden club, is having a sale of plants tomorrow as a club benefit at her estate, Great Pine Farm. At the tea tables will be Mrs. Aubrey T. Barnes, vice president of the club and Mrs. George O. Forbes of Rockford, who is on the executive committee. Mr. and Mrs. Forbes are just back from a two weeks visit at Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett's daughter, Mrs. Livingston Hall, wife of Professor Hall of the Harvard law school, was at the farm early last week to attend the annual meeting of Miss Hall's alumnae association, of which she is president. The Misses Margaret Stuart and Patricia Cathcart of Lake Forest were the guests at the reunion of Mrs. Philip Weston [Theodora Pomeroy], a sister of Mrs. Clarke Washburne of Chicago.

Mrs. Weston's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Morris Pell have gone to northern Michigan where Dr. Pell, who has just received a degree from Cornell university, is manager of the 16,000 acre Huron Mountain club. Last summer Dr. Pell was with the United States Forestry Service station in Acadia National park, Bar Harbor, Me.

• • •

At Rollaway Hill, North Egremont, for the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Wait Talcott of Rockford and with them is their daughter, Mrs. Logan T. McMenemy, who spent the winter in Pasadena.

Mrs. James Ransom Walker, who was at the Drake hotel, Chicago, during the winter, is at her summer home, Fair Acres, Prospect Hill, Stockbridge, and has as a guest Mrs. Clifford Arrick of Dedham, Mass., mother of Mrs. James Monroe Walker of Dedham. Mrs. Walker has been a summer resident of Stockbridge since 1908. Fair Acres, which she and the late Mr. Walker bought in 1923, was owned by Peyton J. and Augustus Cortlandt Van Rensselaer, members of an old and aristocratic New York and Stockbridge family. Mr. Walker's brother, the late Wirt Walker, for a number of years owned Blythewood Farms on the west shore of Onota lake, Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. McPherson of Winnetka are expected next Sunday at Court Hill Farm, Pittsfield, which was bought by Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Frederick T. West in 1889. Donald F. McPherson Jr. has enlisted in the United States army and departed recently for Honolulu. His sister, Miss Sally Anne, is a student at Miss Hall's school.

• • •

The first meeting of the Richmond Garden club, of which Mrs. W. Rockwood Gibbs is president, has been deferred until June on account of the zone meeting this week at Westport, Conn., of the Garden Club of America and the convention of the national organization at Rochester, N. Y., next week. On her way east from Pasadena, where she spent the winter, to Rock Ridge Farms, Richmond, Mrs. Gibbs was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edward De Witt Shumway and her aunt, Mrs. Louis Ellsworth Laflin, both of Lake Forest.

At the Berkshire Garden center, Stockbridge, of which Mrs. Bernhard Hoffmann [Irene Botsford] is president, the annual spring horticultural meeting will be held next Saturday. E. I. Farrington, secretary of the Massachusetts Horticultural society will conduct a round table discussion. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmann have just arrived at Brookside from Santa Barbara, Cal. Mrs. Gibbs is a vice president of the Garden Club center and Harry C. Holloway of Glencoe is treasurer.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss L. Coonley came up from Washington, D. C., and were guests at the Knoll, Stockbridge, of Mrs. Austen Fox Riggs for the annual meeting of the Austen Riggs Foundation, of which Mr. Coonley is president. Mrs. Coonley was honor guest at a tea given by Mrs. Riggs. Miss Alice B. Riggs assisted.

Pattern for Child's Prayer

By Nancy Cabot.

There are a dozen different versions of the "Child's Prayer," but all utter the credo expressed in this attractive sampler for a child's room. It measures 9 by 12 inches when completed, and the pattern includes detailed embroidery instructions. White or ecru linen serves as a background, and the figures and lettering may be of any desired color scheme.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the Child's Prayer, No. 741, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Clotilde Children's Fashions

Children of all ages virtually live in the outdoors the entire summer season. This active life requires a wide variety of tubbable, sturdy play costumes which are simple for mothers to launder and which will not stretch the budget. Today's two patterns demand a minimum of material of the most inexpensive sort, and the designs are so simple that even the complete novice at sewing will have no difficulty in making the garments.

Style No. 2944 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde Children's Fashions to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Shirley Baron Married May 6 to James Canoff

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Baron of North Ashland avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Shirley, to James I. Canoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Canoff of Sheridan road. The ceremony took place on May 6 in the home of the bride's parents. The bride attended the University of Michigan. Mr. Canoff, who attended the University of Illinois, will receive his LL. D. degree in June from the Kent College of Law.

To prevent rust, iron utensils that are not often used should be dried thoroly and oiled lightly with mineral oil.

The Stamp Collector

By Richard McP. Cabeen.

Mr. Cabeen will answer questions about stamps but not value. The Stamps and Coins advertising column in this page contains offers to buy and sell. Inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Last week The Stamp Collector mentioned the group of stamps issued by foreign countries in honor of the sesquicentennial of the United States Constitution as a possible adjunct to a collection of United States stamps. Another similar group consists of the stamps issued by foreign countries in connection with the international exposition held in New York in 1939 and 1940.

This writer believes that only a few of the countries which issued stamps honoring the New York world's fair did so except for the profit which might be derived from the sale of stamps to collectors. The Constitution issues which were largely the result of the salesmanship of Representative Sol Bloom enjoyed a ready sale among American collectors and there were many converts to this new deal in stamp collecting. Heretofore collectors of United States stamps were not interested in foreign stamps to any great extent, but by tying in these new issues with important events in the United States it required only a minimum of salesmanship to convince collectors that the stamps should be included in American collections.

Forty-seven foreign countries including 25 French colonies and eight Portuguese colonies issued one or more special stamps for the New York fair. These stamps cover a wide range of design and color and includes some of the large posterlike varieties which were so prominent in the Constitution issues. The following paragraphs list the countries with the denominations and date of issue.

The United States followed its recent practice by issuing a single stamp for the domestic letter rate. This went on sale on April 1, 1939.

Brazil, Oct. 7, 1939, 400 reis, George Washington; 800 reis, Emperor Dom Pedro; 1,200 reis Grover Cleveland, and 1,600 reis, the statue presented to Brazil by the United States.

Dominican Republic, April 29, 1939, ½ centavo, 1c, 3c and 10c, showing the trylon and perisphere, cornucopia and flag of the Republica Dominicana, and lighthouse of Columbus in three panels, and 10c airmail, similar but showing an airplane in the central panel.

Educador, June 20, 1939, 2c, 5c, 10c, 50c, 1 sucre, and 2 sucres, showing the trylon and perisphere, and for airmail use, 2c, 5c, 10c, 50c, 1 sucre, 2 sucres and 5 sucres, showing the Empire State building and a snow capped peak.

France, April 18, 1939, 2f 25c, showing the French pavilion at the fair with trylon and perisphere and statue of Liberty.

Iceland, April 30, 1939, 20 öre, trylon and perisphere, 35ö, Leif Ericsson plaque, and 45ö, statue of Thorfinnur Kerlsefni, and thru error a 2kr. value also showing Karlsefni.

Mexico, May 1, 1939, 10c, Mexican pavilion, and for airmail use, 20c, 40c, and 1 peso, showing the statue of José Maria Morelos which surmounted the pavilion.

Nicaragua about the end of 1939 issued two sets for domestic and international airmail use. One design showing President Somoza addressing the United States house of representatives appears on the 8c, domestic, and 50c, international. The United States capitol shows on the 32c, domestic, and on the 25c and 65c, international. The third design shows the trylon and perisphere and the tower of the Golden Gate exposition on either side of a portrait of President Somoza. This was used for the 4c, 10c, and 80c, domestic, and 30c, 90c, and 1 cordoba, international.

A continuation of this list will be the subject of a future article.

The photograph used for the reproduction of The Minute Man statute by Daniel Chester French at Concord, Mass., upon the National Defense postal savings stamps was furnished by the Library of Congress. The designs for the five stamps were prepared by Victor S. McCloskey Jr. of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The vignette for the $5 stamp was engraved by Carl T. Arlt and the remainder by John E. Edmondson. The vignette for the other values was engraved by Leo C. Kauffman, while James T. Vail handled the lettering and frame, and together with John E. Edmondson, the numerals.

When Chicago Was Young

By Herina Clark

Chicago, May 16, 1893.

Dear Julia: I know you are feeling sad over the death of Gen. Armstrong at Hampton institute. He has died too young, probably as a result of overwork in behalf of the colored people whom he loved and for whom he had done so much. Your own benefactions have been so generous to that great institution that I know you will mourn with the students.

Donald Grant Mitchell.

I did not realize until I read an account of his life today that he was a son of missionary parents who had gone to Hawaii to teach the natives there. That experience—seeing their work for another race—doubtless helped the son to understand the Negro race.

How fine his life has been—his splendid college career; entering the Union army immediately following his graduation; winning his spurs at Gettysburg, and all the time studying the Negro race intelligently, trying to devise a way to help them adjust themselves to the new life which they were to enter. He was one of the first, I read, to advocate their organization into military units for participating in the civil war on the Union side, and he himself recruited and organized and led a brigade of Negro infantry.

His real life work may be said to have begun, I suppose, when, after the war, he entered the service of the Freedman's bureau, where Gen. Howard made him a commissioner and sent him to look after the interests of the Negroes of southeastern Virginia. From this developed Hampton institute, where his idea of helping the Negro to help himself has unfolded.

By the way, I had supposed until I read a detailed account of Hampton today that the Indian was always a part of the student body of the school, but I find that it was not until the plan had been tried out for 10 years, with Negroes alone that the government asked Gen. Armstrong to extend its benefits to the Indians also. Now I believe there are about 200 Indians there and more than 500 Negroes.

If Hampton had done only one thing: Educated such a man as Booker T. Washington, who founded that much newer school at Tuskegee institute in Alabama, it would have been well worth while. He is just an example of what Gen. Armstrong has done for the Negro. But nearly a thousand graduates have gone forth to teach fully 300,000 Negroes and Indians not only how to read and write, but also how to make a livelihood.

We attended this week a delightful reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, 31 Banks street, in honor of Mrs. Ryerson's father, Donald Grant Mitchell, better known as Ik Marvel, whose "Reveries of a Bachelor" still holds a firm place in the hearts of readers, tho it came out, I think, in 1850.

The house was beautifully decorated with tulips, roses and ferns. It was not a large company, only about 75 people, so we felt much flattered at being invited. Mrs. Ryerson was assisted in receiving by Miss Mitchell, of New Haven, and by Mrs. Frederick Greely, Mrs. Walter C. Larned, and Mrs. J. L. Houghteling of Chicago. The Ryersons are among our finest people, whose wealth is used unostentatiously and who give liberally to all good works. They are members of St. James's Episcopal church and take an active part in the affairs of that parish.

We heard James Whitcomb Riley read his poems the other evening at Central Music hall. The best of his verses, in this reading, was, I thought, "Knee Deep in June." You feel drenched in the loveliness of that lovely time, when he has finished.

"Month a man kin railly love
June, you know, I'm talkin' of.

I think I hear Sandy and Martha Jr. getting out of their carriage. They were to stop on their way from a dinner at the Carter Harrison Jrs'., so I will say good night. Lovingly,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

Miss Nancy Hill's Boarding House.

About 1860 there was constructed on the corner of State and Madison streets a building named the Raymond block. The ground floor was divided into stores, on the corner was a milliner; next, a bakery, restaurant and caterer, Eckert, who is still remembered. There was a large front door and stairs leading up to the second floor, occupied by a fashionable boarding house, kept by Miss Nancy Hill and her brother, James.

It was unusual in style and patronage, for the boarders were not only of "our best people," but in due time they contributed largely to the growth, wealth, and dignity of Chicago. Miss Nancy set a very good table and often gave parties to which many of the "best people" were invited. As an onlooker at these parties, I remember two young ladies who danced and dressed well, one of whom became Mrs. Ferd Peck; the other, her sister, who became Mrs. Hawkins. I remember best the boarders who had children, among whom were the Raymonds, lovely old people who had two half-grown sons, Will [?] and Johnnie, and the Martins, who had a daughter who became Mrs. Coffeen.

Campus Modes by a Co-ed

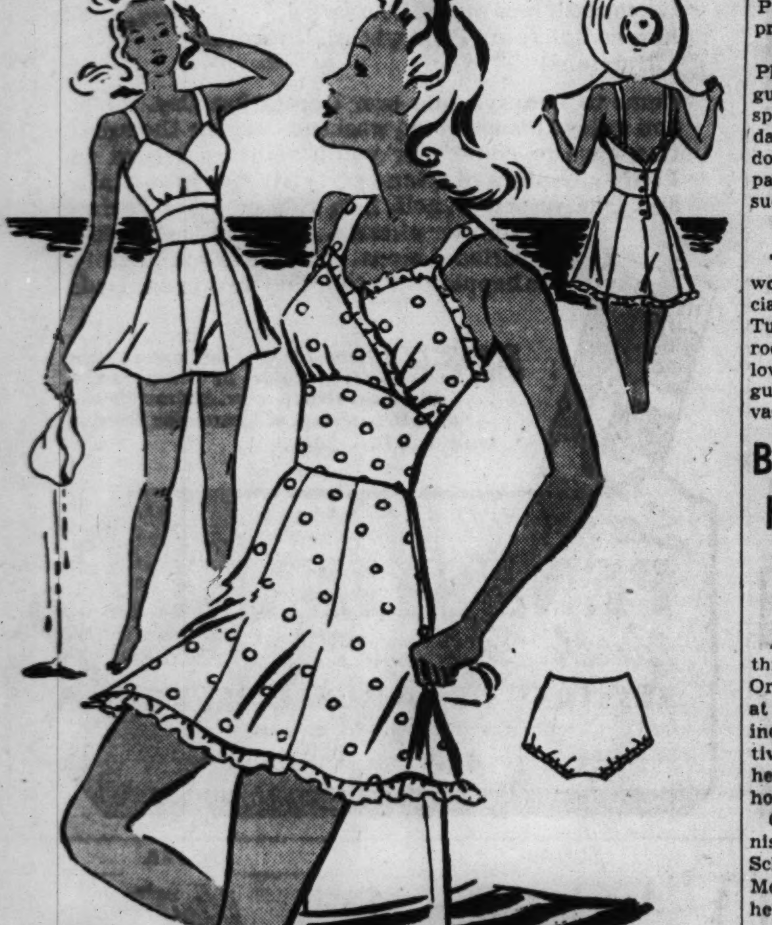
By Carolyn Ramey



You'll make a big splash when you go down to the water front in this new bathing suit style. It has the clean-cut crispness that we have come to require in play clothes. Its gored skirt fits neatly over the hips to give that smooth, sleek appearance.

You may make the suit either with or without the wide midriff band, according to the proportions of your figure and your modesty! If you like something a little more feminine, trim the suit with matching ruffles. If it's the strictly tailored costume you like, use spanking white sharkskin as a compliment to your golden tan.

Printed cottons, too, are practical for this type of dressmaker suit, and they lend a certain ingenue touch which is a favorite in this season of femininity in all fashions.

Style No. T-8719 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Harris Family Raises Horses in Lake Geneva

By Rose Cour.

LAKE GENEVA WIS.

Kemah and Kemah farm are more than merely the country places of Albert W. Harris and his son, Norman W. Harris. The estates are famous among horse lovers the world over as the breeding farms of full-blooded Arabian and Anglo-Arabian horses. The two properties, separated by highway 50, are beautifully situated on a high ridge above Williams bay with splendid views of two lakes, Lake Geneva to the south and Lake Como to the northeast. The estates are well named, because Kemah is an Indian word meaning "in the face of the wind."

Because of its prominent location and its gleaming red tile roof, the home of the senior Harris family is a landmark thruout the countryside and may be seen for miles in all directions. The walls are a warm buff stucco and the architecture is reminiscent of Spain or southern California.

• • •

Mr. Harris has another Arabian horse ranch in California, at Pomona, where the Kellogg institute, also famous for its desert steeds, is situated. Several of the original Arabians at Kellogg came from the Harris farms. Kellogg institute, which is operated by the state of California, furnishes many fine horses for use in motion pictures. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Harris always spend the latter part of the winter in California at the ranch and visiting in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Norman L. McLeod of Pasadena.

While the senior Mr. Harris breeds only the pure blooded Arabian horse, across the road at Kemah farm, his son, Norman W. Harris, is a well known breeder of the Anglo-Arabs, a crossbreed of thorobred dams and Arabian sires to produce hunters and jumpers. These horses are larger and stronger than the Arabians, but retain the good nature of the Arab rather than the nervousness and hot temper of the thorobred.

• • •

According to the Arabian Horse Club of America, of which the senior Mr. Harris is vice president, there are only 980 full blooded Arabian horses in the United States, of which nearly 100 belong to the Harris family. Mr. Harris is said to be the first breeder of Arabian steeds in the middle west, and one of the first in the country, starting more than 30 years ago. He purchased his horses directly from Ibn Sa'ud, emir or ruler of Hejaz and Nejd, provinces of Arabia. The registry certificates of the Harris horses include, besides the usual color, sex, markings, and family of sire and dam, the seal of the original tribal sheik and Arab tribe or strain mark.

Because the Arabians have one less rib than other horses they are said to make better than ordinary saddle horses. Their desert background has given them great endurance and, like camels, they can go for long periods without water. The Harris entries have been winners for many years in the annual three-day Chicagoland 100 mile trail ride at Lake Forest, sponsored by the Town and Country Equestrian association.

Kemah farm, now the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Harris and their 9 year old daughter, Josephine, was formerly the summer home of the senior Harrises. The farm has great historical interest in the region, as it was part of the original government grant to Capt. Israel Williams, first settler of Williams bay, 1836—and for whom the bay and village were named. Later the farm was owned by one of the captain's seven stalwart sons and remained in the Williams family until 1902, when it was purchased by Mr. Harris. The old Williams farmhouse was used as a summer home by the Harris family until they built Kemah in 1910. Up until the last year the Williams farmhouse was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harris.

• • •

Within recent months, however, the old place was razed and on the same spot a new white cottage has appeared, one of the charming, low, rambling houses for which Robert Seyfarth, its architect, is famous. While sparklingly new, its clapboarded walls, white shutters, and gray shingled roof look as if they had been part of the hilltop landscape for ages. The mellow, rose colored bricks of the fireplace chimneys actually are very old, as they were reclaimed from the remains of a New England prerevolutionary war house and brought to Kemah farm by the Harrises. For the floors they brought lovely old knotty pine planks, many of them fully 18 inches wide, and pieces of fine old paneling that now grace the walls of the living and dining rooms. Shelves filled with early American pewter from the Harris Winnetka home collection, quaint tin wall sconces, rush bottomed chairs and braided rugs add to the New England atmosphere.

Purely Wisconsin, however, is the glacial spring that feeds the blue swimming pool and also native are the numerous oaks, hickories, and maples near by, as well as the ancient gnarled wild grapevine that once entwined the porch of the old Williams farmhouse. Wide vistas of lawn, garden, tennis courts, and pasture extend down the hillside, ending in a tract of virgin forest which, in turn, terminates in a swamp where marsh hawks and all wild things abound. This long neck of bog is interesting to geologists, as it abounds with shells and other bits of evidence indicating that the marsh was once part of a natural channel which connected Lake Geneva and Lake Como. The lakes now are more than one mile apart.

• • •

While Kemah farm is noted for its Anglo-Arabian horses, it also has won fame in the dairy annals of the section. Young Mrs. Norman Harris is admittedly the dairy farmer of the family and milk from her herd of Guernsey cattle is sold in Chicago. Both her husband and father-in-law proudly tell of the fact that she won first place for the district in the 1940 neatest dairy farm contest sponsored by the Pure Milk association; also that her pedigreed bull won the blue ribbon last fall at the Walworth county fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harris return to Winnetka in the autumn because Josie is a pupil in the Country Day school, but week-ends thruout the winter and spring are spent in the guest house on the farm, or perhaps it should be said are spent mostly on horseback, as all of the Harrises ride much of the time. To be sure, they are members of the Lake Geneva Country club and often visit their friends in their lake shore homes, but as the senior Mr. Harris once said, smilingly, looking from his windswept hilltop down upon the blue lake and its white-winged craft, "Down there they go by boat. Up here we go by horse."

• • •

One of the finest homes on the shore of Lake Geneva was built, about 1900, by the father of Albert W. Harris, the late Norman Waite Harris, Chicago philanthropist who made gifts totaling nearly a million dollars to help the extension work of the Field museum in the public schools and elsewhere. After the death of Mr. Harris, the Lake Geneva home was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Walden W. Shaw, who called it The Stenning. It is now the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr. and their three children. Mrs. Peterkin formerly was Bessie Shaw.

Miss Donnelly Reports:

By Antoinette Donnelly.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

We made inquiry of dozens of friends and acquaintances who verify the unwelcome suspicion that feet do grow larger and that larger shoes are required as one "gets on in years." The extent of growth seems to be determined somewhat by the occupation in which one is engaged. Vocations which involve long hours of standing contribute largely to foot growth.

Twenty years ago most women's shoes sold were sizes 4½ to 5. Today the most popular size is 6½ or 7. Likewise, 20 years ago shoe widths were only narrow, medium, and wide. Today women's shoes are narrower, as well as longer, than formerly. The popular width used to be C. Now it is A or B.

Having little feet isn't as necessary from the fashion standpoint as once it was. Men, say those interviewed, come to accept fashions women sponsor, and if larger shoes are unavoidable, that's all right with the men, who say women are better walking companions since they ceased to be vain about their feet.

Bettina Bedwell Says:

From Paris, via London, a new evening fashion has come to the United States. Forced to abandon long, trailing dinner gowns because of the necessity of fleeing to shelters should a raid come, London women have adopted the policy, long popular with Parisians, of wearing pointedly evening fashions in daytime length. Designers have brought the note to this country, and include daring little hats to keep the frocks company.

Dresses of this type, altho in day length, are black sheer models with flashes of color or white. Printed models trimmed with delicate lace or ruffles also are featured, as well as stiff silk skirts with pastel silk jackets or blouses. Names given to this new fashion category are "movie dresses," "dressy daytime," and "don't dress evening." By any name, they're smart modes, and worthy of your adoption.

Room Changes Face with Use of Slip Covers

"Clever Tricks in Decoration," a new booklet by Claire Winslow, explains methods of making a large, high ceilinged room seem small, and a small, difficult to decorate one appear larger and more attractive. Price, 3 cents by mail, 2 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower lobby.

By Claire Winslow.

One of the easiest and most interesting ways to transform a room without going to any great expense is to dress the furniture in summer slip covers. Slip covers spell the change from winter to summer in one jump. They not only give your chairs and couches a brand new look, but they make the room seem cooler and fresher.

If you have a way with a sewing machine, you can certainly cut the costs here, for the labor charge is the big one in the making of slip covers. There is such a wide choice of materials that you can pay practically any amount you wish. You can get excellent, beautifully printed chintzes and cretonnes for around $1.00 a yard.

But the real finds for the budget minded are washable fabrics that can be had for as little as 25 cents a yard. There is the old standby called osneburg cloth, for instance, that is an off-white and has an interesting little beige or brown nub in its weave and that makes up beautifully into both slip covers and summer draperies. Be sure to launder it first, before starting in, however, as it is not preshrunk.

• • •

At less than 30 cents a yard there are a number of attractive denims—the soft blue now so popular in women's fashions, a lovely light gray, a rose, and several varieties of stripes. Denim is one of the most practical of all materials for slip covers. It wears like iron and always looks well.

A little more expensive—around 50 cents a yard—are ever so many smart, good looking types of bed ticking, and don't spurn this fabric, thinking it's too humble. Some of the most elegant and effete of New York decorators have been using it for several years! They like it in strawberry red and white stripes.

Here in Chicago we think the charming beige and white combinations in stripes of varying sizes, and the soft blue and white tickings are nicer.

• • •

The style news this season is that everything's slip covered—not just couches and chairs, but tables, bookcases, mirror frames, even walls. We saw a quaint setup the other day in which a table had been given a boxed, tailored slip cover that came right down to the floor. Sometimes inverted pleats are used at the four corners, but not always. In these very plain covers a contrasting edging is usually used.

The photograph today shows a bedroom furnished for a young girl, one of a series of newly decorated model interiors open for public inspection. The chairs are slip covered in a quilted chintz and are made very feminine by the addition of a deep ruffle of white embroidery organdy which can be removed and tubbed as often as you wish.

They Still Know How to Throw That Old Lasso

By Harold Tatam.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Real artists in throwing the lasso still exist in Argentina despite the oft repeated statement that the demand for the services of such men has disappeared with the advent of wire fenced paddocks and the virtual extinction of the semiwild cattle which once roamed the pampas. That statement, like most generalities, is far from being the strict truth, inasmuch as in the remoter regions of the republic a great deal of cattle work is still done with the lasso by men as competent in its use as were their predecessors of the age when the corral was a luxury and the paddocks were the size of counties.

But the specialist, the exponent of the difficult and hazardous throw, the gaucho who, figuratively speaking, shuddered to see the handiwork of the less expert, is seldom met with nowadays. The man who, for the pleasure he finds in exciting the envy of his fellows, will give an exhibition of the "tiro cruzado" [the cross throw], knowing that the slightest fault committed by himself or his pony will not only entail a terrific fall for both as well as the derision of the onlookers, is not to be picked up in any rural community.

• • •

Such an artist, in the person of Don Pedro Ramos, recently displayed his mastery of that particular throw for the benefit of a group of visitors to the "estancia" of the wealthy rancher who for the moment was his employer, and at the latter's request. Otherwise he would have disdained to do the trick before persons incapable of appreciating every nicety of the performance. Ramos, it may be remembered, claims that his grandsire was one of the half savage gauchos who around 1820 spread terror among the Spanish infantry by their sudden onslaughts, in which they noosed their victims and dragged them to death at the heels of their galloping horses.

HIDDEN BEAUTY?

The ugly duckling and the glamor girl had about an even break in the days when women dressed like this. The all-concealing manto—along with the dark skirt, black hose, and black shoes—was the prescribed street costume in South America until a little more than a quarter century ago.

A sturdily built, slightly bow-legged man of medium stature, Ramos assented nonchalantly to the suggestion that he should oblige for the occasion, just as tho it was the sort of things he did most mornings before breakfast.

Stationed in a small clump of trees a couple of hundred yards from a corral in which a few wild colts had been shut, the "audience" obtained a good view of the throw. The "tiro cruzado" is a fancy throw designed to show the dexterity of the horseman, the speed of his pony, and its possession of a perfect "mouth" which instantly obeys the slightest touch of the rein. The lack of any one of three qualities would entail disaster.

• • •

Mounted on his best pony, the artist had stationed himself to the right of the gate of the corral. He held his coiled lasso, with its pendent loop, in his right hand. With his thumb and finger he felt the ring fixed halfway down the girth of his saddle to which the lasso was attached, and then gave the signal that he was ready. One of the snorting colts in the corral was allowed to escape by the gateway. It headed for the open country like a whirlwind, and was followed by Ramos whirling his lasso over his head. He was riding on a line slightly to the right of the flying chestnut and was still preserving that line when he threw the lasso.

The watchers saw the loop falling horizontally above the quarry's head and at the last moment assume a semivertical form, into which the animal seemed to thrust his head as tho into a halter. What the watchers could not see was the twist of the thrower's wrist which sent a wave, like a ripple on a pond, down the length of the lariat, causing the loop to change its angle.

• • •

The colt, now snared, increased the pace of the headlong flight. Ramos' lasso, still slack, lay across his pony's withers, and his task was to maneuver himself to a line to the left of his quarry before the impact could take place. He lifted it above his pony's ears as he drew to the desired position. This accomplished, a slight check to his own pony's speed brought the lasso taut and in a few more strides he was at a standstill, with a fighting, choking colt imprisoned at the end of the rope.

THE VOICE OF THE TRAVELER

Letters regarding travel conditions and experiences are welcomed. Please keep them brief. Address: Travel Editor, Chicago Tribune.

PASSPORTS IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Chicago, May 11.—To the Travel Editor: While you frequently mention that there are no wartime restrictions for tourists visiting Canada, you have failed to mention the fact that there is at least one in Nova Scotia. There one must obtain a certificate upon entry and show it upon leaving if he brings in more than $100.

Neither have you informed your readers that a passport is necessary for American citizens wishing to visit Newfoundland. I trust you will direct their attention to the following printed notice:

"Entrance requirements for tourists visiting Newfoundland—

"United States citizens should be in possession of passports.

"British subjects should carry documents sufficient to establish their identity as British citizens.

"Nationals of any nonempire country in Europe seeking to enter Newfoundland for any purpose must first obtain a permit from the chief commissioner of immigration in Newfoundland.

"Nationals of other non-European countries must be in possession of passports, or other papers sufficient to satisfy the Newfoundland alien officer at the port of entry as to their name and nationality." ALEXANDER LINDSAY.

WESTWARD BOUND.

Chicago, May 7.—To the Travel Editor: I am preparing to go on a trip to San Francisco, and I greatly enjoyed Alden Powell's description of that city in last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE. I shall keep his article for reference, and I hope to enjoy my stay there as much as he seems to have enjoyed his. WILLIAM J. DOHERTY.

MOVIES FOR SHUT-INS.

Chicago, May 12.—To the Travel Editor: I have some amateur movies that I took in Japan, China, India, and Europe, and I should be glad to show them to any shut-ins, young or old, who live in or near Chicago and who might be interested. They can write me at 1706 West Jackson boulevard, or phone me at Seeley 4456. FLOYD HALLOWELL.

APPRECIATION.

Sarasota, Fla., May 5.—To the Travel Editor: Your coöperation last season was responsible for a large portion of the excellent representation we had in Sarasota all winter from Chicago. It was deeply appreciated, and we thank you.

MARION HOBSON,
Secretary Sarasota County
Chamber of Commerce.

INVITATION.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 7.—To the Travel Editor: In a recent edition of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE I read with much interest your description of dude ranches and de luxe hotels in Arizona. Since I have just returned from a meeting of the Arizona Hotel association, and since I happened to be in every one of the places you mentioned, I quite agree with you in your enthusiasm for them and for that wonderful country.

J. B. HERNDON JR.

CHEER FOR SHUT-INS.

GODERICH, Ont., May 10.—To the Travel Editor: I am writing you because I understand that you devote a portion of your section to the shut-ins.

Our club is sponsoring an annual International Shut-ins' day, to be held the first Sunday of June. The purpose is to encourage visitation of the sick and disabled. I realize that we have not much time to put the plan over, and I wondered if you would help by making an announcement of this in your columns.

We are not a financial organization and I can assure you that there are no ulterior motives behind the sponsoring of such a plan. We are prompted solely by the desire to help bring a little extra cheer and friendship into the lives of the less fortunate. ERNEST BARKER,

Chairman of Publicity, Canadian Cheerio Club.

Mexican Peaks Bring Highway to Abrupt End

[This is the second of a series of stories on the progress of an expedition thru North and South America. Mr. Richardson, a Detroit newspaper man, and two companions are trying to go by auto all the way from this country to the Strait of Magellan—a feat never accomplished to date.]

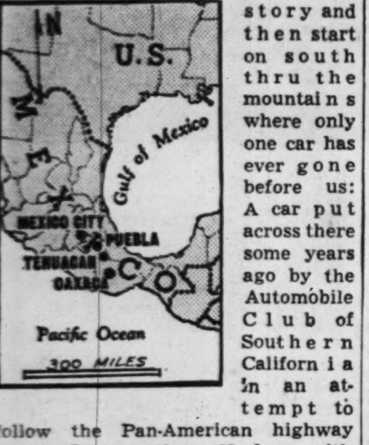
By Sullivan C. Richardson.

OCTOPEC, MEXICO. While the little Zapotecan Indian boy atop the hot church towers of Mitla—which we left six hours ago — continues to play his snare drum for the benefit of the organ pipe cactus covered town at the foot of the Mitla ruins, we are camped here on the side of a mountain near the end of of any wheel road south.

Tomorrow we stop long enough in Nejapa—if we reach Nejapa tomorrow — to post this story and then start on south thru the mountains where only one car has ever gone before us: A car put across there some years ago by the Automobile Club of Southern California in an attempt to follow the Pan-American highway route. It took them 62 days, with 150 peons, the department of roads in Mexico City told us, to get thru this stretch when it was a bit longer than it is now. Their expedition ended near Nicaragua. Ours must go on to the southern tip of South America. And it mustn't take us any 62 days to reach Tehuantepec!



• • •

The drive to Puebla from Mexico City is as beautiful as can be found in Mexico, with the great snow covered cone of old diablo volcano Popocatepetel pushing up in the sky on our right.

They had told us that no automobile road existed to Oaxaca—which we already knew. And E. W. James, chief of transport, division of public roads, Washington, had advised us not to try to reach Tehuantepec via Oaxaca. But we wanted to see the Monte Alban ruins, Mitla, and the birth city of Mexico's liberator, Benito Juarez. We came on.

The road is paved from Puebla to Tehuacan, 70 miles of the distance to Oaxaca. But we turned off the pavement at Puebla to go across thru Matamoros, where the Pan-American highway eventually will go. We understood, too, that even tho there was more pavement on the other route, this completely unpaved way was the quickest and shortest trail to Oaxaca.

• • •

We don't know how the road is from Tehuacan to Oaxaca, but the one thru Matamoros and Huajapam is plenty for the ordinary urge for excitement. Miles of it are freshly finished—wide and good. But about 65 miles of it wind up to the crest of the mountains, climbing grades over rough boulders and washed out dugways. This has the rough road from Mazatlan to Guadalajara completely dimmed.

There was one hill up which we jolted and careened three times, only to back down again after getting two-thirds of the way. And backing down these rocks, with little more than a foot to spare on the outside edge of the roadways, is enough to lie awake nights and think about. The difficulty on this grade was a sharp bend in the middle of the dugway, with a washed out ditch from 12 to 15 inches deep, diagonally across the center of the bend. The fourth time we came up, the springs, body, and wheels had to take care of themselves. We hit the ditch going fast, bolted across it, and went on, wheels spinning in rocks and gravel. It was a stiff grade.

When the highway finally is finished, that stretch of mountains will be more interesting than even those between Guadalajara and Mexico City. If the road follows the present approximate route it will be the premier skyline drive of the Americas. And we mean skyline.

• • •

It is hardly advisable for ordinary tourists to attempt the drive to Oaxaca. It can be done in two easy days from Mexico City if the driver is not nervous and doesn't mind extremely bad road. There is a road, and even that is comforting. Miles of the dugways are impassable for two cars should they chance to meet in the narrow stretches. But hoof drivers can always pack down, even on narrow dugways. It isn't, however, the place for impatient or excitable motorists. The grades off the sides of these dugways are a bit dizzy to look down upon, and many of the curves are not only difficult to negotiate, but are completely blind, front and side.

But we wouldn't have missed the drive. Native life is quite different from any we've seen so far in Mexico. A great many hats are woven in this part of the country. Almost all the natives we saw—even children 8 to 10 years old—carried their weaving along with them down the roads, with calloused, leather thonged feet padding thru ankle deep dust and bad ruts, and dusty gray-black hands pulling and twisting flat fibre into hats. We vote the Matamoros road to Oaxaca one of the most intriguing of all the stretches of Mexico.

• • •

Then the Monte Alban ruins, near Oaxaca; the city itself, with Juarez—or Paul Muni—looking down upon it; the Saturday markets, when marching streams of Zapotecan Indians plod along the roads leading to the marketa in the lower half of town, and finally the ruins, 29 miles south of the city, on the way to road's end for those who would still drive south. This end is only 5 kilometers south of where we're parked at this moment.

No one is wondering more how we're going to get thru this stretch of mountains than we are. No one could wonder more. Even worry. But when we send in our next story —we hope from Tehuantepec—we'll be able to tell you.

So, while Hitler, Mussolini, Winston Churchill, and President Roosevelt make history for the world, we'll push steadily south where no automobile is supposed to go unless it can be carried by peons or pulled by heavily yoked bulls.

Two Blocks of Buildings Going Up on Ocean Front

CAROLINA BEACH, N. C.—One of the biggest nondefense building programs in the state is that at Carolina Beach, where two solid blocks of ocean front buildings are under construction. The town, recently razed by fire, has let contracts for more than 100 6 and 7 room beachhouses to be built along the newly opened Canal drive; a 100 room hotel, a theater, a restaurant, business buildings, and nearly 10 blocks of concession stands and bathhouses. The program represents $1,400,000 of fireproof buildings.

TIPS TO TOURISTS

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My husband and I are planning a trip to Mexico this summer. We shall take our cameras along and we are especially interested in getting good pictures of the public markets. What cities would you suggest? —I. D.

Puebla, Guadalajara, Cuernavaca, Taxco, and Cholula.

Where is Olympic National park? —F. P.

On the Olympic peninsula, in the state of Washington.

Where can I get detailed information about the vacation possibilities of New Mexico? —C. B. W.

Write the State Tourist bureau, Santa Fe, N. M.

Is it possible to view the midnight sun from any place in Alaska? —J. R. McF.

Yes. It can be seen at Fairbanks, northern terminal of the Alaska railroad.

We have often read references to the submarine gardens off Santa Catalina Island. Please give us a brief description of them.—M. M.

Tourists board the glass bottom power boats at Avalon, 22 miles off the coast of southern California, for the tour above the gardens. They see such fish as the Garibaldi, the electric perch, the blue, green, silver, and gray perch, the rock bass, and the sheepshead, and such species as the abalone, the sea hare, and the moray eel. Some of the shapes moving by are beautiful; others are merely weird.

Travel to Smokies Park Shows a Large Increase

RALEIGH, N. C.—Travel to the Great Smoky Mountains National park increased sharply in April, when 18,403 cars, carrying 55,515 passengers, visited the area. In April, 1940, there were 12,968 cars with 37,466 passengers. All 48 states were represented among the April visitors, of whom more than half were from areas outside the states of North Carolina and Tennessee, in which the park is situated.

Arequipa Bull Fight Is More Like a Picnic

[This is the 11th article in a series on South America. The next will appear in an early issue.]

By Mason Warner.

Llamas and donkeys with packs strapped to their backs add a note of picturesqueness to the street scenes of Arequipa, which are strangely different from those of modern Lima. Here, too, members of the white race become conscious that they are in the minority, and Peru's population statistics take on new significance.

AREQUIPA, PERU.

Only a modest claim for accuracy is made for the latest census, but it is estimated that of this country's 6,000,000 people the ruling class of Spanish descent numbers less than 500,000. More than 5,000,000 are pure Indian. Most of the remainder are of mixed blood. There is a sprinkling of Japanese and Chinese, and at the foot of the list are numbered 2,301 British and only 1,129 Americans. It is well to bear in mind the 5 to 1 Indian majority when forming opinions on Peru's economic and political problems.

• • •

Arequipa is situated about 90 miles from the coast, in the rich valley of the Chili river. It lies at the foot of El Misti mountain, 19,200 feet high, a perfect, snow capped cone that rivals the symmetry of Japan's Fujiyama. The mountain is also known as El Volcan de Arequipa, an appellation gained by its sinister activity in former times, when its frequent volcanic eruptions spread molten lava and ashes over a wide surrounding territory.

This solidified lava has proved a benefit to the city. Many quaint old Spanish buildings, including churches of pleasing design, have been built of "sillar," the name given the white, stonelike, solid lava.

El Mista does not stand alone as an outpost sentry of the high Andes. It is guarded on one side by Chachani, a peak 20,000 feet high, and on the other, by Pichu-Pichu, 18,600 feet. The average height of these three mountains is just about one mile above Pike's peak, which I considered quite a hilltop.

• • •

Few tourists come to Arequipa just to see it. It has little to offer the sightseer, but it is the gateway to the great plateau, to Cuzco and Machu-Picchu, and to La Paz, and Bolivia. Travelers to the high country, with its 15,000 feet altitude, are advised to remain at Arequipa, as a halfway station, for a day or two, to become acclimatized to the thin air.

While wandering about the city with nothing to do aside from trying to expand our lungs by deep breathing exercises, we explored the huge market. It is enclosed and roofed, and the 5,000 men, women, and children presented a bustling activity as they bargained, bought, and sold fruits, vegetables, meats, fish, and cereals. The section serving food at tables was jammed with seated and standing patrons. All the stalls and stands were operated by women. "Which," explained a bespectacled woman from Boston, "is why the market is so clean."

The city is built around a large square, faced on one side with a fine old cathdral founded in 1612. On the other three sides there are buildings with inviting arcades—the first story cut back and the second story extending over the setback to the curb and affording needed shade. The throngs in the square were a kaleidoscopic mingling of Indians in colorful dress, gaily bedecked llamas, donkeys, electric trams, and the latest models of American automobiles.

• • •

We drove 20 miles out into the mountains to the Jesus Baths, a health resort of much local renown. There is a small, enclosed bathing pool in connection with the hotel. The drive out was more interesting than was the object of the trip.

We passed five or six Indian villages in which most of the houses seemed incomplete. The majority was built of "sillar" lava; others were made of cobblestone and adobe, seven or eight feet high. The huts lacked doors or windows, and on some of them parts of the roof were missing. They looked as if building had stopped before structure was complete, or as if they had started to tear down and ceased halfway. Most of the squalid dwellings had only one room, and that was not clean.

About one in every three displayed a small red flag at the top of a slender pole, and this indicated that chi-cha [chee-cha], a native drink, was for sale. Before the doorways of these huts were tables at which many Indians were drinking from glasses that had a capacity of at least a quart. Chi-cha is of pre-Incan origin. It is made from corn, like Kaffir beer in Zululand. All Peruvian farmers are said to drink it instead of water.

• • •

A bullfight was advertised to take place in the afternoon. "Ten bulls," we were told, "bound to be good." With memories of Spain and Mexico, we decided to attend. The affair was to be held far from the city—so far that the taxi fare was 3 sols [about 50 cents].

We arrived at the "Peleas de Toros." There was no building or enclosure of any kind. It was just a 10 acre level sand lot. We were stopped at the unindicated street entrance and there we bought tickets for the performance. The tickets were priced at 20 centavos [about 3 cents, American], and that low admission charge aroused our suspicions.

We were told that there were no seats, but that we could walk on and stand up to see the show or drive in and remain in our car. We voted to stay in the car, and drove in.

About a thousand men, women, and children had gathered. The crowd was 90 per cent Indian.

No fewer than 50 important looking men were riding about on horses, issuing orders right and left to the crowds of onlookers, which orders were casually ignored.

• • •

The bulls were tethered on both sides of the open space. They were bellowing fiercely, but were docile enough when led about. The performance was to start at 2 o'clock. Not until 3 did the men on horseback form a ring to encircle the combats and keep the spectators at a distance.

A bull was led in from one side; another from the opposite one. They met in the middle of the ring formed by the horsemen, butted each other once or twice, and then one walked away. The whole performance was less interesting than a stock show. Only one set of opponents showed spirit or action. They bellowed at each other, pawed the earth, snorted, bunted, and made a few fast, goring slashes with their horns for about 30 seconds. Then one turned tail and ran. We watched the slow show for half an hour, during which eight bulls were matched in pairs, and then we drove back to the city.

MOUNTAIN MUSIC IN SOUTH AMERICA

An Indian and his llama pause for a rest—and a tune—in the mountains near Arequipa, Peru. Five out of six of Peru's residents are of pure Indian blood.

Rangers Introduce Travelers to Wild Life in Mountains

Estes Park, Colo.—If you would like to meet a red-naped sapsucker, a camp robber, or a whistling marmot, rangers will introduce you in Rocky Mountain National park this summer.

In addition to patroling the park to protect its wild life against hunters and trappers, its trees and flowers against fire and infestation, and its human visitors against mishaps, the rangers find time to acquaint vacationists with many things that often escape the untrained eye.

On trail trips off the beaten tracks they lead visitors to the habitats of various forms of wild life, point out the difference in appearance and habits of the chipmunk, ground squirrel, and chickaree, and how to distinguish between a Colorado blue spruce, a lodgepole pine, and a ponderosa pine. They know the haunts of the famed Rocky mountain bighorn sheep, the elk, the deer, and the busy beaver. Likewise, they can explain how nature formed the sky piercing peaks and the precipitous canyons.

Farms of Blossoms.

More than half of the country's flower seeds are raised in the vast "flower farms" in the Lompoc area of southern California.

Spring Comes to Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis.—Deep in the woods the trilliums are flowering white and red. In country gardens the bleeding heart and lilacs are in bloom. Hurried by an unusually early spring, the plums and cherries, followed by the apples, already have dropped their petals.

Each year more vacation travelers discover Wisconsin's variety of scene. Good highways go everywhere in the state, and visitors are now following them into sections of undiscovered beauty, infrequented waters, and new scenic surprises.

New Two Decker Bridge Leads to Portsmouth, N. H.

Another link has been added to New England's coastal highway system with the recent completion of the $3,155,000 two deck bridge spanning the Piscataqua river between Portsmouth, N. H., and Kittery, Me. Under construction for almost two years, the bridge is 2,798 feet long, includes a 224 foot lift, and accommodates on the lower level the Portsmouth-Portland tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad. Approaches bypass the city of Portsmouth, thus eliminating the former bottleneck which forced thru traffic into the city's business section.

NATIONAL PARKS

● Lying in the Rockies, between the Canadian and the Mexican borders, four of our greatest national parks offer you tops in vacation fun and about as complete a spectacle of natural wonders as can be found on earth. Sixty real glaciers, nestling in the mountains of Glacier National park in northern Montana, are survivors of the ancient monsters which once covered the entire range. Yellowstone in Wyoming is famous for geysers. It has more of them and better ones than the rest of the world put together. Bryce Canyon park in Utah offers fantastic rock formations and shapes even more fantastically colored. Grand Canyon in Arizona features a water gorge, 217 miles long and 18 miles wide, cut by the erosion of a small river over millions of years. If you have never been awed by the scenic wonders of our national parks, here is the vacation for you.

● Consult the advertisments in the Travelers' Guide today or let the Chicago Tribune Travel Bureau help you to plan a trip to Glacier, Yellowstone, Bryce or Grand Canyon National parks. This department of the Tribune Public Service office can supply you with information about steamship, railroad, bus, and plane travel, cost of transportation and accommodations en route for trips and tours to any part of the world which interests you. Services are free. The Tribune Travel Bureau sells no tickets—gets no fee or commission from the sale of tickets. So feel free to call in person, write or telephone.

Indiana's Parks Provide Havens of Real Peace

By Frederic Babcock.

This letter appeared in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE'S "Voice of the Traveler" column May 4:

> Nashville, Ind., April 29.—To the Travel Editor: Brown county is stretching itself in the spring sun, and blue smoke may be seen curling from the cabins of the artists and photographers down here.
>
> The county is famous for its gorgeous colorings in the fall, but spring is the time to see the haze over Bear hollow, listen to the birds, and watch the wood carvers and pottery workers shaping their wares for the summer tourist trade. It is the time to see the natives instead of flocks of other tourists. Here you view square dancing as it should be danced and eat fried chicken as it should be fried.
>
> This is the general idea, and if you could dress this letter up, or use it in any way, I am sure your readers would be glad to hear about what Brown county has to offer them.
>
> MILDRED MURPHY.

• • •

Miss Murphy's treatise didn't need any "dressing up," but it was obvious that she hadn't told the whole story. TRIBUNE readers might wish to read more. So why not take a trip down there and see for ourselves? After years of traveling to, and writing about, the far places, it might be a good idea to do a piece or two about the places nearer home.

A week-end jaunt into the country promised to provide temporary escape from a dizzy world.

And Brown county was not the only haven of peace. Indiana, we had always heard, was full of them. There were Turkey Run, and the dunes, and many others. And there was French Lick, with its single minded devotion to the business of providing rest and recreation. Each of them should be worth a visit.

• • •

Indiana Dunes State park was our first stop. We had been there before, but not in the springtime. This time the trees once more were coming to life, and the floor of the woods was paved with blossoms. The mountains of sand were still on the march. At the bowl of sand, formed by the action of the wind and known as the Big Blownut, we saw, on one side, the trees being covered and killed, and, on the other side, the dead trees that, after centuries beneath the soil, were being brought back to the surface. Beyond were the white sands along Lake Michigan.

Bus loads of school children unloaded their cargo, and the youngsters scampered up the hillsides for their first breath of spring. Then, like other youngsters the world over, the boys in the party showed off by racing downhill and turning somersaults in the sand while their girl friends shrieked their admiration.

This park is the poor man's playground. It isn't the finest spot on earth, but it's close to metropolitan Chicago, and it merits a day in anybody's life.

• • •

From there our route led us straight south, thru the Jasper-Pulaski State Game preserve and the college towns of Lafayette and Crawfordsville, to the Shades and Turkey Run State park. Freshly ploughed fields gave way, occasionally, to communities of little white houses, and in each community at least one church spire poked itself above the greenery. Once in a while a farmer's car of a by-gone day rattled ahead of us and held up our progress on curves and hills, but we were in no particular hurry, and we didn't mind.

The Shades proved to be a privately owned scenic area of some 2,000 acres. It was developed years ago by J. W. Frisz, and now his heirs are carrying it on. The story is that the Indians, noting its dense forest and deep ravines, named it "The Shades of Death." Today the thinned out forest and the ravines are traversed by hiking trails, and they have lost their former gloom.

• • •

There a tree has time to grow and an inn to age. Some of the white oaks surrounding the hotel are more than 300 years old, and the hotel itself is a real museum piece. But it's so comfortable, and its atmosphere so homey, that it fits perfectly into the picture.

If you've followed the reprints of Gaar Williams' cartoons, you will be prepared for the whatnots in the corners, and the time-stained pictures on the walls, and even the stereoscope, with its pictures in three dimensions, that Miss Frisz shows you in the living room. But you'll like the old-fashioned beds so well that you'll almost begrudge the "rising bell" that clangs outside at 7:30 in the morning. You'll forget your grudge when you hear the cardinals and brown thrashers sounding off in the maples and flowering dogwoods.

• • •

A short jaunt from the Shades is Turkey Run, and there the hotel is modern, but in front of it stands an ancient carriage, ready to take the nature lover wherever he wishes to go, and just around the corner is a church of handhewn logs. This church, dating back to 1871, has handmade benches for pews, and the "shakes" on the roof are covered with moss. Like its neighbor, the park borders Sugar creek. Everywhere are white dogwood blossoms and hundreds of varieties of wild flowers, shrubs, and trees, including the Indiana state tree, the tulip poplar.

The geological formations are much like those found in Illinois' Starved Rock State park, but, being farther from Chicago, Turkey Run has the advantage of being less frequented than is the Illinois playground.

• • •

Other points were calling. We hurried on to the college towns of Greencastle and Bloomington, the McCormick's Creek, Brown county, and Spring Mill State parks, and French Lick Springs [of all these, more next Sunday], and then home by way of Vincennes and Terre Haute.

Our trip was 800 miles long, and we made it in three days. If we had had the time, we would have taken two weeks to do Indiana. Then we not only could have spent adequate time in each place but we could have seen others—such as the Clifty Falls State park, the Nancy Hanks Lincoln memorial, Pokagon State park, and Lake Wawasee—that we had to pass up this time.

• • •

Nearly all the best parts of the state can be reached from Chicago by bus or train. If you are going by auto, and wish to take a tour similar to ours, the accompanying map will show you how. Here's the route:

From this city to the dunes, U. S. highway 20; from a point a few miles east of the dunes to Crawfordsville, state route 43; thence to Turkey Run by state 47 [with a side trip on a country road to the Shades]; thence U. S. 36, state 43, and state 46 to Greencastle, McCormick's Creek, and Bloomington; thence to Brown county and back to Bloomington via state 46; thence state 37 to Spring Mill; thence state 37 and U. S. 150 to French Lick; thence U. S. 150 to Vincennes; thence U. S. 41 to Terre Haute; thence straight north to Chicago on U. S. 41, with the exception of a short cut, on state 63, from Clinton to Carbondale.

Save in Brown county, Spring Mill, and at the Shades, don't expect to find much of the old-time Indiana of James Whitcomb Riley's poems and Edward Eggleston's "The Hoosier Schoolmaster."

But, if you're like this traveler, you'll come back with a new peace of mind and with a renewed faith in America—or, at least, in middle western America.

TRAVEL-LOG

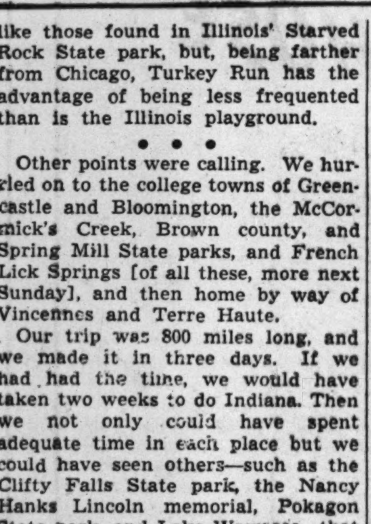
The route of a week-end trip taken by The Tribune travel editor to some of the scenic spots of Indiana. The tour is described in an adjoining column.



"TROUTING TIME"

Their equipment may be primitive, but these two have caught enough fish to fill the frying pan back home. The picture was taken in Maine.

Old-Time Cannon.

Along the north shore of Jamaica are several brass cannon of Spanish manufacture that date back to the early 17th century. The British captured the island from the Spaniards in 1655.

A Narrow Gorge.

The Royal gorge in Colorado is 10 miles long and 2,000 feet deep. At some points it is only 30 feet across at the bottom.

Banff-Jasper Road Finished After 10 Years

BANFF, Alta.—The 186 mile Banff-Jasper highway, traversing the crest of the snow capped Canadian Rockies is at last open to motorists.

Built by the surveys and engineering branch of the department of mines and resources of the Alberta government, the new route, which follows a pioneer pack train trail, has been completed after 10 years of difficult road engineering.

Vistas from the road include 11 of Canada's highest mountains, many glacial lakes, and the Columbia ice field, largest south of the Arctic circle. Elk, moose, mountain goats, and grizzly bears are easily spotted by motorists. Both Banff and Jasper National parks, thru which the highway passes, are wild game preserves.

"World's Finest."

SUN VALLEY, Idaho.—Silver creek, near Sun Valley, has been called "the finest dry fly stream in the world." This is because the banks of the meandering stream are free from overhanging brush to snag tackle, and the waters abound in big rainbow trout.

Tallest East of Rockies.

Harney peak, in the Black hills of South Dakota, reaches an altitude of 7,242 feet. It is the highest point east of the Rocky mountains.

It's fun to ride the Glacier Park trails...

Use Ingenuity in Meting Out House Chores

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Many children's schedules during the school year are very full ones, especially if music, dancing, and other lessons are included. Home work alone takes up a great deal of the after school hours and, of course, a certain amount of play and relaxation is imperative.

Opinions vary considerably, among both parents and psychologists, on the subject of just how much help should be expected from children in and about the house. Some child guidance experts think chores should be obligatory. Some parents feel that no hard and fast rules should be laid down; no fixed or regular routine should be required. Many mothers declare that a certain number of tasks should be done by their growing sons, and a definite amount of help is to be expected from their daughters, but all in a willing, coöperative spirit.

• • •

One mother wrote me that she worked out this question by putting her desires in the form of requests or suggestions, her family consisting of four girls ranging in age from 5 to 13 years. When it came time to prepare the evening meal she would say: "Who would like to help me get dinner tonight?" When the matter was settled she would announce "there are beds to be made and baking and shopping to be done; so let's all choose our own chores and get them done as quickly as possible; then we can have an early lunch and get started."

The following I heard from another family. They had a cabin on a lake and the three children were most eager to have an outboard motor for their rowboat, but the family finances were not equal to such an outlay. One night, in the late fall, their father put a business proposition to Peter, Ted, and Myra:

"We'd all love to have that motor for the boat and I think we can, if we all put our shoulders to the wheel. If you boys will attend to all the work outside and in the house that we usually have to hire a man to do, and if Myra will help mother and make it possible not to have Hilda here on Saturdays, we'll pull thru all right. We'll put the amount of money saved in this strong box, and in the spring we'll all go and choose the motor together."

Needless to say, the plan worked, the children straining to outdo one another to earn the most money.

• • •

Generally speaking, children are willing to be helpful and useful if the idea is put to them in the right way, as a suggestion, perhaps, or as a free will arrangement and not a "must" proposition.

A great deal depends on the nature and character of the child, of course. Also, it must be remembered that children dislike monotony. In general, in order to get the desired results, we must put things to them in a way which they can understand and appreciate. And certainly we should avoid nagging and be generous with our praise.

Home Owners' Queries

Chicago—[To the Home Building Editor.]—Our woodwork has been rather badly scratched in spots, and surface looks marred. What can we use for patching the wood?

Mrs. K. M.

Answer: You can get shellac sticks in different colors, to be applied like sealing wax.

* *

River Forest, Ill.—[To the Home Builders' Editor.]—Is there anything to do for a handsome mirror with a crack down one side? I hate to give it up.—Mrs. H. G.

Answer: If you need it more for decoration than for reflection, you can camouflage the crack by some "transfer" flowers. Or, if some one in the family is handy with a brush, paint a spray of flowers the length of the crack.

* *

Moline, Ill.—[To the Home Building Editor.]—We want to do some puttying around house and wonder if wood should be given any treatment before using putty.

Answer: Give wood a coat of boiled linseed oil or paint first before you apply putty, so wood won't "drink up" the oil in your putty.

Doctors' Wives Invited to Auxiliary Convention

All physicians' wives are invited to attend the 14th annual convention of the Woman's auxiliary to the Illinois State Medical society on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Palmer House. Mayor Kelly will welcome the delegates at a luncheon Tuesday. That evening there will be a dinner and style show at the Lake Shore club. Mrs. Harry Otten of Springfield, president elect, will be the special guest at a luncheon Wednesday, and there will be a musical and tea that afternoon at the Arts club. Mrs. Harry J. Dooley of River Forest heads the auxiliary.

SEEK TO REDUCE COUNTRY LOTS TO 40 BY 112 FT.

Townships Schedule Public Hearings.

A proposed amendment to the Cook county zoning ordinance to permit the subdividing of land into smaller lots than heretofore permitted will be discussed this week at hearings in seven northwest side townships.

The present regulations call for no lots outside of incorporated areas to have an area of less than 10,000 feet or a frontage of less than 60 feet. The proposal, as contained in the petition of two real estate dealers, would reduce this, when the land is contiguous to a municipality furnishing public sewage disposal and water supply, to 4,500 square feet and 40 foot frontage.

112 Feet Deep.

One of the petitioners, operator of a development in Norwood Park township, pointed out that many persons wishing to move out of the city who could not afford a larger lot would be glad to have one about 40 by 112 feet. It was said they would be sold, including a four or five room bungalow, for from $4,500 to $5,500.

But present property owners, a zoning board official said, might object to having smaller lots set up near them, and villages might refuse to avail their sewage and water facilities to settlers whose status was less certain than those who had larger holdings.

Schedule of Hearings.

The hearings will be open to any one interested and will be presided over by Robert Kingery, chairman of the zoning board of appeals. They will be held in the village hall of the village named except when otherwise specified, and are scheduled as follows:

Leyden township, Franklin Park, 7:30 o'clock Friday.

Niles township, Morton Grove, 9 o'clock Friday.

Hanover township, Bartlett, 4 o'clock Saturday.

Barrington township, Barrington, 5 o'clock Saturday.

Palatine township, Palatine, 6 o'clock Saturday.

Maine township, Des Plaines city hall, 8 o'clock May 29.

NAME OFFICERS FOR MONT CLARE COMMUNITY UNIT

Charles Glasser, 2029 North Nordica avenue, was elected as the first president last week of the new Mont Clare Community council, an association of 13 community organizations to provide a recreational program for the neighborhood. Glasser is also a director of the Mont Clare Kiwanis club.

The vice president is Mrs. Walter Ludwig, 1635 North New England avenue, vice president of the Sayre PTA; Mrs. Helen Gordon of the Mont Clare branch public library is treasurer, and Walter Hicks of the Church of the Good Shepherd is secretary.

At the next meeting, June 6, plans will be made for drawing up a constitution. The membership of the group includes representatives of schools, PTA's, churches, parks, and scouts.

200 HORSE BACK RIDERS ARE TO FORM CAVALCADE

More than 200 horsemen and horsewomen from all parts of Chicagoland already have made reservations for the first 1941 breakfast ride of the Town and Country Equestrian association, members of the committee announced. The ride will start at 10 a. m. on Sunday, June 8, from the Oakbrook polo field at 22d street and York road, north of Hinsdale.

The cavalcade will traverse 15 miles of trails in the Cook and DuPage county forest preserves before breakfast is served at the polo field at 1 p. m.

Two other similar rides will be held in other parts of the Chicago area this summer, according to T. L. J. Klatt Jr., chairman.

PTA Singers Join Today to Offer Spring Concert

Four northwest PTA choral groups will join in presenting a spring festival at Humboldt park temple, 1700 North California avenue, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Alcott, Agassiz, Moos, and McPherson are the groups participating. A girls' chorus from Emerson house also will take part. Miss Mabel Juanita Rosnes is in charge of the festival. Mrs. W. M. Ziege is chairman of the chorus from the Agassiz school; Mrs. T. C. Cornett from the Alcott school, Mrs. Myrtle Nelsen from Moos, and Mrs. W. J. Hoeger from McPherson.

Altar and Rosary.

Altar and Rosary society of St. Bartholomew church will give their spring luncheon at the Tally-Ho tea room in Park Ridge at 1 o'clock Tuesday. Mrs. Peter Heinrich is in charge.

Summer Games Fill After-School Hours on the Northwest Side

When youngsters dash home from school to get their balls and bats and jump ropes, you can be sure that spring is really here. "One, two, three—O'Leary" is what Sally Donaldson, 4029 North Richmond street, and Muriel Lewin, 3007 Belle Plaine avenue, are singing out as they bounce their balls near the Bateman school. Donald Northdarft, 3118 North Montrose avenue, and Carl Johnson, 3154 Belle Plaine avenue, two other Bateman students, "toss up" for the bat as they start an after-school baseball game.

"I like coffee, I like tea" is what you might hear these rope jumpers chanting if this picture were wired for sound. From left to right they are: Dolores Johnson, 4330 North Mozart street; Joan Gnaldinger, 3151 Belle Plaine avenue, and Audrey Dannhauer, 4430 North California avenue. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Grandma Dons Her Dancing Shoes Today

Grandma's dancing the Virginia reel on the northwest side this afternoon. The Sunshine Old Neighors' club—all 16 members are grandmothers—is treating the fathers and mothers at the St. Joseph Home for the Aged, 2650 North Ridgeway avenue, to a dancing party.

"The "Mail Order Mountaineers" will strum on their washboards and Mrs. Antonette Rutz will sing out the calls as the Old Neighbors "swing on down" in the Chicago glide, the square dance, and their own version of "The Little Brown Jug."

The youngest Old Neighbor is 51 year old Mrs. Bertha Swakow and the oldest, Mrs. Antonette Pienczki, 67. Mrs. Martha Cerney has the most grandchildren, five, and she's followed closely by the president, Mrs. Rutz, who has four, "almost all grown up."

Bring Back Memories.

An old man at one old people's home which they visited told her that the Old Neighbors' dancing "brought back my young memories for the first time since I been here and I been here seven years."

"Even if the folks at the hospitals, settlements, and institutions at which they perform don't like the dances, they get a kick out of seeing us old grandmas bounce around," Mrs. Rutz says.

"And all our husbands say that since we started dancing we have more pep to wash more dishes and scrub more floors," another grandma chimed in.

All of the Old Neighbors attended St. Stanislaus parish grammar school and many had not seen each other for 35 years until Mrs. Rutz invited them to tea one wintry day six years ago. It was such fun laughing over old times that they decided to share their happiness with those less fortunate.

Spend Their Funds.

The Old Neighbors have no treasurer. Each dime is spent as soon as it comes in. All funds for cookies, ice cream, and candy to take on the dancing trips are gleaned from 10 cent charges for tours which really cost the club nothing. Even the neighborhood grocery store proprietors help out with contributions of paper bags, to wrap the goodies in.

Whenever a dancing exhibition is to be put on the call goes out for practice sessions. Long flowered sateen gowns are donned, flowery bonnets are tied under chins, and the grandmas salute their partners and swing around.

Mrs. Rutz teaches the dances, but she gets lots of help from those who remember evenings of dancing in the old Walsh's and Schultz's halls. Until 10 years ago Mrs. Rutz was a playground instructor.

Catholic Parish to Have Gay Nineties Fete Saturday

Days of the bustle and pompadour will be revived at a Gay Nineties party which Oriole park residents of the Immaculate Conception parish will give for all parish members in the parish hall, 7263 Talcott avenue at 9 o'clock Saturday evening. Cards will be played, a floor show will be presented, and there will be dancing. Mrs. James MacDonald is in charge.

WRIGHT COLLEGE MUSIC STUDENTS TO GIVE CONCERT

More than 300 students of Wright Junior college will join in presenting an annual music festival at 8:15 o'clock Friday evening in the auditorium of Schurz High school, Addison street and Milwaukee avenue. The band, orchestra, and chorus choir will take part. Erhardt Bergstrasser and Capt. John H. Barabash are the directors.

A special choral-orchestral arrangement of the Polovitzian dances from "Prince Igor," by Borodin, will be presented and a vocal ensemble will sing the "Song of the Barbarians" from "Prince Igor." Earl Bichel, tenor, and Miss Geraldine Kay, violinist, will be the soloists.

Steinmetz Band to Offer Concert Friday Evening

The Steinmetz High school band will give its fifth annual concert at 8 o'clock Friday in the school auditorium, 3030 North Mobile avenue. Besides the musical selections, Glenda Rysell will do an acrobatic dance, Athenia Takis will do a Spanish dance, and a group of seven girls will give a baton twirling exhibition. Gladys Oliverius, Edward Thuy, and Lee Scott will be the soloists.

ALTAR AND ROSARY SOCIETY OF CHURCH TO GIVE LUNCHEON

A pancake luncheon and card party will be given by the Altar and Rosary society of St. Robert Bellarmine church, Austin and Eastwood avenues, in the church hall at 1 o'clock Wednesday. Mrs. Dorothy Foster Miles is in charge of arrangements. She is being assisted by Mrs. Edward J. Smith, Mrs. Sarah Roth, Mrs. Helen Peter, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Preucel, Mrs. Virginia Peterson, Mrs. Elizabeth Paluch, Mrs. Theresa Howard, Mrs. Viola Michels, Mrs. Angela Nussbaum, Mrs. Irene Niebuhr, Mrs. Edna Murphy, Mrs. Joseph McCarthy, Mrs. Mary McCabe, and Mrs. John F. Dix. Mrs. Lucienne Klawitter is president of the group.

Mrs. Dorothy F. Miles.

Chorus to Give Concert at Edison Park Church

A sacred concert will be given at the Edison Park Methodist church, Oliphant and Pratt avenues, at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Spivey universal Hymn chorus. Vernon M. Spivey is director of the chorus.

SCHOOLS TO JOIN IN MUSIC FETE AT MAINE HIGH

Grade school music groups in Park Ridge and Des Plaines will join the music department of Maine Township High school in presenting the seventh annual Maine Township Music festival at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Charlotte Le Doux, supervisor of music for the Park Ridge public schools, is serving as general chairman of the festival.

Participating in the program will be the Des Plaines public school orchestra, directed by Miss Margaret Zollinger; the Des Plaines Junior High school band, led by Warner B. Dixon; the Park Ridge Junior High school band, led by P. M. Keast; the Park Ridge Junior High school orchestra, led by Armand Baker, and the high school band, conducted by F. M. Vierow, and the high school orchestra and choir, directed by A. M. Harley.

River Grove to Celebrate Widening of Grand Ave.

River Grove will celebrate the completion of the widening of Grand avenue for several blocks in the center of the village, and the new lighting system on it, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening when the Business Men's association sponsors a program in which local bands and other groups will take part. Village President Arthur Walsh will turn on the lights at 9 o'clock. The program was arranged by Ray Jones, Saul Stien, and Albert Johnson.

King's Letter Ends Howard's Big Mystery

Howard Hane Jr.
[Sallman photo.]

Mothers:

Does your boy keep receiving mysterious letters from kings, presidents, archbishops, and generals?

If so, see Mrs. Howard Hane at 6135 Leader avenue, for her 17 year old son, Howard Jr., went thru this experience, and the veil of secrecy is now lifted. Young Hane, a senior at North Park academy, was collecting letters from distinguished personages congratulating North Park college on its 50th anniversary, which is being observed this year. It was to be a secret until he could spring it all at once.

Formerly Collected Stamps.

He got the idea from having collected stamps and autographs. "Here is a good opportunity to ask for letters, and the college might even like to exhibit them," he figured.

He was right on both counts. He has received 15 or so letters, from King Gustav of Sweden, the Archbishop of York, Gen. John J. Pershing, the prime minister of Australia, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, President Manuel Camacho of Mexico, Charles Evans Huges, Cordell Hull, and others.

Miss Bonevieve Farsje, one of the faculty members handling anniversary matters, has decided to exhibit the letters at the college between June 2 and 15.

Much Interest In His Mail.

Since hearing of Hane's progress, his mail both at his home in Sauganash, 6135 Leader avenue, and at the college, has been the subject of the utmost scrutiny by family and schoolmates.

"You never can tell who there might be a letter from," they say, as they finger thru his mailbox. But young Hane says he does not expect any more letters on this project.

"Well, how do you write to a king?" they ask. "Do you say, 'Dear King, I know you're a busy man,' and so forth, or what?"

"O, no!" Hane answers wth horror. He has a book which tells how to write to various officials.

"When you write to a king," he explained, "you don't write to him, you write to His Majesty. It must be in the third person, not the second."

Gets Package from King.

It worked, too, because a package came recently from Stockholm with a crown and the Swedish equivalent of "His Majesty the King's Personal Secretary" on the outside. It contained a photograph of the king autographed to the college on the occasion of its anniversary.

The first letter he received, Hane said, was from Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"But I didn't know what was going on," his mother added, "until the package from the king arrived. Then the secret began to leak out."

To Hold Reunion.

WAR VETERANS TO PRESENT FLAG TO WEBER HIGH

An American flag will be presented to Weber High school, 1456 West Division street, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by a group of members of Capt. Arthur H. Kelly American Legion post. Edward Kirsten, commander of the post, will make the presentation. The flag is a gift of Mr. Kirsten, Joseph Kirsch, Larry Kocinski, Harry Korzeniewski, Dr. J. J. Sroka, Julius Szatkowski, and Theodore Czarnecki.

The Rev. Edward J. Morkowski, principal of the school, will give the invocation and Jerome F. Cichon, 2721 South Kostner avenue, a student, will read a history of the flag. Joseph J. Meger, 3441 North Springfield avenue, another student, will discuss "The Value of the American Flag to American Youth." The St. Fidelis parish octet will sing and the school orchestra, under the direction of Florian V. Czonstka, will play.

Among the guests at the presentation will be students from Holy Trinity High school, Holy Family academy, and St. Stanislaus Kostka High school, and members of the Catholic circle.

ACADEMY YOUTHS TO GIVE COMEDY IN DES PLAINES

"Daddy Long Legs" will be presented by students of St. Patrick academy in Des Plaines at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening as their annual school play. The production is under the direction of Miss Josephine Dunsworth. Among those taking part are Jeanne Koeppen, Rose Ortman, Mildred Anderson, Virginia Heidenblut, Maxine Anderson, Florence Sowinske, Jayne King, Mary Kilroy, Betty Clarke, Lauretta Rix, Anne Darmstadt, Mary Ann Spalding, Pat Young, Marie Bull, and Florence Gottmann.

DANCE WILL CLOSE JEWISH YOUTH FUND DRIVE THIS EVENING

Miss Clare Holtzman, 5501 North Spaulding avenue, is chairman of the committee for the dance of the young people's division of the Jewish Welfare fund tonight at the Standard club, 320 South Plymouth court.

Miss Clare Holtzman.

The party will celebrate the completion of a campaign for funds in which the young people of Chicago raised more than $25,000. The 525 workers who helped in the drive will be honored at the dance.

Co-chairmen helping Miss Holtzman are Myron Alexander and Henry Kahn.

PLAY PROGRAMS ARRANGED FOR YOUNG AND OLD.

Opening Advanced, Due to Weather.

Summer will arrive in Chicago parks tomorrow, a month ahead of schedule, Superintendent George T. Donoghue of the park district announced suddenly last week. Summer programs in the district's 136 parks for all age groups will thereby be set in motion.

This means that four golf courses, five driving ranges, 40 archery ranges, 614 tennis courts, 364 softball diamonds, 300 horseshoe courts, and 113 baseball diamonds will be cleared for action thruout the city.

The earlier opening of the park facilities was attributed to the weather, and was decided on in spite of the fact that the district's operating budget is still further reduced this year. Economies, Donoghue said, will be made in the engineering, police, and landscaping departments rather than in those departments connected with public recreation.

Will Extend Recreation.

An extension of the recreational facilities will take place, on the other hand, by which organized park activities which do not require special equipment will be conducted in parks which do not have fieldhouses. These will include games, drills, artcrafts, puppetry, toy play, and story telling, and they will be conducted on scheduled days by members of the park staff who will take that much time away from the fieldhouses where they have hitherto been assigned.

On the northwest side this new program will involve at least 10 parks, but the final list has not been definitely announced. Parks will be chosen, according to V. K. Brown, recreational director, which are least convenient to fieldhouses where these activities have already been organized.

A baseball school will be conducted in more than 50 parks in which boys will receive free instruction and coaching. This program will be under the direction of Jack Sheehan, for 25 years a professional ball player.

Will Study Nature.

Another interesting feature of the summer program will be the nature groups composed of boys and girls who study nature thru the planting and cultivating of flowers and vegetables in plots set aside for this purpose on park grounds, and also thru the study of the habits of birds and animals and the collecting of nature material for ornaments and decorations.

It also was announced that the Buckingham Memorial fountain in Grant park, the world's largest, will begin playing daily on Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon displays will be from 4 until 6 o'clock, and in the evening from 9 until 9:30 o'clock.

On the northwest side those interested in the various sports will find them at the following parks:

Tennis—Athletic field, Avondale, Bell, Blackhawk, Brands, Brooks, Chopin, Eckhart, Edgebrook, Eugene Field, Gompers, Hermosa, Hollywood, Holstein, Humboldt, Independence, Jefferson, Kelvyn, Kilbourn, Kosciusko, Mayfair, Mozart, Norwood, Norwood playground, Olympia, Portage, Riis, Rosedale, Rutherford-Sayre, Sauganash, Shabbona, and Wilson.

Areas for Softball.

Softball—Amundsen, Bell, Blackhawk, Eckhart, Hermosa, Humboldt, Holstein, Kelvyn, Kosciusko, Mozart, Riis, and Rutherford-Sayre.

Regulation baseball — Amundsen, Athletic field, Avondale, California, Chopin, Eckhart, Hermosa, Humboldt, Kilbourn, Jefferson, Norwood, Olympia, Portage, Riis, and Shabbona.

Horseshoes—Altgeld, Athletic field, Avondale, Bell, Blackhawk, Chopin, Eckhart, Hermosa, Holstein, Humboldt, Independence, Kelvyn, Kilbourn, Kosciusko, Mayfair, Mozart, Norwood, Portage, Pulaski, Riis, Rutherford-Sayre, Shabbona, Amira Simons, Wicker, and Wilson.

Toy lending centers are open at the following parks from 10 until 4 o'clock daily: Brands, Eckhart, Holstein, Kilbourn, Pulaski, and Shabbona. Children may take borrowed toys outdoors instead of being confined to the playroom.

The swimming and wading pools will not be available until the public beaches are opened, presumably about July 1.

NORWEGIAN UNIT OF RED CROSS TO GIVE CARD PARTY

Normendenes-Norwegian unit No. 1, Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, will celebrate its first birthday with a card party and exhibit at the clubhouse of the Normendenes Singing society, 2414 North Kedzie boulevard, Thursday. The exhibit, which will include pieces from the garments and bandages made by the group in the last year, will be open from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m. No admission charge will be made. The unit has 56 members.

Daughters of Confederacy Will Hold Benefit Bridge

A benefit bridge party will be given by the Illinois division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. J. George, 5535 Dakin street. Luncheon wil be served at 12:30 o'clock.

MAKES GARBAGE PRIZES BLOSSOM IN DREARY AREA

Sam Plants Bulbs Found at Incinerator.

A garden grown from the contents of garbage trucks is the only beauty spot on factory smudged Goose island. The lilac bushes, the iris border, and even the three cherry trees in the circular plot on the south tip of the island were rescued from the fires of the Goose island incinerator.

Sam Calabrese, who worked at the incinerator while it was being used, planted the garden, and since he's now employed as night watchman at the abandoned plant, he can still care for his flowers and trees.

As the garbage trucks dumped their loads into the incinerator, Calabrese watched their contents carefully and each time he saw a bulb or a tree slip which looked as if it might still bear roots, he raked it out.

Plants Iris and Poplars.

About three bushels of iris bulbs are planted around the edge of the garden plot and at one time they were circled by a rim of poplar trees. Only five are left now. Poplar trees need delicate care and "the kids in the neighborhood treated 'em too rough," Calabrese says.

However, he has a reserve supply of tree of heaven slips which he's nurturing behind the tool shed and as soon as the five poplars die, he plans to transplant these. Inside the large plot are smaller circular plots. Two of these contain rose bushes. Another shelters a group of lilac bushes and the largest circles three cherry trees.

"Somebody told the kids the cherry trees were 'flower trees' and they came over and pulled all the blossoms off one night," Calabrese says. Now, however, the children know better, and when the trees bore fruit for the first time last year, the few families left on the island feasted on cherry pies.

Children a Problem.

The Goose island children used to be quite a problem for Calabrese, who knows them all. So few had seen growing flowers until the garden was planted that they wanted to tear them up and see what made them grow. Some wanted blossoms to take to teacher, mother, or grandmother.

"I don't mind their having the flowers but I'd a lot rather they'd ask instead of just taking them," he says. He has the youngsters "trained" now and most of them ask before taking the blossoms.

Calabrese still chuckles about a joke he once played on the "kids." "I raised a red pepper plant one year," he says, "and when the peppers ripened the kids all came rushing over to taste the little red things. Were they surprised when they found how hot they were!"

He's Their Friend.

As far as the youngsters are concerned, Calabrese is one of their best friends. One year he rigged up a sprinkler for the garden and let the children come over and stand under it in their bathing suits. It was a successful stunt until all the children from the other side of the river came over, too, and the crowd became so great that the flowers were trampled.

Calabrese came to this country from Italy 20 years ago.

A Garden from Garbage Trucks

You wouldn't expect flowers and shrubs to grow from the contents of garbage trucks, but they did—on Goose Island. Sam Calabrese planted the garden with slips and bulbs carried into the old island incinerator several years ago. The incinerator's no longer in use, but Calabrese keeps up his "beauty spot" to the delight of the Goose Island youngsters. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Polish Juniors

A May dance will be given by the Catholic juniors of the Polish Roman Catholic union Saturday evening at the Lions club at 4306 North avenue. Jeanne Sullen heads the committee.

Berry Social and a Play Planned by Church League

A strawberry social will be given by the league of Calvary Lutheran church, Berteau and Keeler avenues, Saturday evening. A one act comedy, "Pretty Girl Wanted," will be presented with Jane Flannery, Lillian Zehner, Helen Spencer, Eleanor Steinbrints, Art Bywell, Bill Rieck, and Art VanderVoort taking part. Miss Emily Gaspar is the director.

Troubles for an Airport

The site chosen for the Nor-Mann airport, which was ousted from its previous location by the new Buick plant. Forty acres of the site are in River Grove and the remaining 120 acres form a triangle bounded by River road, the Soo line, and Palmer street. River Grove has refused to allow an airport within its limits, and the township school board objects to the airport because it adjoins the site for a future school. If, however, the county zoning board permits the airport in the unincorporated area, it is probable that the 40 acre square may be disannexed from the village.

AIRPORT PUZZLE LEAVES RIVER GROVE GUESSING

Accept It or Lose 40 Acres—Which?

River Grove may be faced soon with the choice either of sanctioning an airport in its back yard, to which residents have objected strongly, or of losing 40 acres and having the airport there anyway.

This will be the situation in the event that the Cook County Zoning board grants a petition now before it and allows Thomas A. Cushman, owner of the Nor-Mann airport, whose land was taken over by the new Buick airplane motor factory, to re-establish his airport on a tract of unincorporated land to the west of River road, just south of River Grove.

Wants No Airport.

Nearly all of the 160 acre tract needed for the airport is owned by an estate represented by Daniel A. Carey, and an agreement has already been reached for the leasing of it. Of this land, 40 acres are in River Grove, which has refused permission to have any of its land used for an airport.

River Grove citizens first voiced their objection to an airport more than a month ago when Trustees John L. Steinmetz, Louis Georgen, and George Becker, and Village Engineer Albert Schmitt, obtained 225 signatures to a petition pointing out that they would be subjected to noise, danger, and higher insurance rates.

Schools Also Object.

The Leyden Township school board supported the protest because it has been planning to put up a new grade school on six acres of school property on George street just west of the proposed airport.

Robert L. Kingery, chairman of the zoning board, pointed out that in order to overrule River Grove's objection to having the land rezoned to permit an airport it would take a three-fourths vote of the board. Meanwhile Carey and Guy Guerine of Melrose Park, representing Cushman, have asked for an indefinite postponement of the hearing. Carey is obtaining the papers necessary for dis-annexation of the 40 acres.

LEYDEN SCHOOL JUNIORS TO GIVE PLAY ON FRIDAY

"Spring Fever" is what's bothering most of the junior class of Leyden High school in Franklin Park. It's a dramatic affliction, however, for "Spring Fever" is the play which they will present at 8:15 o'clock Friday in the school auditorium. Miss Emma M. LaPorte is the director. Among those taking part are LeRoy Steingraber, Steve Paris, William Lyford, Winifred Callfas, Doris Marie Thew, Phyllis Orrick, Ruth Nelson, Edward Ruff, Grace Hachmeister, Joan Tiffin, Richard Drury, and Orville Larsen.

Spring Luncheon.

The Ladies' board of the Norwegian Old People's Home, 6016 Nina avenue, will have its spring luncheon at the home Thursday noon. Mrs. Ruth Byrne is chairman of the committee in charge.

FLOOD OF LILAC BLOSSOMS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

100,000 Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins.

The 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign was the most successful since the inception of lilac day in 1929.

An estimated 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed during the two days among 25,000 shut-ins in 158 hospitals and institutions in the city. The deluge of blossoms was so great that all of the institutions on the lilac list received their bouquets, and the Tribune trucks visited many of the hospitals a second time.

Prominent in the success of lilac days were the eight railroads which transported the flowers, freight free, to terminal stations in the city where they were picked up by Tribune trucks.

Overflow Into Laps.

Officials of the roads said they had never seen such a profusion of blooms, and told of the bouquets overflowing from the baggage cars into the vestibules of the passenger cars and even into the willing laps of commuters.

Railroads that offered the free use of their trains to lilac growers thruout Chicago's flowerland were: The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and North Western; Pennsylvania; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Chicago, Aurora and Elgin; Rock Island; Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, and the Illinois Central.

Following are the names of some of the railroad men who were instrumental in handling the lilac bouquets on the trains.

Burlington—Agents C. D. Chase, E. E. Dillon, W. A. Stoneberg, C. L. Brusate, J. C. Stoneberg, C. M. Draper, E. R. Freed, and J. C. Read. Train and engine employés were F. E. Gillett, conductor; B. D. Winslow, collector; O. B. Thomas, collector; R. C. Finley, engineer; C. E. Harris, fireman; T. G. Becker, messenger train baggageman.

More Railroad Aids.

North Western—W. S. Gregory, assistant superintendent of baggage, mail and express; F. H. Hemes, trainmaster, Wisconsin division; E. C. Anderson, station master of Chicago terminal; A. W. Everson, night station master; H. R. Koch, superintendent, Wisconsin division, and H. A. Parish, superintendent, Galena division.

Pennsylvania—P. J. Hunter, conductor; W. R. Roach, engineer; C. E. Winemiller, engineer; C. P. Fisher, supervisor.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—J. G. Yahnke, conductor; Joe Melle, brakeman; H. S. Sappington, agent; V. V. Hipsley, agent; M. R. Corcoran, agent.

Aurora and Elgin—Motormen Edward Hogan, F. W. Myers, Wallace Tucker, Alfred Dinan, Edward Barmore, Arthur Lyon, Roy Dolan, and John Morton, dispatcher, Wells street terminal.

Other Willing Helpers.

Rockfl Island—Train No. 280, John Postweiler, conductor; William Sandman, brakeman; Charles Travis, engineer; Floyd Engler, fireman. Train No. 136, Felt Johnson, conductor; John Mulligan, brakeman; Bert Arnold, engineer; Ralph Mosher, fireman.

Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee—Train No. 708, R. B. Brynn, motorman; M. R. Howk, conductor; J. D. Wilbanks, motorman; A. R. Butts, conductor. Train No. 518, J. Wylie, motorman; M. McInerny, conductor. Supervisor of arrangements was F. M. Golden.

Illinois Central—Train No. 360, W. Kircher, conductor; M. Swisk, flagman. Train No. 788, P. Boylan, conductor; A. W. Ingerman, flagman. Train No. 784, W. W. Kenney, conductor; J. M. Young, flagman. Train No. 762, E. A. Dahlin, conductor; O. J. Fieffer, flagman. Movement of trains under the direction of Chief Dispatcher C. O. Richards, Dispatcher M. J. Madden, and Yardmaster Walter Ortel.

AIM AT BEAUTY SPOT IN MIDST OF TRAFFIC RUSH

In answer to a challenge put up by Erie Neighborhood house, 1347 West Erie street, Northwest Settlement house, 1440 Augusta boulevard, is setting out this week on a clean-up campaign to "top all clean-up campaigns."

Northwestern Settlement house is placing the emphasis of its efforts on making a beauty spot of the corner of Milwaukee avenue and Noble street.

This corner is one of the busiest in the neighborhood and the settlement staff feels that if it turns the littered area into a tiny parkway, community people passing by will be encouraged to make like efforts.

The Neighborhood guild, an association of the adult clubs at the settlement house, is in charge of the campaign. The Wildcats club, of which Joe DesPlaines is president, a group of boys of high school age, will direct the work of beautifying the corner.

One group will clean the debris off the corner and another will plant it with grass, flowers, and shrubs. "Pluck a weed and put a flower in its place," is what they're planning to do, according to Miss Harriet Vittum, director of the settlement.

All thru the summer placards will be posted on the corner, pointing out the changes and telling the public how they were made.

Retail Advertising
CHICAGO TRIBUNE
Dear Sir:
We have just completed a checkup of our advertising in the Metropolitan section of the Chicago Tribune and thought you might want to know the results.
Our fourth advertising campaign during a period of two years is now in progress. After a thorough investigation our report indicates a definite increase in sales volume of 15 per cent.
We have increased our new customer list by 10 per cent - at the same time keeping our name before the public.
Plans are being made to use more advertising linage in the coming season. We are 100 per cent sold on the merits of Metropolitan advertising in the Chicago Tribune and now consider this medium an integral part of our sales promotion.
Yours very truly,
M L Berns
Manager

"Sales up 15 per cent" . . . "new customers increased 10 per cent"—is it any wonder this neighborhood merchant is "100 per cent sold on Metropolitan advertising in the Chicago Tribune"?

His success is typical of that of the 796 neighborhood enterprises of practically every size and type which last year took advantage of this low-cost Tribune plan to increase their sales and profits.

One or more of the five Sunday Tribune Metropolitan sections—North, Northwest, West, Southwest and South—is edited for and read exclusively by the people right in your own trading area.

If you want to step up your volume, speed turnover and increase your profits by selling more to the people best able to patronize you, call SUPerior 0100—Metropolitan section advertising—today. Without obligation, you can get the complete details about this economical advertising plan which you can use to advantage in your business.

BATTALION FIRE CHIEF TO SPEAK BEFORE TAFT PTA

ANNUAL CHARITY BALL OFFERED TONIGHT BY TEMPLE YOUNG FOLKS

Melvin K. Solon.

Melvin K. Solon, president of the Young People's League of Temple Beth-El, is in charge of the annual charity dance which will be given by the league tonight at the Graemere hotel, 113 North Homan avenue. Assisting in conducting the affair are Shirley Lilienthal, Jerome Levy, Muriel Fisher, Morton Meyer, and Frances Solon. The proceeds are to be divided among charitable organizations approved by Rabbi Paul Gorin, spiritual leader of the temple, which is at 3230 Palmer street. Draftees stationed at Fort Sheridan have been invited to attend the festivities.

Orionis Vocal Ensemble to Offer Concert Today

The Orionis Vocal ensemble, made up of a group of 22 young women, will present its spring concert at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Curtiss hall in the Fine Arts building. Evelyn Wienke will direct the program, and the soloists include Helen Kindt, Jean S. Baker, Evelyn Lebbin, Lucille Henning, and Cecile Klemtner.

School Alumni Party.

Alumni of Immaculate Conception school, 1419 North Park avenue, will give a card party in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday. Mrs. Clement J. Cox and Charles McCarter are in charge.

FOOTBALL AGAIN WILL HAVE PLACE AT TULEY HIGH

Stopped in 1905 When Player Met Death.

For the first time in 36 years there will be football practice at Tuley High school, 1313 North Claremont avenue, this spring. Miss Hazel Stillman, the principal, made this announcement last week when she learned, first, that the school would be able to finance it, and second, that there would be enough volunteers.

Football has not been played at Tuley since 1905 when a boy died as a result of injuries in a game and the principal forbade further playing. That was about eight years after a budding young football player named Knute Rockne played at Tuley.

Want Football Restored.

Last fall a group of graduates led by Alan Merrell, 2514 Haddon avenue, started a movement for the return of football to Tuley.

Before spring vacation Miss Stillman called a meeting of the boys in the school and Lloyd Mabbatt, athletic coach, explained the situation to them. It would not be worth while, he pointed out, unless there were enough volunteers. Some equipment had already been offered by Fenger High school, but more would be needed.

At that time about 70 boys signed up, but since then the number has dropped to about 40 because of the fact that many boys have been leaving school to take jobs made available by national defense.

Will Buy Equipment.

This will still make room for three full teams, Mabbatt said, and additional equipment costing nearly $1,000 will be purchased during the spring. No interschool matches will probably be played next year, however, because the teams will not be well enough organized. At present Tuley plays other schools only in basketball.

Football practice will begin this month, anyway, and will be in Humboldt park. There is no space in which to play near the school, since two additions to the building, one in 1914 and one in 1939, have taken up the entire block.

Civil Liberties.

"Civil Liberties in Wartime" will be discussed Thursday evening at a public meeting at Viking temple, 3257 Sheffield avenue, by Elizabeth G. Flynn, woman labor leader. John Henderson, 4118 Kenmore avenue, heads the arrangements committee.

ORGAN RECITAL ON IRVING PARK CLUB PROGRAM

New Officers Announced by Some Clubs.

The club's scrapbook, assembled by Mrs. John Klier, has won first prize for the third consecutive year in the scrapbook contest in the 7th district.

Sabin Mothers' Club.

Election of officers will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday in the Sabin School for Crippled Children, 2216 West Hirsch street.

Woman's Columbian Club.

The spring luncheon will be held at Tracy's, 540 North Michigan avenue, at 1 o'clock Thursday. New officers are: Mrs. John Vinton, president; Mrs. Louis Wade and Mrs. John Mann, vice presidents; Mrs. Norman Oram, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Santoro, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank Rastall, financial secretary; and Mrs. Fred Ahlander, treasurer. The directors include: Mrs. William Schaetzel, Mrs. Nicholas Palm, Mrs. Oram, Mrs. Harry Hanson, Mrs. Charles Schleain, Mrs. Mann, and Mrs. Charles Murphy.

Woodstock Woman's Club.

The annual luncheon and business meeting will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the Crystal Lake Country club. Mrs. Irwin Burger is the new president.

TINY BUT MIGHTY; THAT'S STAR OF 'GREAT GUNNS'

Barbara Luddy Only Four Feet Ten Inches.

Barbara Luddy.

Barbara Luddy, star of "The Great Gunns," new W-G-N-Mutual series heard each Thursday at 9:30 p. m., is radio's proof that good things often times come in small packages. Barbara is petite [she's 4 feet 10 inches] and demure, but her acting carries with it an emotional impact that listeners do not soon forget.

Barbara insists that she's can't be glamorized. She doesn't wear slinky clothes. She stays away from night clubs. Her name is never in the gossip columns.

Barbara's apartment on Chicago's near north side is proof of her skill as an interior decorator. It contains many samples of Luddy needlepoint. She knits skillfully, for the British war relief. She is taking piano lessons. No glamor there. But——

Last year she was chosen as radio's outstanding dramatic actress in the Movie-Radio Guide poll. This year she finished second to Helen Hayes.

Miss Luddy's nickname is "Biddy." It was given to her by her mother years ago, because it seemed to describe a roly-poly girl who was very tiny. The name has stuck for while Barbara has lost her childhood plumpness, she's anything but tall.

In "The Great Gunns," hilarious story of a theatrical family, Miss Luddy is cast as Veronica Gunn, tempestuous leading lady of Broadway. The part requires a flair for comedy as well as for intensely dramatic acting, and Barbara fits it perfectly.

Bret Morrison, heard with Miss Luddy for the last several years on "The First Nighter" series on another network, is co-starred with her in "The Great Gunns." Morrison has the rôle of Christopher Gunn, husband of Veronica, a matinée idol who realizes he is God's gift to the stage.

Producer William A. Bacher has assembled an all-star cast of W-G-N Players to support the leads. Among them are Bob Jellison, Loretta Poynton, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Marvin Mueller, Herb Butterfield, Phil Lord, and John Goldsworthy. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra supply the musical background.

The third new character to be introduced on "The Great Gunns" since its debut about two weeks ago is that of Winchy Walters. The rôle will be taken by Forrest Lewis, Chicago radio actor.

Lewis has spent the last 8 years in radio, coming from 15 years experience on the stage. He has often played with the star of "The Great Gunns," Miss Luddy, on the First Nighter programs. He has also played 25 different characters in "Scattergood Baines" during the last three years. Forrest made his first appearance in radio on W-G-N in 1933 when he won a rôle in "Uncle Quin's Scalawags."

Bethany Church Services on Chicagoland Hour Today

The Chicagoland Church hour, W-G-N's public service program bringing transcribed church services into the homes of Chicagoland, will visit the Bethany church at Paulina street and Cullom avenue, today. The broadcast from the Bethany church will be heard from 9 to 10 a. m. Founded 45 years ago, the Bethany church, a branch of the Evangelical and Reformed communion, is now under the pastorship of the Rev. Henry W. Dinkmeyer, speaker on next Sunday's church hour.

Leonard Keller Returns to Chicago and W-G-N

In 1923, at the age of 12 years, Leonard Keller gave his first concert, appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Ten years later, he returned to Chicago as the director of his own band—a jazz band. Now he is making another of his periodic visits to Chicago and is heard every evening except Monday over W-G-N and the Mutual network. Keller started studying the violin at 5. At 17 he won the Juilliard Foundation Scholarship, competing with contestants from the entire country.

MURDOCH GIVES HOT TIP ON HESS TO ALAN SCOTT

It's Month in Advance of News Story.

Murdoch.

The mysterious Murdoch, apparently a character with whom Alan Scott, W-G-N news broadcaster, discusses his programs, is responsible for a big increase in the mail Scott has been receiving from listeners in the last few days.

For Murdoch called the turn on the Rudolf Hess incident a month before it happened.

Scott refuses to say if there is, or is not, an actual Murdoch. Interrogators around the W-G-N studios haven't been able to learn the secret.

On the broadcast of April 9 Scott said:

"Murdoch came thru with one of his crazy hunches tonight at dinner. He says Germany is due for a fearful sensation within the Reich itself. Probably it will come off within a week. He didn't give me any further details except to say there would be a 'casualty' involving some one very high up in the Nazi framework."

On April 16, Murdoch's week was up and Scott proceeded to give his shadowy colleague a terrific ribbing on the air. Nothing had happened.

Then this week came the flight of Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland, and his injury in a parachute landing. The case bore out Murdoch's [or Scott's] prediction.

Scott's news programs are heard on W-G-N at 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. and again at 9 p.m. Scott refreshingly admits he had no inside sources of information in Europe. His analyses of developments are among the most widely followed on the air.

Scott has maintained a consistently prophetic tone on his broadcasts from the Italian invasion of Greece t othe attack on Jugo-Slavia and the collapse of the Greeks.

PLAN 90 MINUTES OF ASCAP MUSIC ON W-G-N TONIGHT

"Ascap's Salute to Mutual," a 90 minute program hailing the return to the Mutual Broadcasting System of Ascap music, will be heard on W-G-N from 9 to 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The Mutual network recently signed an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, making available more than 1,250,000 compositions which had been off the air since Jan. 1. The first Ascap music on W-G-N was broadcast last Tuesday night.

A half hour of tonight's Ascap salute will originate at W-G-N, half an hour at WOR in New York, and half an hour at KHJ, Hollywood. Among famous composers of popular music who will speak are Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin, and Cole Porter. Their music and the music of other beloved composers will be featured.

Looks Southward

Patricia Dunlap, star of the W-G-N serial, "Bachelor's Children," heard at 10:30 a. m. Monday thru Friday, is studying Spanish these days with an eye on the possibility of a future South American visit.

CITIZENS' RALLY PRESENTS FOUR SCHOOLS ON W-G-N

Four schools under the supervision of the Society of the Sacred Heart, a Catholic order, will be featured on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program over W-G-N at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The schools to be honored on the program sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE are Barat college and the Academy of the Sacred Heart, both of Lake Forest, and the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Hardy Preparatory School for Boys, both of Chicago.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago diocese, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies of these broadcasts which are dedicated to the youth of America.

A singing choir group from the Sacred Heart academy directed by Prof. Arthur Granquist and a verse speaking choir from Barat college, conducted by Miss Anna May Kawekotte, will participate.

"Jerry" and "Jimmy," portrayed by Dorothy Gregory and Eddie Firestone, will be back with their "Interscholastic News" and some choice bits of information on just what is going on in the lighter departments of secondary educational circles.

'Ode to Virginia' Script Is Placed in Museum

The script of the W-G-N and Mutual network salute to the Lees of Virginia, presented May 3 as the "Ode to Virginia," has been placed in the archives of the Robert E. Lee Memorial foundation of Stratford, Va. Calling the ode a "most interesting program," the foundation officials said W-G-N had paid a great tribute to Lee's place in American history.

AMERICAS SPEAK OFFERS PROGRAM FROM ARGENTINA

The land of gauchos and cattle ranches will be visited today by the Pan-American good will program, "The Americas Speak." Presented in cooperation with Rotary International, the broadcast will be heard over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Twenty minutes of the show will originate in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Ten Minutes will come from the W-G-N studios.

The speaker from Buenos Aires will be Manuel Gomez, former head of the National bank, and now controller of the Federal Reserve system of Argentina. Others will be Prof. Ernesto Nelson, authority on youth problems; Manuel Ventrone cattle breeder, and Dr. Rodolfo N. Luque, director of La Prensa, one of the most influential newspapers in South America. A program of native Argentine music will complete the Buenos Aires section of the broadcast.

In Chicago, Vincent Pelletier, "The Americas Speak" narrator, will interview Senör Juan Roger, South American traveler. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, directs the series.

W-G-N TO START MIDAFTERNOON NEWS TOMORROW

Spencer Allen, one of W-G-N's veteran newscasters, is starting another series of up to the minute news broadcasts tomorrow. On the air in an afternoon spot — 2:15 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday at 1:15 p. m.—Allen will broadcast the latest A. P. and U. P. news on W-G-N at a time which will fill in the gap between the morning and evening news and thus give the listeners a chance to be in close contact with the world scene thruout the day.

Spencer Allen.

When Allen graduated from the University of Missouri, he got into radio and swung into the journalism field with a news broadcast on St. Louis and Kansas City stations. Here, too, he found time to deviate from his regular duties to do continuity writing and program producing.

MEDAL WINNERS NAMED FOR TWO UNITS OF ROTC

Schurz and Von Steuben Cadets Selected.

Sixth corps area army officers making the annual inspection of Chicagoland's 35 high school ROTC units completed their tour of the northwest side last week with inspections of the Roosevelt and Von Steuben High school units.

Ratings given the various corps will not be announced until the last inspection is made on the south side next week. Four of the northwest side schools, Lane, Schurz, Steinmetz, and Roosevelt, are among the 14 in the city hoping to maintain honor ratings given them last year. The units given first and second ratings will receive national and school color stands awarded annually by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and will lead the ROTC parade down Michigan avenue on May 27.

Medal winners not previously announced have been named at two northwest side schools.

Award 19 Medals.

Nineteen medals were awarded at the Von Steuben inspection. Departmental medals were presented to Capt. Robert Busche, officers' efficiency; Staff Sergeant Leonard Fript, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Second Lieutenant Dave Trilling, band efficiency; Sergt. Howard Erickson, recruiting, and Private Seymour Herman, neatness.

Winners of the Tribune gold medals were Second Lieutenant Ned Mitchell, Sergt. William Bernardi, Corporal Leslie Schalla, and Private Howard Peterson. The Tribune silver awards were to Privates Stuart Rubin and Donald Dwyer, nonuniformed freshmen.

Other awards were presented: by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to Capt. Mandle Gomberg; the American Legion auxiliary, to Second Lieutenant Robert Venturini; the United Spanish War Veterans' auxiliary, to Second Lieutenant Robert Frech; the Reserve Officers' association, to Capt. Clyde Faust, and the American Legion, to Second Lieutenant Leonard Katznelson, Corporal Allen Gutstadt, Second Lieutenant Charles Brenner, and Sergt. Henry Schwartz.

Medals at Schurz High.

At Schurz High school inspectional departmental medals went to First Lieutenant Richard Larson, officers' efficiency; Master Sergeant Fielding Nelson, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; First Sergeant Charles Haley, band efficiency; First Lieutenant Henry Warschalowski, recruiting; Sergt. Edward Mueller, marksmanship; Sergeants Conrad Kozlicki and Miles Glover, Color Sergeant Robert Borlek, Corporals Otto Podlaha and Robert Aiello, neatness.

Tribune gold medals were awarded to Second Lieutenants Charles Larson and Donald Anderson, Sergeants Ted Lewandowski, Richard Mack, and Jack Cullen, Corporal Richard Krieling, Privates John McGrath and Arthur Lindstrom. American Legion medals went to Second Lieutenants Raymond Graham and Robert Oakes; Sergeants William MacCarthy and Bruce Weber; Corporals Richard Dvorak and Arent Jacobson; Privates Everett Johnson and Richard Johnson.

Other Schurz awards were presented, by the Reserve Officers' association, to Technical Sergeant William Pedersen; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to First Lieutenant Henry Berry; the American Legion auxiliary, to Second Lieutenant Warren Grandt, and the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Sergt. William Schoenherr.

Lutheran Choir to Present Concert in Norwood Park

The senior choir of Norwood Park Evangelical Lutheran church, Nina and Nickerson avenues, will present its second annual concert at 8:15 o'clock Thursday in the Norwood Park school auditorium. Eugene Wallenius is director of the choir and Miss Viola Hulteen is organist and accompanist. The Rev. A. E. Fess is pastor of the church. Wesley Summerfield, tenor, will be the soloist.

Bridge Party.

A spring luncheon and bridge party will be given by St. Cecilia's guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church in Park Ridge at the Park Ridge Country club Wednesday. Mrs. Frances Young is in charge.

Chorus for Wells High School Operetta

"China Boy" might well be the theme song for this scene from "Under Western Skies," the original operetta which students of Wells High school will present Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings in the school auditorium, 936 North Ashland avenue. Julia Skrzydel as Lotus Bud leads the chorus of China boys. They are, left to right: Barbara Shepard, Betty Shepard, Marie Ruggirello, Rose Rubino, Irene Nardzala, Yvetta Fountaine, Dorothey Parson, and Lillian Hnezdor.

Latin Club to Have Banquet

The handsome face in the center belongs to a mighty Roman consul, but cannot be found on ancient coins, nor is his name in the history books. He is Arthur Peterson, consul of the Maine Township High School Latin club, who is shown in his toga inspecting plans for the banquet which the club will give Thursday evening at the school. With him are four of his pretty toga clad assistants, Pat Henchie, Pat Hannan, Betty Rose, and Jeanne Eaton. The meal will be served by "slaves"—freshman Latin students.

C. E. MITCHELL NAMED TO HEAD SAUGANASH ASSN.

Fight to Keep Area Dry to Be Continued.

Charles E. Mitchell.

Charles E. Mitchell, 5901 North Kilbourn avenue, was elected president of the Sauganash Community association last week at a meeting at which members heard that progress had been made in the club's effort to have last fall's election, at which liquor sales in the community were abolished, made effective.

Attorney James V. Kelly, representing the association, reported that Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti, by a writ of a certiorari, had agreed to review the records of the recent County court hearing in which Judge Paul H. Reis of St. Clair county, nullified that election.

In that case the opposition, represented by Attorney Herman I. Weiss, had charged that some of the signatures on the petition asking for the election were not genuine.

Judge Allegretti will start a hearing on June 2 to determine if he has the authority to reverse Judge Reis' decision. Weiss claimed Judge Allegretti did not have such power.

Other new officers are George Ward, 6153 North Kilpatrick avenue, vice president; Raymond N. Jacobs, 5119 North Kildare avenue, secretary, and Scott R. Tiedman, 6107 North Knox avenue, treasurer.

Directors for 1941-'42 are Elmer Anderson, Harry McNamara, William Fitzgerald, Thomas Griffin, John Kreutzer, and A. Willard Beaurline.

Harris, national Zionist leader and chairman of the Midwest chapter of the United Palestine Appeal, will address the Northwest Zionist district Wednesday evening on "Wartime Palestine and the Future." The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock at Atereth Zion Congregation, 1132 North Spaulding avenue. Milton J. Silberman is president of the district, and I. Archer Levin, past president, will preside at the meeting.

PORTAGE PARK'S GARDEN CLUB TO OFFER COMEDY

"My Mother-in-Law," a three act comedy, will be presented by the Portage Park Garden club at 8 o'clock Friday in the auditorium of the Portage Park school, Long and Berteau avenues. "Gretchen's Tulip" and "Oh, Susanna!" will be given by the Children's theater group under the direction of Miss Ella Kraft. Erna and Elsie Faulkenstein, 6316 Cuyler avenue, will play piano selections.

Proceeds of the program will be used to finance the annual spring and fall flower shows sponsored by the Garden club. The spring show will be held on June 7 and 8. Mrs. Hazel J. Hanke is president of the club.

Among those taking parts in "My Mother-in-Law" are Virginia Temen, Richard Powers, Bonnie Strayer, Marian Anderson, Richard Ericson, LeVerne Giermann, LeRoy Rysell, August Borghesi, Dorothy Mieling, and Marjorie Anderson.

In Senior Play

ELLEN JENSEN.

BETTY WEBER.

SALLY STANLEY.

Three members of the senior class at the Barrington High school have been selected for leading rôles in "The Tangled Yarn," a comedy by Dagmar Vola which will be given as the class play on Thursday and Friday evenings under the direction of Miss Georgina White. They are Ellen Jensen as Camilla Page, Betty Weber as Vivian Page, and Sally Stanley as Cora Blake. Others in the cast will be Robert Langdale, Dorothy Dobrick, Forrest Shepard, Barbara Watson, Raymond White, Mary Ann Bockelman, Donald Jorgensen, William Barber, and Beverly Bolin.

A Reporter Learns to Drive

This is the fourth in a series on a reporter's experiences in learning to drive.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The solo drive which started lesson five in the Safeway Driving school series brought the first occasion for use of the dual control pedals by Instructor J. P. McClenahan.

A little too self-evident, I "sailed" thru the hazards of Evanston traffic with nary a slip and then ruined my record by trying a left turn into traffic without checking on oncoming cars. If Mr. McClenahan hadn't slammed on the brakes on his side of the car, chances are that we would have been struck amidship.

Takes Lessons in Parking.

The rest of lesson five and most of lesson six were devoted to parking practice. The trunk of each Safeway training car houses a set of black and white striped parking markers which are set up in the practice area to denote vacant parking spaces. Each marker represents the front or rear fender of a parker car and the problem is to squeeze into the parking space without touching the markers.

Use of hand signals is one of the most important steps in the parking maneuvers. Second in importance is a careful gauge of the size of the space.

Parking starts when the rear bumper of your car is exactly opposite that of the car ahead of you. Shift into reverse and slipping the clutch so that the car moves very slowly, turn the wheel sharply to the right. When the front of the car reaches a 40 to 45 degree angle with the curb, straighten the front wheels and continue backing until the front bumper is exactly opposite the rear bumper of the car ahead.

How to Finish Parking.

The left rear wheel should now be one and a half feet farther out from the curb than the front left wheel of the car in back. Continue backing slowly, turning the wheel quickly to the left, bringing the front of the car in towards the curb. Straighten the wheels quickly and you're parked.

Both the driving school and the Chicago Motor club guarantee this parking system and from the experience I had in lessons five and six I know that it eliminates most parking woes. Leaving the parking space is simple if traffic is checked carefully before any move is made and if speed is kept to a minimum.

Guild to Meet.

Mrs. R. O. Peterson, president, has called a meeting of the Service guild at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday at the Swedish Methodist Bethany home and hospital, 4015 North Paulina street.

FIVE ROOM HOME IS DESIGNED FOR EASY EXPANSION

Space Over Garage Left for Bedroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Many an engaging variant of the five room colonial home, with individual treatment of exterior and interior aid details, keeps appearing around us.

Such a home has been built at 1107 Elm street, Glenview, and very carefully studied and planned that it should meet modern needs and at the same time possess the spirit of the traditional. The owners are Mrs. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand and the house was designed especially to function smoothly and satisfactorily for them in all details.

The architects, Whalley and Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue, incorporated many pleasant features in this five room home.

First of all they devised ways and means whereby the house already has the capacity of a seven room home—and there's still space to grow.

Workroom in Garage.

A large two car garage was placed back of the outdoor screened living porch, and half of this garage was converted into a workroom for Mr. Weigand. Then in the basement there is a pine paneled recreation room and powder room. And over the garage there has been allotted space for a future bedroom and bath.

The exterior of the home is brick veneer painted white and white siding with wrought iron railings at the entrance door. The roof is wood shingle laid with staggered butts. The interior is not quite the formal colonial plan, since the stairhall is at the left of the entrance. The living room, at the right, is some 25 feet by 14 feet.

Plate Glass Bay Window.

It has a gracefully designed plate glass bay window which commands a fine view. Indeed the house was oriented with this view in mind. And the fireplace wall with its modified colonial treatment has distinction and charm. This wall is of V-jointed pine boards painted white with recessed shelves and cupboards on each side of the fireplace.

The kitchen is U-shape, with linoleum floor, walls, work tops, and wood cabinets. The rear hall entry leads to the garage and work shop and to the kitchen and basement. The forced warm air heating system is fired by gas.

The home has been built with meticulous attention to good construction. All the gutters, downspouts, and flashings are of copper and there are two thicknesses of blanket insulation in the walls and batt insulation in the ceiling.

NEW PARISH HALL AT ST. TIMOTHY'S TO BE DEDICATED

The Rev. Oliver G. Fjeldstad.

Dedication of the new parish hall of the St. Timothy Lutheran church, 2100 North Kildare avenue, will be held at 8 o'clock this evening with other special services this morning and thruout the week. Dr. Martin Anderson, president of the eastern district of the National Lutheran churches, will speak at the dedication. The combined choirs of the church will sing, with Roy Anderson as soloist. The Rev. Oliver G. Fjeldstad is pastor of the church.

The Rev. Harold Obrestad of Cœur d'Alêne, Idaho, will speak at the junior service at 9 o'clock this morning and at the festival service at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Arnold Thompson of Beresford, S. D., will speak at the young people's service at 9:45 o'clock this morning.

The men of the church will meet tomorrow at 8 o'clock to hear a program of special music and a talk by the Rev. E. S. Hjortland, pastor of the Ascension Lutheran church of Milwaukee, Wis.

"The Place of the Parent in the Modern Congregation" will be discussed by the Rev. Mr. Obrestad at the Sunday school program at 8 o'clock Tuesday. The Rev. Mr. Thompson will speak on "The Cöoperation Expected from the Parents on the Youth Program of the Church."

All of the 25 women's groups which meet at the church will join in a meeting Wednesday evening. Miss Hortense Hage of the elementary Christian education office will speak.

The four Luther leagues of the church will join in a banquet at the church at 6:30 o'clock Thursday. The Rev. Frederick Ericksen of the Ebenezer Lutheran church will speak.

Rooms in the new parish hall include church offices, a meeting room, choir room, kitchen, and boiler room. Some remodeling of the church proper has been completed.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, May 19.

Practically all plants can be planted in their outdoor beds from this time on. If weather conditions are unsettled, delay planting tender waterlilies until conditions are better even tho it is delayed until the first week in June.

Tender bedding plants include many kinds of plants; many of them make showy patches in the borders and some are useful for cutting. Cannas, and especially such varieties as the President, a red; King Humbert, red with bronze foliage, and Yellow King Humbert, green foliage and yellow flowers, are all good for city gardens.

Tuesday, May 20.

Old geranium plants, those that have been stored in the cellar over winter, should be cut back before planting. They flower best in a soil that is not too rich and require less water than many other plants.

Good edging annuals are the dwarf harmony marigold, lobelia, sweet alyssum, portulaca, ageratum, dusty miller, nasturtium, petunia, candytuft, annual phlox. Thin the seedlings where necessary.

Wednesday, May 21.

One of the finest strong growing annuals is the castor bean. It has fine tropical foliage and likes a hot situation, with water as needed during summer. A good display may be enjoyed by using solid beds of verbenas planted about 12 inches apart.

Use plenty of annual vines to cover bare walls or to screen unsightly objects. Quick growing vines include the morning glories and moonvines.

Thursday, May 22.

Leave the foliage on the tulips that have flowered. A drop or two of gasoline in the crown of dandelions will kill them. Use weedkiller on gravel walks and avoid much labor. Two applications should suffice. Do not allow it to injure the grass along the walks.

Friday, May 23.

Prune the early flowering shrubs, such as the goldenbell, after they have have flowered. Cut back the poinsettias and repot them for next Christmas bloom. Plunge in a sunny place during summer. Spray roses to eradicate insects and prevent disease.

Saturday, May 24.

Goldfish are indispensable in the pool for they keep down larva of various kinds, but placing them in a newly constructed pool may cause trouble to the fish. Before placing the fish in the pool be sure to scrub the interior and fill and empty it several times.

FLASHER LIGHTS, GATES TO GUARD RAIL CROSSINGS

Seven more railway grade crossings on the northwest side will receive short arm gates and flasher signals during 1941, the county highway department has promised.

Last year a gate was constructed at River road over the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad tracks in River Grove. Other crossings which will be protected during 1941 as a result of the county highway department's cöoperation with various railroads are:

Milwaukee railroad at Oak Park avenue in Chicago, Grand avenue in Elmwood Park, Thatcher road in River Grove, 25th avenue in Franklin Park, Bryn Mawr avenue and Mt. Prospect avenue near Schiller Park, and the North Western crossing at East River road in Des Plaines.

Expenses for this work are shared for each crossing by the railroads and the county highway department, the latter from the annual $100,000 allocation by the state highway department.

The safety devices are arranged so that the flasher lights begin to blink 25 seconds before the train comes to the crossing, and the gates lower five seconds later.

OAK PARK TO FETE YOUNG CITIZENS

SKEETER RANKS REDUCED ⅔ IN DOWNERS GROVE

Abatement Project Called Success.

Mosquito reproduction in Downers Grove township has been reduced two-thirds thru a WPA abatement program that began in 1937, it was announced last week by J. Lyell Clarke, chief engineer for the Tri-County Mosquito Control committee.

Clarke and his associates recently completed a study of the mosquito breeding spots in Cook, Lake, and Du Page county as a preliminary to a general abatement campaign for the three counties that will require four years after it is ratified.

The Downers Grove abatement project was the first of its kind in the Chicago area. Experience gained in this project guided the investigators in the preparation of their recommendations to the governing bodies expected to finance the sponsors' shares of the proposed new WPA abatement program.

Count Shows Decrease.

Counts made at three points on the Cook-Du Page line show that the number of mosquitos from the Downers Grove breeding places, once an extremely troublesome source of the pests, is now roughly only a third of what it used to be, Clarke said. These control points are at Ogden avenue, 55th street, and 71st street.

"Before the Downers Grove abatement project started, we used to count about 30 mosquitoes in a five minute period during certain seasons," Clarke said. "In the corresponding seasons last year and this, we find only about 10 insects in the same time.

"That is a considerable gain in human health and comfort. Major credit for the reduction must go to the program that wiped out the breeding places of millions of mosquitos."

In addition, the Downers Grove abatement project has made nearly 1,000 acres of farm land available for tillage that was previously useless most of the time, and has also increased the usefulness of many more acres of marginal land, the engineer said.

Similar benefits are expected to follow the tri-county abatement project, and because of the mass economies possible, the cost will be much smaller per township than that of the Downers Grove undertaking, he added.

Seymour Waterfall of Westmont, Downers Grove township supervisor, was the originator of the Downers Grove plan and is still a prime mover in it, Clarke said. At the outset he received aid from the Des Plaines Valley Mosquito Abatement district, and this spirit of coöperation still flourishes.

Will Continue Work.

Already the Downers Grove project has cost $256,000. Of this total the township contributed $28,200 and the federal government $227,800. A $150,000 continuation project which was recently approved is expected to start next fall.

Drainage is the main line of attack in the Downers Grove plan, Clarke said. Breeding areas are drained, either thru tile lines or open ditches, to nearby water-courses.

If no water-course is convenient, sometimes a central pool is deepened and stocked with top feeding minnows, which are specially destructive to mosquito larvae. Adjacent stagnant pools are then drained into the deep one.

Where a stagnant water-course is encountered, sometimes it is deemed best to build a small dam to back the water up to a depth that will support fish life the year 'round, Clarke said. The pools thus formed become wild game refuges in most cases, he declared.

Tile Installed Free.

If a breeding area is found on private property, the owner's permission must be obtained before it can be drained. If tiling is necessary, the land owner must purchase the tile, but it is installed with project labor.

Rights of way must be obtained from all land owners in any given abatement area before actual drainage can start. On rare occasions, one or two recalcitrant owners have forced abandonment of area plans by their refusal to coöperate. Most land owners are appreciative of the benefits conferred by abatement work, Clarke said, and welcome the drainage crews with open arms. One service the workers perform is education of private estate owners in how to maintain private ponds that will not become mosquito hatcheries.

Ladies' Oriental Shrine Meeting Opens Tomorrow

West side members of the Grand Council of the Ladies Oriental Shrine of North America will be among more than 1,000 from the United States and Canada expected to attend the annual convention of the organization which will open tomorrow in the Stevens hotel. The meeting will continue thru Thursday.

Spring Card Party.

Damen court, No. 147, of the Catholic Daughters of America will hold its spring card party at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Graemere hotel, Washington boulevard and Homan avenue.

West Side Boys Demonstrate Club Activities This Week

Little Ronald is a big prize fighter at the Off the Street club on Van Buren street. His whole name is Ronald Culter and his age measurement is 8 years. Gene Zapert, assistant director, gives him a last minute brushing up on the rules, before the bell sends him hurtling into the ring. This is the kind of fighting done by the boys in the Off the Street club. All the activities of the boys will be presented to the public during National Boys' week which will begin tomorrow and continue thru Saturday. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Industry 20 years from now will be in the hands of such lads as Donald Owano, right, and Clement DeMatteis learning the elements of a trade at the machine shop at the club. The handiwork of these boys will be shown at Wieboldt's west side store during National Boys' week.

The chicken in the hands of John Torres, age 12, 839 South Wood street, will be entered in one of the nonpedigreed pet shows scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at the Van Buren branch of the club and for Thursday afternoon at the Jackson street branch.

The young artist is Frank Perrilli, 15 years old, who lives at 628 South Marshfield avenue. This statue will be completed in time for the open house this week at the clubs when parents will see the hidden talents of their youngsters come out in the open.

PLAN FOUNDERS' DAY ON ELMHURST COLLEGE CAMPUS

Celebrating its 70th anniversary, Elmhurst college of the Evangelical and Reformed church will observe Founders' day Saturday as the first program in a series of anniversary events to be held thruout the year. The day also will be recognized in services next Sunday at St. Peter's church in Elmhurst.

Miss Luella McClure, of Villa Park, will be crowned May queen Saturday afternoon at the college athletic field. Miss McClure, last year's junior prom queen, was elected May queen by the student body. Co-eds chosen for her court are Miss Diane Seeberger, Miss Lorraine Maier, Miss Helen Jean Neumann, Miss Jeanne Scott, Miss Carlotta Mueller, Miss Yvonne Jorgensen, Miss Marjorie Davidson, and Miss Betty Jans.

Ceremonies honoring the college founders will be led by Dr. Timothy Lehmann, seventh president. Tribute will be paid to the first president, the Rev. Karl F. Franz and the 14 students who moved to the Elmhurst location from the proseminary at Evansville, Ind.

All of the school property packed in one freight car preceded the group of 15 to Melancthon seminary, a single classroom institution on the site of the present Elmhurst college.

President Franz resigned when the enrollment, in 1874, had reached 66. Meanwhile a gift of 10 acres of land by Thomas Bryan and the purchase of another 20 acres gave the college its campus of 30 acres.

BLIND BOY SCOUTS, TROOP 300, TO HAVE BENEFIT WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Sol Westerfeld.

The annual card party given by members of the Mid-West Side Kiwanis club for the benefit of Blind Boy Scout Troop, No. 300, will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue. Mrs. Sol Westerfeld, 3521 Monroe street, is chairman of arrangements.

Other members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bolotin, blind scoutmaster and scoutmistress of Troop 300; Miss Alice Zimmer, Mrs. E. A. Lhotka, Mrs. Frank Terrell, Mrs. Le Roy Worth, and Mrs. E. W. Quackenbush.

The troop, the first one for blind boys in the world, was organized in 1923. The boys, representing all nationalities, are taken by automobile on meeting night to Garfield park where they are trained in the same scout program given to sighted boys. Funds raised at the annual party buy scout uniforms, raw materials for handicraft work, two weeks at a summer camp for each boy, and buy scout books transcribed in Braille which cost $20 each.

SUBURB FINDS IT TAKES WORK TO KEEP BEAUTY

Beautification of the North Western railroad right-of-way in Elmhurst was a project approved by the community and visitors to the suburb last fall. This spring, the flowering of shrubs has brought many expressions of appreciation. Dr. R. J. Quiter, chairman of the beautification program for the Elmhurst Trade and Civic association, points out, however, that maintenance of the project must now be given consideration.

"Thru the coöperation of local groups and the donations of individuals, Elmhurst accomplished a great dea llast fall" said Dr. Quiter. "For a distance of three blocks along the railroad right of way, and including the block in which the station is located, 3,000 shrubs were planted.

"In the block immediately adjoining the station, evergreens and junipers were set out. Pines were planted along the tracks. Flowering cherry and crab trees replaced what had been a weedy eyesore.

"The problem now is maintenance, and already the Elmhurst Elks have come forward to aid the committee with a donation of $100. The committee finds that it will be necessary to employ a caretaker who will give his entire time to the gardens during the summer months. Arrangements have been made for fertilizing the top soil and planting grass.

"The committee feels sure that those who were enthusiastic in landscaping the grounds will be equally interested in their maintenance.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

A REWARD for Miss Lottie Fitch who has been a Sunday school superintendent for 40 years will be the springtime church dinner Wednesday evening in the Austin Methodist church, Race and Central avenues. Miss Fitch has been superintendent of the beginner's department, which was organized in 1891 with 14 small members, for 40 years.

She became a member of the Chicago Graded union, an organization of children's division workers and for several years held offices in the organization. She has attended nine state Sunday school conventions and five international conventions. She was a delegate to a convention held in Tokyo, Japan, and has traveled on Sunday school business as far as Scotland.

Miss Fitch is the author of several books, "Children's Parties for Home and Sunday School" and "Attractive Parties for Children," and "Kiddy Kraft." Members of the committee for the testimonial dinner are Mrs. F. A. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Beall, Mrs. Paul Woods, Mrs. R. J. Hatch, and Mrs. William Hopson.

His second enlistment in 1927 took him to Hawaii, and his third enlistment, in 1930, to Selfridge field, Michigan. For a time he worked with the Panama Canal department, and in 1932 was ordered to duty at West Point. Since 1936 Donoval has been at Fort Sheridan where he is first sergeant of the 81st quartermaster battalion, Co. B. Sergt. Donoval is married and has a daughter, Nancy Ann, aged 3.

PRIEST SCULPTOR CARVES SACRED GROUP AT ROSARY

Shows a Negro in Pose of Christ Mocked.

The Rev. Thomas McGlynn.

"Ecce Christus," a sculptured group showing a Negro in the attitude of Christ being mocked, is in process of creation in a studio on the fourth floor of Rosary college, River Forest.

The sculptor is the Rev. Thomas McGlynn, Rosary college chaplain. Father McGlynn, who is greatly interested in the Negro problem and who directs a social settlement which he founded and organized at 2643 Fulton street, said the theme of the work was based on the gospel text "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Began Career at 4.

Father McGlynn said his attitude toward the work was to bring to the minds of people, inadvertently cruel, the grave moral responsibility for racial prejudice.

Father McGlynn began his efforts in sculpture when he was a boy of 4 on a chicken ranch owned by his parents near Petaluma, Cal. His father, Frank McGlynn, the famous actor, is best known for his portrayal of Lincoln in the John Drinkwater play. In his early years, Father McGlynn used cowboys and Indians as subjects for his plastiline endeavors.

In 1925, Thomas McGlynn entered the Dominican order and was ordained a priest in 1932. He carried on his art work during his theological studies, and in 1933 was sent to Rome for the purpose of further training as a sculptor.

It was in Rome that Father McGlynn first met Carl Milles, considered by the priest as the greatest sculptor of the times. Milles invited the younger man to Cranbrook, Bloomington Hills, near Detroit. There Father McGlynn began creating religious sculpture. His bust of Pope Pius XII. stands in the main reception room of the Apostolic Delegation in Washington, D. C.

Portrait in Art Institute.

Recently, Father McGlynn's portrait of a monk, "Fra Giacomo," was exhibited at the Chicago Art institute. His life size mahogany "Sacred Heart" is to be found in Ascension church in Elmhurst, N. Y.

Among other religious works of Father McGlynn is the baptismal font in St. Hugo of the Hills church, near Detroit. His statue of a Negro Dominican lay brother, "Blessed Martin De Porres," standing in Washington, D. C., at the Dominican House of Studies, has been widely praised.

Glen Ellyn America First Group to Hear Attorney

J. Kentner, an attorney, will address a meeting of the Glen Ellyn chapter of the America First committee tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Acacia hall, 415 Main street, Glen Ellyn.

Soldier's Idea May Give U.S. Better Tanks

Mechanical ideas worked out by Jack L. Leventhal of Maywood may make him an important cog in Uncle Sam's defense program, according to word from Fort Knox, Ky., where the 33d tank company of the Illinois National Guard of Maywood, now company B of the 192d tank battalion, has been in camp since last November.

The army's armored force board is said to have at least one of Leventhal's several inventions under consideration, that of a device to give tank driver better vision. While no details are given, superior officers say the invention may turn out to be a valuable aid.

Tank drivers, it is explained, have little vision under combat conditions and are obliged to depend upon kicks on their shoulders from the tank commander to steer the "hell wagons."

Wins a Promotion.

Battalion officers also cite other men of company B for their good showings at the camp. Arthur Holland, a hardware clerk in civilian life, has been promoted from mess sergeant to tank commander because of his value as an "all around soldier."

John E. Ball is taking instruction in the armored force school in mechanics as a Diesel engine expert. James E. Edwards is taking training as a wheeled vehicle machinist and has done so well, it is said, that he may be retained as an instructor. Both men had experience with motors and engines before entering the service.

Along athletic lines, company B leads the 192d battalion baseball league and stands high in the volleyball competition. Corporal John Cahill won some distinction as a boxer in the 135 pound division in Golden Gloves contests.

Other Company News.

Promotions include those of Ruben Schwass from lieutenant to captain and battalion supply officer, and the advance of Theodore F. Wickhard from captain of the company to major. First Lieutenant Donald Hanes, now commanding the company, is slated for a captaincy.

Of the more than 100 men who came with company B from Maywood, 35 have been transferred to the battalion headquarters company, 26 are attending the armored force school, and five of the enlisted personnel are in line for commissions as officers. Twenty selectees, most of them from Illinois, have been added to the company as replacements.

The company, which had only two light tanks when it arrived, now has five, and is moving toward its wartime quota of 17.

The message from Lieut. Hanes reads: "Tell the folks back home we are getting along fine. Come and see us."

ALUMNI OF OLD JEWISH SCHOOL TO HAVE REUNION

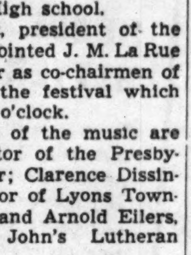
Alumni of the former Jewish Manual Training school which closed its doors in 1921 will meet at a reunion this evening in the Louis XVI. room of the Hotel Sherman. A buffet supper will be served at 6:45 o'clock by a committee headed by Phillip B. Leviton and Rose Wolf.

The school which was founded in 1891 by Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, Henry L. Frank, Emanuel Mandel, Max Adler, and Walter E. Greenanbaum was the only private Jewish school to give free lessons in cooking, sewing, manual training and printing for both boys and girls. It was maintained by Julius Rosenwald, James E. Becker, Mrs. Emanuel Mandel and by popular subscription.

The school was located at Clinton and Judd street. Alumni are requested to bring souvenirs and pictures of the old school days to the reunion.

LA GRANGE MUSICIANS TO JOIN IN ANNUAL FESTIVAL SUNDAY



Donald Foudriat.

For the first time since the La Grange Civic club began holding music festivals in the suburb nine years ago, a local artist has been selected as a soloist to appear on the program. Miss Louise Sunderman, 320 North Spring street, widely known young cellist, will be featured next Sunday afternoon at the festival in the auditorium of Lyons Township High school.

Donald Foudriat, president of the Civic club, has appointed J. M. La Rue and W. R. Ruminer as co-chairmen of arrangements for the festival which will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Those in charge of the music are Paul Hume, director of the Presbyterian church choir; Clarence Dissinger, musical director of Lyons Township High school, and Arnold Eilers, director of St. John's Lutheran church choir.

The Presbyterian, Congregational, Methodist, Grace Lutheran, and Episcopal churches will take part in the program. Other groups participating will include the La Grange Junior college chorus, the combined high school choruses, grade school choruses, the Masonic Home band, the high school and grade school bands, and the Girl Scout drum and bugle corps.

GOVERNOR WILL ADDRESS RALLY MEMORIAL DAY

Rites to Recognize New Voters.

Some 500 Oak Park residents who will become citizens of the United States during 1941 will get their papers at the village's third annual citizenship recognition day on Memorial day evening in the Oak Park-River Forest High school.

These new citizens, however, will be as American as free libraries or Hollywood bobs. They will have no trace of foreign accent and it will not be necessary for them to forswear allegiance to some foreign flag. These new citizens are Americans. In 1941 they reach the voting age of 21. The citizenship papers they will receive are certificates presented by the Oak Park post of the American Legion.

Governor to Attend.

The young citizens will be accepted as United States voters by Gov. Dwight Green. This will be the first patriotic rally in Oak Park attended by any governor of Illinois. Thousands are expected to pack the Oak Park-River Forest High school auditorium and also the cafeteria and lounge which will be connected to the speakers' platform by loud speakers.

The patriotic rally will be nonpolitical and nonsectarian. Representatives will come to the platform from all faiths—Jewish, Protestant, and Catholic. Boy and Girl Scout troops will form a guard of honor for Gov. Green and every organization in Oak Park will have its colors on the platform. The governor will speak on "Citizenship."

The Oak Park school board provided the citizenship day committee with the names of every boy and girl born in 1920. The town was divided into districts and a captain appointed in each section to contact the young men and women and personally invite them to the rally. The list of names from the school board contained 600 born in 1920. Of this number many are expected to have moved from the village or to be attending out of town colleges.

Rally Is Free.

The only reserved seats will be for the new citizens. Admittance is free of charge. The committee on arrangements is headed by Walter L. O'Brien, Americanism chairman of Oak Park post, No. 15. In explaining the success of the rallies he said: "The idea of citizenship recognition is growing fast thru the nation. The merits of it as a means of promoting a spirit of patriotism and good citizenship are manifold."

Churches will be represented on the program by the Rev. Harold Holt, Grace Episcopal church; the Rev. J. R. Kelleher, Fenwick High school; the Rabbi Israel H. Weisfeld, West Suburban Jewish center; the Rev. John H. Scambler, president of the Ministers' Association of Oak Park, and Dr. J. W. G. Ward, First Presbyterian church.

The band music will be played by the 90 piece Oak Park and River Forest High school band directed by Harold Little. The presidents of all organizations will march to the platform headed by Robert F. McMasters, recently elected president of the village.

Assisting Mr. O'Brien on the committee are Commander Raymond R. Rehm, Randolph C. Harris, Robert Woodruff, Alvin B. Rehm, Glen W. Neely, A. Y. Lucal, Elvin G. Byers, Ralph Haywood, Fred D. Bacon, and W. S. Bishop.

200 HORSE BACK RIDERS ARE TO FORM CAVALCADE

More than 200 horsemen and horsewomen from all parts of Chicagoland already have made reservations for the first 1941 breakfast ride of the Town and Country Equestrian association, members of the committee announced. The ride will start at 10 a. m. on Sunday, June 8, from the Oakbrook polo field at 22d street and York road, north of Hinsdale.

The cavalcade will traverse 15 miles of trails in the Cook and DuPage county forest preserves before breakfast is served at the polo field at 1 p. m.

Two other similar rides will be held in other parts of the Chicago area this summer, according to T. L. J. Knapp Jr., chairman.

FLOOD OF LILAC BLOSSOMS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

100,000 Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins.

The 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign was the most successful since the inception of lilac day in 1929.

An estimated 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed during the two days among 25,000 shut-ins in 158 hospitals and institutions in the city. The deluge of blossoms was so great that all of the institutions on the lilac list received their bouquets, and the Tribune trucks visited many of the hospitals a second time.

Prominent in the success of lilac days were the eight railroads which transported the flowers, freight free, to terminal stations in the city where they were picked up by Tribune trucks.

Overflow Into Laps.

Officials of the roads said they had never seen such a profusion of blooms, and told of the bouquets overflowing from the baggage cars into the vestibules of the passenger cars and even into the willing laps of commuters.

Railroads that offered the free use of their trains to lilac growers thruout Chicago's flowerland were: The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and North Western; Pennsylvania; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Chicago, Aurora and Elgin; Rock Island; Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, and the Illinois Central.

Following are the names of some of the railroad men who were instrumental in handling the lilac bouquets on the trains.

Burlington—Agents C. D. Chase, E. E. Dillon, W. A. Stoneberg, C. L. Brusate, J. C. Stoneberg, C. M. Draper, E. R. Freed, and J. C. Read. Train and engine employés were F. E. Gillett, conductor; B. D. Winslow, collector; O. B. Thomas, collector; R. C. Finley, engineer; C. E. Harris, fireman; T. G. Becker, messenger train baggageman.

More Railroad Aids.

North Western—W. S. Gregory, assistant superintendent of baggage, mail and express; F. H. Hemes, trainmaster, Wisconsin division; E. C. Anderson, station master of Chicago terminal; A. W. Everson, night station master; H. R. Koch, superintendent, Wisconsin division, and H. A. Parish, superintendent, Galena division.

Pennsylvania—P. J. Hunter, conductor; W. R. Roach, engineer; C. E. Winemiller, engineer; C. P. Fisher, supervisor.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—J. G. Yahnke, conductor; Joe Melle, brakeman; H. S. Sappington, agent; V. V. Hipsley, agent; M. R. Corcoran, agent.

Aurora and Elgin—Motormen Edward Hogan, F. W. Myers, Wallace Tucker, Alfred Dinan, Edward Barmore, Arthur Lyon, Roy Dolan, and John Morton, dispatcher, Wells street terminal.

Other Willing Helpers.

Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee—Train No. 708, R. B. Brynn, motorman; M. R. Howk, conductor; J. D. Wilbanks, motorman; A. R. Butts, conductor. Train No. 518, J. Wylie, motorman; M. McInerny, conductor. Supervisor of arrangements was F. M. Golden.

Illinois Central—Train No. 360, W. Kircher, conductor; M. Swisk, flagman. Train No. 788, P. Boylan, conductor; A. W. Ingerman, flagman. Train No. 734, W. W. Kenney, conductor; J. M. Young, flagman. Train No. 762, E. A. Dahlin, conductor; O. J. Fieffer, flagman. Movement of trains under the direction of Chief Dispatcher C. O. Richards, Dispatcher M. J. Madden, and Yardmaster Walter Ortel.

"GOOD OLD DAYS" TO BE RECALLED BY WEST SIDERS

Historical Society Will Meet Tomorrow.

George P. Madigan. [Ebert photo.]

The "good old days" when the west side boasted the state fair grounds will be recalled at the spring meeting of the West Side Historical society tomorrow evening in the Legler regional branch of the Chicago Public library, Pulaski road at Monroe street. George P. Madigan, president of the society, says the theme of the meeting will be "When the West Side Was Young."

Morgan A. Collins, former chief of the Chicago police, will be the speaker of the evening. He will recall seventy years of events in the growth of the city.

Program in Two Sections.

The program will be divided into two sections, an early reminiscences meeting and a preview of the plan for a west side medical park. The first meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock with Harlo Grant, society vice president, in charge.

Speakers at this meeting will be Mrs. Louise Riehm, who will talk on "The West Side State Fair Grounds" which were located on the present site of Legler library. John E. Scully, former alderman of the 13th ward, will tell of his experiences in helping to save the Chicago water supply when a lake intake became clogged. Dennis Ryan, a retired captain of the Chicago fire department, will describe west side fires of the old days.

George P. Madigan, president of the society, will preside at the "west side of the future" meeting at 8:45 o'clock. The speakers will be Mr. Collins and Walter J. Kelly, secretary of the Chicago Plan Commission Advisory board.

Will Visit Indian Mounds.

The annual spring visit to the Indian mounds and along the Du Page river will be held next Sunday under the direction of J. C. Miller, first vice president of the society. The tour will leave from Legler library at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The West Side Historical society, now in its 12th year, is composed of persons interested in the past, present, and future of the community. It was founded by Pearl I. Field, librarian of the Legler branch. There are 400 members.

First Church of Brethren to Hear Cantata Tonight

A cantata, "Jesus of Nazareth," by the Chicago composer, F. Fretag, will be presented this evening in the First Church of the Brethren, Congress street and Central Park avenue. Members of the cast are students from the class in religious drama of Bethany Biblical seminary and the Faith Players of the church. They will be assisted by the church choir of 60 voices directed by Alvin Frantz Brightbill with Josephine D. Yaney at the organ.

JAMES J. GARVEY HEADS OAK PARK TRADE CHAMBER

James J. Garvey.

James J. Garvey was installed as president of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting recently at the Oak Park club. Mr. Garvey, who retired several years ago from the Western Electric company, has long been active in civic affairs of the village. Formerly a teacher in the Oak Park High school, he was president of the elementary school board from 1923 to 1933 and since 1936 has been business manager for the board.

Other officers installed by Frank L. Strickland, president of the chamber in 1913, were E. E. Seeck, vice president, and George P. Bennet, manager of the Marshall Field & Co. store in Oak Park, treasurer.

Emile O. Bloché, retiring president of the chamber, presided at the meeting. J. T. Meek, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, was toastmaster. T. A. Sumner was program chairman.

Dr. James Shelby Thomas, past president of the Chrysler Institute of Engineering, guest speaker, spoke on "New Frontiers for Smart People."

Mah Jong Social.

The Ivriah, an organization of American women working to support Jewish education, will hold a mah jong social at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue. Mrs. Louis J. Shapiro is chairman.

SCHOOL SENIORS TO STRESS FAITH IN DEMOCRACY

Are to Be Speakers at Wheaton Graduation.

Something new in commencement programs has been arranged at Wheaton Community High school, where the largest class in the school's history will be awarded diplomas at exercises in Monroe hall on the night of June 4.

Instead of calling in an outside speaker, 30 members from the senior class of 140 will take part in a class meeting at which un-American forms of government will be compared with that of the United States.

Will Call on Seniors.

Otto H. Bremer, president of the class, will call the outstanding seniors to the platform. The class secretary will then read the minutes showing the appointment of committees to investigate other forms of government, and these will report so that action on their findings may be taken. The meeting will close with a reaffirmation of faith in the American form of government.

Other features of the program will be music by the orchestra, a dramatic reading, and the singing of the benediction from the balcony by the girls' chorus. Principal M. F. Roberts will read the names of graduates, and diplomas will be presented by Carlton L. Fischer, president of the board of education of the 95th district.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, May 19.

Practically all plants can be planted in their outdoor beds from this time on. If weather conditions are unsettled, delay planting tender waterlilies until conditions are better even tho it is delayed until the first week in June.

Tender bedding plants include many kinds of plants; many of them make showy patches in the borders and some are useful for cutting. Cannas, and especially such varieties as the President, a red; King Humbert, red with bronze foliage, and Yellow King Humbert, green foliage and yellow flowers, are all good for city gardens. They require a rich soil with plenty of water when established.

Tuesday, May 20.

Good edging annuals are the dwarf harmony marigold, lobelia, sweet alyssum, portulaca, ageratum, dusty miller, nasturtium, petunia, candytuft, annual phlox. Thin the seedlings where necessary.

Wednesday, May 21.

One of the finest strong growing annuals is the castor bean. It has fine tropical foliage and likes a hot situation, with water as needed during summer. A good display may be enjoyed by using solid beds of verbenas planted about 12 inches apart.

Thursday, May 22.

Leave the foliage on the tulips that have flowered. A drop or two of gasoline in the crown of dandelions will kill them. Use weedkiller on gravel walks and avoid much labor. Two applications should suffice. Do not allow it to injure the grass along the walks.

Friday, May 23.

Prune the early flowering shrubs, such as the goldenbell, after they have have flowered. Cut back the poinsettias and repot them for next Christmas bloom. Plunge in a sunny place during summer. Spray roses to eradicate insects and prevent disease.

Collect all rose leaves and destroy them as they fall to the ground.

Saturday, May 24.

Goldfish are indispensable in the pool for they keep down larva of various kinds, but placing them in a newly constructed pool may cause trouble to the fish. Before placing the fish in the pool be sure to scrub the interior and fill and empty it several times.

FIVE ROOM HOME IS DESIGNED FOR EASY EXPANSION

Space Over Garage Left for Bedroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Many an engaging variant of the five room colonial home, with individual treatment of exterior and interior aid details, keeps appearing around us.

Such a home has been built at 1107 Elm street, Glenview, and very carefully studied and planned that it should meet modern needs and at the same time possess the spirit of the traditional. The owners are Mrs. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand and the house was designed especially to function smoothly and satisfactorily for them in all details.

The architects, Whalley and Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue, incorporated many pleasant features in this five room home.

First of all they devised ways and means whereby the house already has the capacity of a seven room home—and there's still space to grow.

Workroom in Garage.

A large two car garage was placed back of the outdoor screened living porch, and half of this garage was converted into a workroom for Mr. Weigand. Then in the basement there is a pine paneled recreation room and powder room. And over the garage there has been allotted space for a future bedroom and bath.

The exterior of the home is brick veneer painted white and white siding with wrought iron railings at the entrance door. The roof is wood shingle laid with staggered butts. The interior is not quite the formal colonial plan, since the stairhall is at the left of the entrance. The living room, at the right, is some 25 feet by 14 feet.

Plate Glass Bay Window.

It has a gracefully designed plate glass bay window which commands a fine view. Indeed the house was oriented with this view in mind. And the fireplace wall with its modified colonial treatment has distinction and charm. This wall is of V-jointed pine boards painted white with recessed shelves and cupboards on each side of the fireplace.

The kitchen is U-shape, with linoleum floor, walls, work tops, and wood cabinets. The rear hall entry leads to the garage and work shop and to the kitchen and basement. The forced warm air heating system is fired by gas.

The bathroom walls are of ceramic tile in a buff shade.

The home has been built with meticulous attention to good construction. All the gutters, downspouts, and flashings are of copper and there are two thicknesses of blanket insulation in the walls and batt insulation in the ceiling.

The master bedroom is spacious—13 feet by 18 feet with two large closets.

Off the Trail with HAROLD SMITH

Riders from all sections of Chicagoland are expected to participate in the all-day ride of the Stanton Silver Spur club that will start from the stables at Butterfield road and route 53 at 8 a. m. next Sunday.

William Mahler, owner of the West Suburban stables at First and North avenues in Maywood, last week denied reports that the business had been sold to Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Chicago horsewoman.

Gene Fletcher of Naperville, Fred W. Willis of Downers Grove, and Roberts Mann, maintenance superintendent for the Cook county forest preserves, will be the judges of the Oakbrook Saddle and Suds club's treasure hunt at the Oakbrook stables today.

The 10th annual military ball of the Suburban Troopers will be held in the Congress hotel next Saturday, it was announced by William E. Lemke, secretary.

STARTS 'BUNDLES FOR AMERICA' TO AID POOR FAMILY

Veteran Points Out Our Own Needs.

William Morrow.

It has been said that a man can be without honor in his own country. He can also be without shoes. Realizing that abject poverty exists within a stone's throw of his own doorstep, William H. Morrow, 2705 Washington boulevard, who wears scars from the St. Mihiel offensive in world war I., has founded the Bundles for Americans, Inc.

The organization received its charter on April 2 under the laws of the state of Illinois as a nonprofit organization to aid needy American citizens in obtaining clothing, food, and fuel, and to help secure living quarters for evicted families. Its purpose is also to supply members of the United States armed forces with sweaters, razors, and blades, cigarets, and games for leisure hours.

Family Needs Shoes.

With the first announcement of the new organization requests poured in from needy families for shoes, clothing, and food. Last week the founder committee visited a family on the northwest side. The father was employed but his meager income could not meet the needs of his wife and nine children. Only six pairs of shoes had been sent in by donors in the first month of the Bundles for America campaign. None of the shoes fit the nine children.

"It is tough sledding these spring days," said Mr. Morrow, "to make people conscious of the needs of their home city. There are 400 war relief organizations in America serving foreign peoples. The state department in Washington, D. C., has issued the statement that more than 26 million dollars already has been sent to Europe by American citizens.

"This is a fine example of American sympathy," he said, "However, the old adage that charity begins at home is getting tough competition. The bombshells that fall on our own neighbors are not as spectacular as incendiary bombs but they are as devastating."

Sees Needy Cases.

Mr. Morrow is close to unfortunate stories. He is an employé of the United States Veterans administration in the dietetic service at Hines' hospital.

Bundles for America will place bins thruout the west area for the collection of materials.

MARMION CADET CORPS TO HEAR CONGRESSMAN

Rep. Noah M. Mason.

Representative Noah M. Mason [12th] was announced last week as the principal speaker at the afternoon meeting on the annual youth citizenship day program at Marmion Military academy, Aurora, on June 8.

The day will be devoted to a demonstration of religion, education, and patriotism by the cadet corps. Now serving his third term in congress, Representative Mason is a member of the Dies committee to investigation un-American activities.

The address will be delivered at the close of the cadets' parade from downtown Aurora to the Marmion campus. June 8 is also graduation day at the academy.

Annual Luncheon.

OAK PARK LEADS CLASS IN SAFETY FOR PEDESTRIAN

Plaque Will Be Awarded at Meeting May 26.

Pedestrians come out better in Oak Park than any city of its class in the country. The village has been proclaimed first place winner in the national pedestrian contest of the American Automobile association and announcement of the award was made by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

The awards are based on the comparative record of accidents involving pedestrians and the program carried on by individual cities to protect pedestrians. In 1938 there were 94 persons injured and 9 persons killed in the village. In 1939 the figures were reduced to 67 injured and 2 killed and in 1940 there were 69 injured and 2 killed.

Plan Award May 26.

The bronze plaque will be presented by Mr. Hayes to Robert F. McMasters, village president, at a special meeting of civic leaders and members of the West Area council of the motor club on May 26 in the Oak Park club.

Village officials say the advance in safety is the result of the formation of a traffic control committee three years ago. This committee is composed of Jay F. Hepler, village trustee; C. A. Walls, commissioner of public works; Benjamin Barsema, chief of police, and William C. Watters, chief of the fire department. Three squads of police have been assigned to provide 24 hour police investigation and protection. Every accident has been recorded and studied and corrections made quickly.

The village also uses a sound car which warns jay walkers and curb danglers of their bad habits. Pamphlets and posters are distributed to all who are interested in prolonging pedestrian life.

Other Leading Cities.

First place awards for cities in other classes were: Cleveland, O., for cities with more than 500,000 population; Kansas City, Mo., in the 100,000 to 500,000 class; Aberdeen, S. D., 10,000 to 50,000, and Grand Haven, Mich., under 10,000.

Oak Park also won a second place award in the National Safety council ratings. At a public gathering on April 21, Mr. McMaster received a plaque from the council. "Our next job," he said, "is to bring home first place in all the contests."

CHURCH MALE CHOIR WILL GIVE ANNUAL CONCERT ON SUNDAY

Msgr. Robert C. Maguire.
[Lavecchа Photo.]

The annual concert of St. Catherine of Siena church male choir will be presented next Sunday in the church, Austin and Washington boulevards. The Altar and Rosary society of St. Catherine is in charge of publicity. Dr. J. Edward Cordon, conductor, has arranged a program of American folk songs, lullabies, oratorios, Russian music and choral compositions. Kenneth Cutler, concert organist and director of music at Temple Sholom, will be the guest accompanist. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robbert C. Maguire is pastor of the church, and Mrs. Joseph Gladstone is chairman of the concert. President of the Altar and Rosary society is Mrs. Vincent Gallagher.

Win in Kiwanis Essay Contest

Happy over receiving trophies for their winning essays in the recent contest conducted by the Forest Park Kiwanis club, are Miss Ethel Froetscher, junior at Proviso High school, first prize, and Miss Patricia Brady, freshman at Trinity High school, second prize. Essays were written on "Citizenship Responsibilities." Arthur Dobbeck, shown presenting the awards, was chairman of the contest committee.

RADIO PROGRAM TODAY USHERS IN BOYS' WEEK

Off the Street Clubs Plan Activities.

The skinned knee generation of citizens, those marble champs and noisy enthusiasts of ball games and bicycles, candy bars and sweaters, will be acknowledged as one of the country's greatest assets during National Boys' week beginning tomorrow. Among the 348 Boys clubs of America boasting 367,550 members who will celebrate the week are the boys of the Van Buren street and Jackson boulevard branches of the Off the Street club.

The first event of the week's program will be a radio broadcast by the boys at 5 o'clock this evening over station WENR. Auguste Mathieu, director of the clubs, will give a summary of the activities. More than 300 friends of the boys have obtained tickets to visit the studio in the Merchandise Mart to hear the broadcast.

Big Sisters to Meet.

Tomorrow there will be a meeting of the Big Sister committee of the club. Exhibits of crafts will be open at both branches from tomorrow thru Friday. On those days every instructor is planning an open house when mothers and fathers can see the boys engaged in tap dancing, music practice, crafts work, Boy Scout meetings and at study in the English and citizenship departments.

During the week the Wieboldt department store windows on the west side will show photographs of Off the Street club activities. On the last day the window exhibit will come to life with the boys working at benches.

A motion picture will be shown in the Van Buren branch gymnasium tomorrow evening along with a tap dance revue. The Jackson branch will have the same motion picture and program Tuesday evening. An airplane contest for all neighborhood clubs will be held on Wednesday. On the same day there will be a meeting of the boys who will participate in the music recital June 8 in Kimball hall.

Pet and Doll Show.

A pet and doll show is scheduled for the Van Buren branch on Wednesday and Jackson branch will have the show on Thursday. The annual board meeting of the directors will be held at the Van Buren club on Thursday evening. Each club leader will select a boy to act as host for a board member. The boys chosen will represent the clubs at the Boys State in Springfield this summer.

The Boys' week will end in Chicago with a May dance festival Saturday evening in the Van Buren branch.

At the turn of the century the Off the Street club was founded by John McMurry because he believed the most important thing in a child's life was the education of both his mind and heart. The nonsectarian, educational and recreational character building program is handled by a regular staff and by volunteers who teach 3,000 boys and girls some 50 activities. There are classes in art, dramatics, music, cooking, sewing, crafts, life saving, and sports.

Barbara Luddy Only Four Feet Ten Inches.

Barbara Luddy.

Barbara Luddy, star of "The Great Gunns," new W-G-N-Mutual series heard each Thursday at 9:30 p. m., is radio's proof that good things often times come in small packages. Barbara is petite [she's 4 feet 10 inches] and demure, but her acting carries with it an emotional impact that listeners do not soon forget.

Barbara insists that she's can't be glamorized. She doesn't wear slinky clothes. She stays away from night clubs. Her name is never in the gossip columns.

Barbara's apartment on Chicago's near north side is proof of her skill as an interior decorator. It contains many samples of Luddy needlepoint. She knits skillfully, for the British war relief. She is taking piano lessons. No glamor there. But——

Last year she was chosen as radio's outstanding dramatic actress in the Movie-Radio Guide poll. This year she finished second to Helen Hayes.

Miss Luddy's nickname is "Biddy." It was given to her by her mother years ago, because it seemed to describe a roly-poly girl who was very tiny. The name has stuck for while Barbara has lost her childhood plumpness, she's aything but tall.

In "The Great Gunns," hilarious story of a theatrical family, Miss Luddy is cast as Veronica Gunn, tempestuous leading lady of Broadway. The part requires a flair for comedy as well as for intensely dramatic acting, and Barbara fits it perfectly.

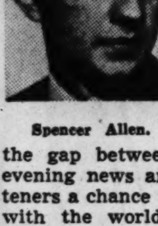
Bret Morrison, heard with Miss Luddy for the last several years on "The First Nighter" series on another network, is co-starred with her in "The Great Gunns." Morrison has the rôle of Christopher Gunn, husband of Veronica, a matinée idol who realizes he is God's gift to the stage.

Producer William A. Bacher has assembled an all-star cast of W-G-N Players to support the leads. Among them are Bob Jellison, Loretta Poynton, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Marvin Mueller, Herb Butterfield, Phil Lord, and John Goldsworthy. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra supply the musical background.

The third new character to be introduced on "The Great Gunns" since its debut about two weeks ago is that of Winchy Walters. The rôle will be taken by Forrest Lewis, Chicago radio actor.

Lewis has spent the last 8 years in radio, coming from 15 years experience on the stage. He has often played with the star of "The Great Gunns," Miss Luddy, on the First Nighter programs. He has also played 25 different characters in "Scattergood Baines" during the last three years. Forrest made his first appearance in radio on W-G-N in 1933 when he won a rôle in "Uncle Quin's Scalawags."

W-G-N TO START MIDAFTERNOON NEWS TOMORROW



Spencer Allen.

Spencer Allen, one of W-G-N's veteran newscasters, is starting another series of up to the minute news broadcasts tomorrow. On the air in an afternoon spot—2:15 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday at 1:15 p. m.—Allen will broadcast the latest A. P. and U. P. news on W-G-N at a time which will fill in the gap between the morning and evening news and thus give the listeners a chance to be in close contact with the world scene thruout the day.

MURDOCH GIVES HOT TIP ON HESS TO ALAN SCOTT

It's Month in Advance of News Story.

Murdoch.

The mysterious Murdoch, apparently a character with whom Alan Scott, W-G-N news broadcaster, discusses his programs, is responsible for a big increase in the mail Scott has been receiving from listeners in the last few days.

For Murdoch called the turn on the Rudolf Hess incident a month before it happened.

Scott refuses to say if there is, or is not, an actual Murdoch. Interrogators around the W-G-N studios haven't been able to learn the secret.

On the broadcast of April 9 Scott said:

"Murdoch came thru with one of his crazy hunches tonight at dinner. He says Germany is due for a fearful sensation within the Reich itself. Probably it will come off within a week. He didn't give me any further details except to say there would be a 'casualty' involving some one very high up in the Nazi framework."

On April 16, Murdoch's week was up and Scott proceeded to give his shadowy colleague a terrific ribbing on the air. Nothing had happened.

Then this week came the flight of Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland, and his injury in a parachute landing. The case bore out Murdoch's [or Scott's] prediction.

Scott's news programs are heard on W-G-N at 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. and again at 9 p.m. Scott refreshingly admits he had no inside sources of information in Europe. His analyses of developments are among the most widely followed on the air.

Scott has maintained a consistently prophetic tone on his broadcasts from the Italian invasion of Greece t othe attack on Jugo-Slavia and the collapse of the Greeks.

PLAN 90 MINUTES OF ASCAP MUSIC ON W-G-N TONIGHT

"Ascap's Salute to Mutual," a 90 minute program hailing the return to the Mutual Broadcasting System of Ascap music, will be heard on W-G-N from 9 to 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The Mutual network recently signed an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, making available more than 1,250,000 compositions which had been off the air since Jan. 1. The first Ascap music on W-G-N was broadcast last Tuesday night.

A half hour of tonight's Ascap salute will originate at W-G-N, half an hour at WOR in New York, and half an hour at KHJ, Hollywood. Among famous composers of popular music who will speak are Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin, and Cole Porter. Their music and the music of other beloved composers will be featured.

PORTABLE RADIO OWNERS!
SAVE almost 50% ON BATTERY COSTS!

KATE SMITH says: "Here's a high note in low-cost operation!"

The KATE SMITH hour is heard at 7:00 P. M., C. D. S. T., Friday nights over CBS.

Get ready for the portable radio season! Need new batteries? "Eveready" "Mini-Max" Radio "B" Battery No. 482 lasts approximately twice as long (size for size) as batteries of ordinary round-cell design . . . yet costs no more! And—if you're considering a new set—see the smaller, lighter, more compact portables that nearly all radio manufacturers have built around this amazing battery!

FOR PERSONAL OR CAMERA-TYPE radio sets, ask for "Eveready" "Mini-Max" Radio "B" Battery No. 467. It's the powerful little brother of the battery illustrated. Your local dealer has both these "Eveready" batteries.

CITIZENS' RALLY PRESENTS FOUR SCHOOLS ON W-G-N

Four schools under the supervision of the Society of the Sacred Heart, a Catholic order, will be featured on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program over W-G-N at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The schools to be honored on the program sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE are Barat college and the Academy of the Sacred Heart, both of Lake Forest, and the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Hardy Preparatory School for Boys, both of Chicago.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago diocese, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies of these broadcasts which are dedicated to the youth of America.

A singing choir group from the Sacred Heart academy directed by Prof. Arthur Granquist and a verse speaking choir from Barat college, conducted by Miss Anna May Kawekotte, will participate.

"Jerry" and "Jimmy," portrayed by Dorothy Gregory and Eddie Firestone, will be back with their "Interscholastic News" and some choice bits of information on just what is going on in the lighter departments of secondary educational circles.

FAMILY GROUP TO APPEAR WITH STEELMAKERS

A five piece orchestra, composed of a Wheeling steel company employé and his children, will be guests on the Musical Steelmakers' show on W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. today.

Ernest Mitan, a die maker, heads the group. His children are Virginia, saxophonist; Matilda, accordionist; Ernest Jr., violinist, and Edward, clarinetist. They will play a Polish polka, "In a Little Grove."

Other numbers will be regular orchestra's presentation of "Riding on a Rainbow, "Oh, Look at Me Now," and "Because of You." Regina Colbert will sing "Do I Worry?" and Ardenne White, tenor, will offer "You Walk By."

A Reporter Learns to Drive

This is the fourth in a series on a reporter's experiences in learning to drive.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The solo drive which started lesson five in the Safeway Driving school series brought the first occasion for use of the dual control pedals by Instructor J. P. McClenahan.

A little too self-evident, I "sailed" thru the hazards of Evanston traffic with nary a slip and then ruined my record by trying a left turn into traffic without checking on oncoming cars. If Mr. McClenahan hadn't slammed on the brakes on his side of the car, chances are that we would have been struck amidship.

Takes Lessons in Parking.

The rest of lesson five and most of lesson six were devoted to parking practice. The trunk of each Safeway training car houses a set of black and white striped parking markers which are set up in the practice area to denote vacant parking spaces. Each marker represents the front or rear fender of a parker car and the problem is to squeeze into the parking space without touching the markers.

Use of hand signals is one of the most important steps in the parking maneuvers. Second in importance is a careful gauge of the size of the space.

Parking starts when the rear bumper of your car is exactly opposite that of the car ahead of you. Shift into reverse and slipping the clutch so that the car moves very slowly, turn the wheel sharply to the right. When the front of the car reaches a 40 to 45 degree angle with the curb, straighten the front wheels and continue backing until the front bumper is exactly opposite the rear bumper of the car ahead.

How to Finish Parking.

AMERICAS SPEAK OFFERS PROGRAM FROM ARGENTINA

The land of gauchos and cattle ranches will be visited today by the Pan-American good will program, "The Americas Speak." Presented in cooperation with Rotary International, the broadcast will be heard over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Twenty minutes of the show will originate in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Ten Minutes will come from the W-G-N studios.

The speaker from Buenos Aires will be Manuel Gomez, former head of the National bank, and now controller of the Federal Reserve system of Argentina. Others will be Prof. Ernesto Nelson, authority on youth problems; Manuel Ventrone cattle breeder, and Dr. Rodolfo N. Luque, director of La Prensa, one of the most influential newspapers in South America. A program of native Argentine music will complete the Buenos Aires section of the broadcast.

In Chicago, Vincent Pelletier, "The Americas Speak" narrator, will interview Senör Juan Roger, South American traveler. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, directs the series.

Guest Soloist

Jane Pickens will be guest soloist on the new Summer Hour program heard at 8 o'clock tonight over WBBM. The show replaces the Sunday Evening Hour for the summer months. Gordon Gifford will also appear as soloist and Meredith Willson will conduct the orchestra.

EDITH MASON TO BE GUEST ON YOUR MUSIC I. Q.

Miss Edith Mason, operatic star, will head the list of guests appearing on Your Music I. Q. from 8:30 to 9 p. m. tomorrow on W-G-N.

Representing the critics will be Edward Barry, music critic of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. From the roster of popular vocalists comes Kathleen Quinn, featured singer with the orchestra of Little Jack Little now at the Edgewater Beach hotel, and from the ranks of the laymen will be Leo Goldstein.

The latter came to the attention of the producer, Mary Afflick, when it was noticed that, as a member of the audience, he was able to answer almost every question posed by Quizzer Pierre Andre. This will be his second appearance.

PARKS PREPARE FOR SEASON OF OUTDOOR PLAY

Announce Program for South Side.

Vacation activities are available to all Chicagoans who enroll in the park district's spring and summer program. The parks are providing recreational leisure time pursuits, sports, and games thruout the summer, according to George T. Donoghue, general superintendent.

The program is designed to provide suitable activities for every one. All ages of school children, the various employed groups, and housewives are accommodated in plans that include archery construction and shooting, puppetry, baseball, and "one, two, three, O'Leary."

Plan Baseball School.

Parks without fieldhouses are to have a new program wherein there will be group games, drills, artcrafts, puppetry, toy play, story telling, and similar activities. A baseball school will be conducted in more than 50 parks thruout the city, and boys of junior, intermediate, and senior classes will receive free instruction. The juniors are 9 to 14; intermediates, 15 to 20, and seniors, 20 or more. Jack Sheehan, a professional ball player for 25 years and third baseman for the world's champion Brooklyn team in 1920, is in charge of the park baseball program.

Nature recreation groups will be on the summer schedule. Boys and girls will study by planting flowers and vegetables in the plots set aside on the park grounds. They also will study bird and animal habits and collect nature materials for making ornaments and decorations.

On Southwest Side.

Among activities available on the southwest side are:

Tennis courts are at Ada, Armour square, Cornell square, Davis square, Euclid, Fernwood, Foster, Fuller, Gage, Hamilton, Kennedy, Mark White square, Marquette, McKinley, Ogden, Palmer, Ridge, West Pullman, 102d street, and Park No. 176.

Softball—Ada, Armour square, Brainerd, Cornell square, Crescent, Davis square, Euclid, Fernwood, Foster, Fuller, Gage, Hamilton, Hardin square, Kennedy, Mark White square, McKinley, Ogden, Ridge, Sherman, West Pullman, and 102d street.

Regulation baseball diamonds—Brainerd, Cornell, Foster, Fuller, Gage, Hamilton, Kennedy, Mark White, Marquette, McKinley, Ogden, Ridge, and Sherman parks.

Horseshoe courts—Ada, Armour square, Cornell, Davis, Foster, Gage, Hamilton, Mark White, Marquette, Ogden, West Pullman, and 102d street.

Toy lending centers will be located at Armour, Fuller, and Sherman parks. They will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon thruout the summer. Children will be permitted to take toys out of doors on the park premises in this period rather than remain in indoor playrooms.

5 SOUTH SIDERS APPEAR IN PARK DISTRICT DRAMA

sented when the Central Group thesented when the Central Group Theater players of the park district present Maxwell Anderson's "Knickerbocker Holiday" at the Goodman theater this evening.

Robert Baumgartner of 2507 West 63d street has the rôle of Brom Broeck, while Miss Jeannette Godley of 7849 Normal avenue plays Tina Tienhoven. Both Mr. Baumgartner and Miss Godley are from the Hamilton park drama group which will also furnish tonight Washington Irving, a rôle to be played by Charles Kollar. George Koehler, another south sider, will be Vanderbilt, and Ray Chapman is also in the production.

While Hamilton park drama students have been rehearsing for the Goodman show, students in the voice classes conducted by the WPA adult education program at Hamilton have been preparing for a recital. It will take place at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the fieldhouse at Normal avenue and 72d street. Soloists appearing on the program will be Ingrid Andreason, Elfrieda Baker, Dorothy Chappelow, Mary Dingwall, Elsie Lignell, Ruth Nelson, Antoinette Nicosia, Dorothy Mae Nielsen, Eugene Bauer, Robert Baumgartner, and Crist Mikkelsen.

The women's choral group meets at the fieldhouse from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoons. Other voice classes are from 3:30 to 5:30 on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and from 7 to 10 o'clock Friday evenings. An advanced mixed choral group meets from 7 to 10 on Thursday evenings.

St. Nicholas of Tolentine Group to Hold May Party

Holy Name society of St. Nicholas of Tolentine church will hold a May party Friday evening in the hall at 3236 West 63d street. John Farrell is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Guild Party.

The Woman's Altar guild of Christ the King church will hold the fifth birthday party at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the school hall, 93d street and South Hoyne avenue.

Chicago Lawn Recalls Its History Today

Third generation residents of Chicago Lawn will serve tea to the second and first generations at the meeting of the Chicago Lawn Historical society in Chicago Lawn library from 2 to 6 o'clock this afternoon. Guests will inspect more than 1,000 pictures showing community scenes in early days and the present oldtimers when they were the young people in the neighborhood. Among the young hostesses will be, left to right: Miss Ruth Halvorsen, 6359 South Sacramento avenue; Miss Shirley Cravener, 3354 West 63d place, and Miss Shirley Maxted, 3323 West 62d place.

WASHDAY LINES TAG FRIENDS OF APRON MAKER

Mrs. Bowlby Is Also an Avid Quilter.

When Mrs. Elmer H. Bowlby of 3342 West 63d place takes a walk on wash day, she can usually identify the aprons on the lines as, "There's that flower print pattern I was making up two years ago. My, it's worn well,"—or "It's time Clara had a new apron. That green leaf pattern is giving out."

Mrs. Bowlby makes aprons as a hobby, or, perhaps, she makes them in order to get more pieces for her major hobby—patching quilts. Whichever it is, she keeps busy.

Makes 100 Quilts.

At 76, she always has a supply of newly made aprons, and there are always bright patchwork quilts to show to company. She says she's made "maybe 100 quilts in the 60 years since I put my first one together," and she sews 100 aprons a year.

Besides that, Mrs. Bowlby is a charter member of the Chicago Lawn Woman's club and hasn't missed a meeting in the last 18 years. She gets around to committee meetings, too.

Finds Plenty to Do.

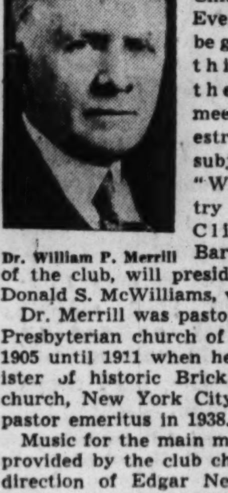
"I've been busy ever since I was born," she says, "and it hasn't hurt me any, so far as I can see. I lived on a farm in Wisconsin before I came here to Chicago 48 years ago. I found plenty to do on the farm and plenty to do here."

Her quilts are colorful reminders of her busy fingers. And neighborhood houswives save their frocks many a spot because of the locally famous Bowlby aprons.

DR. WILLIAM MERRILL WILL SPEAK BEFORE SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Dr. William Pierson Merrill, former Chicago pastor and one of the first ministers to speak before the Chicago Sunday Evening club, will be guest preacher this evening at the 8 o'clock meeting in Orchestra hall. His subject will be, "What Our Country Needs Most." Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club, will preside, assisted by Donald S. McWilliams, vice president.



Dr. William P. Merrill

Dr. Merrill was pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of Chicago from 1905 until 1911 when he became minister of historic Brick Presbyterian church, New York City. He became pastor emeritus in 1938.

Music for the main meeting will be provided by the club choir under the direction of Edgar Nelson. Stanley Martin, organist, will present a recital at 7:50 o'clock.

At the 7 o'clock informal meeting Edgar Nelson will lead the congregation in singing familiar gospel songs. Hudson H. Pittman will give an informal Bible talk.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

SURE harbingers of spring on the campus—any campus—are the annual elections of the student governing bodies and honorary societies. Last week Our Towners got their share of elective honors on campuses from Minnesota to Arizona.

Edward Jacobson.

At Carleton college, Northfield, Minnesota, Edward Jacobson, of 1216 Madison park, was one of three upperclassmen elected to Delta Sigma Rho, national honor society in public speaking. He was named a member of the society shortly after returning from the Iowa Invitational Forensic tournament, where the Carleton debate team, of which he is a member, won first place for the second consecutive year. Membership in Delta Sigma Rho is based upon outstanding work in intercollegiate debate or oratory. Young Jacobson received his first training in these arts from his father, Lewis, who is a Chicago attorney.

MORE than 200 Our Towners were present at the recent 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. George Reininga, 442 West 101st street. A good many of them were descendants. The couple boasts of 8 children, 13 grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren living in the Chicago area. Both Mr. Reininga, who is 73 and a retired contractor, and Mrs. Reininga, who is 67, were born in Holland. They were married on May 5, 1891, in Chicago and have lived since then on the south side.

CHARLES W. PIERCE, retiring teacher of science at Du Sable High school, was honored last week by the faculty, student body, and Parent-Teacher association of the school. Born in La Grange, Ga., Pierce was graduated from Chicago's Armour Institute in 1901 and spent his first years as a teacher under the late Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala. He served as a YMCA secretary during the world war and began teaching physics at Wendell Phillips High school in 1922. He has taught at Du Sable since 1935. Pierce resides with his wife at 6244 Champlain avenue.

Charles W. Pierce.

GEORGE PLATZMAN, 7545 Yates avenue, a graduate student at the University of Arizona, in Tucson, was elected an associate member of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity. Platzman received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Chicago last year and is now working for a master's degree in mathematics.

Miss Mary Ann Lund, 5470 Hyde Park boulevard, was elected president of the Student Government association at Rosary college, River Forest, for the coming year. She is a graduate of St. Thomas the Apostle High school and will be a senior in the department of political science next fall.

At Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y., Nicholas Bassar, 5310 Sawyer avenue, a junior in civil engineering, was elected to Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, the engineers' equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa.

200 HORSE BACK RIDERS ARE TO FORM CAVALCADE

More than 200 horsemen and horsewomen from all parts of Chicagoland already have made reservations for the first 1941 breakfast ride of the Town and Country Equestrian association, members of the committee announced. The ride will start at 10 a. m. on Sunday, June 8, from the Oakbrook polo field at 22d street and York road, north of Hinsdale.

The cavalcade will traverse 15 miles of trails in the Cook and DuPage county forest preserves before breakfast is served at the polo field at 1 p. m.

Two other similar rides will be held in other parts of the Chicago area this summer.

St. Kilian's Altar, Rosary Society Plans Luncheon

The annual spring luncheon of St. Kilian's Altar and Rosary society is planned for 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the parish hall at 87th and Aberdeen streets. Mrs. Joseph Schmitz is chairman. Mrs. Albert Stapleton is president of the society.

MISSIONARY UNIT TO HOLD ANNUAL RALLY TUESDAY

The annual convention of the Chicago group of the Women's Missionary Federation will take place Tuesday at the Grace Evangelical church, 61st street and Marshfield avenue. Registrations will open at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Speakers will include missionaries on furlough from New Guinea and India. The American Lutheran church maintains mission stations in both places. Joseph Taylor will direct the Lindblom High school a cappella choir in songs for the afternoon program.

Mrs. Fred Prafke is president of the Chicago group and will preside. Mrs. Carl W. Sievert, Blue Island, is program chairman. The Ladies' Aid of Grace church will serve the noon luncheon. The Rev. Walter Wietzke, Grace pastor, announces that the convention is open to the public.

A. Z. A. Dance Saturday.

Auburn Park chapter of Aleph Zadik Aleph will sponsor its third annual May dancing party Saturday evening in the Masonic temple at 6400 South Green street.

CADETS IN FIVE SCHOOLS TO GET MERIT AWARDS

Corps Will Parade in Army Inspection.

Army officers making the annual federal inspection tour of Chicagoland's 35 high school ROTC units will be busy on the southwest side this week, reviewing the Calumet, Harper, Kelly, Lindblom, and Englewood units. Medals will be awarded to 99 cadets at the five inspections.

Two of the units to be reviewed, Englewood and Kelly, will be out to maintain the honor ratings they won last year. The others hope to achieve this rating, which was given to 13 of the 27 Chicago public high school units last year. The units winning first and second ratings in the Chicago inspection will receive school and national color stands given annually by THE TRIBUNE and will lead the annual ROTC parade down Michigan avenue on May 27.

20 Awards at Harper.

At the first southwest inspection this week, at 9 o'clock Tuesday at Harper High school, medals will be awarded to 20 outstanding cadets. ROTC departmental medals will go to First Lieutenant Harry Weisseg, officers' efficiency; Sergt. Raymond Kjellberg, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Sergt. William Scheid, band efficiency; Sergt. Edward Hoff, neatest line cadet; Private Charles Thomas, neatest band cadet, and Sergt. Edward De Young, recruiting. Platoon competition cups will be awarded to First Lieutenants Robert Helmold, first, and Harry Weisseg, second.

Chicago Tribune gold medals will be presented to Staff Sergeant John Eck, Private Robert Smith, and Sergt. Edward Croisant. A silver Tribune medal will go to Private Donald Haig. American Legion awards presented by Three Links post will go to Second Lieutenant Kenneth Marek and Corporals Robert Tully, Howard Baum and Calvain Wittenkeller.

Other medals will be presented by the Reserve Officers' association, to Corporal Robert Doubek; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to First Sergeant Edward Schlaffer; the American Legion auxiliary, to Sergt. Robert Thompson, and the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Corporal Thomas Jones.

Lindblom Ceremonies.

Twenty-two decorations will be presented at the Lindblom inspection to be held at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Ogden park at 64th street and Loomis avenue. Maj. Clifford Helbock will receive the coveted officers' efficiency medal. Other ROTC medals will be presented to First Sergeant Joseph Valukas, noncommissioned officiers' efficiency; Capt. William Goodwin, band efficiency; Capt. James Kolnick, marksmanship; First Lieutenant Leonard Runowski, recruiting, and Privates Charles Nilles, William McCarthy, and William Hunter, neatness.

Sergeants Joseph Doria and Leonard Bielski, and Corporals Robert Loomis, Peter Mackanin, Wayne Burton, John Clark, Russell Dockstrader, and William Behrendt will receive gold Chicago Tribune medals. Other medals will be presented by the Reserve Officers' association, to Capt. Frank Kalinowski; the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary to Second Lieutenant Lawrence Blanchet; the Glendale American Legion auxiliary to Capt. Kenneth Campion; the county council of the American Legion auxiliary to Capt. Walter Rodie, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars to Capt. George Zavidel.

Review at Englewood.

The Englewood High school regiment will go to Hamilton park at 72d street and Normal avenue for its review at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. ROTC medals will be presented to Capt. Julian Wilkins, officers' efficiency; Sergt. Franklin Baker, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; First Sergt. Sam Clemens, band efficiency; Lieut. Charles Silzer, marksmanship; Private George Skizas, recruiting, and Sergt. Miller Holt, Privates Richard Tice, and Clifton Randall, neatness.

Gold Tribune medals at Englewood will go to Privates Ronald Cronwell, Robert Sumerack, William Cook, and Charles Lewis, and Sergt. Earl Dyson. The silver Tribune medals for freshmen will go to Privates Tony Kricule, Leo Golden, and John Klein.

Efficiency medals presented by J. C. Thompson, principal of the school, will be awarded to Capt. James Aldricn, Sergt. Robert Kietelhoff, and Privates William Henderson, and Robert Kennedy. Other awards will be presented by the Reserve Officers' association, to Maj. Bernard Hard; the American Legion auxiliary, to Lieut. Richard Eubanks, and the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Corporal Anthony Battaglia.

Calumet Inspection.

The Calumet inspection, scheduled for 1:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, will be held on the school campus, at 8100 South Aberdeen street. Lieut. Col. Richard Ozinga will receive the officers' efficieney award. Sergt. Frank Folsum will receive the non-commissioned officers' efficiency award and medals for neatness will go to Privates Norman Ozinga, Edward Jacobson, and Kenneth Lind.

Gold Tribune medals will be presented to First Sergeant Alfred Dorl, Staff Sergeant William Paxton, and Corporals Charles E. Anderson, Herbert Warren, and Edward Finnigan.

Sooty Doesn't Like the Ground

Sooty, 3 year old Scottie belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Merle F. Buck, tries his luck at hitching a ride in the elevator of the Troy Lane hotel, where the Bucks make their home. Sooty has 500 hours in the air and prefers flying, but he makes elevator rides do when there's no other way of getting off the ground.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Sooty's Waggy Tail Wins Him Elevator Ride

When the night crew comes on duty at the Troy Lane hotel, 63d and Troy streets, their welcoming committee is one little black dog—Sooty 3 year old Scotch terrier.

Sooty is just naturally glad to see folks, but there's method in his tailwagging in the evening. People are busy in the daytime, but people bother with little dogs in the evening.

So Sooty gets rides in the hotel elevator.

Has a System.

His system is to stand by the door and step in when a resident goes up. Then one of the night crew punches the button and brings Sooty down again. And Sooty strolls out, sits down by the door, and waits for the next ride.

The dog belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Merle F. Buck and their little girl, Marline, who live at the hotel. Mr. Buck is a pilot on the Chicago-New York run for the American Airlines. He has his own seaplane, and his little dog has had 500 hours in the air. Sooty has made forced landings with Pilot Buck, and he's done a bit of barnstorming, too. The little dog has flown in clear weather and in bumpy weather.

Has Air Line Collar.

Latest indication of his airmindedness is an American Airlines tag on his collar. It reads: "Flight Personnel." But Sooty doesn't get to accompany his master on the job. He just stays home and rides the elevator.

Mrs. Buck shares the dog's enthusiasm for flying, but she doesn't find his compensation in going up and down in the elevator. Her apartment is on the first floor, and among its decorations are cups her husband won for stunt flying and spot landing. She has done a bit of barnstorming, too.

MINISTERS PLAN TO ENTERTAIN WIVES AT LUNCH

Southtown ministers will entertain their wives at luncheon Wednesday at the Englewood YMCA. It will be the seventh annual wives' luncheon given by the Southtown Ministers' association. Officers for next year will be elected. The Rev. John C. Spencer, pastor of Englewood Methodist church, is in charge of the program.

Mrs. Jewel Martin Lovejoy, former director of music at Wesley hospital and now director of music at Woodlawn Methodist church, will sing a group of spring songs. Clara M. Barger will give two readings, and Irene Bellwood Pierson will play the piano accompaniments.

The Rev. Karl Meyer of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church is chairman of the nominating committee and will present the slate of officers for the new year. Other members of the nominating committee are the Rev. John H. De Lacy of Thoburn Methodist church and the Rev. James H. Durand of Calvary Methodist church. The Rev. C. Emil Bergquist, pastor of Bethel Lutheran church, is president of the association and will preside at the luncheon session.

CALUMET CHORISTERS TO OFFER CONCERT AT FENGER MAY 27

Richard L. Wesselius will direct the Calumet Civic chorus in the third annual spring concert on the evening of May 27 at Fenger High school auditorium, 112th and Wallace streets. The chorus is made up of two choral groups that unite for the concert. They are the Arioso Women's chorus and the Sterling Male chorus, both regularly conducted by Mr. Wesselius.

The guest artist will be Miss Jane Nelson, contralto, 1939 winner of the Chicagoland Music Festival and recently featured on the W-G-N Pageant of Melody program. Another guest artist will be Robert Spiro, baritone, who has sung with the American concert and Illinois Symphony orchestras.

Each year the Calumet chorus sponsors a contest to select a young singer who is given a vocal scholarship. The Roseland Kiwanis club is also contributing a scholarship this year, and the chorus winner and Kiwanis winner will sing at the concert.

LIVING CONCERT TO BE CLIMAX OF RECORD SERIES

A living concert will climax the recorded concert season at the Woodlawn Regional library, 6247 Kimbark avenue, Saturday evening. The concert will feature the Hyde Park High school chorus, a string quartet, dancer, pianist, and violinist.

Recorded programs of classical music were given free every Tuesday evening since last October. The albums of recordings were donated by Edward H. Elsen, 8240 Drexel avenue, head of the Elsen's Allied Arts guild, a nonprofit organization founded to popularize the arts, chiefly music.

Mr. Elsen is employed by station W-G-N's concert bureau.

St. Nicholas Church Club Sponsors Benefit Dinner

Members of St. Nicholas Hellenic Orthodox church at 5957 South Peoria street will attend a banquet at 7 o'clock this evening in the Masonic temple at 64th and Green streets. The dinner is under auspices of the women's club of the church and is for the benefit of the church building program.

Gustavus Adolphus Church Will Have Spring Concert

The Martha society of the Gustavus Adolphus Lutheran church, 7426 Drexel avenue, will give a spring concert at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the church auditorium. On the program will be Vincent Ahnquist, boy soprano; Violet Edson, reader; Ardis Goeken, marimbist; Mrs. Rose Borling, organist, and Glen Borling, pianist.

PLANTS EXPECT A PROBLEM IN FILLING KEY JOBS

Service Boards Are Appealed To.

Effect of the draft on skilled manpower is being felt in some of the steel industries in the Calumet district, a survey reveals. While the number of workers inducted has been proportionately small so far, most plants, with the notable exception of the huge Carnegie-Illinois mill in Gary, are anticipating a problem in finding substitutes for key positions.

Almost every mill is roaring at full capacity with a 24 hour schedule seven days a week. For the last few weeks the industries in the region have been employing upward of 85,000 men and are wondering how they can open up operations even wider. Production has never been geared so high, officials say.

Fear Skill Shortage.

The Carnegie-Illinois South Works plant in South Chicago recently took "precautionary steps" to avert a skilled labor shortage in the near future. Officials asked seven selective service boards in the district what they could do, since several hundred of their men already had been drafted. Officials of the boards told them what types of workers they considered vital and reminded employers to request deferment whenever they thought it necessary.

Fred Gillies, superintendent of the Inland Steel company, said the situation was increasingly a problem. Two hundred and fifty of his men have been drafted so far.

"It is not so easy to replace key men that it takes more than a year to train," he pointed out. "The best of the older men are all employed, I've found, so the only ones we can draw upon are the young men who are subject to the draft."

He said the problem would not be serious, however, if the selectees were allowed to come home after a year's training.

Not Yet Serious.

Officials of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company in East Chicago reported that the situation was not yet serious, but might be soon. They do not know yet how the problem will be met.

In Gary, the Carnegie-Illinois plant hasn't felt an employment problem. Only a minimum of deferrals have been asked, but steps were taken months ago to meet the problem by reshuffling jobs and training new workers. A total of 2.7 per cent of the men classified in Gary have been deferred for occupational reasons. This is contrasted with 4.2 per cent given deferred classifications for occupational reasons in the rural districts of Lake county and 2 per cent deferred for occupational reasons in the state of Illinois.

Carnegie-Illinois officials say they are asking deferment for workers in jobs which require more than a year's training. This is the majority of their skilled workers, but if an employment crisis should arise they expect to draw upon men who were retired at 65 years of age and are still in good condition.

32,000 Men Employed.

The Gary works now employs 23,000 men and the sheet and tin mill 9,000 workers. At the rate the steel plant is going—producing more than 100,000 tons of open hearth steel a week—a new production record probably will be set this year.

Carnegie-Illinois is operating 11 furnaces in Gary and 10 in South Chicago, where 17,000 men are employed. The company's scredule last week also called for the operation of all coke oven batteries in Gary and Joliet to produce coke for blast furnace requirements of its two big mills.

The Inland Steel company is producing ingots at 101.3 per cent of rated capacity, with five of six blast furnaces and 35 of 36 open hearths in service. The firm has 14,000 workers on its rolls. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has its two blast furnaces, seven of eight open hearths, and its Bessemer converter in operation, and 8,000 men employed.

About 29,000 men are employed in smaller mills and allied plants in South Chicago, Riverdale, Irondale, and Chicago Heights.

CRERAR CHURCH CHOIR TO OFFER MUSICAL TODAY

The Crerar Presbyterian choir will present its seventh annual musical and tea at the church, 81st street and Calumet avenue, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Soloist will be Relma Browne and Carl Chevedden. The choir is directed by George L. De Meut and the accompanist will be Miss Laura O'Neill.

Choral numbers will include "Beautiful Savior" [Christiansen], "Sinners, Please Don't Let the Harvest Pass" [Howarth], and "My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land" [Elgar]. Proceeds of the program will be used to purchase music.

FLOOD OF LILAC BLOSSOMS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

100,000 Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins.

The 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign was the most successful since the inception of lilac day in 1929.

An estimated 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed during the two days among 25,000 shut-ins in 158 hospitals and institutions in the city. The deluge of blossoms was so great that all of the institutions on the lilac list received their bouquets, and the Tribune trucks visited many of the hospitals a second time.

Prominent in the success of lilac days were the eight railroads which transported the flowers, freight free, to terminal stations in the city where they were picked up by Tribune trucks.

Overflow Into Laps.

Officials of the roads said they had never seen such a profusion of blooms, and told of the bouquets overflowing from the baggage cars into the vestibules of the passenger cars and even into the willing laps of commuters.

Railroads that offered the free use of their trains to lilac growers thruout Chicago's flowerland were: The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and North Western; Pennsylvania; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Chicago, Aurora and Elgin; Rock Island; Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, and the Illinois Central.

Following are the names of some of the railroad men who were instrumental in handling the lilac bouquets on the trains.

Burlington—Agents C. D. Chase, E. E. Dillon, W. A. Stoneberg, C. L. Brusate, J. C. Stoneberg, C. M. Draper, E. R. Freed, and J. C. Read. Train and engine employés were F. E. Gillett, conductor; B. D. Winslow, collector; O. B. Thomas, collector; R. C. Finley, engineer; C. E. Harris, fireman; T. G. Becker, messenger train baggageman.

More Railroad Aids.

North Western—W. S. Gregory, assistant superintendent of baggage, mail and express; F. H. Hemes, trainmaster, Wisconsin division; E. C. Anderson, station master of Chicago terminal; A. W. Everson, night station master; H. R. Koch, superintendent, Wisconsin division, and H. A. Parish, superintendent, Galena division.

Pennsylvania—P. J. Hunter, conductor; W. R. Roach, engineer; C. E. Winemiller, engineer; C. P. Fisher, supervisor.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—J. G. Yahnke, conductor; Joe Melle, brakeman; H. S. Sappington, agent; V. V. Hipsley, agent; M. R. Corcoran, agent.

Aurora and Elgin—Motormen Edward Hogan, F. W. Myers, Wallace Tucker, Alfred Dinan, Edward Barmore, Arthur Lyon, Roy Dolan, and John Morton, dispatcher, Wells street terminal.

Other Willing Helpers.

Rockfl Island—Train No. 280, John Postweiler, conductor; William Sandman, brakeman; Charles Travis, engineer; Floyd Engler, fireman. Train No. 136, Felt Johnson, conductor; John Mulligan, brakeman; Bert Arnold, engineer; Ralph Mosher, fireman.

Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee—Train No. 708, R. B. Brynn, motorman; M. R. Howk, conductor; J. D. Wilbanks, motorman; A. R. Butts, conductor. Train No. 518, J. Wylie, motorman; M. McInerny, conductor. Supervisor of arrangements was F. M. Golden.

Illinois Central—Train No. 360, W. Kircher, conductor; M. Swisk, flagman. Train No. 788, P. Boylan, conductor; A. W. Ingerman, flagman. Train No. 734, W. W. Kenney, conductor; J. M. Young, flagman. Train No. 762, E. A. Dahlin, conductor; O. J. Fieffer, flagman. Movement of trains under the direction of Chief Dispatcher C. O. Richards, Dispatcher M. J. Madden, and Yardmaster Walter Ortel.

St. Sabina Society Plans Scholarship Fund Party

St. Sabina Altar and Rosary society will sponsor the first annual party to establish and maintain a scholarship fund, at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Community center, 78th street and Racine avenue. The fund will be used to give two high school scholarships each year. Mrs. William Hurley, 8029 Ada street, is chairman.

Mercy High Style Show

Mercy High school students will present the annual style show next Wednesday evening in the school auditorium. La Verne Haley (left) will wear a blue plaid sports suit, Rita McNally (center) will model a pastel plaid suit, and Evelyn Fitzmaurice will model a tailored Kelly green suit. The show is sponsored by the mothers' auxiliary and the sewing class.

LOSES HIS MONEY, BUT NOT ABILITY TO MAKE LIVING

Good Job Brings More, Says Woodworker.

"I don't have to look for work, it looks for me," says John H. Grenier, who describes himself as "up in years" and operates his own woodworking shop at 3324 West 63d street. He explains that he doesn't necessarily do better work than any one else—thus ruling out the better mousetrap story—he just simply does a good job. He believes his shop and his business prove a man can still shift for himself in this country. Grenier can speak from experience. He was past 60 when he lost his life's savings in a bank failure a decade ago.

"I had $8,000 in checks out when that bank went under," he said. "Judgments were filed against me. I had to go thru bankruptcy. I had been doing well in the general contracting business. My business had grown so big that I had to take in a partner. Then everything went smash, but here I am supporting myself again."

Why Worry, He Insists.

Losing his money hasn't interfered with Grenier's faith in humanity. He insists, "I've never done a good turn yet without getting it back threefold, and if I've been beaten by one man, two help me. And anyhow, a man has comparatively few needs. If he can supply those for himself why worry about money that was lost 10 years ago?"

Grenier's little shop is lined with vises and woodworking tools. He has saws for cutting out an arch over a garden gate, for cutting frames for screens—odd sizes to fit pantry windows—or for fixing over an old picture frame to fit a new diploma.

A potbellied stove with its name, "Jacob's Art," raised on the door stands at one side of the shop, and next to it there's an old fashioned reclining chair mounted on rockers. A coffee pot, big white cup, and thick saucer are handy.

Bowlers Like Him.

Harry Travis, 75, "sort of stays around and helps," because he, too, prefers activity to "watching the days go by." Travis is a little deaf, so the shop radio plays at full volume.

Grenier hopes to keep on working for years yet. He has achieved a community reputation for good luck to the extent that the bowling teams fight for his sponsorship at the beginning of the season. The team he roots for always seems to wind up in first place.

Speech Recital

Miss Harriet Westover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Westover, 10420 Prospect avenue, will be presented in her junior speech recital tomorrow evening at the campus little theater of Baldwin-Wallace college, Berea, O.

Englewood 'Y' Women's Glee Club to Give Concert

Englewood YMCA Women's Glee club spring concert will take place at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the "Y," 6545 South Union avenue. Walter S. Armbruster, director of music at Argo High school, will conduct the program. Kenneth Ramsden will be the pianist. Special numbers will be violin selections by Harold Carnes and readings by Naomi Rochschild. Group singing by the audience will be part of the program, according to the club president, Mrs. Ralph Cook.

Stewart Ridge Group Gives Comedy on Three Nights

"Getting Ira Married," a three act comedy by Howard Reed, will be presented by members of the Stewart Ridge Community church at 8 o'clock tomorrow, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings in the church at 120th street and Eggleston avenue. The cast members are Abel Erickson, Melvin Strandell, Ruth Erickson, Ruth Ham, Helen Woodward, Vernon Haag, Lee Van Dam, Lillian Lull, Harold Holzinger, and Floyd Cameron.

THE RADIO HAMS BRING WORLD TO INVALID'S ROOM

Helping Chester Start Is Community Job.

Chester Gehrke, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Gehrke of 13842 Western avenue, Blue Island, is a "ham." Since he received his amateur radio operator's license on March 26, he's been the voice of W9AOI almost as many hours a day as he can find another "ham" to talk to, according to his mother.

To Chester Gehrke, the license is passage to the world outside the tiny bedroom, which Chester calls his "shack," where he's been bedridden for the last seven years.

Station Gift of Friends.

Chester's station represents the good wishes of folks in Blue Island, Beverly Hills, Palos Park, and Joliet. Many of them went over to Chester's house to take part in dedicating the outfit. And the story of Chester's illness went around again.

Seven years ago April 16 Chester drove the family car to the Blue Island postoffice, jumped out leaving the door open, and ran into the office. Coming out, he meant to hop right into the seat from the pavement, but he "ran into the top of the car with the top of my head." The blow dislocated the atlas bone, and arthritis set in. Chester has been unable to get about since.

The accident came close upon another misfortune. Chester became ill when he was in seventh grade and was out of school for three years. He had finally been able to finish eighth grade, and he was planning his high school career when he was injured. Because of recent treatments, he is now able to be carried out for an occasional ride.

Becomes Interested in Radio.

Chester became interested in radio work three years ago. Before that he had been a listener from the time he awakened in the morning until he went to sleep at night. Boys who visited him told him how much fun it was to do a little sending as well as receiving. Chester read about amateur radio work, but he didn't see how he could get a station set up.

But Jan. 1, 1941, turned out to mean "Happy New Year" for him. Frank King, W9HH, clerk of Palos Park, was on a "ham" roundtable and told other hams about Chester Gehrke, his injury, and his interest in a station. Then things began to happen.

Three boys Chester had known in School came up regularly to practice the continental code. The Hamfesters, a Chicago amateur radio operators' organization, donated toward a transmitter. The Howard Radio company of Chicago sent him a receiver. The Blue Island Lions club gave him a 60 foot telephone pole for mounting the antenna.

Gets Mike from Joliet.

The Joliet Amateur Radio society furnished the mike and a life membership in the society. The Tri Town Radio club, which meets down in Ride park fieldhouse, gave a life membership, too. Harold E. Miner of Hammond, W9WJU, became interested and wrote United States Senator Ray E. Willis of Indiana to ask that Chester's license be hurried thru. And it was.

So Chester feels that it's a fine world, really. He says, "So many people helped with this station, I can't remember them all—but I'm mighty grateful to all of them, anyhow." Mayor John Hart of Blue Island helped dedicate Chester's outfit which is valued at $250. Chester averages 100 contacts a week. His "shack" is papered in knotty pine design. A map, showing the country's nine radio districts, is above Chester's bed. His new license, framed, is beside it.

Meets Friends Thru Radio.

Chester's father is a draftsman. His brother, Vernon, 18, will finish at Thornton Township High school this spring. Chester, too, hopes to get well enough to finish his own high school work some day. Meanwhile, he's content to twirl the dials of his radio. He has a great many friends to talk to. He often carries on a conversation with Mack Gable out in Hollywood, Ill., W9RLM.

Then there's Walter Roop, W9EXB, South Chicago Heights, who built Chester's transmitter after the hams and short wave listeners pooled their funds and bought it. Chester, along with other hams, is listed as having a station available under the national defense program.

Invalid Gets Own Radio Station

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

DEAF MUTE CAST TO GIVE JUNGLE FANTASY MAY 27

Rhythmic Music Aids Negro Pantomime.

Negro deaf mutes who make up the Silent Social club at Madden park have found the primitive drama an ideal outlet for creative expression. The club will climax its activities when its presents "The White Goddess of the Congo," with musical accompaniment, Tuesday evening, May 27, in the park fieldhouse, 3800 Rhodes avenue.

Club members, who wrote, directed and act in the play, are depending on their highly developed tactile senses for producing the sound effects. Two members can play the piano and the music of the drums is supplied by seven young men who sit in a circle and pound and slap the floor in rhythm. What little dialog is required is done in the deaf mute finger pantomime.

Told by Gestures.

The drama, which concerns young love in the jungle, was designed to afford maximum opportunities for straight pantomime, melodramatic action, and exotic dancing. Much of the story is told by the players' broad gestures and mobile expressions, tho a scrip is necessary to understand the specific details of the plot.

Principals in the fantasy are Suba, "a pretty fair graceful young lady with long hair," according to the plot, and her lover, Abi, "a young man with a tiger skin wrapped around his body . . . a very frightful young man." The plot is complicated by "the jealous Kebo, a very stout man," and finally unraveled by the generous white goddess, who pours her magic on Kebo in one of his fights with Abi. The couple are happily reunited and Kebo is thrown to the alligators, who are offstage.

Excitement among the cast is considerably heightened in the second act at the entrance of the Congo dancers—five girls who do a savage dance around the fire. The tempo of the drums and the dancers is increased when the devil dancer, in red socks, appears.

Players in Cast.

Miss Louise Thomas plays the rôle of the white goddess. Bernard Vann is Abi, Miss Florence Hunt is Suba, Chester White is Kebo, and Miss Geraldine Ducas is the devil dancer. The dancers are Mrs. Cleo Vann, who wrote the play; Mrs. Erma Hunt, Miss Grace Connelly, Mrs. Rosie Easter, and Mrs. Mary Baugh.

The drummers are John Morris, Jr., Robert Brown, Reynold Hutson, Fred Nither, Henry Williams, Leslie Jones, and Earther Green. Miss Ruth Reese directs the dances and Bernard Vann and Earther Green direct the play. K. A. Bristol, park supervisor, will be master of ceremonies.

The club has 80 members between 16 and 50 years old, including Ralph Hunt, his wife and two daughters. Two-thirds of them were educated at the Jacksonville School for the Deaf and many attended Parker High school. The group meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Heads Polish Party

Miss Sabina Ziarko, 5425 South Hermitage avenue, is chairman of the party that members of the Junior league of the Polish Welfare association will give this afternoon at the Harriet H. McCormick Memorial residence, 1001 North Dearborn street.

RIDGE MISSION UNION TO HEAR NEWS FROM FIELD

John A. Hallett, a teacher in the American Institute at Cochabamba, Bolivia, will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Ridge Mission union Wednesday at the Morgan Park Methodist church, 110th street and Longwood drive. Mr. Hallett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hallett of 11200 South Oakley avenue and is expected to arrive from South America on Tuesday.

Dr. Robert Taylor, secretary of the Chicago Bible society, and Mr. Hallett will be the speakers at the morning session. In the afternoon Miss Lulu Erwin will describe work of the American Mission to the Lepers, and Dr. Glen B. Ogden will tell of his work in Kasganj, India.

All of the women of the community are invited to attend the all-day meeting which opens at 10:30 o'clock. A luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Guy E. Killie, 10883 Prospect avenue, is assisting with the plans.

Isabella Daughters' Unit Will Offer Mothers' Party

La Rabida circle of Daughters of Isabella will meet for the annual Mothers' party tomorrow evening at the Orange temple, 68th and Green streets. The chairman, Miss Kay Brennan, 7356 South May street, will be assisted by the unmarried members of the circle.

"World Crisis."

Harland H. Allen, chairman of the Chicago Committee to Defend America, will speak at 8 o'clock this evening at the Drexel Park Presbyterian church. His subject will be "America and the World Crisis."

Camp Fund Will Be Aided by '$1,000 Bridge Party'

A "thousand dollar bridge party" will be given by members of the women's auxiliary of the Woodlawn Boys club Friday evening at the Gladstone hotel, 6200 South Kenwood avenue. The party will climax plans that have been under way since Jan. 1. Hundreds of gifts already have been collected by Mrs. Ida Headley, chairman of arrangements, for the $1,000 fund which will be used to send 100 boys and girls to a summer camp.

Barbara Luddy Only Four Feet Ten Inches.

Barbara Luddy, star of "The Great Gunns," new W-G-N-Mutual series heard each Thursday at 9:30 p. m., is radio's proof that good things oftentimes come in small packages. Barbara is petite [she's 4 feet 10 inches] and demure, but her acting carries with it an emotional impact that listeners do not soon forget.

Barbara insists that she's can't be glamorized. She doesn't wear slinky clothes. She stays away from night clubs. Her name is never in the gossip columns.

Barbara's apartment on Chicago's near north side is proof of her skill as an interior decorator. It contains many samples of Luddy needlepoint. She knits skillfully, for the British war relief. She is taking piano lessons. No glamor there. But——

Last year she was chosen as radio's outstanding dramatic actress in the Movie-Radio Guide poll. This year she finished second to Helen Hayes.

Miss Luddy's nickname is "Biddy." It was given to her by her mother years ago, because it seemed to describe a roly-poly girl who was very tiny. The name has stuck for while Barbara has lost her childhood plumpness, she's aything but tall.

In "The Great Gunns," hilarious story of a theatrical family, Miss Luddy is cast as Veronica Gunn, tempestuous leading lady of Broadway. The part requires a flair for comedy as well as for intensely dramatic acting, and Barbara fits it perfectly.

Bret Morrison, heard with Miss Luddy for the last several years on "The First Nighter" series on another network, is co-starred with her in "The Great Gunns." Morrison has the rôle of Christopher Gunn, husband of Veronica, a matinée idol who realizes he is God's gift to the stage.

Producer William A. Bacher has assembled an all-star cast of W-G-N Players to support the leads. Among them are Bob Jellison, Loretta Poynton, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Marvin Mueller, Herb Butterfield, Phil Lord, and John Goldsworthy. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra supply the musical background.

The third new character to be introduced on "The Great Gunns" since its debut about two weeks ago is that of Winchy Walters. The rôle will be taken by Forrest Lewis, Chicago radio actor.

Lewis has spent the last 8 years in radio, coming from 15 years experience on the stage. He has often played with the star of "The Great Gunns," Miss Luddy, on the First Nighter programs. He has also played 25 different characters in "Scattergood Baines" during the last three years. Forrest made his first appearance in radio on W-G-N in 1933 when he won a rôle in "Uncle Quin's Scalawags."

FAMILY GROUP TO APPEAR WITH STEELMAKERS

A five piece orchestra, composed of a Wheeling steel company employé and his children, will be guests on the Musical Steelmakers' show on W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. today.

Ernest Mitan, a die maker, heads the group. His children are Virginia, saxophonist; Matilda, accordionist; Ernest Jr., violinist, and Edward, clarinetist. They will play a Polish polka, "In a Little Grove."

Other numbers will be regular orchestra's presentation of "Riding on a Rainbow, "Oh, Look at Me Now," and "Because of You." Regina Colbert will sing "Do I Worry?" and Ardenne White, tenor, will offer "You Walk By."

Awaits Army Service.

Noel B. Gerson, director of the W-G-N talent division, who holds a lieutenant's commission in the reserve corps, will go into service June 2 as aid to the assistant chief of staff in charge of intelligence at 6th corp area headquarters in Chicago.

Looks Southward

Patricia Dunlap, star of the W-G-N serial, "Bachelor's Children," heard at 10:30 a. m. Monday thru Friday, is studying Spanish these days with an eye on the possibility of a future South American visit.

[Seymour Photo.]

CITIZENS' RALLY PRESENTS FOUR SCHOOLS ON W-G-N

Four schools under the supervision of the Society of the Sacred Heart, a Catholic order, will be featured on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program over W-G-N at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The schools to be honored on the program sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE are Barat college and the Academy of the Sacred Heart, both of Lake Forest, and the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Hardy Preparatory School for Boys, both of Chicago.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago diocese, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies of these broadcasts which are dedicated to the youth of America.

A singing choir group from the Sacred Heart academy directed by Prof. Arthur Granquist and a verse speaking choir from Barat college, conducted by Miss Anna May Kawekotte, will participate.

"Jerry" and "Jimmy," portrayed by Dorothy Gregory and Eddie Firestone, will be back with their "Interscholastic News" and some choice bits of information on just what is going on in the lighter departments of secondary educational circles.

AMERICAS SPEAK OFFERS PROGRAM FROM ARGENTINA

The land of gauchos and cattle ranches will be visited today by the Pan-American good will program, "The Americas Speak." Presented in coöperation with Rotary International, the broadcast will be heard over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Twenty minutes of the show will originate in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Ten Minutes will come from the W-G-N studios.

The speaker from Buenos Aires will be Manuel Gomez, former head of the National bank, and now controller of the Federal Reserve system of Argentina. Others will be Prof. Ernesto Nelson, authority on youth problems; Manuel Ventrone cattle breeder, and Dr. Rodolfo N. Luque, director of La Prensa, one of the most influential newspapers in South America. A program of native Argentine music will complete the Buenos Aires section of the broadcast.

In Chicago, Vincent Pelletier, "The Americas Speak" narrator, will interview Senör Juan Roger, South American traveler. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, directs the series.

MURDOCH GIVES HOT TIP ON HESS TO ALAN SCOTT

It's Month in Advance of News Story.

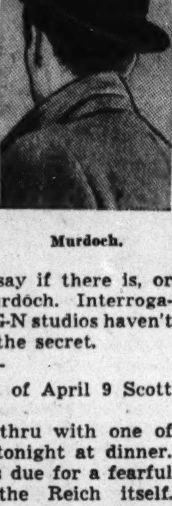
The mysterious Murdoch, apparently a character with whom Alan Scott, W-G-N news broadcaster, discusses his programs, is responsible for a big increase in the mail Scott has been receiving from listeners in the last few days.



Murdoch.

For Murdoch called the turn on the Rudolf Hess incident a month before it happened.

Scott refuses to say if there is, or is not, an actual Murdoch. Interrogators around the W-G-N studios haven't been able to learn the secret.

On the broadcast of April 9 Scott said:

"Murdoch came thru with one of his crazy hunches tonight at dinner. He says Germany is due for a fearful sensation within the Reich itself. Probably it will come off within a week. He didn't give me any further details except to say there would be a 'casualty' involving some one very high up in the Nazi framework."

On April 16, Murdoch's week was up and Scott proceeded to give his shadowy colleague a terrific ribbing on the air. Nothing had happened.

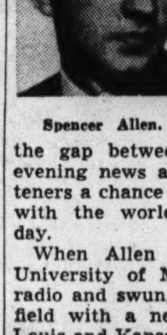
Then this week came the flight of Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland, and his injury in a parachute landing. The case bore out Murdoch's [or Scott's] prediction.

Scott's news programs are heard on W-G-N at 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. and again at 9 p.m. Scott refreshingly admits he had no inside sources of information in Europe. His analyses of developments are among the most widely followed on the air.

Scott has maintained a consistently prophetic tone on his broadcasts from the Italian invasion of Greece t othe attack on Jugo-Slavia and the collapse of the Greeks. Many of his forecasts are brought out in references to the mysterious Murdoch.

NEW MIDAFTERNOON NEWSCAST WILL BEGIN ON W-G-N TOMORROW

Spencer Allen, one of W-G-N's veteran newscasters, is starting another series of up to the minute news broadcasts tomorrow. On the air in an afternoon spot—2:15 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday at 1:15 p. m.—Allen will broadcast the latest A. P. and U. P. news on W-G-N at a time which will fill in the gap between the morning and evening news and thus give the listeners a chance to be in close contact with the world scene thruout the day.



Spencer Allen.

When Allen graduated from the University of Missouri, he got into radio and swung into the journalism field with a news broadcast on St. Louis and Kansas City stations. Here, too, he found time to deviate from his regular duties and managed to do some continuity writing and program producing.

PLAN 90 MINUTES OF ASCAP MUSIC ON W-G-N TONIGHT

"Ascap's Salute to Mutual," a 90 minute program hailing the return to the Mutual Broadcasting System of Ascap music, will be heard on W-G-N from 9 to 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The Mutual network recently signed an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, making available more than 1,250,000 compositions which had been off the air since Jan. 1. The first Ascap music on W-G-N was broadcast last Tuesday night.

A half hour of tonight's Ascap salute will originate at W-G-N, half an hour at WOR in New York, and half an hour at KHJ, Hollywood. Among famous composers of popular music who will speak are Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin, and Cole Porter. Their music and the music of other beloved composers will be featured.

CLEARING CLUB WRITES LETTERS TO GAIN LIBRARY

Legion and Trade Group Assist Women.

Writing letters to influence public policy may be a comparatively new activity among individuals and groups concerned with current European relations, but it's an old story to members of the Clearing Woman's club. Under the leadership of their president, Mrs. G. B. Garnett, 6226 South Monitor avenue, they have been writing letters all winter.

Mrs. G. B. Garnett.

They've been writing to the Chicago Library board committee, and to their alderman, Michael P. Hogan [13th] and they intend to keep it up. "We want a library out here in Clearing," Mrs. Garnett explains," and we intend to keep asking for it until we get it. Now we're pinning our hopes on the library bill in the state legislature. [House bill 718, senate bill 505.] We hope if more funds come to Chicago for library use, we'll benefit."

Take Reader Survey.

Mrs. Marjorie Barrett first suggested a library for Clearing when she was serving as literature and library chairman of the woman's club.

Mrs. Irwin Scheurle, who is active in the Hale PTA, conducted a survey two and one-half years ago. She found that there were 1,500 families in the community then.

Clearing is bounded by Harlem avenue on the west and Cicero avenue on the east. It runs south to 65th street and north to 53d street. The nearest library facilities are at the Chicago Lawn branch, 62d place and South Kedzie avenue. This is a street car ride for people who do not have cars to use.

Clubs Aid Drive.

All Clearing clubs are coöperating in the campaign. The Legion post and the Clearing Businessmen's association have been especially active. Harold Cleland, a past commander of the Legion post, is credited with doing much of the investigating relating to means of obtaining a subbranch. Meanwhile, the women continue to write letters. They say that so far they've had lots of answers, but not the one they want.

Social Club Party.

The Troubadours, a social club of St. Augustine parish, will sponsor their first dancing party Wednesday evening in the St. Sabina Community center. Paul Bularzik is chairman.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS TO OPEN YOUTH HOSTEL CABINS

Civic Groups Raise Fund for Camp Houses.

Miss Marjorie Newenham.

Chicago Heights will celebrate National Hostel week, which opens Saturday, by adding another set of cabins to the nation-wide chain of American Youth Hostels, places where vacationing hikers or cyclists may find inexpensive accommodations. The Chicago Heights hostel arrangement is a group of three cabins on the Charles McCoy farm on Cottage Grove avenue just south of Sauk trail. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy will be house parents.

A leader in the Chicago Heights hostel movement is Miss Marjorie Newenham, a member of the Crete public school faculty and a veteran hosteler. Miss Newenham took a 2,000 mile trip thru New England and into Canada last summer. She covered 1,500 miles on a bicycle and the remainder by yacht, fishing smack, and steamer.

Plans Another Tour.

Her trip was sponsored by the American Youth Hostels, Inc., of Northfield, Mass. Miss Newenham was one of a group of 10 young people who served as a pioneer unit to determine the best routes and methods of traveling around the Gaspe peninsula. Her lectures on her experiences have stimulated much interest in hosteling in Chicago's metropolitan area. She plans to tour hostels in the Great Lakes region this summer.

The Chicago Heights hostel consists of three cabins constructed of common siding and covered by composition roofing. One cabin provides sleeping quarters for boys, the second is a bunkroom for girls, and the third is the kitchen.

Funds for the cabins were contributed by Chicago Heights organizations including the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, American Legion, Woman's club, Teachers' council, and Girls' Athletic association. Local merchants contributed paint and other supplies. Much of the actual construction work was contributed also. Local groups interested in hosteling have driven the nails and spread on the paint. Equipment has been contributed, too.

Members of Committee.

Members of the Heights hostel committee are: Miss Eva Steinert, chairman; the Rev. H. G. Elsam, Mrs. Clarence Berzolheimer, George Courtney, Chester Gunn, Dr. Paul Ashley, Miss Cara Belle Fischer, Miss Lillian Peterson, Melvin Story, Ben A. Sylla, Mrs. L. E. Yentzer, Miss Harriet Wilson, Miss Gwendolyn Smith, Charles McCoy, Miss Alice Herman, and Miss Newenham.

The McCoy farm, where the new hostel group is located, has 200 acres, 40 of which are wooded.

Betrothal Told

The engagement of Miss Bessie F. Burda and Dr. Frank A. Machek has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Frances Burda, 2801 South Springfield avenue. Miss Burda is a graduate of the University of Illinois college of pharmacy and is now chief pharmacist at Wesley Memorial hospital. Her fiance is a graduate of Loyola university college of dentistry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank U. Machek of 4114 West 25th place.

Miss Lucile Fairbairn of 503 West 117th street is general chairman of the Red, White, and Blue party the Chicago Catholic University club is planning for 7 o'clock next Sunday evening at the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street. Besides dancing, the program will include the presentation of Thornton Wilder's play, "A Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton," and a group of glee club songs.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, May 19.

Practically all plants can be planted in their outdoor beds from this time on. If weather conditions are unsettled, delay planting tender waterlilies until conditions are better even tho it is delayed until the first week in June.

Tender bedding plants include many kinds of plants; many of them make showy patches in the borders and some are useful for cutting. Cannas, and especially such varieties as the President, a red; King Humbert, red with bronze foliage, and Yellow King Humbert, green foliage and yellow flowers, are all good for city gardens. They require a rich soil with plenty of water when established.

Tuesday, May 20.

Old geranium plants, those that have been stored in the cellar over winter, should be cut back before planting. They flower best in a soil that is not too rich and require less water than many other plants.

Good edging annuals are the dwarf harmony marigold, lobelia, sweet alyssum, portulaca, ageratum, dusty miller, nasturtium, petunia, candytuft, annual phlox. Thin the seedlings where necessary.

The easily grown four o'clock is excellent for city gardens. The roots can be stored during winter. Try the flowering tobacco. It grows easily from seed. The new hybrids are especially desirable.

Wednesday, May 21.

One of the finest strong growing annuals is the castor bean. It has fine tropical foliage and likes a hot situation, with water as needed during summer. A good display may be enjoyed by using solid beds of verbenas planted about 12 inches apart.

Use plenty of annual vines to cover bare walls or to screen unsightly objects. Quick growing vines include the morning glories and moonvines. Soak the seed over night. The variegated hop is excellent to cover the garage.

Gourds are attractive, but they like rich soil and copious watering. Gather the fruit before frost injures it. The hyacinth bean grows rapidly and the large scarlet beans [edible when young] are quite attractive.

Thursday, May 22.

Leave the foliage on the tulips that have flowered. A drop or two of gasoline in the crown of dandelions will kill them. Use weedkiller on gravel walks and avoid much labor. Two applications should suffice. Do not allow it to injure the grass along the walks.

Water peonies abundantly after the buds show. Remove side buds for exhibition flowers. Plant gladiolus at intervals of 10 days to obtain a succession of bloom thru the season.

Friday, May 23.

Prune the early flowering shrubs, such as the goldenbell, after they have have flowered. Cut back the poinsettias and repot them for next Christmas bloom. Plunge in a sunny place during summer. Spray roses to eradicate insects and prevent disease.

Collect all rose leaves and destroy them as they fall to the ground. Water plants early in the morning on a rising temperature rather than at night. Tie up all perennials needing it so that the plants appear as naturally as possible. Use green stakes and green cord.

Saturday, May 24.

Goldfish are indispensable in the pool for they keep down larva of various kinds, but placing them in a newly constructed pool may cause trouble to the fish. Before placing the fish in the pool be sure to scrub the interior and fill and empty it several times.

It is wise to soak the pool for several days and then scrub. The newly used lime in the cement may be released and be dissolved in the water. A dozen good sized fish in a fair sized pool will suffice.

Good plant oxygenators for the pool are the bladderwort, various arrowhead of sagittaria. Other water plants include the paper reed or papyrus, cattail, bulrush, water hyacinth, water poppy, floating gem, floating heart and others equally desirable.

[Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.]

VETERANS WILL DEDICATE FLAG POLE MEMORIAL

Sidney D. Anderson post invites all Legionnaires and ex-service men to attend the dedication of a bronze plaque and flag pole to the memory of war dead which will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Beverly cemetery, 120th street and Kedzie avenue.

J. H. Brown, 2d district commander, will be master of ceremonies. Ellidor Libonati will give the address. James Boyd, past commander of Marshall Field post, will present the flag. Joseph Burkhart will accept the flag in behalf of Anderson post. Other speakers will be William Stuart, vice commander of the 2d district, and Peter Van Gelder, commander of Pullman post.

The color guard of Lawndale-Crawford Sons of the American Legion will assist with the flag raising. Harry J. Finucane, commander of Anderson post, G. W. Martriek and Peter Ladelfa are in charge of arrangements.

FIVE ROOM HOME IS DESIGNED FOR EASY EXPANSION

Space Over Garage Left for Bedroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Many an engaging variant of the five room colonial home, with individual treatment of exterior and interior aid details, keeps appearing around us.

Such a home has been built at 1107 Elm street, Glenview, and very carefully studied and planned that it should meet modern needs and at the same time possess the spirit of the traditional. The owners are Mrs. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand and the house was designed especially to function smoothly and satisfactorily for them in all details.

The architects, Whalley and Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue, incorporated many pleasant features in this five room home.

First of all they devised ways and means whereby the house already has the capacity of a seven room home—and there's still space to grow.

Workroom in Garage.

A large two car garage was placed back of the outdoor screened living porch, and half of this garage was converted into a workroom for Mr. Weigand. Then in the basement there is a pine paneled recreation room and powder room. And over the garage there has been allotted space for a future bedroom and bath.

The exterior of the home is brick veneer painted white and white siding with wrought iron railings at the entrance door. The roof is wood shingle laid with staggered butts. The interior is not quite the formal colonial plan, since the stairhall is at the left of the entrance. The living room, at the right, is some 25 feet by 14 feet.

Plate Glass Bay Window.

It has a gracefully designed plate glass bay window which commands a fine view. Indeed the house was oriented with this view in mind. And the fireplace wall with its modified colonial treatment has distinction and charm. This wall is of V-jointed pine boards painted white with recessed shelves and cupboards on each side of the fireplace.

The kitchen is U-shape, with linoleum floor, walls, work tops, and wood cabinets. The rear hall entry leads to the garage and work shop and to the kitchen and basement. The forced warm air heating system is fired by gas.

The bathroom walls are of ceramic tile in a buff shade.

The home has been built with meticulous attention to good construction. All the gutters, downspouts, and flashings are of copper and there are two thicknesses of blanket insulation in the walls and batt insulation in the ceiling.

The master bedroom is spacious—13 feet by 18 feet with two large closets.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL WILL HAVE FAREWELL TEA NEXT THURSDAY

This will be an important week for Mrs. Anna B. Van Nice, principal of Gage Park elementary school at 55th street and Maplewood avenue. The Gage Park PTA is planning a farewell tea for her on Thursday; she retires from school teaching on Friday, and her birthday is on Saturday.

Mrs. Van Nice began her teaching career in Chicago in 1914 at the Oglesby school. She taught English at Tilden Tech from 1924 until 1931 when she became principal of Mount Greenwood elementary school. She remained there until 1935 when she assumed her present position.

Mrs. Van Nice has spent her teaching time on the south side, and received her education there as well. She went thru Englewood High school and attended Chicago Normal. She received the Ph.B. degree at the University of Chicago in 1923 and her master's degree at the same school in 1934.

Mrs. Paul Ricchiuti, 5642 South Campbell avenue, president of the Gage Park PTA, is in charge of the farewell tea party which will take place at 3 o'clock Thursday in the school auditorium.

EPISCOPAL HOME FOR AGED WILL OPEN ADDITION

Tea Will Be Served to Friends on Tuesday.

The Episcopal Home for the Aged, 5445 Ingleside avenue, will celebrate an addition to its building Tuesday afternoon when the board of managers entertains several hundred friends and supporters of the home at a tea and open house. The 50 year old institution houses 100 residents.

The latest step in improving the three story brick building includes remodeling and enlarging of many of the first floor rooms where the lounge, dining hall, library, and other facilities are located. The latter rooms also have been refurnished.

The home was established by the Rev. Walter Delafield, an Episcopal clergyman, in an old residence at 4327 Ellis avenue. Two years later the home added the house next door to its facilities and two years after that acquired adjacent properties. In June, 1916, the main portion of the present building was erected, thanks to a bequest of $65,000 from the family of George E. Wells, a Chicagoan.

Twenty-four Episcopal churches of the city and suburbs are represented on the board of directors. Miss Bernice Baker is president; Mrs. Frank M. Collins, Mrs. William D. Beck, and Mrs. W. H. Fisk, vice presidents; Mrs. Percival Hart, recording secretary; Mrs. John Leeming, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. R. L. Lapham, treasurer.

S. SHORE CHURCH CHOIR PLANS TO GIVE OPERETTA

"The Princess and the Peppermints," an operetta written by Mrs. J. B. Bergeson, will be given by the senior choir of the South Shore Presbyterian church, 76th street and South Shore drive, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 28 and 29. In the cast will be Betty Abrenhold, Anne Bell, Phyllis Blythe, Betty Butcher, Nancy Martin, Nancy Ousley, Joan Phillips, Mary Robinson, Ruth Robinson, Grace Stine, Alice Thompson, Charlene Thompson, Margaret Thompson, and Mary Watts. Miss Ethelyn Ormsby is director of the play.

A Reporter Learns to Drive

This is the fourth in a series on a reporter's experiences in learning to drive.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The solo drive which started lesson five in the Safeway Driving school series brought the first occasion for use of the dual control pedals by Instructor J. P. McClenahan.

A little too self-evident, I "sailed" thru the hazards of Evanston traffic with nary a slip and then ruined my record by trying a left turn into traffic without checking on oncoming cars. If Mr. McClenahan hadn't slammed on the brakes on his side of the car, chances are that we would have been struck amidship.

Takes Lessons in Parking.

The rest of lesson five and most of lesson six were devoted to parking practice. The trunk of each Safeway training car houses a set of black and white striped parking markers which are set up in the practice area to denote vacant parking spaces. Each marker represents the front or rear fender of a parker car and the problem is to squeeze into the parking space without touching the markers.

Use of hand signals is one of the most important steps in the parking maneuvers. Second in importance is a careful gauge of the size of the space.

Parking starts when the rear bumper of your car is exactly opposite that of the car ahead of you. Shift into reverse and slipping the clutch so that the car moves very slowly, turn the wheel sharply to the right. When the front of the car reaches a 40 to 45 degree angle with the curb, straighten the front wheels and continue backing until the front bumper is exactly opposite the rear bumper of the car ahead.

How to Finish Parking.

The left rear wheel should now be one and a half feet farther out from the curb than the front left wheel of the car in back. Continue backing slowly, turning the wheel quickly to the left, bringing the front of the car in towards the curb. Straighten the wheels quickly and you're parked.

Both the driving school and the Chicago Motor club guarantee this parking system and from the experience I had in lessons five and six I know that it eliminates most parking woes. Leaving the parking space is simple if traffic is checked carefully before any move is made and if speed is kept to a minimum.

"WHAT'S THIS ABOUT A NEW CAR?"

"Well, we can afford it now since I got that raise."

What could you buy with a boost in salary? Are you equipped to make the most of your opportunities for advancement?

Today's increasing business and industrial activity is creating hundreds of openings for ambitious men and women with specialized training. You can get the training to qualify you for a better job at more pay by choosing one of the regular or short courses offered to men and women in the Trade Schools, Instruction, Musical and Dramatic, and Dressmaking and Millinery Schools columns in the Tribune want ad section.

"LET'S TAKE THE ONE WITH FUNNY EARS"

"The children will love him!"

Tiny tots aren't the only ones who like pets. You will have as much fun as anyone else in the family over the laughable, lovable antics of a young puppy.

Get a good strain when you buy—whether it be a dog, cat, bird or some other pet. You will find a variety of reliable stock described and offered in the Dogs, Cats and Pets column of the Tribune want ad section. It should be easy for you to select the pet of the type and breed you prefer.

"THE SMITHS ARE TAKING US HOME"

"They want to show us their late-model car."

After you have had to sit back and hear someone else rave about the swell bargain they picked up in the Tribune Used Automobiles for Sale columns, you ought to look over these offerings yourself.

Here is Chicago's largest and most complete selection of late-model used cars in all popular makes. Many of them can hardly be told from new. No wonder so many buyers like to brag about the purchases they make thru these columns.

Right now, before you forget it, review today's listings in the want ad section. See for yourself how much extra comfort, modern styling and downright luxury you can get.

Get ahead of the rush

Here's an advance tip for apartment hunters—beat the rush by watching the Tribune rental columns. Offerings are grouped by locations in the city and suburbs and by numbers of rooms. It isn't too early to get a line on the choice locations. And you will save time and energy by making these columns your guide to the selection of a desirable apartment. Review today's offerings now.

DRAFT HITS STEEL SKILLED LABOR

PLANTS EXPECT A PROBLEM IN FILLING KEY JOBS

Service Boards Are Appealed To.

Effect of the draft on skilled manpower is being felt in some of the steel industries in the Calumet district, a survey reveals. While the number of workers inducted has been proportionately small so far, most plants, with the notable exception of the huge Carnegie-Illinois mill in Gary, are anticipating a problem in finding substitutes for key positions.

Almost every mill is roaring at full capacity with a 24 hour schedule seven days a week. For the last few weeks the industries in the region have been employing upward of 85,000 men and are wondering how they can open up operations even wider. Production has never been geared so high, officials say.

Fear Skill Shortage.

The Carnegie-Illinois South Works plant in South Chicago recently took "precautionary steps" to avert a skilled labor shortage in the near future. Officials asked seven selective service boards in the district what they could do, since several hundred of their men already had been drafted. Officials of the boards told them what types of workers they considered vital and reminded employers to request deferment whenever they thought it necessary.

Fred Gillies, superintendent of the Inland Steel company, said the situation was increasingly a problem. Two hundred and fifty of his men have been drafted so far.

"It is not so easy to replace key men that it takes more than a year to train," he pointed out. "The best of the older men are all employed, I've found, so the only ones we can draw upon are the young men who are subject to the draft."

He said the problem would not be serious, however, if the selectees were allowed to come home after a year's training.

Not Yet Serious.

Officials of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company in East Chicago reported that the situation was not yet serious, but might be soon. They do not know yet how the problem will be met.

In Gary, the Carnegie-Illinois plant hasn't felt an employment problem. Only a minimum of deferrals have been asked, but steps were taken months ago to meet the problem by reshuffling jobs and training new workers. A total of 2.7 per cent of the men classified in Gary have been deferred for occupational reasons. This is contrasted with 4.2 per cent given deferred classifications for occupational reasons in the rural districts of Lake county and 2 per cent deferred for occupational reasons in the state of Illinois.

Carnegie-Illinois officials say they are asking deferment for workers in jobs which require more than a year's training. This is the majority of their skilled workers, but if an employment crisis should arise they expect to draw upon men who were retired at 65 years of age and are still in good condition.

32,000 Men Employed.

The Gary works now employs 23,000 men and the sheet and tin mill 9,000 workers. At the rate the steel plant is going—producing more than 100,000 tons of open hearth steel a week—a new production record probably will be set this year.

Carnegie-Illinois is operating 11 furnaces in Gary and 10 in South Chicago, where 17,000 men are employed. The company's scredule last week also called for the operation of all coke oven batteries in Gary and Joliet to produce coke for blast furnace requirements of its two big mills.

The Inland Steel company is producing ingots at 101.3 per cent of rated capacity, with five of six blast furnaces and 35 of 36 open hearths in service. The firm has 14,000 workers on its rolls. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has its two blast furnaces, seven of eight open hearths, and its Bessemer converter in operation, and 8,000 men employed.

About 29,000 men are employed in smaller mills and allied plants in South Chicago, Riverdale, Irondale, and Chicago Heights.

CADETS IN SEVEN SCHOOLS TO GET MERIT AWARDS

3 City Units, 4 in Gary Await Reviews.

Army officers making the annual inspection of Chicagoland's 35 high school ROTC units will conclude their tour of the city this week by reviewing the Bowen, Hirsch, and DuSable units on the south side and Horace Mann, Lew Wallace, Emerson, and Tolleston High school units in Gary. Medals won by outstanding cadets in the various units, including 30 CHICAGO TRIBUNE medals for military excellence, will be presented during the inspection ceremonies.

Bowen and Hirsch will be reviewed tomorrow—Bowen at 9 o'clock in Yates stadium, Yates avenue and 82d street, and Hirsch at 1:15 o'clock at Grand Crossing park, 76th street and Ingleside avenue. The four Gary units will be inspected at 1:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon in Gleason park, 35th street and Broadway, in the suburb. DuSable, the last Chicago school on the inspection calendar, will stage its review at 1:15 o'clock Friday at the intersection of 50th and State streets.

Two Inspected Friday.

The two other south side units, at Tilden Technical and Hyde Park High schools, were inspected on Friday. Three south side units, Hirsch, Tilden, and Bowen, are among the 13 Chicago public high schools striving to maintain an "honor" rating this year.

Twenty-one awards will be presented at the inspection of the Hirsch unit, the smallest and one of the best in the city, having won honor ratings three times since its establishment in 1937. ROTC departmental medals will go to the following cadets: Officers' efficiency, Maj. John Cottier; noncommissioned officers efficiency, First Sergeant Albert Noren; band efficiency, Lieut. Richard Powers; marksmanship, Lieut. Howard Powell; recruiting, Private Donald Day, and neatness, Private Joe Spallina and Corporal Allan Hult.

TRIBUNE medals will be presented to the following: [Gold] First Sergeant Albert Noren, Sergt. Allan Pfnister, Corporal Clarence Barnes; [Silver] Private Gerald Hoover. Eaton Priddy American Legion post will present the following medals: [gold] Maj. John Cottier and First Sergeant Ray Wishart, [silver] Capt. Herbert Schultz and Sergt. Phil McMahon, [bronze] Capt. William McDermed and Corporal Robert Deschamps.

Other awards at Hirsch will be presented by the Reserve Officers' association, to Capt. William Christy; the Daughters of the American Revolution, to Capt. William Christy; the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Private William Stewart, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, to Corporal Donald Rose.

Heads List at Bowen.

Capt. Raymond Vesta will head the list of 19 medal winners at the Bowen inspection, receiving the ROTC officers' efficiency medal. Other departmental medals will be presented to Sergt. Raymond Zemrowski, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Maj. Richard Rozynek, marksmanship; First Lieutenant Roy W. Thompson, recruiting; Second Lieutenant Jack Amundsen, Corporal Joseph Walczak and Private Ronald Michalak, neatness.

Second Lieutenant Anton Bartik, Sergt. Burton Peterson, Corporals, Adolph Spirkaucis and Norbert Wysocki, and Private Cyril Olejnik will receive Tribune gold medals. Privates Richard Chochul and Charles W. Wloczewski will receive Tribune silver medals. Other cadets to be decorated are First Lieutenant Robert Kemp, by the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary; Capt. Richard Fogg, by the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Second Lieutenant Edward Steller, by the American Legion auxiliary; First Lieutenant Chester Pieron, by the American Legion post No. 803, and Capt. Alex Cattanach, by the Reserve Officers' association.

17 Awards at Du Sable.

Seventeen awards will be presented at the DuSable inspection. Departmental medals will go to Maj. Frank Crossley, officers' efficiency; Sergt. Montgomery Clemens, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Capt. Lawrence Biggs, band efficiency; First Lieutenant Estee Hunt, marksmanship; Master Sergeant George Sims, recruiting; Capt. Leonard Beatty and Sergt. Howard Machen, neatness.

TRIBUNE medals at DuSable will be awarded to: [Gold] Capt. Vernon Martin, First Lieutenant Frank Greenwood, Second Lieutenant Nathaniel Fulllove, First Sergeants Walter Arnold and Cleo Baker. Private Barnett Skyles will receive a TRIBUNE silver medal. Other awards will be presented by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to Maj. William Gwynn; the American Legion auxiliary, to Maj. Howard R. Scott; the Reserve Officers' association, to Capt. Joseph Young, and the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Capt. Jean Emmons.

Twelve outstanding cadets will receive Tribune medals at the inspection of the Gary schools. Winners at the four schools are as follows: Horace Mann—Gerald Ricketts and George Chadwick [gold], Bryan Maxwell [silver]; Lew Wallace—Don Valo and Stanley Smith [gold], Robert Gibbs [silver]; Tolleston—Leo Yauritis and Nick McDonald [gold], Flody Piochocki [silver]; Emerson—Gerald Kaufman and Robert Ballinger [gold], and Henry Jaske [silver].

Children of Hyde Park Club Prepare for Their Annual Circus

It's time for the annual circus at the Hyde Park Neighborhood club, 1364 East 56th street. All set to provide the show's comedy Saturday afternoon and evening are (left to right) Tony Perakis, Robert Conwell, Clark Painter, and Raymond Clutts. The settlement house encourages the children to create their own skits. Betty Nordgren (left) and Barbara Sorenson, for example, have worked out a hula routine. The boys and girls are aided by volunteer Chicago Teachers college students. One of the most sensational of the circus stunts will be a tumbling act staged by Barbara Lynn (left) and Betty Brooks.

This circus will have animals, too, even if they are phony. Here Wayne Woolworth (left) and John Laster are painting something which will be the show's lion when it is finished. Before the afternoon performance starts, the club's drum and bugle corps will parade thru the neighborhood streets at 2:30 o'clock. Some of its members are Leo Benaim, Richard Petrecca, Donald Mitchell, Isaac Benaim, Dick Williams, and William Cavenagh. Not as well publicized, but just as important to the circus' success are Raymond Laster (left) and Tom Dolan, who cut out decoration designs on the machine saws in the club's woodshop. Currently the club is soliciting volunteer contributions from south siders to meet its 1941 budget.

HYDE PARK 'Y' NEW OFFICERS WILL BE GREETED WEDNESDAY

Warren Sapp.
[Moffett Photo.]

The Hyde Park YMCA will hold its annual installation of chairmen and officers of committees and clubs at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday in the "Y" building, 1400 East 53d street. Warren H. Sapp, chairman of the board of directors, has announced that 200 men and women of the community will outline their work in helping the "Y" for the next year and will dedicate themselves to the new tasks. Present at the dinner will be Dr. Rolland W. Schloerb, pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church, and Frank A. Hathaway, general secretary of the Chicago YMCA.

AMATEUR STAGE GROUP TO NOTE 15TH BIRTHDAY

The Bryn Mawr Players will celebrate their 15th anniversary with the presentation of two plays Friday evening in the Bryn Mawr Community church, 7000 Jeffery avenue. The group was organized in 1926 by Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson, who remained as director, and the Rev. Virgil Foster.

The plays are "Unaccustomed As I Am" and "The Flattering Word." In the former will be Mildred Anderson, Wilfred Blume, Alfred Vernon, Agnes Vernon, and MacCormack McEndree, and in the other play will be Virginia McEndree, Hilary Zimont, Maureen Shadwick, Frank Huckman, and Zoe Hitt.

The new officers also will begin their duties this week. They are Mr. McEndree, president; Joseph Hitt Jr., vice president and business manager; Miss Anderson, recording secretary; Miss Vernon, corresponding secretary; Lee Stair, treasurer, and Vincent Eitzen, stage manager. Mrs. H. M. Paddon is social hostess.

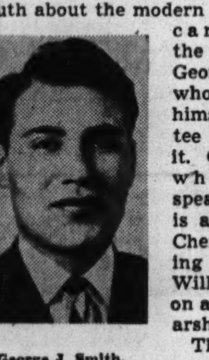
BY PAUL HEALY.



George J. Smith.

It's about time some one told the truth about the modern North American Indian, in the opinion of George J. Smith, who has elected himself a committee of one to do it. George knows whereof he speaks because he is a full blooded Cherokee studying at George Williams college on a unique scholarship.

There are a number of popular notions George likes to debunk. He denies, for instance, that Oklahoma is peopled with Indians who became millionaires after the oil boom or who sit moodily in the sun all day. Moreover, he says that he never heard an Indian say "ugh," that they stopped using war paint 70 years ago, and that they don't like firewater any more than white men do.

Debunks the Glamor.

"As a matter of fact," he laughs, "some persons still imagine a savage looking warrior astride a horse and wearing a beautiful headdress whenever they hear the word 'Indian.' Sometimes they even see a tepee in the background."

George says that actually the Indian is less glamorous but more intelligent. While many are cowboys, many others are working their way thru college in order to be doctors or mechanical engineers. Nevertheless he believes that the boys are handicapped, for the Indian problem today in America "is an extremely complex one."

These are some of the ideas George includes in his lecture—"The American Indian as We Don't Know Him"—which he gives frequently thruout the middle west under the sponsorship of the YMCA. During March he gave 25 lectures before civic groups

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

SURE harbingers of spring on the campus—any campus—are the annual elections of the student governing bodies and honorary societies. Last week Our Towners got their share of elective honors on campuses from Minnesota to Arizona.

Edward Jacobson.

At Carleton college, Northfield, Minnesota, Edward Jacobson, of 1216 Madison park, was one of three upperclassmen elected to Delta Sigma Rho, national honor society in public speaking. He was named a member of the society shortly after returning from the Iowa Invitational Forensic tournament, where the Carleton debate team, of which he is a member, won first place for the second consecutive year. Membership in Delta Sigma Rho is based upon outstanding work in intercollegiate debate or oratory. Young Jacobson received his first training in these arts from his father, Lewis, who is a Chicago attorney.

◆

MORE than 200 Our Towners were present at the recent 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. George Reininga, 442 West 101st street. A good many of them were descendants. The couple boasts of 8 children, 13 grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren living in the Chicago area. Both Mr. Reininga, who is 73 and a retired contractor, and Mrs. Reininga, who is 67, were born in Holland. They were married on May 5, 1891, in Chicago and have lived since then on the south side.

◆

At Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y., Nicholas Bassar, 5310 Sawyer avenue, a junior in civil engineering, was elected to Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, the engineers' equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa.

CHARLES W. PIERCE, retiring teacher of science at Du Sable High school, was honored last week by the faculty, student body, and Parent-Teacher association of the school. Born in La Grange, Ga., Pierce was graduated from Chicago's Armour institute in 1901 and spent his first years as a teacher under the late Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala. He served as a YMCA secretary during the world war and began teaching physics at Wendell Phillips High school in 1922. He has taught at Du Sable since 1935. Pierce resides with his wife at 6244 Champlain avenue.

Charles W. Pierce.

◆

GEORGE PLATZMAN, 7545 Yates avenue, a graduate student at the University of Arizona, in Tucson, was elected an associate member of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity. Platzman received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Chicago last year and is now working for a master's degree in mathematics.

◆

Miss Mary Ann Lund, 5470 Hyde Park boulevard, was elected president of the Student Government association at Rosary college, River Forest, for the coming year. She is a graduate of St. Thomas the Apostle High school and will be a senior in the department of political science next fall.

Du Sable Show Is Version of Draftee Life in Swing

A three act version of a draftee's life—entitled "Selective Service"—will be presented by the Hi-Jinks club of Du Sable High school Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings in the school auditorium. The performances will begin at 8:15 o'clock. A special matinée will be given at 2:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

George Takes the Marbles Plus a Title

Four years ago George Harvey, an 8 year old colored boy, came up from Yazoo, Miss., with a few marbles in his pocket and an itching thumb and forefinger. Last week George won the park district marble championship in competition with 12,000 other boys and thus added to the collection of 2,000 marbles he has won in games this year.

"Ah was just lucky," he comments modestly, "Some boys are as good as I am."

Lost Only One Game.

This, however, does not jibe with the facts. Of nearly 300 games the title holder has played since the season opened in March he has lost only one. Each afternoon after school he sallies forth from his home at 5329 Calumet avenue with exactly six marbles. When he returns he usually has a bag full of new beauties, of which he gives a choice few to his girl friend, Velda Jean Harris, who lives across the hall.

George's advice to aspiring marble champions is simple: "Take your time! Aim carefully or you won't hit your mark." He scorns breathing on the "knuckler" or any other good luck charm and "just shoots."

George a Real Ace.

Some boys, he comments, never will be champions, either because their knuckles aren't strong enough, or simply because they weren't cut out to be marble players. George is so good that if he gets to shoot first it usually means that the game is practically over. This is the first time he ever entered a tournament.

Marbles aren't the main thing in George's life, however. He'd much rather play baseball and make a career of it and he loves to swim. He also plays the harmonica, when his mother insists. He attends sixth grade at the Burke school but drawls, "Ah could do without it." In the tournament he represented Washington park.

Kappa Delta Alumnae.

The south side Alumnæ Association of Kappa Delta Sorority will meet Wednesday evening at the Hayes hotel,

DR. WILLIAM MERRILL WILL SPEAK BEFORE SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Dr. William P. Merrill

Dr. William Pierson Merrill, former Chicago pastor and one of the first ministers to speak before the Chicago Sunday Evening club, will be guest preacher this evening at the 8 o'clock meeting in Orchestra hall. His subject will be, "What Our Country Needs Most." Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club, will preside, assisted by Donald S. McWilliams, vice president.

Dr. Merrill was pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of Chicago from 1905 until 1911 when he became minister of historic Brick Presbyterian church, New York City. He became pastor emeritus in 1938.

Music for the main meeting will be provided by the club choir under the direction of Edgar Nelson. Stanley Martin, organist, will present a recital at 7:50 o'clock.

At the 7 o'clock informal meeting Edgar Nelson will lead the congregation in singing familiar gospel songs. Hudson H. Pittman will give an informal Bible talk.

FLOOD OF LILAC BLOSSOMS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

100,000 Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins.

The 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign was the most successful since the inception of lilac day in 1929.

An estimated 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed during the two days among 25,000 shut-ins in 158 hospitals and institutions in the city. The deluge of blossoms was so great that all of the institutions on the lilac list received their bouquets, and the Tribune trucks visited many of the hospitals a second time.

Prominent in the success of lilac days were the eight railroads which transported the flowers, freight free, to terminal stations in the city where they were picked up by Tribune trucks.

Overflow Into Laps.

Officials of the roads said they had never seen such a profusion of blooms, and told of the bouquets overflowing from the baggage cars into the vestibules of the passenger cars and even into the willing laps of commuters.

Railroads that offered the free use of their trains to lilac growers thruout Chicago's flowerland were: The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and North Western; Pennsylvania; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Chicago, Aurora and Elgin; Rock Island; Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, and the Illinois Central.

Following are the names of some of the railroad men who were instrumental in handling the lilac bouquets on the trains.

Burlington—Agents C. D. Chase, E. E. Dillon, W. A. Stoneberg, C. L. Brusate, J. C. Stoneberg, C. M. Draper, E. R. Freed, and J. C. Read. Train and engine employés were F. E. Gillett, conductor; B. D. Winslow, collector; O. B. Thomas, collector; R. C. Finley, engineer; C. E. Harris, fireman; T. G. Becker, messenger train baggageman.

More Railroad Aids.

North Western—W. S. Gregory, assistant superintendent of baggage, mail and express; F. H. Hemes, trainmaster, Wisconsin division; E. C. Anderson, station master of Chicago terminal; A. W. Everson, night station master; H. R. Koch, superintendent, Wisconsin division, and H. A. Parish, superintendent, Galena division.

Pennsylvania—P. J. Hunter, conductor; W. R. Roach, engineer; C. E. Winemiller, engineer; C. P. Fisher, supervisor.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—J. G. Yahnke, conductor; Joe Melle, brakeman; H. S. Sappington, agent; V. V. Hipsley, agent; M. R. Corcoran, agent.

Aurora and Elgin—Motormen Edward Hogan, F. W. Myers, Wallace Tucker, Alfred Dinan, Edward Barmore, Arthur Lyon, Roy Dolan, and John Morton, dispatcher, Wells street terminal.

Other Willing Helpers.

Rockfl Island—Train No. 280, John Postweiler, conductor; William Sandman, brakeman; Charles Travis, engineer; Floyd Engler, fireman. Train No. 136, Felt Johnson, conductor; John Mulligan, brakeman; Bert Arnold, engineer; Ralph Mosher, fireman.

Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee—Train No. 708, R. B. Brynn, motorman; M. R. Howk, conductor; J. D. Wilbanks, motorman; A. R. Butts, conductor. Train No. 518, J. Wylie, motorman; M. McInerny, conductor. Supervisor of arrangements was F. M. Golden.

Illinois Central—Train No. 360, W. Kircher, conductor; M. Swisk, flagman. Train No. 788, P. Boylan, conductor; A. W. Ingerman, flagman. Train No. 734, W. W. Kenney, conductor; J. M. Young, flagman. Train No. 762, E. A. Dahlin, conductor; O. J. Fieffer, flagman. Movement of trains under the direction of Chief Dispatcher C. O. Richards, Dispatcher M. J. Madden, and Yardmaster Walter Ortel.

EPISCOPAL HOME FOR AGED WILL OPEN ADDITION

Tea Will Be Served to Friends on Tuesday.

The Episcopal Home for the Aged, 5445 Ingleside avenue, will celebrate an addition to its building Tuesday afternoon when the board of managers entertains several hundred friends and supporters of the home at a tea and open house. The 50 year old institution houses 100 residents.

The latest step in improving the three story brick building includes remodeling and enlarging of many of the first floor rooms where the lounge, dining hall, library, and other facilities are located. The latter rooms also have been refurnished.

The home was established by the Rev. Walter Delafield, an Episcopal clergyman, in an old residence at 4327 Ellis avenue. Two years later the home added the house next door to its facilities and two years after that acquired adjacent properties. In June, 1916, the main portion of the present building was erected, thanks to a bequest of $65,000 from the family of George E. Wells, a Chicagoan.

Twenty-four Episcopal churches of the city and suburbs are represented on the board of directors. Miss Bernice Baker is president; Mrs. Frank M. Collins, Mrs. William D. Beck, and Mrs. W. H. Fisk, vice presidents; Mrs. Percival Hart, recording secretary; Mrs. John Leeming, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. R. L. Lapham, treasurer.

SOUTH CHICAGO GIRLS TO STAGE WATER CARNIVAL

South Shore 'Y' to Have Job Finding Clinic.

A girls' water carnival and a vocational guidance institute will be held this week at south side YMCAs. The latter will take place Thursday evening at the South Shore "Y" and the aquatic show will be given Friday and Saturday evenings at the South Chicago "Y."

The aquatic show will be the 6th annual water circus. Outstanding features will be the water ballet by a troupe of 20, the water lily ballet against a musical background, and diving by the aerial artists. Among the 80 performers in the show will be the girls swimming team which won the 1941 city championship.

Queen Is Chosen.

The circus queen will be Miss Marilynne Miller, 10251 Avenue G, intermediate diving and 40 yard back crawl champion. Two of her attendants are Fern Clasen, junior diving and 20 yard breast stroke champion, and Betty Ann Keenan, holder of the midget 20 yard back crawl title.

Other attendants are Violet Kruszka, maid of honor; Rosalie Mintek, Jacqueline Brady, Sallee René Jones, Martha Wilhelm, Harriet Dust, Jacqueline Roberts, and Dorothy Radosevich, crown bearer.

The show is sponsored by the mothers club of the "Y" under the leadership of Mrs. G. A. Anderson, 7958 Burnham avenue, president; Mrs. Robert L. Gordon, 8417 Drexel avenue, vice president, and Mrs. Adolph Dietrich, 10331 Avenue O, secretary. On the committees are Mrs. Fred Babbitt, Mrs. John Radosevich, and Mrs. Leonard Harritt.

Advice on Jobs.

At the South Shore "Y" the vocational guidance institute will be sponsored by the Hunding Hi-Y club for Hi-Y members. Speaker at the first meeting of the institute Thursday will be John Egan, placement director of Harper High school, who will talk on "Vocational Fields for the 1941 Senior." The second meeting will take place on June 5.

John Silsdorf, 7350 Phillips avenue, president of the Hunding Hi-Y, is general chairman of the institute. He is being assisted by Andrew J. Reed Jr., executive secretary of the South Shore "Y," and John Allen, chairman of the Hi-Y committee. One hundred Hi-Y members have registered to attend the institute.

Georgette, who has heart disease, was thus graduated from St. Frances de Sales High school tho she hasn't attended class since before Christmas. She lives at 10325 Avenue L.

MOTHERS UNITE TO HELP BOWEN FOOTBALL TEAM

Safety, School Spirit Among Their Aims.

Bowen High school will have an enthusiastic football team next fall if the players' mothers have their way. The school's former football mothers' group, which has been reorganized into the Bowen Football Backers' club, is pledged to return the grid game to its former glory at Bowen and has asked the fathers to assist.

Mrs. Neil Booth, 8823 Dante avenue, who admits she cheers at the wrong times during a game, is president of the new club. She says the mothers hope to make football a safer and more attractive game for local boys, including her son, the team's quarter back. One of the innovations will be the distribution of programs at each game bearing the players' pictures, which is designed to please the boys and thrill the girls.

Primarily the club intends to purchase accident insurance for all players, retain a physician to be present at every game, give a banquet for the players at the end of the season, provide better equipment, and encourage South Chicagoans to attend games. The club is selling memberships to residents of the community in order to help meet expenses.

"Next year Coach Lloyd Pekelsma expects to have some very good material and if we can get the community to support the team we may have excellent results," Mrs. Booth said. "We've got to stimulate the adults first of all and thus encourage the players. As the initial step we are inviting all the parents to the first spring practice game."

The club has 25 members and is growing. Mrs. A. C. Ivy is treasurer and Mrs. George Hedges is secretary.

FIVE ROOM HOME IS DESIGNED FOR EASY EXPANSION

Space Over Garage Left for Bedroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Many an engaging variant of the five room colonial home, with individual treatment of exterior and interior aid details, keeps appearing around us.

Such a home has been built at 1107 Elm street, Glenview, and very carefully studied and planned that it should meet modern needs and at the same time possess the spirit of the traditional. The owners are Mrs. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand and the house was designed especially to function smoothly and satisfactorily for them in all details.

The architects, Whalley and Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue, incorporated many pleasant features in this five room home.

First of all they devised ways and means whereby the house already has the capacity of a seven room home—and there's still space to grow.

Workroom in Garage.

A large two car garage was placed back of the outdoor screened living porch, and half of this garage was converted into a workroom for Mr. Weigand. Then in the basement there is a pine paneled recreation room and powder room. And over the garage there has been allotted space for a future bedroom and bath.

The exterior of the home is brick veneer painted white and white siding with wrought iron railings at the entrance door. The roof is wood shingle laid with staggered butts. The interior is not quite the formal colonial plan, since the stairhall is at the left of the entrance. The living room, at the right, is some 25 feet by 14 feet.

Plate Glass Bay Window.

It has a gracefully designed plate glass bay window which commands a fine view. Indeed the house was oriented with this view in mind. And the fireplace wall with its modified colonial treatment has distinction and charm. This wall is of V-jointed pine boards painted white with recessed shelves and cupboards on each side of the fireplace.

The kitchen is U-shape, with linoleum floor, walls, work tops, and wood cabinets. The rear hall entry leads to the garage and work shop and to the kitchen and basement. The forced warm air heating system is fired by gas.

The bathroom walls are of ceramic tile in a buff shade.

The home has been built with meticulous attention to good construction. All the gutters, downspouts, and flashings are of copper and there are two thicknesses of blanket insulation in the walls and batt insulation in the ceiling.

The master bedroom is spacious—13 feet by 18 feet with two large closets.

MOTHER GOOSE 'SCREAMLINED' TO BE OFFERED

"Mother Goose's Screamlined Edition" will be presented by the auxiliary of St. Cyril's school, 64th street and Blackstone avenue, Tuesday and Wednesday evening in the school auditorium. John Wideman will be King Cole and Mrs. John Gallagher will be Mother Goose on a scooter.

Most of the Mother Goose characters will be represented. R. L. Marino, John Gallagher, and Irwin Sommer will do the Swan dance. Cochairmen of the project are Mrs. William Scanlon and Mrs. N. N. Morrison.

The show is under the direction of Jane Hill Stettner, who wrote several original melodies for the production. Proceeds will go for scholarships and general welfare work.

Inventor to Talk.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, May 19.

Practically all plants can be planted in their outdoor beds from this time on. If weather conditions are unsettled, delay planting tender waterlilies until conditions are better even tho it is delayed until the first week in June.

Tender bedding plants include many kinds of plants; many of them make showy patches in the borders and some are useful for cutting. Cannas, and especially such varieties as the President, a red; King Humbert, red with bronze foliage, and Yellow King Humbert, green foliage and yellow flowers, are all good for city gardens. They require a rich soil with plenty of water when established.

Tuesday, May 20.

Old geranium plants, those that have been stored in the cellar over winter, should be cut back before planting. They flower best in a soil that is not too rich and require less water than many other plants.

Good edging annuals are the dwarf harmony marigold, lobelia, sweet alyssum, portulaca, ageratum, dusty miller, nasturtium, petunia, candytuft, annual phlox. Thin the seedlings where necessary.

Wednesday, May 21.

One of the finest strong growing annuals is the castor bean. It has fine tropical foliage and likes a hot situation, with water as needed during summer. A good display may be enjoyed by using solid beds of verbenas planted about 12 inches apart.

Use plenty of annual vines to cover bare walls or to screen unsightly objects. Quick growing vines include the morning glories and moonvines. Soak the seed over night. The variegated hop is excellent to cover the garage.

Thursday, May 22.

Leave the foliage on the tulips that have flowered. A drop or two of gasoline in the crown of dandelions will kill them. Use weedkiller on gravel walks and avoid much labor. Two applications should suffice. Do not allow it to injure the grass along the walks.

Friday, May 23.

Prune the early flowering shrubs, such as the goldenbell, after they have have flowered. Cut back the poinsettias and repot them for next Christmas bloom. Plunge in a sunny place during summer. Spray roses to eradicate insects and prevent disease.

Collect all rose leaves and destroy them as they fall to the ground.

Saturday, May 24.

Goldfish are indispensable in the pool for they keep down larva of various kinds, but placing them in a newly constructed pool may cause trouble to the fish. Before placing the fish in the pool be sure to scrub the interior and fill and empty it several times.

It is wise to soak the pool for several days and then scrub. The newly used lime in the cement may be released and be dissolved in the water. A dozen good sized fish in a fair sized pool will suffice.

Good plant oxygenators for the pool are the bladderwort, various arrowhead of sagittaria. Other water plants include the paper reed or papyrus, cattail, bulrush, water hyacinth, water poppy, floating gem, floating heart and others equally desirable.

Barbara Luddy Only Four Feet Ten Inches.

Barbara Luddy, star of "The Great Gunns," new W-G-N-Mutual series heard each Thursday at 9:30 p. m., is radio's proof that good things oftentimes come in small packages. Barbara is petite [she's 4 feet 10 inches] and demure, but her acting carries with it an emotional impact that listeners do not soon forget.

Barbara insists that she's can't be glamorized. She doesn't wear slinky clothes. She stays away from night clubs. Her name is never in the gossip columns.

Barbara's apartment on Chicago's near north side is proof of her skill as an interior decorator. It contains many samples of Luddy needlepoint. She knits skillfully, for the British war relief. She is taking piano lessons. No glamor there. But——

Last year she was chosen as radio's outstanding dramatic actress in the Movie-Radio Guide poll. This year she finished second to Helen Hayes.

Miss Luddy's nickname is "Biddy." It was given to her by her mother years ago, because it seemed to describe a roly-poly girl who was very tiny. The name has stuck for while Barbara has lost her childhood plumpness, she's aything but tall.

In "The Great Gunns," hilarious story of a theatrical family, Miss Luddy is cast as Veronica Gunn, tempestuous leading lady of Broadway. The part requires a flair for comedy as well as for intensely dramatic acting, and Barbara fits it perfectly.

Bret Morrison, heard with Miss Luddy for the last several years on "The First Nighter" series on another network, is co-starred with her in "The Great Gunns." Morrison has the rôle of Christopher Gunn, husband of Veronica, a matinée idol who realizes he is God's gift to the stage.

Producer William A. Bacher has assembled an all-star cast of W-G-N Players to support the leads. Among them are Bob Jellison, Loretta Poynton, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Marvin Mueller, Herb Butterfield, Phil Lord, and John Goldsworthy. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra supply the musical background.

The third new character to be introduced on "The Great Gunns" since its debut about two weeks ago is that of Winchy Walters. The rôle will be taken by Forrest Lewis, Chicago radio actor.

Lewis has spent the last 8 years in radio, coming from 15 years experience on the stage. He has often played with the star of "The Great Gunns," Miss Luddy, on the First Nighter programs. He has also played 25 different characters in "Scattergood Baines" during the last three years. Forrest made his first appearance in radio on W-G-N in 1933 when he won a rôle in "Uncle Quin's Scalawags."

FAMILY GROUP TO APPEAR WITH STEELMAKERS

A five piece orchestra, composed of a Wheeling steel company employé and his children, will be guests on the Musical Steelmakers' show on W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. today.

Ernest Mitan, a die maker, heads the group. His children are Virginia, saxophonist; Matilda, accordionist; Ernest Jr., violinist, and Edward, clarinetist. They will play a Polish polka, "In a Little Grove."

Other numbers will be regular orchestra's presentation of "Riding on a Rainbow, "Oh, Look at Me Now," and "Because of You." Regina Colbert will sing "Do I Worry?" and Ardenne White, tenor, will offer "You Walk By."

Looks Southward

Patricia Dunlap, star of the W-G-N serial, "Bachelor's Children," heard at 10:30 a. m. Monday thru Friday, is studying Spanish these days with an eye on the possibility of a future South American visit.

CITIZENS' RALLY PRESENTS FOUR SCHOOLS ON W-G-N

Four schools under the supervision of the Society of the Sacred Heart, a Catholic order, will be featured on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program over W-G-N at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The schools to be honored on the program sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE are Barat college and the Academy of the Sacred Heart, both of Lake Forest, and the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Hardy Preparatory School for Boys, both of Chicago.

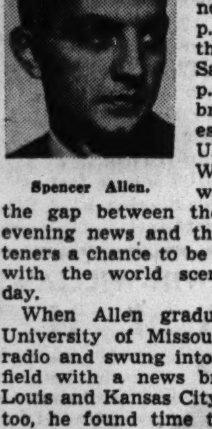
Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago diocese, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies of these broadcasts which are dedicated to the youth of America.

A singing choir group from the Sacred Heart academy directed by Prof. Arthur Granquist and a verse speaking choir from Barat college, conducted by Miss Anna May Kawekotte, will participate.

"Jerry" and "Jimmy," portrayed by Dorothy Gregory and Eddie Firestone, will be back with their "Interscholastic News" and some choice bits of information on just what is going on in the lighter departments of secondary educational circles.

W-G-N TO START MIDAFTERNOON NEWS TOMORROW

Spencer Allen, one of W-G-N's veteran newscasters, is starting another series of up to the minute news broadcasts tomorrow. On the air in an afternoon spot—2:15 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday at 1:15 p. m.—Allen will broadcast the latest A. P. and U. P. news on W-G-N at a time which will fill in the gap between the morning and evening news and thus give the listeners a chance to be in close contact with the world scene thruout the day.



Spencer Allen.

When Allen graduated from the University of Missouri, he got into radio and swung into the journalism field with a news broadcast on St. Louis and Kansas City stations. Here, too, he found time to deviate from his regular duties and managed to do some continuity writing and program producing.

MURDOCH GIVES HOT TIP ON HESS TO ALAN SCOTT

It's Month in Advance of News Story.

The mysterious Murdoch, apparently a character with whom Alan Scott, W-G-N news broadcaster, discusses his programs, is responsible for a big increase in the mail Scott has been receiving from listeners in the last few days.

Murdoch.

For Murdoch called the turn on the Rudolf Hess incident a month before it happened.

Scott refuses to say if there is, or is not, an actual Murdoch. Interrogators around the W-G-N studios haven't been able to learn the secret.

On the broadcast of April 9 Scott said:

"Murdoch came thru with one of his crazy hunches tonight at dinner. He says Germany is due for a fearful sensation within the Reich itself. Probably it will come off within a week. He didn't give me any further details except to say there would be a 'casualty' involving some one very high up in the Nazi framework."

On April 16, Murdoch's week was up and Scott proceeded to give his shadowy colleague a terrific ribbing on the air. Nothing had happened.

Then this week came the flight of Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland, and his injury in a parachute landing. The case bore out Murdoch's [or Scott's] prediction.

Scott's news programs are heard on W-G-N at 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. and again at 9 p.m. Scott refreshingly admits he had no inside sources of information in Europe. His analyses of developments are among the most widely followed on the air.

Scott has maintained a consistently prophetic tone on his broadcasts from the Italian invasion of Greece t othe attack on Jugo-Slavia and the collapse of the Greeks.

PLAN 90 MINUTES OF ASCAP MUSIC ON W-G-N TONIGHT

"Ascap's Salute to Mutual," a 90 minute program hailing the return to the Mutual Broadcasting System of Ascap music, will be heard on W-G-N from 9 to 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The Mutual network recently signed an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, making available more than 1,250,000 compositions which had been off the air since Jan. 1. The first Ascap music on W-G-N was broadcast last Tuesday night.

A half hour of tonight's Ascap salute will originate at W-G-N, half an hour at WOR in New York, and half an hour at KHJ, Hollywood. Among famous composers of popular music who will speak are Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin, and Cole Porter. Their music and the music of other beloved composers will be featured.

AMERICAS SPEAK OFFERS PROGRAM FROM ARGENTINA

The land of gauchos and cattle ranches will be visited today by the Pan-American good will program, "The Americas Speak." Presented in cooperation with Rotary International, the broadcast will be heard over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Twenty minutes of the show will originate in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Ten Minutes will come from the W-G-N studios.

The speaker from Buenos Aires will be Manuel Gomez, former head of the National bank, and now controller of the Federal Reserve system of Argentina. Others will be Prof. Ernesto Nelson, authority on youth problems; Manuel Ventrone cattle breeder, and Dr. Rodolfo N. Luque, director of La Prensa, one of the most influential newspapers in South America. A program of native Argentine music will complete the Buenos Aires section of the broadcast.

In Chicago, Vincent Pelletier, "The Americas Speak" narrator, will interview Señor Juan Roger, South American traveler. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, directs the series.

New Stunt Thriller.

"Danger Is My Business," a new 15 minute thriller on which movie stunt men, circus acrobats, and wild animal trainers, will describe the adventures of their everyday work, will start on W-G-N and Mutual Monday, June 2. The program will be heard each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m.

Helen Hayes Appears in 'Late Christopher Bean'

The Helen Hayes Theater of the Air will present "The Late Christopher Bean" at 9:30 tonight over WBBM. Miss Hayes will play the rôle of "Abby." Mark Warnow is music director.

DEAF MUTE CAST TO GIVE JUNGLE FANTASY MAY 27

Rhythmic Music to Aid Negro Pantomime.

Negro deaf mutes who make up the Silent Social club at Madden park have found the primitive drama an ideal outlet for creative expression. The club will climax its activities when its presents "The White Goddess of the Congo," with musical accompaniment, Tuesday evening, May 27, in the park fieldhouse, 3800 Rhodes avenue.

Club members, who wrote, directed and act in the play, are depending on their highly developed tactile senses for producing the sound effects. Two members can play the piano and the music of the drums is supplied by seven young men who sit in a circle and pound and slap the floor in rhythm. What little dialog is required is done in the deaf mute finger pantomime.

Told by Gestures.

The drama, which concerns young love in the jungle, was designed to afford maximum opportunities for straight pantomime, melodramatic action, and exotic dancing. Much of the story is told by the players' broad gestures and mobile expressions, tho a scrip is necessary to understand the specific details of the plot.

Principals in the fantasy are Suba, "a pretty fair graceful young lady with long hair," according to the plot, and her lover, Abi, "a young man with a tiger skin wrapped around his body . . . a very frightful young man." The plot is complicated by "the jealous Kebo, a very stout man," and finally unraveled by the generous white goddess, who pours her magic on Kebo in one of his fights with Abi. The couple are happily reunited and Kebo is thrown to the alligators, who are offstage.

Excitement among the cast is considerably heightened in the second act at the entrance of the Congo dancers—five girls who do a savage dance around the fire. The tempo of the drums and the dancers is increased when the devil dancer, in red socks, appears.

Players in Cast.

Miss Louise Thomas plays the rôle of the white goddess. Bernard Vann is Abi, Miss Florence Hunt is Suba, Chester White is Kebo, and Miss Geraldine Ducas is the devil dancer. The dancers are Mrs. Cleo Vann, who wrote the play; Mrs. Erma Hunt, Miss Grace Connelly, Mrs. Rosie Easter, and Mrs. Mary Baugh.

The drummers are John Morris, Jr., Robert Brown, Reynold Hutson, Fred Nither, Henry Williams, Leslie Jones, and Earther Green. Miss Ruth Reese directs the dances and Bernard Vann and Earther Green direct the play. K. A. Bristol, park supervisor, will be master of ceremonies.

The club has 80 members between 16 and 50 years old, including Ralph Hunt, his wife and two daughters. Two-thirds of them were educated at the Jacksonville School for the Deaf and many attended Parker High school. The group meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

PUBLIC SERVICE MALE CHORUS TO OFFER CONCERT

The second annual concert of the Public Service Male chorus will take place in the Roosevelt High school auditorium in East Chicago at 8:15 o'clock this evening. The group was twice a winner at the Chicago Tribune Chicagoland Music festival.

The chorus is composed of 36 employés of the Calumet division of the Northern Indiana Public Service company. Included are plant and station operators, salesmen, accountants, storekeepers, clerks, messengers, laborers, credit men, auditors, inspectors, department heads, technical experts, meter readers, engineers, and draftsmen.

Awaits Army Service.

Noel B. Gerson, director of the W-G-N talent division, who holds a lieutenant's commission in the reserve corps, will go into service June 2 as aid to the assistant chief of staff in charge of intelligence at 6th corp area headquarters in Chicago.

A Reporter Learns to Drive

* * *

This is the fourth in a series on a reporter's experiences in learning to drive.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The solo drive which started lesson five in the Safeway Driving school series brought the first occasion for use of the dual control pedals by Instructor J. P. McClenahan.

A little too self-evident, I "sailed" thru the hazards of Evanston traffic with nary a slip and then ruined my record by trying a left turn into traffic without checking on oncoming cars. If Mr. McClenahan hadn't slammed on the brakes on his side of the car, chances are that we would have been struck amidship.

Takes Lessons in Parking.

The rest of lesson five and most of lesson six were devoted to parking practice. The trunk of each Safeway training car houses a set of black and white striped parking markers which are set up in the practice area to denote vacant parking spaces. Each marker represents the front or rear fender of a parker car and the problem is to squeeze into the parking space without touching the markers.

Use of hand signals is one of the most important steps in the parking maneuvers. Second in importance is a careful gauge of the size of the space.

Parking starts when the rear bumper of your car is exactly opposite that of the car ahead of you. Shift into reverse and slipping the clutch so that the car moves very slowly, turn the wheel sharply to the right. When the front of the car reaches a 40 to 45 degree angle with the curb, straighten the front wheels and continue backing until the front bumper is exactly opposite the rear bumper of the car ahead.

How to Finish Parking.

The left rear wheel should now be one and a half feet farther out from the curb than the front left wheel of the car in back. Continue backing slowly, turning the wheel quickly to the left, bringing the front of the car in towards the curb. Straighten the wheels quickly and you're parked.

Both the driving school and the Chicago Motor club guarantee this parking system and from the experience I had in lessons five and six I know that it eliminates most parking woes. Leaving the parking space is simple if traffic is checked carefully before any move is made and if speed is kept to a minimum.

Bethany Church Services on Chicagoland Hour Today

The Chicagoland Church hour, W-G-N's public service program bringing transcribed church services into the homes of Chicagoland, will visit the Bethany church at Paulina street and Cullom avenue, today. The broadcast from the Bethany church will be heard from 9 to 10 a. m. Founded 45 years ago, the Bethany church, a branch of the Evangelical and Reformed communion, is now under the pastorship of the Rev. Henry W. Dinkmeyer, speaker on next Sunday's church hour.

Models for Show

Some of the mannequins at the semi-annual Hyde Park High school fashion show Tuesday afternoon will be Virginia Bennett, 5807 Blackstone avenue; Myrtle Leach, 1370 East 54th street; Sydney Strack, 907 East 55th street, and Mary Brux, 5432 Ingleside avenue. Fifty girls will model different types of clothes.

GEORGE J. SMITH PAINTS INDIAN IN TRUE COLORS

Debunks Popular Idea of His People.

in southwestern Iowa, five of them in one day. Occasionally he illustrates his talks with a headdress and moccasins. Once, he says, he had a complete outfit, but that was before he started loaning it to white men for costume shows.

Visits 41 States.

George, who has traveled in 41 states, came to George Williams college in the fall of 1939 because he wanted to specialize in boys' work and then bring YMCA training to the Indiana reservations. The college, which is interested in establishing such a liaison with the reservations, granted him a new type of scholarship.

"I hope," he explains, "the result of this plan is a better relationship between the United States government and the boys on the reservation. By working with the boys from a more sympathetic viewpoint, I expect to organize groups for vocational guidance and for other extracurricular activities. I think I will be able to get closer to them than white men or than Indians not professionally trained in boys' work."

George was born in Tahlequah, Okla., which means "Two Is Enough." The name "Smith" was contributed by an Englishman who married into his family about a century ago. The Cherokee nation, he points out, is the only North American tribe which had a written language of its own.

How to Deter Crime.

The language has 86 characters and George himself prefers English. He also says that his tribe's government in Georgia after the revolutionary war was a model democracy. There was practically no crime, for example, because the punishment for stealing a pig was hanging.

George was educated in grade and high schools maintained by the government and then attended Bacone Junior college, the only college in the United States founded for Indians. After graduation he traveled to various parts of the country, then did YMCA work in Iowa. During 1938-'39 he was employed by the "Y's" North Central area as counselor on the Sioux reservation at Pine Ridge, S. D.

Now, in his spare time, he works for the Howell Neighborhood house, the South Shore "Y," and Prof. R. B. Merrill, 5745 Harper avenue, with whom he boards.

W-G-N and Mutual to Carry Knudsen's Address Today

The address of William S. Knudsen, head of the office of production management, at the "I Am an American" celebration in Soldiers' field today will be broadcast exclusively over W-G-N and the Mutual network. Knudsen's address over the Mutual network is scheduled from 3 to 3:30 p. m. It will be recorded by W-G-N and broadcast from 7 to 7:30 p. m., making it available to the Chicagoland evening audience.

Leonard Keller Returns to Chicago and W-G-N

In 1923, at the age of 12 years, Leonard Keller gave his first concert, appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Ten years later, he returned to Chicago as the director of his own band—a jazz band. Now he is making another of his periodic visits to Chicago and is heard every evening except Monday over W-G-N and the Mutual network. Keller started studying the violin at 5. At 17 he won the Juilliard Foundation Scholarship, competing with contestants from the entire country.

JEWISH YOUTHS TO RALLY TODAY IN K. A. M. TEMPLE

Will Discuss Problems at Round Tables.

Jewish youths from six congregations will rally at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at K. A. M. temple, 50th street and Drexel avenue. Youth groups from Sinai, Isaiah Israel, South Side Hebrew, South Shore, and Rodfei Zedek congregations will cooperate with the K. A. M. Youth council in presenting the program.

Round table discussions will be held on the following topics: "Youth and Economics," led by A. A. Livermore, director of the Jewish Vocational service; "Youth and Problems of Social Adjustments in High Schools and Colleges," led by Rabbi Maurice Pekarsky, director of the Hillel foundation at Northwestern university; "Youth and Religion," led by Rabbi Martin Weitz, Kenosha, Wis., and "Youth and Social Consequences of the War," led by Prof. S. William Halperin of the University of Chicago.

At 6 o'clock there will be a dinner served by the K. A. M. temple youth committee and at 7:30 o'clock there will be a generad massmeeting open to residents of south side communities. Guest speaker will be Dr. Abram L. Sachar, national director of the Hillel Foundation.

◆

The south side district of the American Jewish congress will meet at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow in the Chicago Beach hotel. Tanya Berman will review "Random Harvest," by James Hilton.

◆

The South Shore temple sisterhood will give theater parties Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week at the Jeffery theater, 71st street and Jeffery avenue.

◆

The brotherhood of Temple Isaiah Israel will hold its annual dinner and installation of officers on the roof of the Sherry hotel Wednesday evening. Rabbi Morton M. Berman will install the following officers: Alvin Kramer, president; Bertram Moss, vice president; Robert L. Shapiro, vice president; Julius Lowenstern, recording secretary; Leo Mayer, corresponding secretary; Edward Astrof, financial secretary, and Irwin Marx, treasurer.

◆

The Rodfei sisterhood's mother and daughters luncheon will take place tomorrow at the Hotel Shoreland. Guest speaker will be Dr. A. L. Sachar. Entertainment will be supplied by Sorrelle Levitt, 12 year old violin player. Mrs. Maurice Goldblatt is president of the sisterhood and Mrs. Frank Weinstein is chairman of the affair.

PARKS PREPARE FOR NEW OUTDOOR SEASON OF PLAY

Activities Are Listed for South Sector.

Vacation activities are available to all Chicagoans who enroll in the park district's spring and summer program. The parks are providing recreational leisure time pursuits, sports, and games thruout the summer, according to George T. Donoghue, general superintendent.

The program is designed to provide suitable activities for every one. All ages of school children, the various employed groups, and housewives are accommodated in plans that include archery construction and shooting, puppetry, baseball, and "one, two, three, O'Leary."

Plan Baseball School.

Parks without fieldhouses are to have a new program wherein there will be group games, drills, artcrafts, puppetry, toy play, story telling, and similar activities. A baseball school will be conducted in more than 50 parks thruout the city, and boys of junior, intermediate, and senior classes will receive free instruction. The juniors are 9 to 14; intermediates, 15 to 20, and seniors, 20 or more. Jack Sheehan, a professional ball player for 25 years and third baseman for the world's champion Brooklyn team in 1920, is in charge of the park baseball program.

Nature recreation groups will be on the summer schedule. Boys and girls will study by planting flowers and vegetables in the plots set aside on the park grounds. They also will study bird and animal habits and collect nature materials for making ornaments and decorations.

In South Side Parks.

Following are activities scheduled for south side parks.

For tennis enthusiasts courts are provided at Armour square, Avalon, Bessemer, Burnham, Calumet, Grand Crossing, Jackson, Madden, Mann, Russell square, Trumbull, Tuley and Washington.

For softball teams diamonds are located at Armour square, Avalon, Bessemer, Calumet, Grand Crossing, Hardin square, Madden, Mann, Russel square, Trumbull, Tuley, and Washington parks.

Regulation baseball diamonds are available at Avalon, Bessemer, Calumet, Grand Crossing, Grant, Mann, Tuley, and Washington parks.

Horseshoe courts are provided at Armour Square, Avalon, Bessemer, Calumet, Grand Crossing, Grant, Hardin Ssuare, Mann, Russell Square, Tuley, and Washington.

Toy lending centers are located at Bessemer, Lyman, Trumbull, and Madden parks. These centers will be open during the summer season from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The children will be permitted to take toys out of doors for play instead of being confined to the indoor playrooms.

Ingleside Church.

The Pittsfield, Ill., Community High School Commercial club will be guests of the Ingleside Avenue Methodist church this morning.

Bride This Month

Miss Jane Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, 6712 Ridgeland avenue, will be married on May 29 to Norman P. Boysen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Boysen, 2304 East 77th street. The wedding will take place at St. Laurence church.

Festival Soloist

Eileen Whiting, 7530 Champlain avenue, will be a soloist at the sixth annual Hirsch High school music festival Thursday and Friday evenings in the school auditorium.

LOSES HIS MONEY, BUT NOT ABILITY TO MAKE LIVING

Good Job Brings More, Says Woodworker.

"I don't have to look for work, it looks for me," says John H. Grenier, who describes himself as "up in years" and operates his own woodworking shop at 3324 West 63d street. He explains that he doesn't necessarily do better work than any one else—thus ruling out the better mousetrap story—he just simply does a good job. He believes his shop and his business prove a man can still shift for himself in this country. Grenier can speak from experience. He was past 60 when he lost his life's savings in a bank failure a decade ago.

"I had $8,000 in checks out when that bank went under," he said. "Judgments were filed against me. I had to go thru bankruptcy. I had been doing well in the general contracting business. My business had grown so big that I had to take in a partner. Then everything went smash, but here I am supporting myself again."

Why Worry, He Insists.

Losing his money hasn't interfered with Grenier's faith in humanity. He insists, "I've never done a good turn yet without getting it back threefold, and if I've been beaten by one man, two help me. And anyhow, a man has comparatively few needs. If he can supply those for himself why worry about money that was lost 10 years ago?"

Grenier's little shop is lined with vises and woodworking tools. He has saws for cutting out an arch over a garden gate, for cutting frames for screens—odd sizes to fit pantry windows—or for fixing over an old picture frame to fit a new diploma.

A potbellied stove with its name, "Jacob's Art," raised on the door stands at one side of the shop, and next to it there's an old fashioned reclining chair mounted on rockers. A coffee pot, big white cup, and thick saucer are handy.

Bowlers Like Him.

Harry Travis, 75, "sort of stays around and helps," because he, too, prefers activity to "watching the days go by." Travis is a little deaf, so the shop radio plays at full volume.

Grenier hopes to keep on working for years yet. He has achieved a community reputation for good luck to the extent that the bowling teams fight for his sponsorship at the beginning of the season. The team he roots for always seems to wind up in first place.

St. Sabina Society Plans Scholarship Fund Party

St. Sabina Altar and Rosary society will sponsor the first annual party to establish and maintain a scholarship fund, at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Community center, 78th street and Racine avenue. The fund will be used to give two high school scholarships each year. Mrs. William Hurley, 8029 Ada street, is chairman.

MUSIC FESTIVAL WILL BE OFFERED BY BOWEN HIGH

All groups of the music department at the school will combine to produce the annual music festival at Bowen High school Thursday and Friday evenings.

One of the highlights will be the male quartet, consisting of Andrew, William, Horace and John Ivy, singing "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes" and "Lawd, You Made the Night Too Long." Andrew Ivy also will be soloist with the mixed chorus, which will offer "Regina Coeli" [Lotli], "Dark Waters" [James], "My Bonny Lass" [Bottomley] and "Sanctus" [Gounod].

The girls' chorus will feature solos by Lorraine Garbo, Constance Maragos and Harriet Oskierko under the direction of Miss Lillian Pope. The girls' chorus from the branch also will be heard, directed by Miss Irene Collins.

The orchestra will play "The Swan" [Saëns], "Pizzicato Polka" [Strauss] and "Prelude to Act 3, Lohengrin" [Wagner], and the Bowen band will play "My Hero" [Alford], "Finlandia" [Sibelius] and "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair" [Foster].

"Ave Maria" will be sung by Constance Maragos as the seventh number on the program.

BARAT COLLEGE NEXT ON W-G-N CITIZENS SHOW

Keeps Traditions of Order's Founder.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Spacious lawns in new green, lilac lanes, cherry branches in white bloom, gardens whose brown rock ledges are veiled with anemonies blue as Our Lady's mantle.

This, in Maytime, 45 green acres smiling under the sun or washed with silver rain, is Barat College of the Sacred Heart.

It is to Barat college of Lake Forest, founded by one of the pioneer Catholic teaching orders in this city, that THE TRIBUNE will dedicate its next program in the "Citizens of Tomorrow" radio series. These secondary and elementary schools also conducted in this area by the Society of the Sacred Heart—the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Lake Forest and the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Hardey Preparatory School for Boys in Chicago—are to participate in the half-hour recorded broadcast, which goes on the air from W-G-N at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night. The program in the studio is at 4:30 o'clock. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, is to be the guest speaker.

Society Founded in 1800.

Essentially a modern college, Barat yet derives its distinctive character from the experiences gathered and the traditions built by an order that has been devoted for more than a century to the higher education of women. It takes its name from the foundress of the Sacred Heart society, Saint Madeleine Sophie Barat.

A woman of extraordinary religious fervor and intellectual attainment, Mother Barat started her society in Paris in 1800, at a time when France was still trembling from the Reign of Terror, when not a convent or monastery remained in the land, and it meant prison or death for a priest or a nun to venture out garbed in the habit of a religious order.

The history of the society in Chicago dates back to 1858 when a small community of Sacred Heart religious, headed by Mother Margaret Galwey, opened an academy in a rented house on Wabash avenue. Within a few months the school was moved to a frame home at Illinois avenue and Rush street. In the spring of 1860 a convent was erected on Taylor street in the new Jesuit parish of the Holy Family.

A 'Select School.'

Forty years passed. They were the daughters and granddaughters of the first students who now sat in the "select school" of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart, struggling over Latin translations and French verbs.

But populations shift in a young city. By the turn of the century the character of Holy Family parish had undergone a change. In 1904 the West Taylor street school was transferred to the present site of Barat college in Lake Forest.

For 15 years the school was operated as a junior college. In 1919, reorganized on the lines of the system of secondary schools and colleges that had developed in America, a four year liberal arts college was established.

Kept to Objectives.

But, for all the modern innovations, the school has never deviated from the original objectives of the foundress—to provide an education emphasizing the importance of general culture, predominantly literary, based on a strong foundation of philosophical principles.

Elaine McDonnell of the senior class and the school pets, Tatters and Patches, take a walk down a Maytime road that winds along the ravine and meanders across the campus of Barat college of the Sacred Heart near Lake Forest. The college, two academies and a boys' preparatory grade school conducted by the Society of the Sacred Heart in Lake Forest and Chicago are to be the guest schools Tuesday night on a "Citizens of Tomorrow" radio broadcast from the W-G-N studio.

KIWANIS PARTY TO RAISE FUNDS FOR NEEDY YOUTH

The North Shore Kiwanis club will hold a charity program Wednesday evening, May 28, at the Edgewater Beach hotel to raise funds for needy and handicapped youngsters in the Uptown district.

A beauty contest at which an Uptown queen will be chosen is to be included on the program. Plans for the festival are being arranged by the Kiwanis club and the Health and Sunshine Club of Uptown Chicago, a Kiwanis subsidiary.

Manas M. Torcom, president of the health club and director of the Kiwanis club, is general chairman of the arrangements committee. Mrs. Robert R. Reder and Mrs. Torcom are co-chairmen of the ladies' committee.

National College Children Provide Flag for School

A new flag flies from a new flagstaff at the National College of Education in Evanston. They are a gift from the Children's school, where the money to purchase them was raised by holding pet shows and magicians' demonstrations and selling pennants. Formal presentation will be made at the annual Children's school field day Saturday afternoon. A program of games and sports, with ribbon awards for the winners, is planned by a committee headed by Pater Matthiessen of 217 South Linden avenue, Highland Park.

Central Players Will Give 'Knickerbocker Holiday'

Maxwell Anderson's "Knickerbocker Holiday," a two act musical comedy about life in 17th century New Amsterdam, will be enacted this evening at the Goodman theater by the Central Group Theater players.

RE-ELECT H. M. HUXLEY TO BE PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO CHURCH CLUB

Henry M. Huxley.

Reëlection of Henry M. Huxley as president has been announced by the Church Club of Chicago, Episcopal layman's organization. G. Franklin Richards has been returned to the treasurer's post, an office he has filled for several years. Both men are residents of Evanston. Mr. Huxley is an attorney and has been head of the Evanston Community chest campaign.

Robert E. Kenyon Jr., 655 Junior terrace, succeeds Stuart E. Ullmann of Lake Forest as secretary of the club, Mr. Ullmann retiring to take a seat on the board of directors.

Others from the north area elected to the board are William B. Baehr, Glencoe; Henry Fowler, Wilmette; George E. Frazer and Ernest L. Ballard, Winnetka; Fred A. Cuscaden, Highland Park; Wesley Bowman, Kenilworth; James A. Hughes and Ernest W. Hunt, Evanston, and Angus S. Hibbard, Kennett Hinks, Lee Madden, James A. Montgomery, George A. Ranney, Orville J. Taylor, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., and George W. Traver of Chicago.

Guild to Meet.

Mrs. R. O. Peterson, president, has called a meeting of the Service guild at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday at the Swedish Methodist Bethany home and hospital, 4015 North Paulina street.

DURABLE WORLD PEACE WILL BE MEETING THEME

The first of a series of suburban meetings to study plans for "a just and durable peace" in the European war will be held Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church of Evanston.

Plans for future study meetings at which a peace formula is to be suggested are to be mapped at the first meeting. A report on recently circulated questionnaires dealing with procedure will be made.

The idea for the peace studies grew out of a series of three lectures given by Dr. Paul Hutchinson, editor of Christian Century magazine. Cards asking for the creation of a public study group as a followup were signed by 135 persons.

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, pastor of the First Congregational church of Oak Park, will be the main speaker. His topic will be "What Can Christians Do Now?" Dr. Coe is a member of the Commission to Study the Bases of the Just and Durable Peace, a national organization recently formed by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Dr. Coe will speak in place of Dr. Georgia Harkness of the Garrett Biblical institute who originally was scheduled to address the meeting. Dr. Harkness, also a member of the peace commission, will be in Atlantic City, where she is to receive an award for her religious work. She recently was selected by the General Federation of Woman's Clubs as "one of the two outstanding women in the religious advancement of the United States in the last 50 years."

Members of the steering committee in charge of the peace studies are Mrs. Russell D. Burge, James M. Kittleman, Harold L. Nauman, and R. E. Wolseley.

MEDAL AWARDS GIVEN AT TWO UNITS OF ROTC

Sullivan and Waller Lists Announced.

Sixth corps area army officers making the annual inspection of Chicagoland's 35 high school ROTC units completed their tour of the north side yesterday when they inspected the Evanston Township High school group on its campus. Other north side units inspected during the week were Senn, Sullivan, Waller, and Waukegan.

Ratings given the various units will not be announced until the last inspection is made on the south side next week. Four of the north side Chicago schools are among the 14 in the city hoping to maintain honor ratings given them last year. They are Lake View, Senn, Sullivan, and Lane Technical.

Medal winners not previously announced were named at two north side inspections last week.

Twenty At Sullivan High.

Twenty cadets were decorated at the Sullivan inspection on Tuesday afternoon. ROTC departmental medals were awarded to Capt. Howard Contarsy, officers' efficiency; Sergt. Frend Yonkers, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Private Jerome Don, marksmanship; Private Elmer Miller, recruiting; Private Jack Gordon, neatest cadet, and Corporal Paul Massi, band efficiency.

Tribune gold medals were awarded to Lieut. Rolland Etter, Private Irwin Gould, and Private Joseph Hoffman. Tribune silver medals went to Private Marvin Spira and Recruit William Brucks, both freshmen. Three American Legion posts awarded medals. Rogers Park post decorated Lieut. Russell Clayton and Private William Bloudek, Joyce Kilmer post decorated Sergt. Leonard Wolf and Private Peter Nixon, and Theodore Roosevelt post presented a medal to Private William Kaiser.

Other awards were made by the American Legion auxiliary to Sergt. Lawrence Neikrug; Veterans of Foreign Wars to Sergeant Major Eli Katz; Reserve Officers' association to Capt. Dan Fulton, and United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary to Lieut. Frank Wolfe.

Awards At Waller.

At Waller Lieut. Col. Anthony P. Maurice won the officers' efficiency medal given by the ROTC. Other departmental awards went to Lieut. Col. Pierre E. Page, marksmanship; First Sergeant John Helzman, noncommissioned officers' efficiency; Corporal Peter Sianis, recruiting; First Sergeants George McAndrews and Warren Heaney and Private Joseph Brown, neatness.

Tribune gold medals went to Sergt. Leopold Nerroth, Corporal Donald Castree, Privates Julius Pergande and Frank Morreale. Private Richard Sorich won a Tribune silver medal as the outstanding freshman cadet. Capt. Joseph Lazzara won the Reserve Officers' association medal.

Legion Gives Medals.

Three American Legion posts and two Legion auxiliaries presented medals. Winners of these were First Lieutenant Laurence Fleming, Second Lieutenant John Briske, and Sergt. Frank Folk, post 462; First Lieutenant John Manasse and Second Lieutenant Jacob Fischer, Hearst Square post; First Lieutenant Howard Piatin, Second Lieutenant Henry Volk, and First Lieutenant William Slenker, William H. Nehr post; First Lieutenant Hampton Ellison, Lincoln Park post and auxiliary; Capt. Arthur Shilt, Cook County auxiliary.

Other Waller awards were presented by the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, to Capt. Thomas Farina; Veterans of Foreign Wars, to Capt. Russell Swarthout; Daughters of the American Revolution, to Capt. Louis L. P. Sianis.

Crowds Watch ROTC Reviews

David Allen Hanson, 19 months old, and Private Al Stumpf of the Senn High school ROTC unit, were among the hundreds who turned out last week to see the Sullivan High school ROTC battalion reviewed by inspecting army officers. When Private Stumpf took time out for a drink of water, David took time out to watch him, taking advantage of the opportunity to get a closeup view of the uniform.

Zion Bowlers Sign Plea to Legalize Alleys

Residents of Zion City who have been dumping their blue laws, one by one, into the ashcan for the last several years are now at work on section 795 of the city code, which means that Zion may get a bowling alley.

Petitions asking the city council to amend the 1930 ordinance to permit the building of bowling alleys are being signed as fast as they appear in the town's restaurants, groceries and candy stores. In 1930 Zion voted to keep the ordinance against movie theaters and bowling alleys.

No Public Theater.

There is no movie theater in the town, altho movies are shown under the name of club activities, usually by Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva. Voliva for a quarter of a century or more thundered against smoking, pork, sin, silk stockings, chewing gum—and movie theaters. Once he sailed around the world just to prove that it was flat.

The bowling fans who now go to Kenosha, Wis., or Waukegan to roll a line say that Zion back in 1930 voted against bowling from sheer force of habit. Today Zion has at least 150 bowlers, including a woman's league. And, say the fans, it's only a question of a few weeks before they get 1,000 signatures to their petitions.

Church Won't Oppose.

Even Voliva's own church does not oppose the petition. M. J. Mintern, who is substituting for Voliva until he returns from Florida in June, said last week:

"We have no objection. Mr. Voliva has taken the position that bowling, if properly supervised, will not be opposed by him."

That little statement shows how much Mr. Voliva has changed. The bowling petition is backed by John A. Simon, chairman, and Claude W. Pfeiffer, vice chairman, of the civic recreation board. The board is negotiating on behalf of a private owner for the purchase of land upon which the new bowling alleys would be built.

Cabaret.

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

MISS MARJORIE RUMP, a member of the sophomore class, will reign as May queen at a six day music festival at Lake Forest college, opening tonight with the traditional interfraternity-sorority sing on the South campus. Queen Marjorie, attended by her court, will bestow the trophies. One of the festival highlights will be the presentation Tuesday of "What Fools," a one act musical comedy, with libretto by Dorothy Westbay, senior classman, and music by Louis O. Palmer, head of the college music department.

WAUKEGAN didn't have to buy Bart Tyrrell a gold star for his new job as chief of police. He already had one. It was handed down to him by his father, the late Thomas Tyrrell, who was Waukegan's first police chief in 1907. Tyrrell, a detective sergeant until a few weeks ago, is 50 years old. He succeeds William Blaylock, chief of police for the last seven years. The Tyrrell appointment was approved unanimously by the Waukegan city council, as were seven other appointments made by Mayor Frank G. Wallin. They include Lieut. Thomas McNamara as fire chief; John E. Bowers as purchasing agent, city collector, and ex-officio sexton of the city cemetery; Michael McHugo, superintendent of streets; Dr. Hugo Branyan, health physician.

PROVIDES ROOM AGAIN FOR ARMY AND NAVY MEN

Helps in Recreation of Those on Leave.

BY DAVID ANDERSON.

Twenty-four years ago a group of patriotic Highland Park residents rented a vacant store and opened what they called "The Sitting Room for Soldiers and Sailors." America had already entered the war. Service men on leave from Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval Training station wandered about the village streets with nothing much to do.

The center, said to have been the first of its kind established in the United States, was the solution to the leisure time problem of soldiers and sailors from nearby camps.

Today a duplicate of this center has been established at 19 North Sheridan road, just around the corner from the original one.

Has Piano and Library.

Three of the founders who also helped establish the original center are Mrs. Theodore Osborn, Mrs. Tom Wyles, and Mrs. Blanche Mason Tellis. The new center is a 25 by 125 foot store fitted up with couches, easy chairs, library, radios, a phonograph, a piano, and writing tables. It now bears the name, Service Men's club of Highland Park.

The place is open all day Sunday and on weekdays from 4 o'clock in the afternoon to 11 in the evening. Nick Young, a YMCA secretary, has been loaned to the project as executive-director. The village chamber of commerce has subscribed six months rent and the Community Chest has allocated $250 for furnishings. Additional funds have been donated by individuals and other organizations.

Out of this recreation room Highland Park hopes to establish a permanent soldiers' and sailors' welfare institution with federal government coöperation. The Highland Park Community house would donate a 150 by 75 foot site for this purpose.

Aids Community Center.

The $75,000 community house is an outgrowth of the original "Sitting Room for Soldiers and Sailors." At the end of the war its managers found they had several thousand dollars left over after paying the running expenses. They used the money as down payment on the purchase of a piece of property which sold in 1928 for twice the amount they paid. And two years ago, after adding to this sum, they built the community house.

"By establishing the Service Men's club, we believe we have solved the problem of leisure for soldiers and sailors that every community near a military camp faces," said Alfred C. Houser, member of Highland Park's Committee for National Defense.

Committee chairmen of the club are Mrs. Frank J. Ronan, church relations; Mrs. Warren Dunley and Mrs. Richard Mansell, hospitality; Mrs. Harry Pier, weekly dancing; Mrs. Benjamin J. Bruce, public entertainment; Mrs. Theodore Fischer, housing for visiting parents and relatives; Mrs. W. E. Salyards, socials and refreshments; Harry Earhart, transportation; Mrs. Daniel Davitt, reading material; Mrs. Mary Helmold, communications; Paul E. Behanna, legal aid, and A. E. Thurston, education.

Center in Waukegan.

The village National Defense committee, headed by Mayor Frank H. Ronan, is composed of 70 village organizations.

Another service men's center, patronized mainly by sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, is the Army and Navy YMCA in Waukegan. It occupies an old armory building at 228 County street and includes a lounge, gymnasium, billiard room, canteen, and clubroom.

Fort Sheridan's Soldiers Find Recreation for Hours on Leave in New Highland Park Center

Here's what Fort Sheridan's draftee soldiers do on their days off. Many come into Highland Park a few miles away and spend their time in the new village Service Men's club. 1. A soldier who can play the piano is in demand. Left to right, Melvin Feight, James S. Polk, Joseph Payne, Stephen Trupiano, Joseph Mulhall, and (seated) Eugene Taylor. 2. Phillip Martin makes use of the club's stationery to write a letter home. 3. Playing checkers is one of the favorite pastimes of soldiers the world over. Highland Park's mayor, Frank J. Ronan, seated in rear, kibitzes as Leslie L. Horne (left) plays a game with Eugene Taylor. 4. Albert Steger (left) and Siegfried Cordier are shown playing pool on the club's brand new table.

FLOOD OF LILAC BLOSSOMS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

100,000 Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins.

The 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign was the most successful since the inception of lilac day in 1929.

An estimated 100,000 bouquets of lilacs were distributed during the two days among 25,000 shut-ins in 158 hospitals and institutions in the city. The deluge of blossoms was so great that all of the institutions on the lilac list received their bouquets, and the Tribune trucks visited many of the hospitals a second time.

Prominent in the success of lilac days were the eight railroads, which transported the flowers, freight free, to terminal stations in the city where they were picked up by Tribune trucks.

Overflow Into Laps.

Officials of the roads said they had never seen such a profusion of blooms, and told of the bouquets overflowing from the baggage cars into the vestibules of the passenger cars and even into the willing laps of commuters.

Railroads that offered the free use of their trains to lilac growers thruout Chicago's flowerland were: The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and North Western; Pennsylvania; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Chicago, Aurora and Elgin; Rock Island; Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, and the Illinois Central.

Following are the names of some of the railroad men who were instrumental in handling the lilac bouquets on the trains.

Burlington — Agents C. D. Chase, E. E. Dillon, W. A. Stoneberg, C. L. Brusate, J. C. Stoneberg, C. M. Draper, E. R. Freed, and J. C. Read. Train and engine employés were F. E. Gillett, conductor; B. D. Winslow, collector; O. B. Thomas, collector; R. C. Finley, engineer; C. E. Harris, fireman; T. G. Becker, messenger train baggageman.

More Railroad Aids.

North Western—W. S. Gregory, assistant superintendent of baggage, mail and express; F. H. Hemes, trainmaster, Wisconsin division; E. C. Anderson, station master of Chicago terminal; A. W. Everson, night station master; H. R. Koch, superintendent, Wisconsin division, and H. A. Parish, superintendent, Galena division.

Pennsylvania—P. J. Hunter, conductor; W. R. Roach, engineer; C. E. Winemiller, engineer; C. P. Fisher, supervisor.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—J. G. Yahnke, conductor; Joe Melle, brakeman; H. S. Sappington, agent; V. V. Hipsley, agent; M. R. Corcoran, agent.

Aurora and Elgin—Motormen Edward Hogan, F. W. Myers, Wallace Tucker, Alfred Dinan, Edward Barmore, Arthur Lyon, Roy Dolan, and John Morton, dispatcher, Wells street terminal.

Other Willing Helpers.

Rockfl Island—Train No. 280, John Postweiler, conductor; William Sandman, brakeman; Charles Travis, engineer; Floyd Engler, fireman. Train No. 136, Felt Johnson, conductor; John Mulligan, brakeman; Bert Arnold, engineer; Ralph Mosher, fireman.

Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee—Train No. 708, R. B. Brynn, motorman; M. R. Howk, conductor; J. D. Wilbanks, motorman; A. R. Butts, conductor. Train No. 518, J. Wylie, motorman; M. McInerny, conductor. Supervisor of arrangements was F. M. Golden.

Illinois Central—Train No. 360, W. Kircher, conductor; M. Swisk, flagman. Train No. 788, P. Boylan, conductor; A. W. Ingerman, flagman. Train No. 734, W. W. Kenney, conductor; J. M. Young, flagman. Train No. 762, E. A. Dahlin, conductor; O. J. Fieffer, flagman. Movement of trains under the direction of Chief Dispatcher C. O. Richards, Dispatcher M. J. Madden, and Yardmaster Walter Ortel.

Radio Chorus to Present Immanuel Church Concert

A variety program of music and dramatic sketches will be given by the Chicago Radio chorus Tuesday night at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, Elmdale and Greenview avenues. Edward Carroll will appear as master of ceremonies. The chorus is directed by Frederick H. Pholmann. Immanuel guild of the church is sponsoring the production.

Teaching Order Dates Back to 1800.

United States or Europe, augment the Barat faculty. Rev. Mother Eleanor Regan is president of the college. Mother Margaret Reilly, a Barat veteran who has been on the Lake Forest campus 20 years, is dean.

Fifteen senior students will receive bachelor of arts degrees at the June commencement this year, and bachelor or science degrees will be granted to two.

Speaking Choir on Program.

One of the chief prides of the college is the verse speaking choir. The choir, with Miss Anna May Kawekotte conducting, will recite "The Music Makers" on the Tuesday broadcast.

The master of ceremonies for the "Citizens of Tomorrow" programs is Phil Maxwell of the editorial staff of THE TRIBUNE, the announcer is Charles Victor and the producer, Blair Walliser.

Mr. Maxwell will add the names of three high school students Tuesday to the program's honor roll—Seymour Stein, a senior classman from New Trier Township High school in Winnetka, Jurgen Hans Roetter, a junior in the Wisconsin High school at Madison, Wis., and Sammy Hancock, senior class president from West Frankfort, Ill., High school. Young Stein will be interviewed on the program.

THREE CATHOLIC UNITS SPONSOR BENEFIT PARTIES

Three benefit parties are planned this week by Catholic groups on the north side.

Our Mother of Perpetual Help council of the Ladies of Isabella is holding a charity card and dancing party Friday night in Three Links hall, 4740 North Western avenue, to raise funds for its work among crippled children. Mrs. Cecelia Vandervoort, who heads the council, is honorary chairman and Mrs. Lee Erwin, is executive chairman.

With Mrs. Clement J. Cox directing arrangements, a card party will be given Friday night by the Immaculate Conception Alumni association in the school hall at 1419 North Park avenue.

Mrs. Vincent M. Streff will entertain Sacred Heart household of the Order of Martha at a dessert bridge at 1 o'clock Thursday in her home at 1720 Estes avenue.

Start Buckingham Fountain Flow Again Next Tuesday

The $500,000 Buckingham fountain in Grant park, the largest in the world, will be turned on Tuesday afternoon for the 14th annual season. The fountain will be in operation afternoons and evenings until Sept. 30. It was dedicated in 1927 by Miss Kate Buckingham, late philanthropist and art patron, in memory of her brother, Clarence, and is operated by the park district at an annual cost of $14,000, interest from a trust fund set aside by Miss Buckingham for this purpose.

Chosen May Queen

Thirteen year old Marylou Connolly, 1410 Hood avenue, eighth grade pupil of St. Gertrude's school, will be crowned May queen next Sunday afternoon in an annual school ceremony to be held at the church, Glenwood and Granville avenues.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH CIRCLE TO HAVE FASHION PARADE

Music, a demonstration in flower arrangements and a fashion parade, featuring a bridal procession, all are included on a benefit program which Gertrude circle will present at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at St. Paul's Church by the Lake, Ashland and Estes avenues.

Max Kaatman, from a florist shop in the neighborhood, will give the flower arrangement demonstration. The musical program will be a collaboration by the church choir, Carol Schram, violinist, and Mrs. Ray Ballard, soprano. A local woman's store is furnishing costumes for the style show. Miss Jane Benario, whose wedding is to take place only a few days before the program, has been drafted to model the bridal gown.

Mrs. C. M. Grandson of 6452 North Talman avenue is chairman of the benefit. Gertrude circle is headed by Mrs. C. M. McDavitt.

PLAY PROGRAMS BRING SUMMER TO CITY PARKS

35 Types of Activities Are Scheduled.

The park district officially brought summer to the city with its annual announcement of summertime activities at 136 Chicago parks and fieldhouses.

The program will begin next week and it will include more than 35 different types of activities. At parks where there are no fieldhouses, the accent will be on group activity, including athletic drilling, artcrafts, puppetry, and story telling.

Plan Baseball School.

Something new in athletic education — a baseball school — is to be launched in 50 parks in all sections of the city. Boys, girls, and adults will receive free instruction in pitching, batting, fielding, and base running. The baseball school is to be conducted by Jack Sheehan, who played third base with the world's championship Brooklyn Dodgers in 1920.

Nature recreation groups of boys and girls are to be organized at most parks. They will study nature in the cultivation of flower and vegetable gardens to be planted on park grounds, and they will observe the habits of birds and other animal life in the parks.

Park activities for the summer will include archery construction and shooting, artcrafts, badminton, casting, field ball, costume designing, fly tieing and tackle construction, handicraft, kite making and flying, lapidary, model airplane and yacht building, outdoor gymnastic games, toy lending centers, swimming, horseshoes, tennis, track and field events, roque, shuffle board, softball, baseball, and photography.

In North Side Parks.

Activities in the north side parks follow:

Tennis—Chase, Ashland and Leland avenues; Green Briar, 2650 Peterson avenue; Hamlin, Wellington and Hoyne avenues; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street; Lincoln park; Lake Shore, Chicago avenue and Lake Shore drive; Pottawattomie, Rogers and Wolcott avenues; Revere, 2509 Irving Park road, and Welles, 4430 North Oakley avenue.

Softball—Chase, Green Briar, Hamlin, Lake Shore, Lincoln, Loyola, Revere, River Park, 5100 North Francisco avenue; Stanton, Vine and Evergreen streets, and Welles.

Regulation baseball—Hamlin, Lincoln, Revere, River, Stanton, and Welles.

Horseshoe pitching—Chase, Green Briar, Lake Shore, Lincoln, River, Stanton, Welles, and Chippewa, 6758 North Sacramento avenue.

Toy lending — Seward park, Sedgwick and Elm streets.

In addition to these activities the park district maintains thruout the city 13 lake front bathing beaches, 5 yacht harbors, 56 swimming pools, 5 golf courses, 40 archery ranges and 76 wading pools.

Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grawe, 2221 Winnemac avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on May 3. Mr. and Mrs. Grawe have lived in Ravenswood for 20 years. They have four children, Mrs. Mable Meister of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Della Szehula, Mrs. Eleanore Arndt, and Elmer Grawe of Chicago. They have seven grandchildren.

Legion Units Win Honors in Post History Contest

Two Chicago area posts of the American Legion won national honors in the 1941 post history contest conducted thruout the country. # UNIVERSITY GUILD TO TAKE SPRING TOUR TOMORROW

Park in De Kalb Will Be Assembly Point.

Country roads in Maytime and a collection of Staffordshire ware at the home of Mrs. E. Perry Ellwood in De Kalb are the double lure that will draw the University Guild of Evanston tomorrow on its first spring pilgrimage. Mrs. Rudolph F. Kelker, chairman of the tour, has instructed all making the 68 mile trip to be at the fieldhouse in Hopkins park, De Kalb, not later than 1 o'clock for complete instructions.

Several members plan to have a picnic lunch in the park. Others are making reservations at Mill Race inn in Geneva and the Baker hotel in St. Charles. Transportation by bus has been arranged by Mrs. Irving Roberts and Mrs. Frank Potter.

Fort Dearborn D. A. R.

Fort Dearborn chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assembling at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Orrington hotel in Evanston for its annual business session and luncheon, will hear a talk by Mrs. Jacob Frederich Zimmerman, vice president general of the national society, on "American Principles." Mrs. Zimmerman will be the luncheon speaker. There will be music by the Cooper piano, cello, and violin trio—Mrs. Earl J. Cooper and her two sons, Jack and Bob. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Harold E. Hayward.

Election will be held in the morning. Mrs. Ray Garrett, regent, has been proposed for reëlection. Others presented as candidates by the nominations committee are Mrs. Earl J. Cooper for second vice regent, Mrs. John A. Reitzel, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louise Paullin, register; Mrs. George Clapp, librarian; Mrs. Len Young Smith, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Jane Case, chairman of the junior Page group. Named for directors are Mrs. J. H. Vanlandingham, Mrs. George J. Cowan, Mrs. Dean Lake Traxler, Mrs. Percy H. Meyers, Mrs. Samuel H. Lang, and Mrs. Leon F. Montague.

Mrs. Julian G. Goodhue and Mrs. Frederick Minkler, who attended as delegates from the chapter, are to report on the recent continental congress of the DAR in Washington, D. C.

Cosmos Club of Illinois.

Newly elected officers will be installed by Cosmos club members tomorrow at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Sally's restaurant on Skokie boulevard in Skokie. There will be a program of dramatic readings by Miss Patricia Lewis.

Waukegan Woman's Club.

The Waukegan club has elected the following new board members: Mrs. George McDill, recording secretary; Mrs. Jesse Ownes, chairman American home department; Mrs. George Bendell, chairman public welfare; Mrs. A. H. Anderson, chairman fine arts; Mrs. Lester Talcott, vice president and membership chairman, and Mrs. W. E. Giffin, finance chairman.

Mrs. Abe Schwartz continues as president for another year, as do Mrs. Walter B. McShane, vice president; Mrs. C. W. Kendall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clarence L. Johnson, treasurer, and Mrs. E. E. Sweebe, press and publicity chairman. Mrs. Norman Brown, Mrs. Mabel McCullough, Mrs. Lloyd White, Mrs. McShane, and Mrs. Kendall are to serve as a nominating committee next season.

MUSICAL REVUE WILL BE GIVEN BY CHURCH CHOIR

A musical revue of 1941 will be given Thursday and Friday evenings by the choir of All Saints Episcopal church in the parish house, 1759 Wilson avenue. Proceeds will go to send the choir boys to Camp Houghteling, Twin Lake, Mich., for two weeks this summer. Members of the program committee include Lester J. Heath, Mrs. Chester Ochs, Charles Swan, W. Eric Geldart, J. Cyril Geldart, Charles Betts, Mrs. R. E. Westland, and Bruce J. Mitchell, author and director of the show.

Aid Party

Students of Marywood High school in Evanston will give their annual card party and style show Saturday in the Stevens hotel. Suzanne Oberlin of 530 Laurel avenue, Wilmette (right), is general chairman. Among the assisting chairmen are Marie Keating, 6423 North Washtenaw avenue (left), and Beatrice McDonald, 1034 Chestnut street, Wilmette.

GASLIGHT REVUE TO BE OFFERED BY BUDLONG PTA

Members to Give Song and Dance Show.

The gas light epoch of the '90s will be set to music Wednesday and Thursday evenings in a variety revue to be presented by Budlong Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium, 2701 Foster avenue.

The show will include solo, quartet, and chorus singing and ensemble dancing by PTA members. The production will be directed by Mrs. Viola L. Repp. Mrs. May Bredberg is dance coach. The Budlong PTA will install officers Tuesday afternoon at the school.

A tour of the Evanston campus of Northwestern university will be conducted tomorrow afternoon by the education committee of Stone PTA. Members will depart from the Stone school, 6237 North Leavitt street, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Edwin Hull is chairman of the committee.

A dessert party will be held tomorrow afternoon by Senn High school PTA at Green Briar fieldhouse, 2650 Peterson avenue. Proceeds will go to the Student Aid fund. Mrs. A. S. Wolff, 941 Lakeside place, is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Installation of officers of Waters PTA will be held Tuesday afternoon in the school assembly hall, 2517 Wilson avenue. Mrs. Guy A. Millard, past president, will be installing officer. Mrs. W. F. Krahl, state chairman of the mental hygiene committee, will be guest speaker.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings PTA mothers will present "Southern Cinderella," three act comedy, at Luther Memorial Church Guild hall, Campbell and Wilson avenues.

BRIDGE PARTY WILL BENEFIT THEODORA HOME

A charity luncheon and bridge party will be given at 12:30 o'clock Thursday at the Theodora home, 6036 Ravenswood avenue, by the women's auxiliary. The committee on management is headed by Mrs. Hovsep Nahigian of Evanston. The auxiliary is headed by Mrs. Mortimer Baruch, a former president of the North End Woman's club. Twenty-two north side club women serve on the board. The Theodora home was organized as a temporary refuge for mothers and children of evicted families. Shelter and food are given until the family head can obtain employment.

Civil Liberties.

"Civil Liberties in Wartime" will be discussed Thursday evening at a public meeting at Viking temple, 3257 Sheffield avenue, by Elizabeth G. Flynn, woman labor leader. John Henderson, 4118 Kenmore avenue, heads the arrangements committee.

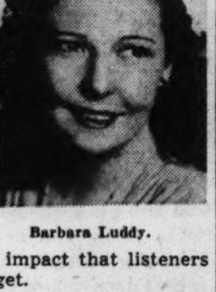
Barbara Luddy Only Four Feet Ten Inches.



Barbara Luddy.

Barbara Luddy, star of "The Great Gunns," new W-G-N-Mutual series heard each Thursday at 9:30 p. m., is radio's proof that good things often times come in small packages. Barbara is petite [she's 4 feet 10 inches] and demure, but her acting carries with it an emotional impact that listeners do not soon forget.

Barbara insists that she's can't be glamorized. She doesn't wear slinky clothes. She stays away from night clubs. Her name is never in the gossip columns.

Barbara's apartment on Chicago's near north side is proof of her skill as an interior decorator. It contains many samples of Luddy needlepoint. She knits skillfully, for the British war relief. She is taking piano lessons. No glamor there. But——

Last year she was chosen as radio's outstanding dramatic actress in the Movie-Radio Guide poll. This year she finished second to Helen Hayes.

Miss Luddy's nickname is "Biddy." It was given to her by her mother years ago, because it seemed to describe a roly-poly girl who was very tiny. The name has stuck for while Barbara has lost her childhood plumpness, she's aything but tall.

In "The Great Gunns," hilarious story of a theatrical family, Miss Luddy is cast as Veronica Gunn, tempestuous leading lady of Broadway. The part requires a flair for comedy as well as for intensely dramatic acting, and Barbara fits it perfectly.

Bret Morrison, heard with Miss Luddy for the last several years on "The First Nighter" series on another network, is co-starred with her in "The Great Gunns." Morrison has the rôle of Christopher Gunn, husband of Veronica, a matinée idol who realizes he is God's gift to the stage.

Producer William A. Bacher has assembled an all-star cast of W-G-N Players to support the leads. Among them are Bob Jellison, Loretta Poynton, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Marvin Mueller, Herb Butterfield, Phil Lord, and John Goldsworthy. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra supply the musical background.

The third new character to be introduced on "The Great Gunns" since its debut about two weeks ago is that of Winchy Walters. The rôle will be taken by Forrest Lewis, Chicago radio actor.

Lewis has spent the last 8 years in radio, coming from 15 years experience on the stage. He has often played with the star of "The Great Gunns," Miss Luddy, on the First Nighter programs. He has also played 25 different characters in "Scattergood Baines" during the last three years. Forrest made his first appearance in radio on W-G-N in 1933 when he won a rôle in "Uncle Quin's Scalawags."

FEATURE ARGENTINA ON 'AMERICAS SPEAK' BROADCAST TODAY

The land of gauchos and cattle ranches will be visited today by the Pan-American good will program, "The Americas Speak." Presented in cooperation with Rotary International, the broadcast will be heard over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Twenty minutes of the show will originate in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Ten Minutes will come from the W-G-N studios.

The speaker from Buenos Aires will be Manuel Gomez, former head of the National bank, and now controller of the Federal Reserve system of Argentina. Others will be Prof. Ernesto Nelson, authority on youth problems; Manuel Ventrone cattle breeder, and Dr. Rodolfo N. Luque, director of La Prensa, one of the most influential newspapers in South America. A program of native Argentine music will complete the Buenos Aires section of the broadcast.

In Chicago, Vincent Pelletier, "The Americas Speak" narrator, will interview Senör Juan Roger, South American traveler. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, directs the series.

Looks Southward

Patricia Dunlap, star of the W-G-N serial, "Bachelor's Children," heard at 10:30 a. m. Monday thru Friday, is studying Spanish these days with an eye on the possibility of a future South American visit.

[Seymour Photo.]

W-G-N TO START MIDAFTERNOON NEWS TOMORROW

Spencer Allen, one of W-G-N's veteran newscasters, is starting another series of up to the minute news broadcasts tomorrow. On the air in an afternoon spot—2:15 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday at 1:15 p. m.—Allen will broadcast the latest A. P. and U. P. news on W-G-N at a time which will fill in the gap between the morning and evening news and thus give the listeners a chance to be in close contact with the world scene thruout the day.

Spencer Allen.

When Allen graduated from the University of Missouri, he got into radio and swung into the journalism field with a news broadcast on St. Louis and Kansas City stations. Here, too, he found time to deviate from his regular duties and managed to do some continuity writing and program producing.

REVIEW STAND IN SYMPOSIUM ON DEMOCRACY

Is American democracy a dream or a reality? An attempt to answer that question will be made on the "I'm an American Day" broadcast of the Northwestern reviewing stand over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 10 to 10:25 a. m. today.

American democracy, its achievements and its failures, will be reviewed by Louis Wirth, American sociologist and professor of sociology at the University of Chicago; Tracy E. Strevey, professor of history at Northwestern university, and Stewart McMullen, professor of accounting and income taxes in Northwestern's School of Commerce.

The reviewing stand experts will contrast freedom of speech, religion, press, and radio in the United States with the lack of civil liberties in Germany. Other aspects of American democracy, such as universal suffrage, equality of opportunity and rights of labor will also be analyzed.

FAMILY GROUP TO APPEAR WITH STEELMAKERS

A five piece orchestra, composed of a Wheeling steel company employé and his children, will be guests on the Musical Steelmakers' show on W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. today.

Ernest Mitan, a die maker, heads the group. His children are Virginia, saxophonist; Matilda, accordionist; Ernest Jr., violinist, and Edward, clarinetist. They will play a Polish polka, "In a Little Grove."

Other numbers will be regular orchestra's presentation of "Riding on a Rainbow, "Oh, Look at Me Now," and "Because of You." Regina Colbert will sing "Do I Worry?" and Ardenne White, tenor, will offer "You Walk By."

MURDOCH GIVES HOT TIP ON HESS TO ALAN SCOTT

It's Month in Advance of News Story.

The mysterious Murdoch, apparently a character with whom Alan Scott, W-G-N news broadcaster, discusses his programs, is responsible for a big increase in the mail Scott has been receiving from listeners in the last few days.

Murdoch.

For Murdoch called the turn on the Rudolf Hess incident a month before it happened.

Scott refuses to say if there is, or is not, an actual Murdoch. Interrogators around the W-G-N studios haven't been able to learn the secret.

On the broadcast of April 9 Scott said:

"Murdoch came thru with one of his crazy hunches tonight at dinner. He says Germany is due for a fearful sensation within the Reich itself. Probably it will come off within a week. He didn't give me any further details except to say there would be a 'casualty' involving some one very high up in the Nazi framework."

On April 16, Murdoch's week was up and Scott proceeded to give his shadowy colleague a terrific ribbing on the air. Nothing had happened.

Then this week came the flight of Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland, and his injury in a parachute landing. The case bore out Murdoch's [or Scott's] prediction.

Scott's news programs are heard on W-G-N at 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. and again at 9 p.m. Scott refreshingly admits he had no inside sources of information in Europe. His analyses of developments are among the most widely followed on the air.

Scott has maintained a consistently prophetic tone on his broadcasts from the Italian invasion of Greece t othe attack on Jugo-Slavia and the collapse of the Greeks.

PLAN 90 MINUTES OF ASCAP MUSIC ON W-G-N TONIGHT

"Ascap's Salute to Mutual," a 90 minute program hailing the return to the Mutual Broadcasting System of Ascap music, will be heard on W-G-N from 9 to 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The Mutual network recently signed an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, making available more than 1,250,000 compositions which had been off the air since Jan. 1. The first Ascap music on W-G-N was broadcast last Tuesday night.

A half hour of tonight's Ascap salute will originate at W-G-N, half an hour at WOR in New York, and half an hour at KHJ, Hollywood. Among famous composers of popular music who will speak are Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin, and Cole Porter. Their music and the music of other beloved composers will be featured.

Bethany Church Services on Chicagoland Hour Today

The Chicagoland Church hour, W-G-N's public service program bringing transcribed church services into the homes of Chicagoland, will visit the Bethany church at Paulina street and Cullom avenue, today. The broadcast from the Bethany church will be heard from 9 to 10 a. m. Founded 45 years ago, the Bethany church, a branch of the Evangelical and Reformed communion, is now under the pastorship of the Rev. Henry W. Dinkmeyer, speaker on next Sunday's church hour.

Leonard Keller Returns to Chicago and W-G-N

In 1923, at the age of 12 years, Leonard Keller gave his first concert, appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Ten years later, he returned to Chicago as the director of his own band—a jazz band. Now he is making another of his periodic visits to Chicago and is heard every evening except Monday over W-G-N and the Mutual network. Keller started studying the violin at 5. At 17 he won the Juilliard Foundation Scholarship, competing with contestants from the entire country.

WOMEN VOTERS TO HEAR GROUP CHIEFS' REPORTS

North Side League Will Meet Wednesday.

Departments that for a year or longer have been studying the operation of the Juvenile court, federal and local housing plans, school bills pending in the state legislature, the city manager plan for local governments, and related subjects will report on their findings when on Wednesday, with Mrs. C. H. Thomas presiding, the North Side League of Women Voters assembles at the Admiral hotel, 909 Foster avenue, for its annual business meeting and luncheon.

Mrs. C. H. Thomas.

On the same day the Highland Park league will close the year's activities with an open board meeting, election of officers and the annual luncheon. Dr. Clark G. Kuebler of Northwestern university will be the guest speaker.

Will Talk on Plans.

Mrs. William Bryant, president of the Cook County league, will be at the North Side group's meeting to tell of plans discussed last week at the state convention for league activities next season.

As the North Side league's chairman of government and social welfare, Mrs. John Gutnecht has made an exhaustive study of the Juvenile court, upon which she will report. Mrs. Frank McAdams, chairman of the department of government and its operation, will explain how a bill becomes law.

Mrs. Glenn Gifford will report on housing for the department of government and economic welfare, and Mrs. L. J. Gill, chairman of government and education, will discuss her department's findings on school bills before the legislature.

Mrs. Charles Sedig and Mrs. W. J. Ettinger, respectively, will review the season's work of the departments on foreign policy and the legal status of women.

Reports to Be Read.

The Highland Park league's department chairmen will present their annual reports at an open board meeting, called for 10 o'clock in the public library. Luncheon will be at 12:30 o'clock in the YWCA.

Mrs. James S. Baker, chairman of nominations, and her committee will present the following candidates for vacancies occurring at the end of the season: for vice president, Mrs. A. H. Pier; recording secretary, Mrs. David Suttle; treasurer, Mrs. Carleton Cummins; financial secretary, Mrs. Lester Britton; for chairmen of precincts 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11 and 12, respectively, Mrs. V. William Briddle, Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Robert Grinnell, Mrs. Edgar Carter, Mrs. John Driscoll, and Mrs. Walter Lilienfield.

AMERICAN FOLK SONGS ON MUSIC CLUB PROGRAM

Study Group Will Close Year This Afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Hartung.

Songs of the western cattle ranges, hill billy ditties, chants of the cross-country hobo and of the workers on the railroads, Spanish serenades that were crooned under the romantic balconies of colonial California and the family hymns that first were sung at the hearths of New England—all these will have a place on a program of American folk music arranged by the Music Study Club of Chicago for its meeting this afternoon at the Auditorium hotel.

Mrs. Ella Leimbach will give a talk on American folk song origins. Musicians on the program will be Ida Lutz, Edwin Johnson, Adrienne Segedy, John Korotasz, and Jewel Welgoss.

The club will give special recognition to its five founder members—Mrs. Henry J. Hartung, Mrs. Leimbach, Mrs. Edith Heffner Dobson, Miss Myrtle Weldon and Mrs. James Allen Young. Mrs. Young is president.

At a recent meeting O. B. DuRand was elected treasurer, Mrs. DuRand, second vice president, and Miss Myrtle Cambridge, corresponding secretary to fill vacancies occurring at the end of the season.

North Town Woman's Club.

Mrs. M. A. Varzhabedian.

After a season of record accomplishments in sewing for the Red Cross, the Cook County hospital and homes for crippled children, the philanthropy will leave needles and thimbles at home Tuesday, taking the afternoon off for luncheon and bridge. The party, to be held at the Georgian hotel in Evanston, will be in compliment to Mrs. M. A. Varzhabedian, retiring after two years as philanthropy chairman.

Glenola Club.

Glenola members will close the season Saturday with a spring luncheon at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Mrs. Edward P. Nesbitt will preside. The Rev. F. G. Dinneen, spiritual director of the club, will speak. A musical program has been arranged by Mrs. B. Sarsfield Quigley. This, the 20th spring party, has been arranged by Mrs. Lulu Keegan, social chairman.

North Town Juniors.

Juniors of the North Town Woman's club will hold their annual spring breakfast meeting today at Shawnee Country club in Wilmette. Rosalynde B. Hutchinson, presented by Miss Virginia Roos, will give a whistling and bird story program, which will include a demonstration on how bird music is recorded. Miss Hattie Krause will be at the piano.

Newly elected officers will be installed. They are Miss Gladys Schulz, president; Miss Virginia Killian, vice president; Miss Emma Steen, secretary; Miss Ruth Wolf, treasurer; Mrs. Solon Reeves, junior adviser; and Miss Florence Lockwood, Miss Dorothy Tenber, Miss Marion Maske, Miss Helen Russell and Miss Hope Louise Boyd, chairman, respectively, of the program, philanthropy, publicity, social, and the art and literature departments.

Joyce Kilmer League.

League members will be hostesses at a 2 o'clock open house and tea today at St. Vincent's Infant asylum, 721 North La Salle street.

Rogers Park Woman's Club.

Checking up on the club members' needle work for charity, Mrs. W. J. Wenrich, public welfare chairman, has announced that Mrs. George H. Eddy's child welfare division has sent close to 600 garments for infants to the Salvation Army home and hospital. The scrap book prepared by the press committee took a blue ribbon award in the Tenth district contest. Mrs. Parker M. Holmes is press chairman.

Glenola Luncheon

Evanston Students in Operetta

"H. M. S. Pinafore," the sprightly Gilbert and Sullivan operetta of the admiral who never had gone to sea, will be given by the music department of Evanston Township High school Friday and Saturday in the Haven school auditorium. The girls in the picture are, left to right, Mary Larimer, Patricia Ward, and Patricia Fisher, and the boys, Louis Greenwood, Ernest Robb, and Harry Strouse, all of whom have important parts. Directing the production is Miss Sadie Rafferty.

HIKERS SEEKING 60 FOR JAUNT IN NEW ENGLAND

The North Shore Hiking club, sponsored by the Winnetka chapter of the Izaak Walton league, is making plans for a seven day youth hostel walking trip in the White mountains in July. If 60 members sign up for the trip, the club will charter a railway passenger coach. Lloyd A. Faxon, chairman, estimates that food and bed will cost a dollar per day.

Every Sunday morning, rain or shine, hikers from Chicago to Kenosha meet at 9:20 o'clock in the Winnetka Elm street railway station park and start out on a leisurely saunter thru the woods of Lake county. They return to the village hall by 1:30 o'clock. Tho the walkers come from different occupations and professions, they all dress alike in old clothes and old shoes.

More than 700 hikers have tramped with the group during the last year. Among the regular members are Miss Daphne Drinkwater, Lake Forest; Frank Durham, Miss Irene Elster, Winnetka; Henry Beach, Highland Park; Mrs. Ellen Stephenson and Mrs. Martha Webb, Evanston; Chester Brack, Chicago; Jared Danley, Glencoe; Robert Andersen, Kenilworth, and Robert King, Wilmette. Any one is welcome and there are no rules, no dues, and no officers.

Philharmonic Club Offers Concert This Afternoon

The Philharmonic Glee club of Chicago will present its second annual spring concert this afternoon at the Ravenswood Masonic temple, 4601 North Paulina street. Robert E. Miller, conductor, will direct the program. Assisting artists include Catherine Fetrow Ames, soprano; Gloria Dawson, harpist; Paul Mallory, tenor; Philip C. Gates, baritone, and Gladys Fellman, accompanist.

Slovak Students to Have Anniversary Dinner-Dance

The tenth anniversary of the founding of the Chicago chapter of the Slovak Students League of America will be observed Thursday evening at a dinner-dance at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Members of the arrangements committee include Michael Samel, Sue Papanek, Helen Zilka, Sue Tomasik, Emil Haranta, Zelmira Trimaj and Walter Derer.

St. Ansgarius Episcopal Club to Present Plays

The Young Married Couples club of St. Ansgarius Episcopal church will present a series of dramatic sketches Friday evening at Green Briar fieldhouse, 2630 Peterson avenue. The program will be directed by Ralph C. Vorhis. Oscar A. Bowen Jr. is president of the group.

FIVE ROOM HOME IS DESIGNED FOR EASY EXPANSION

Space Over Garage Left for Bedroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Many an engaging variant of the five room colonial home, with individual treatment of exterior and interior aid details, keeps appearing around us.

Such a home has been built at 1107 Elm street, Glenview, and very carefully studied and planned that it should meet modern needs and at the same time possess the spirit of the traditional. The owners are Mrs. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand and the house was designed especially to function smoothly and satisfactorily for them in all details.

The architects, Whalley and Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue, incorporated many pleasant features in this five room home.

First of all they devised ways and means whereby the house already has the capacity of a seven room home—and there's still space to grow.

Workroom in Garage.

A large two car garage was placed back of the outdoor screened living porch, and half of this garage was converted into a workroom for Mr. Weigand. Then in the basement there is a pine paneled recreation room and powder room. And over the garage there has been allotted space for a future bedroom and bath.

The exterior of the home is brick veneer painted white and white siding with wrought iron railings at the entrance door. The roof is wood shingle laid with staggered butts. The interior is not quite the formal colonial plan, since the stairhall is at the left of the entrance. The living room, at the right, is some 25 feet by 14 feet.

Plate Glass Bay Window.

It has a gracefully designed plate glass bay window which commands a fine view. Indeed the house was oriented with this view in mind. And the fireplace wall with its modified colonial treatment has distinction and charm. This wall is of V-jointed pine boards painted white with recessed shelves and cupboards on each side of the fireplace.

The kitchen is U-shape, with linoleum floor, walls, work tops, and wood cabinets. The rear hall entry leads to the garage and work shop and to the kitchen and basement. The forced warm air heating system is fired by gas.

The home has been built with meticulous attention to good construction. All the gutters, downspouts, and flashings are of copper and there are two thicknesses of blanket insulation in the walls and batt insulation in the ceiling.

Five Rooms in Glenview

This five room home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Weigand, 1107 Elm street, Glenview, is designed to fit the site and meet the needs of the owners. The architects are Whalley & Gould, 540 North Michigan avenue.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, May 19.

Practically all plants can be planted in their outdoor beds from this time on. If weather conditions are unsettled, delay planting tender waterlilies until conditions are better even tho it is delayed until the first week in June.

Tender bedding plants include many kinds of plants; many of them make showy patches in the borders and some are useful for cutting. Cannas, and especially such varieties as the President, a red; King Humbert, red with bronze foliage, and Yellow King Humbert, green foliage and yellow flowers, are all good for city gardens. They require a rich soil with plenty of water when established.

Tuesday, May 20.

Old geranium plants, those that have been stored in the cellar over winter, should be cut back before planting. They flower best in a soil that is not too rich and require less water than many other plants.

Good edging annuals are the dwarf harmony marigold, lobelia, sweet alyssum, portulaca, ageratum, dusty miller, nasturtium, petunia, candytuft, annual phlox. Thin the seedlings where necessary.

Wednesday, May 21.

One of the finest strong growing annuals is the castor bean. It has fine tropical foliage and likes a hot situation, with water as needed during summer. A good display may be enjoyed by using solid beds of verbenas planted about 12 inches apart.

Use plenty of annual vines to cover bare walls or to screen unsightly objects. Quick growing vines include the morning glories and moonvines. Soak the seed over night. The variegated hop is excellent to cover the garage.

Thursday, May 22.

Leave the foliage on the tulips that have flowered. A drop or two of gasoline in the crown of dandelions will kill them. Use weedkiller on gravel walks and avoid much labor. Two applications should suffice. Do not allow it to injure the grass along the walks.

Water peonies abundantly after the buds show. Remove side buds for exhibition flowers. Plant gladiolus at intervals of 10 days to obtain a succession of bloom thru the season.

Friday, May 23.

Prune the early flowering shrubs, such as the goldenbell, after they have have flowered. Cut back the poinsettias and repot them for next Christmas bloom. Plunge in a sunny place during summer. Spray roses to eradicate insects and prevent disease.

Collect all rose leaves and destroy them as they fall to the ground. Water plants early in the morning on a rising temperature rather than at night. Tie up all perennials needing it so that the plants appear as naturally as possible. Use green stakes and green cord.

Saturday, May 24.

Goldfish are indispensable in the pool for they keep down larva of various kinds, but placing them in a newly constructed pool may cause trouble to the fish. Before placing the fish in the pool be sure to scrub the interior and fill and empty it several times.

MIZPAH WOMEN TO INDUCT STAFF ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Harry Iverson Will Be New President.

Mrs. Harry J. Iverson of 6141 North Hoyne avenue will be inducted as president by the Women of Mizpah at a luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday. The ceremonies will be conducted in the temple at 1615 Morse avenue, with Dr. Jacob Singer officiating.

Mrs. Harry J. Iverson.

Others to take office are Mrs. A. R. Buchman, vice president; Mrs. A. Chester Green, second vice president; Mrs. Jesse Brown, Mrs. Otto Moss, and Mrs. A. L. Salzman, corresponding, recording, and finance secretaries, respectively; Mrs. Charles Bach, treasurer, and, as directors, Mrs. Joseph Slottow, Mrs. Charles Abrams, Mrs. Henry Ginsberg, Mrs. Lester Rivkin, Mrs. I. L. Lewis, Mrs. Phillip Reinisch, Mrs. Tillie Abrahamson, and Mrs. E. J. Lewis.

Appearing in the afternoon on a program arranged by Mrs. D. C. Morris, Mrs. Joseph Lewis will review Emily Hahn's book, "The Soong Sisters."

Newly elected officers will be installed by the North Shore auxiliary of the Marks Nathan Jewish Orphan home at a tea and fashion show at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the Drake hotel. Mrs. Herman R. Schiff, a former president of the group, will perform the installation rites. Mrs. Saul Shapiro will preside.

Church Party.

St. Athanasius church, Evanston, will hold its annual spring party Tuesday evening at the Evanston Woman's club, 1702 Chicago avenue, in the suburb.

DR. WILLIAM MERRILL WILL SPEAK BEFORE SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Dr. William Pierson Merrill, former Chicago pastor and one of the first ministers to speak before the Chicago Sunday Evening club, will be guest preacher this evening at the 8 o'clock meeting in Orchestra hall. His subject will be, "What Our Country Needs Most." Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club, will preside, assisted by Donald S. McWilliams, vice president.

Dr. William P. Merrill

Dr. Merrill was pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of Chicago from 1905 until 1911 when he became minister of historic Brick Presbyterian church, New York City. He became pastor emeritus in 1938.

Music for the main meeting will be provided by the club choir under the direction of Edgar Nelson. Stanley Martin, organist, will present a recital at 7:50 o'clock.

At the 7 o'clock informal meeting Edgar Nelson will lead the congregation in singing familiar gospel songs. Hudson H. Pittman will give an informal Bible talk.

In Beauty Court

GLENCOE TEMPLE TO OBSERVE 20TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

North Shore Congregation Israel, Glencoe, will observe its 20th anniversary today. The congregation also will observe three other anniversaries—Dr. Charles E. Shulman's 10th year as rabbi, the 15th year of the women's auxiliary, and the 12th anniversary of the men's club. Dr. Julian Morgenstern, presidenet of the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati, O., will occupy the pulpit in the morning. At the annual dinner meeting of the congregation, Harry Monsky, international president of B'nai B'rith, will be the principal speaker.

Orionis Vocal Ensemble to Offer Concert Today

The Orionis Vocal ensemble, made up of a group of 22 young women, will present its spring concert at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Curtiss hall in the Fine Arts building. Evelyn Wienke will direct the program.

PARISH TO NOTE GOLDEN JUBILEE OF ITS PASTOR

St. Ignatius Fete Is Set for Today.

St. Ignatius parish will take note today of the golden jubilee anniversary of its pastor, the Rev. F. George Dinneen, as a member of the Society of Jesus. It was in 1891 that Father Dinneen entered the Jesuit order at St. Mary's seminary in Kansas. After 14 years of study and teaching, he was ordained a priest at St. Louis university.

The Rev. F. George Dinneen.

A solemn high mass will be celebrated at noon today in the church at Glenwood and Loyola avenues. The choir will sing a mass written especially for the occasion by Stephen A. Erst, who has been choirmaster and organist at St. Ignatius' for 31 years. Tonight there will be a reception in St. Ignatius auditorium.

Father Dinneen has administered the parish since 1924. During his tenure the auditorium, convent and gymnasium have been built and the Loyola Community theater organized.

A Reporter Learns to Drive

This is the fourth in a series on a reporter's experiences in learning to drive.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The solo drive which started lesson five in the Safeway Driving school series brought the first occasion for use of the dual control pedals by Instructor J. P. McClenahan.

A little too self-evident, I "sailed" thru the hazards of Evanston traffic with nary a slip and then ruined my record by trying a left turn into traffic without checking on oncoming cars. If Mr. McClenahan hadn't slammed on the brakes on his side of the car, chances are that we would have been struck amidship.

Takes Lessons in Parking.

The rest of lesson five and most of lesson six were devoted to parking practice. The trunk of each Safeway training car houses a set of black and white striped parking markers which are set up in the practice area to denote vacant parking spaces. Each marker represents the front or rear fender of a parker car and the problem is to squeeze into the parking space without touching the markers.

Use of hand signals is one of the most important steps in the parking maneuvers. Second in importance is a careful gauge of the size of the space.

Parking starts when the rear bumper of your car is exactly opposite that of the car ahead of you. Shift into reverse and slipping the clutch so that the car moves very slowly, turn the wheel sharply to the right. When the front of the car reaches a 40 to 45 degree angle with the curb, straighten the front wheels and continue backing until the front bumper is exactly opposite the rear bumper of the car ahead.

How to Finish Parking.

The left rear wheel should now be one and a half feet farther out from the curb than the front left wheel of the car in back. Continue backing slowly, turning the wheel quickly to the left, bringing the front of the car in towards the curb. Straighten the wheels quickly and you're parked.

Both the driving school and the Chicago Motor club guarantee this parking system and from the experience I had in lessons five and six I know that it eliminates most parking woes. Leaving the parking space is simple if traffic is checked carefully before any move is made and if speed is kept to a minimum.
